Chapter 107 Tier 2 Class Promotion (Part 1)

Shin walked out the Heavenly Resto-Bar, and went towards the Church of the Sun and the Moon. He don't have to worry about the King's spies that were tasked to observe him. He now have a strong alibi to go in the church after all.

Shin went directly to Archbishop Ronald's office when he arrived at the church. And when he entered the office, he saw another man aside from the Archbishop. And that guy is looking at him with some of familiarity.

Shin knitted his brows as he entered the room. He give the Archbishop a salute unique to the Church before turning his head to the other guy.

"Do we know each other, Senior?" Asked Shin while knitting his brows.

The other guy laugh softly before replying at Shin. "You can't recognize me? Then that means my disguise worked once again. Anyway, didn't I told you that I'm going to find you after you graduated from an Intermediate Training Ground?"

"Eh!? You are Senior Kentas?" Said Shin with startled expression on his face.

"Anyway, that was not important for now. You are here for your Second Awakening(Class Promotion), right?" Said Kentas who is currently in disguise as an ordinary citizen.

Shin nodded his head and let Kentas to continue."I have a suggestion." said Kentas while giving Shin a mysterious grin.

Shin felt a sudden chill on his back when he saw that grin. He smiled stiffly before saying to Kentas. "Can I reject your offer?"

"Well too bad for you. I already discussed it with your Predecessor and Ronald here. So you can't say 'No' anymore." said Kentas while maintaining his evil grin.

'D*mn! Then that was not a suggestion anymore if you already decided about it.' Thought Shin in his mind before replying. "Hey, why can't I even express myself? Is my opinion not important here?"

"Well, it is important. But that was if you are an Official Envoy of the Church. Unfortunately you are still a Young Envoy, so your voice is not strong enough to be heard." sneered by Kentas as if he is provoking Shin purposely.

Shin release a helpless sigh before looking at Archbishops Ronald and said. "How can I take my Second Awakening(Class Promotion) then?"

The Archbishop wave his right hand forward while replying at Shin. "Just go with 'Mister Kentas' and he will explain everything to you."

Then Shin suddenly felt that he is being dragged behind his neck. Moment later, he appeared at the center of a ruined Altar in the middle of the woods.

Shin observe his surrounding for quite some time before turning his attention at Kentas who is currently sitting comfortably at the stone steps on his front.

"So what's next now?" said Shin dejectedly. "What's with that tone, Kid? You should jump in joy instead. Because not all of the Envoys of the Church managed to become a real 'Reaper'." said Kentas at Shin, before adding in a nonchalant manner. "You should thank me, because I'm boosting your change to become a real 'Reaper' by increasing the difficulty of your Second Awakening by another level."

Shin nodded his head and said. "Alright, alright. I get it already, so what am I going to do?"

Then a Teleportation Gate appeared behind Shin, as Kentas explain some more things. "Alright. That Gate will send you to another world. And all you have to do is to kill as much monsters as you can in that place, all the way until the Gate reappeared once again. And that will be 7-days from now."

"Ah!? One more thing, The stronger the Monster you kill, the higher the score you can get on this trial. Same goes, if you kill a large number of them. Alright! that was all, you can go now!"

Then Kentas flicked his index finger, sending a powerful gust of wind forward and dragging Shin towards the Teleportation Gate.

"Wait! I thought I'm going to jump in the gate myself?" complained Shin as he flew towards the Gate.

"Oops! Sorry, I forgot about that." said Kentas nonchalantly while waving his right hand at Shin. Then Shin's ears were bombarded by a barrage of sudden system notifications.

The tigers release another roar as if they saying that they can understand what he had said. Then Shin ordered his gang to scatter around and find some monsters.

After few minutes of looking around, Shin finally saw a group of monsters. They are a bunch of wolves that are standing with their two feet. Their arms at quite long with lengthy nails and sharp claws. The furs on its body are releasing some black smokes, while its mouth have a deadly long sharp teeth and fangs.

"There are five Werewolves in a single group. I guess I can handle the two of them, the Clones can handle each, and the last one will be left to the two tigers." Shin is formulating a plan when one of the Werewolves sensed something.

It turn its head at the location where Shin and his gang is hiding, and release a threatening growl. The other Werewolves turn their heads at the same direction before releasing a growl of their own. Then they started walking slowly towards Shin's hiding place.

When the werewolves arrived behind the huge boulder, one of them jumped upwards while the other four circle around the huge boulder, two to the right and other two to the left.

And that is the time when Shin and his group made their moves. Whitie pounce at the werewolf that jumped upwards and bite its neck.
