Su Wanwan ignored her words. She licked her dry lips and said hoarsely, "Who are you? Where is this place?"

It was still the same question from before, but the maid also pretended not to hear it. She sat on the bed, helped su Wanwan up, put a pillow behind her for her to lean on, then picked up the bowl and chopsticks, picked up some food and fed it to su Wanwan.

Su Wanwan didn't eat and only stubbornly asked, "who exactly are you? No, Yingluo, who's your master? What do you want to do?"

"Miss su, let's eat."

The maid mechanically repeated her words and turned a blind eye to all her questions. Su Wanwan became a little impatient and angry because of her uneasiness, but she also knew that the maid was following orders. It was useless to be angry with her.

"You, you can choose not to answer me, but Yingluo, at least, at least tell me, the child that xiaoze, Yingluo, and I had together, is he okay now? You guys didn't hurt him, did you?"

The helper was silent for a moment, but then she said, "if I tell miss su, will you eat well?"

Su Wanwan slowly nodded.

She wasn't stupid. Before she figured out what was going on, she had to conserve her energy. She couldn't starve to death. After all, they didn't show any signs of hurting her, so they probably wouldn't do anything to the food.

he's fine. He's been in his room the whole time. He's asleep now.

Although su Wanwan also guessed that Xiao Zeze wouldn't be hurt, hearing the definite answer with her own ears, her suspended heart slowly settled down.

The maid once again fed her the food. Su Wanwan didn't resist and opened her mouth to eat it.

After the meal, the maid packed up and went out. When she closed the door, su Wanwan heard the sound of a lock. She leaned against the bed and her eyes became more and more confused.

He brought them here without hurting them, but just locked them in their rooms. What was his intention?

No, when she had just woken up, she had vaguely seen a doctor in a white coat and someone who had stabbed her finger. What did that mean?

Also, PEI Munian, Wan Wan, he should know that she's missing by now, right? Was he already looking for her everywhere?

By the time PEI Munian was done with her work, it was already past two o'clock in the night. He returned to his office and put down the documents. He picked up his phone from the table and looked at it.

Su Wanwan didn't reply to his text message.

PEI Munian's lips twitched. What was this woman busy with? Did he sleep so early?

PEI Munian subconsciously wanted to call this woman to denounce her. He was busy over here and she did not care about him at all.

However, it was too late. He was afraid of waking her up, so he moved his fingers and gave up on the call.

Since she had to meet an important guest early in the morning the next day, PEI Munian did not return to the villa and rested in the lounge connected to the office.

PEI Munian was woken up by the ringing of her phone. When he opened his eyes, the sky outside was already slightly bright. He looked up at the clock on the wall. It was only seven o'clock.

It's so early. Did Su Wanwan just wake up and call him?

PEI Munian couldn't help but laugh. He sat up and leaned against the headboard. He picked up his phone and answered the call without looking at it. His voice was lazy and he sounded like he had just woken up. "You finally remembered me?"

However, the voice that came from the other side was not Su Wanwan's.
