Su Wanwan was still mumbling when PEI Munian's threatening voice sounded above her head. Wanwan, do you still want to sleep? If you don't want to sleep, I don't mind accompanying you to do something else, Yingluo."

".....?"

Su Wanwan naturally knew what the so-called "other things" were. She immediately covered her mouth and yawned a little. She said with sleepiness, "I'm going to sleep. Good night, niannian."

She raised her head and leaned forward to kiss him on the chin. Then, she burrowed into his arms and closed her eyes.

She talked about other things in high spirits, but she started to run away when she talked about them. This woman was really Wanwan.

PEI Munian's lips curled up. There was helplessness in her eyes, but more of it was indulgence. He smiled, hugged her soft body tightly, and closed his eyes.

As the night deepened, PEI Munian and su Wanwan fell asleep in each other's arms, while Gong Lingyu and Yu Jia didn't sleep.

Gong Lingyu was lying on the deck chair on the balcony outside, listening to the rising and falling of the sea water and looking up at the stars in the sky. Such a beautiful scene could not stop the frustration in his heart at all. Instead, it became more and more chaotic, like a tangled ball of thread that could not be tidied up no matter what.

When they were on the beach outside, Yu Jia asked him what he wanted to do, and he was stunned.

He didn't even react when Jia ni shook him off with a smile and left.

What did he want to do? His thoughts were simple. He didn't want to drift apart from Yu Jia. He liked her as a friend and cherished her, so he wanted to make up with her and go back to the past.

When he was unhappy, he could ask her out for a drink. When she had no one to accompany her, she could also drag him out to go shopping, ask him to treat her to a meal, and rip him off.

He didn't think it was precious before, but ever since that night when they were drunk and something that shouldn't have happened happened, it caused their relationship to become awkward, and everything else changed.

She didn't really want to answer his calls, let alone meet him. In the past, they had arms around each other, and there was nothing between them. Now, she felt awkward even if she accidentally touched him. When he went to the hospital to look for her, she would always say that she was busy and that she would call him when she was free. However, he waited and waited, but he still didn't get a call from her.

Later on, because he had ruined her blind date, their originally deadlocked relationship had completely stiffened. She seemed to have found a natural excuse to drive him away and not let him get close to her. How could he not feel aggrieved?

He valued her as a friend so much, but she wanted to abandon him so casually?

Although it was wrong of him to ruin her blind date, didn't he apologize to her? She had given him a good beating at the gym, and it had taken him half a month to recover. Besides, didn't he inform doctor Xu to pick her up that night? Didn't he explain it clearly to doctor Xu? Didn't she successfully date Dr. Xu? Why was she still speaking so coldly to him now?

The more Gong Lingyu thought about it, the more indignant he felt. He sat up abruptly.

That's right, he just wanted to continue being friends with her. No matter what, they had been friends for more than a year. During that year, every time her blind dates failed, he would go shopping with her to vent his anger. Every time he was sad because of Wanwan, she would drink with him. He just wanted to get back this kind of revolutionary relationship.

At the very least, she wouldn't reject him and keep him a thousand miles away!
