

Deeply 877

877 Niannian, you're so handsome (7)

Just as the dagger was about to Pierce into PEI Munian's back, it was as if he had eyes on the back of his head. His upper body leaned down, and the dagger slid past his back.

Su Wanwan was so scared that the blood in her body seemed to have stopped.

The burly man was about to swing his knife again when PEI Munian's foot kicked him in the knee. His knees went soft and he knelt forward. PEI Munian snatched the dagger from his hand with lightning speed and twisted his arm behind him. The burly man could not help but cry out in pain. PEI Munian bent her elbow and hit his back, causing the burly man to fall to the ground.

PEI Munian heaved a sigh of relief and glanced at the three people who were wailing on the ground. Her dark eyes narrowed. aren't you going to scam? "

The few strong men helped each other up and ran away, not daring to stay for a moment.

Su Wanwan quickly ran to PEI Munian's side and looked at him nervously. niannian, how are you? " Are you alright?"

"I'm fine."

However, su Wanwan directly went behind him. The back of his shirt was cut by a knife and there was a shallow scratch on his body, with blood oozing out slightly.

"You still say you're fine, but you're bleeding!" Su Wanwan's nose soured and her voice became hoarse. I told you to be careful.

Previously, he had gotten injured while trying to save her and had almost died. She could not see him getting injured at all. With trembling hands, she took out a tissue from her bag and wanted to take out some paper to wipe PEI Munian's wound. However, her hands were trembling so badly that she could not pull it out no matter how many times she tried.

Seeing this, PEI Munian's large palm covered the back of her hand, which was cold to the touch. This fool!

"Don't worry, it's just a small injury." The dagger had only scratched her a little. It was not a big deal to him, but it might have frightened her again.

PEI Munian consoled her and then helped her pull out a tissue. Su Wanwan took it and wiped the wound on PEI Munian's back. Seeing the white paper dyed red and her eyes wet, she couldn't help but feel guilty.

If she hadn't run over recklessly, niannian wouldn't have been injured again.

"I said I'm fine, huh?"

Seeing su Wanwan's Red eyes, PEI Munian reached out and pulled her into his arms. His big palm gently stroked her head. He lowered his head and kissed the center of her hair. His voice became softer, " it's really okay.

Su Wanwan pursed her lips, gently sniffed, and slowly nodded.

PEI Munian raised her head and looked at the woman in the alley who was scared out of her wits. She pushed su Wan away slightly and said, "Wanwan, let's go and take a look.

"Yes."

PEI Munian held su Wanwan's hand and walked into the depths of the alley. That woman fell to the ground, her whole body trembling violently. Her face was full of fear, as if she had not escaped from that dangerous situation.

Her hair was in a mess, and one side of her face was red and swollen. There were five clear finger marks on it, and blood was flowing from the corner of her lips. Her hands and feet were also bruised in many places. Her clothes were torn, and her white skin was faintly visible.

"You, are you okay?"

Su Wanwan was afraid of scaring her again, so her voice unconsciously became gentler. However, she didn't seem to hear it and was dazed without any reaction.

Su Wanwan slowly squatted down and asked again. She tried to reach out and touch her.

As soon as his hand touched her shoulder, the woman's body trembled violently and subconsciously shrank back. Su Wanwan quickly said: "It's fine now. Don't be afraid."