

Destined with You

#Chapter 1 - 6: Gained an Advantage - Read Destined with You Chapter 1 - 6: Gained an Advantage

Chapter 1: Chapter 6: Gained an Advantage

So...

She bumped into the man's...

"Ah!" Gu Qingxin screamed, immediately attempted to back off, but Beiming Han reached out and pulled her back into his arms.

Their bodies tightly pressed against each other, under his thin clothes, Gu Qingxin could clearly feel the solid muscles, and his scorching temperature that made her blush.

Apart from Tang Rongling, she never had such close physical intimacy with another man.

"What's the matter?" Beiming Han asked with a teasing expression.

"Let me go!" Gu Qingxin struggled violently, her teeth clenched onto her lip. As much as she wanted to scream out in panic, she knew rationally that she couldn't blame the man before her for what happened yesterday.

Beiming Han obediently let her go, but due to her forceful struggle, she lost her balance and fell backward to the ground.

She grimaced in pain from the wounds on her body, and inwardly cursed him. It seemed like he did this on purpose!

"Trying to run away? You really think it's that easy?" Beiming Han stooped down to look at the embarrassed lady falling on the ground.

"Yesterday was an accident... I didn't want to..." Gu Qingxin's voice gradually faded, she coughed slightly and said louder, "I was the one at a disadvantage yesterday, wasn't I?"

It seemed like her voice being loud made her courage stronger.

"Then what is this?" Beiming Han asked frostily. He let go of his palm and a red bill floated down from the sky, landing on Gu Qingxin's face.

“This... I... You saved me yesterday, so this is just a token of my gratitude. I didn’t mean anything else.” Gu Qingxin’s voice shrank even lower. Except for this money, she had nothing else.

“Is that what I’m worth to you?” Beiming Han’s smile didn’t reach his eyes. His deep black eyes concealed a bone-chilling coldness.

Very well. She was the first one to provoke him and still be alive!

Because all those who dared to provoke him before were already dead!

Wasn’t every woman around him trying their best to please him, being gentle and considerate, and not even daring to speak loudly?

“How much do you want then, just... just tell me.” Gu Qingxin scrambled up from the ground, wishing to leave this place as fast as possible, and as she tried to pull away, he abruptly pulled her back.

He twisted both her arms behind her back with one hand, and with his other hand held her chin, forcing her to look up at him.

Gu Qingxin’s face turned pale with agony, but she grit her teeth, refusing to plead.

“I wasted so much for you yesterday... give you a discount, one hundred billion,” Beiming Han said coldly.

O... one hundred billion?!

Gu Qingxin thought this man had certainly gone mad. Forget one hundred billion; she didn’t even have ten thousand. Even if he were to auction her off, she surely wouldn’t fetch this much.

“It’s you who took advantage!” Gu Qingxin said without caring about her own shyness, her face grew red, and her voice trembled slightly.

The man in front of her was always reminding her of what she had lost.

“You think you’re worth a lot? Laughable.” Beiming Han’s face was filled with disdain.

Gu Qingxin looked at him in disbelief, she was being belittled by him into being worthless.

Tip: You can use left, right, A and D keyboard keys to browse between chapters.