He would never know what she had done for him. She had lost so much and still had to watch him and su Wanwan be happy?

No, it wouldn't end like this. She wouldn't allow herself to be a loser forever and be excluded by them. She must get what she wanted!

On the way back, su Wanwan still had a lingering fear. From time to time, she glanced sideways at PEI Munian. After making sure that he was sitting beside her, her suspended heart finally calmed down a little.

At the red light at the intersection, PEI Munian stopped the car and turned to look at su Wan. She immediately met her nervous eyes and couldn't help but smile: "Silly, I'm really fine. I'm here, just relax."

His hand reached over and held su Wan's hand. Her hand had been unconsciously clenching her fist. He pulled her hand over and opened her fingers one by one, stretching them. His warm palm was pressed against her hand, gently caressing her cold little hand.

"Do you feel it? I'm here."

Su Wanwan shook her head. I can't feel it. I'm worried that I'm seeing an illusion.

PEI Munian smiled and leaned over to kiss her red lips. how about this? "

Her long, curly eyelashes trembled slightly. Su Wanwan blinked her beautiful big eyes. The bottom of her eyes was still dull, hiding fear. She continued to shake her head, " I can't feel it.

Even if he was right in front of her, she always thought that he would disappear in the next second. Her heart was always in the air, and her feet felt like they were stepping on cotton, unable to land on anything.

PEI Munian rubbed her head helplessly and looked up at the road. He estimated that they would be back at the villa in about ten minutes. Without saying anything more, he sat up straight, changed gears, and stepped on the accelerator. The car sped back to the villa.

As soon as the two people entered the door, su Wan had just taken off her shoes when the man had already pulled her over. His thin lips heavily pressed against her red lips. Before he could react, his tongue had already pushed open her teeth and barged in. It wrapped around her and deeply entangled.

Su Wanwan recovered from her shock and unconsciously opened her mouth to meet his kiss. She also raised her hands and wrapped them around his neck, sticking close to his body and feeling his body temperature.

The two of them kissed all the way and staggered all the way inside. Su Wanwan was pressed against the wall where the light switch was. PEI Munian held her with one hand and used the other to turn it on.

The dim yellow light turned on and shone down diagonally. Both of their faces seemed to be covered in a layer of haze, making people involuntarily want to stick closer and kiss deeper. Only then could they feel that the other party really existed.

They continued to walk inside. When they reached the top of the stairs, su Wanwan pressed PEI Munian against the handrail and kissed him with all her might. Her hands followed his neck down and caressed his hard back. She was full of strength and he was wearing a seatbelt.

PEI Munian chuckled, as if laughing at her anxiousness. He wrapped his arms around her waist and carried her up, walking up the stairs step by step.

In the quiet villa, other than the occasional whistling of the wind from outside, there was only the sound of the two people's intimate lips and teeth. The air could not help but burst into sparks of fire, and the heat surrounded them as if it was going to burn the two of them.

Walking back to the room, PEI Munian kicked the door and then pressed su Wan behind the door.
