Chapter 84 What do you take me for?(4)

Su Wanwan spent three nights doing a detailed data analysis of the company's current situation and the two big projects she had invested in. Since the PEI family had invested three sums of money, the company's operation had gradually returned to normal and the company's project development situation was good. In addition, she had just signed an endorsement contract with Ji Xinxin. If there were no accidents, the prospects would be very good after the product was launched. With these analysis reports, she might be able to apply for a loan from the bank. This way, she would be able to solve her financial problem and no longer need to use her body to make a deal with PEI Munian.

After staying up for three consecutive nights, once she relaxed, su Wanwan only felt that all the strength in her body was about to be sucked away. Her whole body was paralyzed on the chair and she didn't want to move at all.

She had wanted to rest on the sofa for a while, but she didn't expect to lose consciousness and fall into a deep sleep when she leaned back and tilted her head.

PEI Munian pushed open the bedroom door and immediately saw su Wan curled up on the sofa sleeping. His footsteps slightly paused and then unconsciously lightened.

He walked to the sofa and lowered his dark eyes, his gaze falling on her.

In the bedroom, the light was dim and reflected on su Wanwan's clean and beautiful face, bringing a kind of quiet and tranquil beauty. PEI Munian stared at her, her eyes slightly dazed.

How long had it been since Yingluo looked at her so seriously and carefully?

Three years ago, she had said those words and ruthlessly trampled on his feelings. Since then, he had buried this love deep in the bottom of his heart.

He thought that he would forget with time and heal with time. One day, he would completely forget su Wanwan and forget this woman he loved deeply but also hated.

Three years later, he thought that he had really forgotten her and could really treat her as a stranger, so he returned to the country. However, the moment he met su Wanwan again at the banquet, he knew that his deep love for Huahua could not be forgotten.

Even though he still hated her, the wound in his heart still hurt from time to time. He couldn't help but want to get closer to her, want to be by her side, want to make her love him.

PEI Munian slowly squatted down and his hand gently caressed su Wanwan's face. His movements were very light, very gentle, with endless nostalgia. Even his eyebrows were unconsciously dyed with a touch of tenderness.

Su Wanwan seemed to have felt something. Her face subconsciously rubbed against PEI Munian's palm, then the corners of her lips curled up slightly. She leaned against PEI Munian's palm and fell asleep again.

The moment su Wanwan leaned over, PEI Munian felt an electric current spread from his palm all the way to his heart. He was suddenly shocked and his whole person was stunned.

Even if su Wanwan's action was unconscious, even if su Wanwan's action had no meaning, PEI Munian's heart still trembled badly. A warm current surged up and flowed through her body, almost drowning him.

He thought, just let it be.

There was no way for a person to make life difficult for the person they truly loved.

Because you can't really kill her, and also because when she's in pain, you'll be in even more pain.

PEI Munian reached out and carried su Wanwan horizontally. He walked to the big bed and carefully put her down. He covered her with the blanket and then leaned over, his thin lips gently kissing her forehead.

Wanwan, good night.

PEI Munian straightened her body. The wind from outside the window suddenly blew in, flipping the documents on the table to the ground.
