Chapter 891: Immature

He said that without much concern, because he knew that Eighth Brother had never been out of the capital before, and he might not be aware of the danger happening outside home. Therefore, his Eighth Brother might get very startled by what was happening. Also, he was a lord who might not stand such misunderstanding.

A lord had a very noble social status in the capital, but here on the water, especially when you could not pull the anchor to any bank, a lord might have the bigger possibility of being caught and killed.

Pirates would always be there, since they were acknowledged to exist by the businessmen and civilians.

The governmental offices never had their hands into such a group, nor were they able to handle such a group either. So what they should do right now was to hide their real social statuses, pay some money and get by.

He talked to his Eighth Brother in this way, because he was worried that his Eighth Brother would make a fuss.

"Eighth Brother, just go and check on Lady Chaoyan, I can handle everything here. The pirates are living on the water all year round, so what they need is just some money. They stopped us, because they think we are from a big family because of the big boat, and they need too much from us. I will try to have a talk with them," Zhou Huaiyu said.

He thought that it was a very hot issue.

Those people needed so much treasure which they could not afford, but if they did not offer anything, they would probably get onto the boat and carry things away. Lady Chaoyan was on the boat right now and that could make things even more troublesome.

Pirates never stole women, just money. Yet it was never certain.

Zhou Huaiyu was just in the middle of confusion, when the head of the robbers shouted. "It is just five million for your safety. We'll leave when we get the money and we can also guide you through the dangerous part of the river ahead of you. You might not make it without us."

"..."

"If you keep on dragging, I will get my men to steal the things on the boat. By that time, it would be more than five million we take." The rough-looking guy shouted.

Zhou Huaiyu got anxious. He frowned and asked. "Eighth Brother, how much can you give to them?"

"Sixth Brother, we can't give them the money," Zhou Huaijin said.

He came to the head of the boat and said with a serious look on his face. "We don't have any money, are you retreating or not?!"

Hearing these words, Zhou Huaiyu got startled. That was going to startle the pirates.

They did not have many people with them, since he had not expected that there would be so many pirates here. He thought that money would solve everything.

They would definitely be defeated, due to the lack of followers.

Zhou Huaiyu took hold of his brother. "Eighth Brother!"

Wuhen also explained with a small voice. "Lord Huai, the pirates are very well prepared. There are too many of them for us to handle. Lady Chaoyan is in the boat, and we can't take the risk."

Zhou Huaijin took a look at Wuhen.

He patted his shoulders. "It is fine. We can't offer them the money or allow them to do whatever they want here. Since we are here, we can't possibly give them the money just to end this. That would make the pirates bully the business people even more."

Hearing what Zhou Huaijin said, Wuhen should a look of helplessness.

He was thinking inwardly – Lord Huai, who was immature and naive, was going to get them all killed.

Chapter 892: The Light Sound of Footsteps

He was a man with justice and believed that he was a lord who could do something for the civilians, but he should have considered the consequences! They were on the water and not everything could be solved so easily. The court would have dealt with those pirates ages ago, if they were so easy to finish. It was not the capital!

There used to be some missions set up to finish the pirates, but they were too familiar with the water to be caught easily. The water was wide and boundless, and they were completely out of control.

Also, they were not in an advantageous status right now. There were some women on the boat too!

Wuhen looked at Zhou Huaiyu and showed a look of complaint. He and Lord Yu had never run into any hot issues after spending so many years outside, but now they ran into trouble directly on the first day of the trip with Lord Huai.

Zhou Huaiyu said, "Eighth Brother, let's just have a nice talk."

Zhou Huaijin did not take his brother's words into consideration. Instead, he said to those who looked influential opposite them. "Are you retreating or not?"

Those people on the boat opposite them laughed.

"Retreating?" Jin, the head, said to his men next to him. "We have lived more than ten years on the water, and no one has ever asked us to retreat. How interesting, which family are you from? You must be out on a trip for the first time, right? You know nothing, so we'll give you one last chance – are you giving us the money or not?"

Zhou Huaiyu was about to say yes, when Zhou Huaijin stopped him.

Wuhen complained. "Lord Huai, don't get us killed!"

Zhou Huaijin glared at Wuhen.

He did not care about them.

He reached out his hands and gave the order.

When the order was given, Fu Bao, Mo Bing and Feng Yue all flew directly to the other boat and all of them had swords with them. Apart from these three people, four hidden guards in black all flew out of the boat as well and came to the other boat at the highest speed. The men on the other boat were all suddenly attacked. They were panicking, but they started to fight with them, and tried to jump on Zhou Huaijin's boat. They planned to get upon Zhou Huaijin's boat just to take some hostages.

Those pirates had been used to all kinds of threats. Those hidden guards were capable, but that did not necessarily mean that their leaders were so capable. They only needed to capture the leader, so they had nothing to fear.

Some pirates were capable too.

Some tried to fly to their boat, but Mo Bing struck them all back. Zhou Huaijin did not even move a finger. Suddenly, a fierce fight arose.

However, Zhou Huaijin and Zhou Huaiyu were all in good positions.

Zhou Huaiyu was already scared. He did not know that there were men in black hidden in the boat.

Wuhen flushed. He thought that Lord Huai was just being spoiled, but it seemed that he was prepared. He could not help getting embarrassed.

pirates were capable and there were many of them. So the fight was still not balanced since Zhou Huaijin had stressed that they should not kill anyone on the trip.

Gu Chaoyan, who was in the room, also heard the noise of fighting outside, but she had not considered it as something important.

However, suddenly, the sound of light footsteps arose.

Chapter 893: Threat

Gu Chaoyan and Sword One exchanged a look. Both of them had heard the sound of soft footsteps. Sword One was a well-trained hidden guard from Shadow Door so she was able to sense the movement and Gu Chaoyan had an even sharper sense of hearing, since she was very strictly trained in her previous life. Also, she had been drinking magical water since she arrived in this world, so she was very aware of everything around her.

Sword One took out her sword, when she sensed something strange going on outside. She decided to take a look outside the room, since her mission was to protect her Elder Miss, and she needed to shield her in whichever situation.

Qing, who had not been aware of anything, did not know the situation for the moment, but when she saw the look on her Elder Miss and Sword One's faces, she understood that something was wrong. Instead of speaking loudly, she said nothing and continued to take care of Gu Chaoyan like before.

Although they knew about the approaching person outside the room, they should never let that person know that they were aware.

If the person outside knew about the people's awareness inside the room, he would become alarmed. Then it would be much harder for them to deal with him outside.

Gu Chaoyan threw a look at Sword One who was about to go out. She threw a look at her and asked her not to go out, then she gestured for her to put away the sword. She should not reveal her identity as someone who was good at martial arts.

Sword One did not get it, but that was her Elder Miss' order, something she could not possibly counter. So she put away the sword slightly and returned to how she was a while ago, when she was making the tea for Gu Chaoyan whilst listening to the movement outside the room.

Well...

The reason why Gu Chaoyan asked Sword One to do this was because she was not feeling well because of the sea-sickness. And she would be very unhelpful if something urgent happened.

And if this man was capable enough to dodge the hidden guards and Zhou Huaijin and arrive here, then it basically meant that he was quite capable in at least one aspect.

Sword One was capable in martial arts, but she and Qing were in the room too. Gu Chaoyan could not guarantee that Sword One would be able to deal with that man smoothly, but Sword One and Qing would definitely keep her safe if any emergency happened, so she had to make sure that no accidents happened and that they were going to be completely safe.

Gu Chaoyan took out her own needle purse.

She put on some medicine upon the needles and hid them in her hands, waiting for that man to arrive.

When Sword One saw the series of movements, she finally understood what Elder Miss meant when she asked her not to move. That was her plan.

Elder Miss was definitely full of evil ideas.

She put away her sword, so no one could see from outside that she was capable of doing martial arts. That man, whoever he was, would feel that it was just three weak girls in the room. In this way, that man would not be very alert. When he was not that alert any more, he could get attacked by Elder Miss' silver needles, which would trap him completely.

Sword One smiled and started to talk in the room. She was telling some stories only a girl would tell.

And Qing's care of words to Gu Chaoyan's physical condition were heard too.

The man outside was still wearing a look of alarm, because he had noticed how capable that hidden guards were out there. It had taken him a lot of effort to dodge them and come to this room. He had been worried that someone else, who was equally capable, was hidden inside the room too.

He had not wanted to take the risk, but he had to do this, because he needed to take a hostage.

Chapter 894: Sure?

He had been surviving on his capability in martial arts and assassination with the Beihai Gang, and he was not in a low position in the Beihai Gang, where he was very well-received.

It seemed that the Beihai Gang had run into someone difficult to handle, so he was not going to leave them alone.

This boat was very large and he checked everywhere, but saw no goods. So it must be a boat belonging to some rich people, who would always have women with them on their trip. That was why he came to this room.

If he was able to get the women as a hostage, the Beihai Gang would have a bargaining chip and could avoid too much sacrifice.

He paused and pricked up his ears.

Everyone inside was a woman and one of them had a high social status too.

He could tell that there were only women inside the room, with no one else. Those who were capable of martial arts must be outside participating in the fight, and they were confident enough to not let anyone guard this door.

However, they had not expected that someone like him existed. They had not expected that he would dodge them and sneak into this place.

Man Xilou was thinking inwardly as he started to feel a little proud.

He had already grasped what was happening here, so he was no longer as alert. Instead, he jumped into the room through the window, as a scream arose inside. However, Man Xilou did not care. He took a look at the room and found that everything was how he expected.

There were three weak women in the room.

No one would hear their scream, because the fight outside the boat was too loud to let any sound from this room be heard, but he still said, "I suggested that you should not scream, or I will make sure you never scream again."

Qing closed her mouth.

Only then did Man Xilou feel slightly satisfied.

It was good that it was quiet here. He did not like noise.

He threw a look at the bed. As far as he heard from outside, there was a patient lying there and his guesses were right!

It must be a lady who was lying there. And this boat must be taking this woman to get seen by a doctor somewhere.

That was what Man Xilou was thinking.

He threw a look at the bed and got startled. He had never met anyone with such a charming appearance and characteristics, except that she had a pale-looking face – he was not sure what disease she had.

Well, she must be the real reason why the man outside the boat was willing to take her for a check-up.

There were many doctors, good doctors in the South.

This woman, who seemed to be so well-trained, must be in a very important position.

Seeing this woman ill, he said quietly, "Lady, I am going to take you hostage. Are you going to get up yourself, or should I use my blade?"

Man Xilou believed that he was very polite.

He was not a scholar, but he was going to be polite in front of a weak and sick lady.

People from the capital loved to be polite. So he believed that he had been polite and gentle enough to give her some choices.

Gu Chaoyan looked at him in amusement.

This was an interesting pirate, but unfortunately, he was a pirate, otherwise she could have hired him as one of her men too.

"You are sure you want to take me hostage?" Gu Chaoyan asked calmly.

Man Xilou looked about and said with determination. "I am sure. You are only three women here so you can't possibly run away from me."

Chapter 895: Your Men

Man Xilou showed a smile that was not a sneer. It was a look that told Gu Chaoyan not to joke around with him.

"Lady, I am a pirate, a very evil person. I am not like the young masters in the capital who are polite to girls," Man Xilou said seriously.

Having said this, he thought for a while and walked towards Gu Chaoyan.

He could have made some explanations for this lady about how evil he was, but now his Beihai Gang were not in an advantageous situation and he needed to take a hostage as soon as possible for negotiation.

He took a few steps forward, before she released the silver needles from her hands.

Man Xilou had not expected this. He dodged the flying needles, but some still landed on him.

Man Xilou threw a look at the silver needles on himself and suddenly laughed.

No wonder this lady never showed an expression of fear. He had thought that this lady must have experienced a great deal so as to save some tricks for herself.

What a pity. The silver needles were just a fun trick for him. It would never work on him.

"Lady, your silver needles don't work on me. Stop struggling and become my hostage." Man Xilou said.

Gu Chaoyan smiled and raised her eyebrows. "Are you sure?"

Only then did Man Xilou feel that something was wrong.

Those were more than just the silver needles. Those silver needles were poisoned.

He had already started to feel numbness overtaking him. He looked up and saw one of the maids holding up a sword – she was clearly a very capable person in martial arts.

He weighed his own situation inside his head. It would be impossible to take anyone hostage right now. He had to leave now before he was taken hostage himself – that would be too humiliating.

Sword One was about to pursue him, when Gu Chaoyan said, “It is okay.”

Sword One stopped and looked at her Elder Miss.

Gu Chaoyan decided not to kill him. For one thing, she believed that this man was very good at hiding and could be very suitable as a helper in the future and two, this man was very fun, and she would like to keep him alive. In this way, they could become friends later.

That was what Gu Chaoyan was thinking.

Sword One did not pursue that man, but now she was very alarmed – this man had already cost them a lot of energy, so if more came, it would be very troublesome.

“Sword One, no need to stay so alert. Wait for a while, and they should be back soon.” Gu Chaoyan said.

Sword One put down her sword and said helplessly, “Elder Miss, you are so capable. We are so useless compared to you.”

Gu Chaoyan chuckled.

Outside the boat.

The fight came to an end.

The Beihai Gang had a few serious casualties, while those who were able to escape ran away already, leaving behind a strong smell of blood.

Actually, that was the least Zhou Huaijin’s men could do to spare their lives. It was such a ferocious fight that the hidden guards just could not spare everyone’s life, especially those who attacked fiercely.

Not many people died; just a few of the really fearless ones. Most of them retreated, so their lives were spared.

The hidden guards put away their swords and hid away again.

At this moment, only a few people were standing on the boat.

Zhou Huaiyu said with a look of disbelief, “Eighth Brother, where did you get those people?”

Chapter 896: Fear?

Zhou Huaiyu had been traveling around all these years on his own, and he had befriended many people whom he would like to make his own, Wuhen for example, but even he was unable to cultivate such capable people like the ones who obeyed his Eighth Brother without hesitation.

The fight had lasted for a long time, but Zhou Huaiyu had made some observations – His Eighth Brother's men had gotten almost no injuries when facing such strong enemies. His men only received a few scratches.

His Eighth Brother grew up in the capital and their father watched over them constantly, so how did he manage to gather those forces?

Zhou Huaiyu was very surprised, but Zhou Huaijin looked calm. He asked Mo Bing and Fu Bao to clean away the blood stain on the boat first, then he suggested that they should head inside.

"I had my own mansion when I was still little. We had to get some guards since we were not living in the court. Also, I have been involved with many businesses over the years, and I have become the target of many potential enemies. So I had to keep some well-trained guards with me. Don't be surprised, brother, many of those guards were gifts from father. It is just that I paid them well, so they decided to train themselves properly somewhere, thus becoming such excellent fighters," Zhou Huaijin said half-truthfully.

Zhou Huaijin could show his own abilities in front of Zhou Huaiyu, because he trusted him, but it was not the correct time to show his real ability, so he had to just reveal just part of it.

Also, he did not trust his brother's man next to him. He was not sure if this man was trustworthy. That was why he hid much of the truth.

When Zhou Huaiyu heard the story, he thought that most things seemed to make sense, but not everything. Nevertheless, he admired his Eighth Brother, who was so excellent living in the care of the King.

He was going to change his opinion towards his Eighth Brother. He agreed to help his Eighth Brother, because his mother, namely the Queen, had helped him before. So he decided to do whatever he could to help this brother of his.

He spent little time in the capital and with his Eighth Brother. So he always believed that his Eighth Brother was a playboy who was extremely spoiled. That was why he decided to take him out for a trip, since if he was away from the capital, he could at least be safe.

However, now... Zhou Huaiyu felt that he should re-evaluate this brother of his.

Zhou Huaiyu was so shocked that he became absent-minded, but Wuhen was not.

He subconsciously felt irritated by Lord Huai, so he added. "Lord Huai, you just said that you were going to punish the pirates, so why didn't you have them killed? They can heal when they are let go this way and they will continue to make trouble on the water. Are you scared of them?"

"We are going to get through smoothly, but what about the businessmen coming after us? Maybe the pirates will not only steal treasure, but also hurt people, because of us!"

Chapter 897: Rules

Wuhen was getting increasingly angry.

Pirates had their own rules – they needed money, but they did not injure people, that was why the governmental offices never punished them. In this way, those who were robbed only needed to pay some money to save their own lives.

The pirates stopped them and charged them even more money, because they saw that the boat they were riding was very luxurious. Lord Huai was too spoiled to withstand bitterness, so he chose a very luxurious one rather than an ordinary one, attracting the attention of the pirates.

Now they had got themselves out of trouble and were fine, but what about the boats that came after?

The pirates would vent their anger at them instead.

Zhou Huaiyu gave Wuhen a push when he heard Wuhen's interrogative words, telling him not to talk about that any more.

His Eighth Brother would be very uncomfortable hearing this kind of interrogation. His Eighth Brother had never been out of capital before, so he was not aware of the danger in the society. He did not think that his Eighth Brother would understand the complications of the world.

His Eighth Brother was great to be able to have some well-trained men with him.

It was very easy to punish the pirates, but the difficult part was that the essence of the whole matter would not be changed so easily. The pirates might blame others for this setback.

Even if this gang was punished, there would be other pirates emerging from somewhere else.

And what he had done already broke the hidden balance, so new rules would arise on the water from this moment on – the civilians would have to be the ones that suffered.

Zhou Huaijin took a look at Wuhen and then at Zhou Huaiyu.

He disliked it when someone asked him why he did not finish the job, but they were not to be blamed. They were right – if you could not change something completely, the best way was to not make any changes and just let it stay the way it had always been. Maybe your intention of changing something would make the whole thing even worse.

However, Zhou Huaijin was different.

He could not allow this to happen, otherwise there would never be any peace in the world.

Zhou Huaijin was not angry, he replied calmly, "I did not have them killed, because I know that they are pirates with some conscience. They don't kill people, but only demand money. They are not to be sentenced to death. I spared their lives, because I expected them to leave here safely, back to their own camps, because those who were present were just part of the whole gang. If we had them killed just now, more pirates would come after us. We don't want to get involved with them, since we are just passing by this area."

“As for what you said about breaking the rules here, so that the civilians would have to suffer. Well, don’t worry, Feng Yue already sent the signal at the end of the fight, so my men will all come and sweep away those pirates completely. From this moment on, everyone on the water will belong to me instead.”

“So I will be the one that sets the rules, which should be good for civilians,” Zhou Huaijin said calmly.

People from Shadow Door were everywhere across the land. Some of them were good at assassination, and some were good at assassination underwater.

The Shadow Door had plenty of people and they feared nothing.

However, he was not going to mention that the Shadow Door belonged to him at this moment.

Wuhen frowned and was very skeptical. “Are you sure?”

“Just wait and see.” Zhou Huaijin replied calmly, then he started to head towards Gu Chaoyan’s room.

He wondered if the fight had disturbed her.

Zhou Huaiyu followed along. He would like to see how she was recovering from her seasickness.

Chapter 898: Not Blaming

The boatmen were sailing faster at this moment, so they should arrive at the bank ahead of time. After one more night, they should be able to reach Tongzhou port. If she was still not well, then they would get off the boat at Tongzhou and continue along the land instead. Tongzhou was not as convenient as Bingzhou, and it would take some time to get ready for the land trip. That would cost some time.

If she had gotten used to traveling by boat and was getting better, then they did not have to go through Tongzhou.

The water shortened the distance.

Zhou Huaiyu was following Zhou Huaijin when Zhou Huaijin suddenly stopped. He found that something was wrong as he reached the door – what happened in the room?

“What is it?” Zhou Huaiyu asked confusedly.

Zhou Huaijin glanced about and noticed the silver needle on the ground. He picked it up and saw that the silver needle was colored, meaning that the silver needle had been dabbed with water.

And things inside were obviously moved, slightly yet moved.

Zhou Huaijin ran towards Gu Chaoyan’s room with a frown.

He pushed the door open with force, fearing that something may have happened to them. He let out a sigh of relief seeing that the three girls inside were safe and sound.

Good, good!

He had sensed that someone had been here, and that person must be from the pirates. He was so worried – he had not noticed how someone sneaked into the boat.

Zhou Huaijin saw some silver needles by the window inside the room too.

“What happened?” Zhou Huaijin asked. He went to the bedside and took hold of Gu Chaoyan’s hands tightly. He was getting really nervous.

Zhou Huaiyu was surprised too – something happened here?

He got startled at the sight of the silver needles by the window – someone had been here!

It was good that they were all well.

Sword One, who was standing next to them, repeated what happened a moment ago as well as how serious the situation had been and how cleverly Elder Miss had reacted to it.

When Sword One finished her story...

Zhou Huaiyu had a complicated look on his face.

She was the smart girl he met at the Saint College – nothing had changed.

Zhou Huaiyu was not sure how he should react to this.

Zhou Huaijin took hold of Gu Chaoyan’s hands and said, “I am sorry that I have not protected you well.”

Gu Chaoyan looked at Zhou Huaijin and said calmly, “Don’t blame yourself, Huaijin, that was nothing. I can protect myself. I am not a weak person, and you don’t have to see me as one of the weak either.”

Zhou Huaijin nodded.

Chaoyan was an excellent and smart girl. He should not have regarded her as some girl who knew nothing about the world.

She and he were sharing the same position. He had just been too worried to remember how capable Chaoyan was.

Zhou Huaiyu asked when the two of them paused their conversation, “We are approaching Tongzhou soon, are we getting off the boat? Lady Chaoyan, are you alright with traveling by boat?”

Zhou Huaiyu hoped that they could continue on the water, because there would be a lot of inconveniences if they traveled on land in Tongzhou.

Chapter 899: Fearless

Most importantly, they were heading towards the Feather Mulberry Land, and they had no channels to get food, horses and wagons. If they chose to travel on land, would Gu Chaoyan, who seemed quite feeble, be able to make it through the bumps? All of these should be taken into consideration. What if they ended up finding the land worse than the water? By that time, they might not even have any boats available. That would be a huge loss.

So Zhou Huaiyu hoped that they could choose the easier way to go.

Before Gu Chaoyan could give any response, Zhou Huaijin said without thinking, "Land. We anchor when we reach Tongzhou port."

If they left Chaoyan to make the choice, Chaoyan would definitely choose to bear her own pain. More importantly, they should reach Tongzhou as soon as possible. There were more than just them on this boat.

That was why he made the decision himself.

Chaoyan's health mattered above all. He did not want insignificant things to hurt Chaoyan.

Zhou Huaiyu, despite his wish, had nothing to say since his brother made the choice. It was a very troublesome method to take, but well, they might as well do that.

Wuhen was not very pleased either.

"Tongzhou is different from Bingzhou, where wagons, horses and food were all ready, and we need to travel fast every day if we are on land because we need to find a hostel before evening. That might be even worse than traveling by boat, where everything is ready." Wuhen reminded him.

"It is fine, I will get those things ready." Zhou Huaijin replied.

The moment he had the idea of anchoring at Tongzhou, he already asked Fu Bao to inform his men at Tongzhou and ask them to get things ready. The moment they arrived at Tongzhou and Chaoyan felt better, they could set off directly.

That was why Zhou Huaijin was replying so confidently.

Wuhen sneered and said. "Then we anchor at Tongzhou, then we will see if we have wagons and food."

After which he dashed off angrily.

Zhou Huaiyu apologized to Zhou Huaijin and followed Wuhen.

He met Wuhen when he was travelling. He saved Wuhen's life, so he decided to stay by his side. They looked as if they were in a relationship of master and guard, but it was not like that at all.

Unlike other guards, Wuhen did not sign any contract with him. He stayed out of gratitude and he had his own personality, because he did not know how young masters behaved in the capital.

So he had to speak with Wuhen, since he was confronting his Eighth Brother.

That was why he hurried away.

However, neither Zhou Huaijin nor Gu Chaoyan lingered upon that any more. Zhou Huaijin asked the kitchen to prepare some mild-tasting dishes for Gu Chaoyan to eat.

"You will have to stay in this room before we arrive at Tongzhou. There is blood everywhere outside, and you don't like the smell, so you won't be able to relax out there," Zhou Huaijin said pitifully.

Gu Chaoyan smiled. She had no energy to walk anywhere. She had not been aware that she could get sea-sick. She had always felt that she feared nothing.

At the Beihai Gang.

The Beihai Gang returned to the camp in a mess. Most of them were injured, and some were seriously injured. Those who were only slightly injured helped the seriously-injured ones to return to the camp.

It was the first time that the Beihai Gang had gotten this disorganized in many years.

“Second Chief, we should not let them go!” one injured man said with gritted teeth.

Chapter 900: Killing Them All

The Beihai Gang had been active on water for around a decade. They had been robbing the passing boats of their money, and those who paid them included some noble families as well as small business boats, who would always politely give them the money. There had never been anyone who refused to pay them.

The Beihai Gang were always ethical. They took what they needed, and did not take what they should not. They did not steal women, nor did they kill.

Therefore everyone was very polite towards them.

However, today...

They were charging the passers-by money too, but those people countered and injured the Beihai Gang. They just could not stand this bullying.

If they did, how would the Beihai Gang live from this moment on? They would be a laughing stock!

The man who was speaking had a bad temper. Everyone else in the Gang tolerated the anger, but he just could not stand it. He snapped angrily, believing that he needed to get revenge!

When Jin heard what his men told him, he felt rather annoyed as well – how could those people hurt the Beihai Gang like this! Did those people truly believe that the Beihai Gang was a joke?

Also, he was the one that led the gang today, yet not only did they not get any money, but their brothers also got hurt so seriously. Jin had to vent the anger.

Otherwise, they would not believe that he was capable enough to lead his gang any more – no one would dare to take the risk with him.

They lost their lives and failed to get money at the same time.

Jin was so furious, but too many of his men were injured. He needed to gather forces to take revenge.

He said as he pressed down his anger. “We have to take revenge! We should not allow ourselves to be bullied like this, but our brothers are all injured, and we need to get them settled first before any more actions are taken. We take money because we need to guarantee that our brothers have a better life. However, now our brothers have been injured and we need to take their situation into consideration.”

Jin was very furious, but he had a calm mind. He understood that he had already lost his position, but he needed to calm his brothers down.

Those injured brothers were extremely moved after hearing what Jin said.

They had nothing to counter him as the head of the gang, therefore Jin led his gang back to the camp.

The moment they entered the room...

The whole gang were shocked at the sight of the numerous injured brothers. They came to help those injured people and burst into riot.

The Head came hurrying. He just could not believe what happened at the sight of the scene, and he suddenly felt quite irritated.

“What is going on? What happened?” the Head asked.

Jin looked very distressed and anxious. It was his fault that his brothers ran into this incident.

He felt that he had been totally humiliated, but he said gloomily, “We ran into some hardcore people, someone from the capital. He must be a young master from some noble family, who has many hidden guards that hit us!”

“We are pirates, but we have our own rules. We don’t kill, but they don’t understand that. They killed some of our brothers!”

“If that is the case... we will have them all killed too!”

“No!” One determined voice arose from not far away.
