738 Our countdown (2)

She did not know how to face PEI Munian now, nor did she dare to face him. She was afraid to see the hidden disgust in his eyes and was also afraid that he would question her.

The courage she originally wanted to confess to him had long been completely shattered by his "I don't love su Wanwan."

He could only tolerate her staying here because of the child. Now that he knew the child was not his, what excuse could she use to stay?

PEI Munian's Black eyes looked at su Wanwan's face for a long time. Her long, curly eyelashes trembled slightly and her breathing was a little heavy. One look and you could tell that she was pretending to be asleep. However, her eyes were tightly closed and the hands by her face were also tightly clenched. It seemed that she was really angry.

PEI Munian did not expose her. The corners of her lips curled up as she leaned over to her ear and said in a low voice, "I'm back, Wanwan."

Su Wanwan's eyelashes unconsciously trembled again.

PEI Munian chuckled. He got up, loosened his tie, and walked towards the changing room. Soon, he came out and walked into the bathroom. Then, the sound of running water could be heard.

Su Wanwan's eyes slowly opened in the sound of the water. She gently turned around and her black eyes looked at the bathroom. Her eyes reddened little by little.

About ten minutes later, the sound of water in the bathroom stopped. The door was pulled open and PEI Munian walked out, covered in steam.

Su Wanwan sniffed and quickly closed her eyes again. She still lay there motionless.

PEI Munian took a towel and dried her hair. She casually placed it on the sofa and walked towards the bed. She lifted the blanket and sat on the bed, causing the mattress to sink a little.

Su Wanwan's body then leaned towards him and fell directly into his arms. Her body immediately stiffened, afraid that she would be pushed away by PEI Munian in disgust the next second.

Su Wanwan felt PEI Munian's hand lift up and she unconsciously held her breath. Unexpectedly, when his hand fell, he didn't push her away but took the opportunity to pull her into his arms.

PEI Munian lay down and stretched out his long arm to turn off the bedside lamp. Then, he hugged su Wan and let her lean comfortably in his arms. His hand caressed her long hair out of habit and then closed his eyes.

Su Wanwan quietly leaned against PEI Munian, listening to his steady heartbeat and his even breathing. After a long time, everything calmed down. When PEI Munian's breathing became long, she opened her eyes and a tear slowly flowed out of the corner of her eye and soaked into PEI Munian's clothes.

His occasional gentleness was like poison, making her unable to stop herself.

They had agreed that she would do her best to fight for her love. If she still could not move PEI Munian, she would let go and let him find his true happiness. As long as that person was not Xi Zhiwei, it would be fine.

However, when this day really came, she realized that the so-called carefreeness was just empty talk. Even though she heard his answer with her own ears, she still wanted to rely on him.

As long as he didn't chase her away, she would stay by his side.

Su Wanwan's hand unconsciously stretched out and wrapped around PEI Munian's waist. She slowly exerted force and slowly hugged her tightly.

Su Wanwan fell into a deep sleep while crying silently, but she fell into a terrible nightmare.

In the dream, the sun was bright and clear, one in a million miles. She played with little ze ze on the green grass, and little ze ze's laughter was crisp and sweet.
