813 The line between life and death (9)

It was as if PEI Munian didn't hear su Wan's words. She lifted her sinking body and said in a low voice, "su Wan, do you want to know when I fell in love with you?"

when did pei munian fall in love with her?

Su Wanwan nodded her head very slightly and opened her mouth with difficulty. w-when?"

"It was also during the orientation."

This answer was too unexpected. Su Wan couldn't help but open her eyes, "how, how is it possible?" "Welcome party, will you?"

The blizzard showed no signs of stopping. PEI Munian's footsteps became more and more difficult. The snow under her feet had already reached her knees. Her calves below her knees were so cold that she could no longer feel them. PEI Munian gritted her teeth and persevered.

"Yes, welcome party. You saw me at first glance, and I also saw you at first glance."

He was standing on the stage, and there were so many people in the audience, no lack of beautiful girls. Why did they notice her at first glance? Perhaps it was because of her big bright eyes and that bright smile that was like the sun.

She said that he had unintentionally glanced over. It was not unintentional, but he could not help but look over, and his heart was touched.

"Lie ... Lie ... If you had liked me back then? Then why, after that, you've been so cold to me, I urged me to chase after you every day, but you don't remember who I am?"

When they were in University, she had spent so much time and effort to make PEI Munian remember who she was and her name. She was clearly in front of him every day, but he would always glance at her coldly and ask with a sneer, "Who are you?"

At that time, every time he said who you were, she would be very sad.

Was she that hard to remember?

"I did lie."

PEI Munian's lips twitched and she laughed helplessly. I've always remembered who you are, but I pretended not to know.

Love at first sight was probably the most beautiful thing in the world. For the first time, he felt an electric shock in his heart. It was so magical. That night when he returned home, he tossed and turned. For the first time, he couldn't sleep because of a girl.

When he fell asleep in a daze, his mind was filled with her figure.

Ever since he was young, because of his looks, because of his family background, because of his own excellence, there were countless girls around him. He had always thought that they were annoying, but he never thought that one day, he would actually be attracted to a girl.

Her big, bright eyes were still lingering in his mind.

When he woke up the next day, he flipped through the list of freshmen in his department and found her photo. He saw her name: Su Wanwan.

His thin lips parted slightly, and he muttered these three words unconsciously. There was actually a lingering taste.

However, before she could rejoice, Lu Sheng, who was beside her, also called out this name in surprise, "su Wanwan? Is Yingluo the SU Wanwan who killed ah Qian?"

The SU Wanwan who killed ah Qian!

These few words stopped his heart from beating, and all the good things were shattered in an instant.

This girl who had eyes as bright as the stars and a smile as bright as the sun was the culprit who killed his good brother. How could he like her?

"But, love can't be faked, so su Wan, you still, still won."

She knew that she shouldn't, but she still couldn't control her heart.
