"What's wrong?"

The man's low and hoarse voice rang slowly in her ear, as gentle as ever. Su Wanwan raised her eyes to look at him, her heart slightly suffused with a little sourness. Because of her, PEI Munian's relationship with her parents had become like this. As father PEI said, if something really happened to mother PEI, PEI Munian might not even be able to see Qianqian for the last time.

Su Wanwan pursed her lips and said in a very low voice, " niannian, I'm sorry, I'm Wanwan.

I've already said that you don't have to take dad's words to heart. I chose you, so you have nothing to be sorry about. Mom's condition was an accident and has nothing to do with you, so you don't have to take all the blame on yourself, okay? "

"Niannian Yingluo."

PEI Munian reached out again and held her hand. Then, he pulled her into his arms. He held her and caressed the back of her head with his large palm. His voice became gentler. Wanwan, mom is fine now. You don't have to say anything, okay?"

Su Wanwan slowly swallowed the words that were on the tip of her tongue. She could hear the slight tremble in his words. He was indeed worried about mother PEI, but he would not blame her for anything. It was because of this that he urged her to feel even more guilty.

However, she also knew that she couldn't give him any more trouble at this moment. He was already worried enough, so she couldn't let him worry about her as well.

Su Wanwan slowly nodded in his arms.

Mrs. PEI had already been transferred to the VIP Ward. PEI Munian held su Wanwan's hand and walked to the door of the ward. Su Wanwan couldn't help but stop and said in a low voice, " niannian, I'd better not go in, Yueyue.

PEI Munian turned her face, her dark eyes landing on her face.

I don't think mom would want to see me. I don't want her to be unhappy.

The doctor had also said that Mrs. PEI had to rest and could not be agitated. If he saw her, it would definitely affect his condition.

you're my wife, my daughter-in-law. It's only right for you to visit her.

PEI Munian's hand that was holding hers tightened. Not allowing her to hesitate any longer, she strode forward and led her into the ward.

In the ward, Mrs. PEI was already slowly waking up. She lay there weakly, her face pale and sickly. She held father PEI's hand and muttered weakly, " where's Munian? Has he returned?"

"Mom, I'm here."

PEI Munian responded and quickened her steps. Mrs. PEI heard her son's voice and quickly looked over. As PEI Munian approached, she raised her hand and held his hand. Munian, you're finally back. I thought I would never see you again.

"How could I?" PEI Munian held onto Mrs. PEI's hand and said gently, "mother, you'll live to a hundred years old. You can see me for as long as you want.

He paused for a moment and a trace of guilt appeared in his eyes. I'm sorry, Mom. I wasn't able to be by your side in time.

it's okay. It's good that you're back. You're back.

As Mrs. PEI spoke, her gaze inadvertently swept to su Wanwan, who was standing at the side, and her expression became cold bit by bit. outsiders are not welcome here.

Su Wanwan bit her lower lip and lowered her head slightly.

mom, Wanwan and I rushed here as soon as we got off the plane. She's very worried about you.

"I don't want an outsider to worry about my health! Please get out! I don't want to see you!" Because of her agitation, Mrs. PEI's face turned pale from the pain as if she had pulled on her wound.

PEI Munian's eyebrows furrowed and she was about to say something when su Wanwan saw this and spoke first!
