Aya left the office in the evening. She had nothing in her mind. She only wanted to go home and sleep. She had “worked all day and eaten little. Dane’s words kept replaying in her head every time she thought about her future.

It looked like fate had never decided happiness in her life. All it wrote for her was suffering mentally.

She was depressed and alone in this pack.

On her way, Griffin called her, asking her to meet him. She refused by saying that she was tired. She said she would meet him tomorrow evening.

The sky was slowly getting dark. The orange shadow in the sky faded into the darkness.

Ava paid the cabbie and walked toward her house.

It was a house with three bedrooms. Dane suggested this house, so she never considered moving out, even though it was too large for one person.

She took out the keys and was about to open the door when she heard the sound of another car from behind.

She turned around and was stunned.

The car stopped near her house, and two people were getting out of the car.

Seeing the two people, she could not believe her eyes. She blinked her eyes, trying to figure out if she was seeing things.

She could not stop herself from murmuring in confusion.

“Abigail? Debra?”

Her two best friends were in the Thunder Howl Pack! In front of her!

Abigail and Debra rushed towards her, spreading their arms.

“Ava!”

They screamed with bright faces and hugged her as soon as they approached her.

Ava felt a jolt of happiness as soon as they embraced her. She hugged them tightly and asked,

“You two are here! How?”

They broke the hug and looked at her with smiles on their faces. Seeing their beautiful smiles, Ava could not help but smile.

She was smiling after a week. If they had not come, she would have forgotten how to smile.

The driver brought out two pieces of luggage and handed them to Abigail and Debra.

When Ava saw the luggage, she was surprised. Her friends turned their gaze and asked,

“What? Won’t you give us shelter in your house?”

Ava immediately grinned at them and opened the door of her house. “Of course!”

Ava dashed to the kitchen and came out holding a tray of two glasses of mango juice. She put the tray on the center table and told them to drink.

Once they were comfortable on the couch, they began talking.

We took a leave for one week and came here for vacation, Debra announced, moving her hands like she was “doing a dance step.

Ava was happy to hear that. “I am glad you chose to come here. I was missing you two.”

Later, Ava prepared dinner.

Abigail and Debra helped her. The three of them laughed when they worked together and ate together.

“We can use one room. Debra and I can share,” Abigail said

Ava shook her head. “But there is one extra bedroom if you want it. So you two can have one for each.”

“No need,” Debra said, taking Abigail’s hand and walking toward the bedroom they had chosen.

Ava stared at them in confusion. But then she shrugged her shoulders and mumbled,

“It’s good that they are here. I am hoping this week will not pass by quickly.”

The next morning,

Ava woke up early and prepared breakfast for her friends. She had a smile on her face since her close people were in the pack, and she was not alone here.

“You woke up so early!”

Abigail said, moving to the kitchen. Debra was behind her, following.

Ava turned to look at them. “Same as you two.”

“Well, we woke up early to explore this pack.”

“Oh,” Ava mumbled.

She wondered how she would accompany them if she did not have any company leave.

“I... I need to take a leave from the company first,” she mumbled to her friends.

Debra laughed at her expression. “Babe, chill out. You don’t have to accompany us today. Today, Abigail and I will roam the pack and collect places to visit tomorrow. How about you taking a few days off for us starting tomorrow?”

Ava’s eyes lit up. “Sure.”

Ava hurried to the table and grabbed her purse and then said,

“I am leaving then. See you two in the evening. By the way, if you want anything, just call me.”

Debra raised her hand to stop her. “What about your handsome wizard brother? Give me his number.” “ visit the pack with him.”

Ava was about to give Griffin’s number to Debra when Abigail held Debra’s arm and said,

“He will kill you if you do that.”

Ava paused and looked at them carefully. “Who will kill her Abigail?”

Aya gave them a puzzled look. “Who?”

Debra pushed Abigail and walked over to Ava and said, “Don’t listen to her. She is just pulling my leg for nothing Such a bad friend!”

Suddenly Ava recalled the interaction between Stephen and Debra. She wondered if Abigail was talking about him.

However, she dismissed the thought because she knew her brother would never chase any girl like that. After all, he was one of the members of the Power Gang. Those boys did not chase women; women pursued them.

She was about to ask who it was again, but she stopped by a ringtone. She saw who had called her.

She received the call and spoke, "Beta Bruno."

Debra turned her head to Abigail, making faces at her. Abigail glared at Debra, indicating not to tease her.

Ava smiled when she noticed her friends' silent bickering..

"Freya is coming back to the pack today. So I am not going to come to the company. Tell Alpha I would spend some time with her."

Hearing about Freya, Ava felt awkward. She recalled the day when Freya told her that she was Dane's mate.

Ava felt that she had come between two mates. Even though she did not want to be in this situation anymore, Dane was holding her by his will.

"You can tell him on your own," Ava said.

"You know I don't talk to him. You can just inform him through someone else."

After saying that, he hung up.

Ava sighed, thinking about the argument that had happened a week ago after they had returned to the pack.

Bruno was mad at Dane because Freya had told him everything about the night. Dane said to Bruno that he would not accept her as his mate because he was being set up with Ava from the beginning.

"What happened?" Abigail asked.

Ava shook her head and said she had worked in the office. Then she left the house.

When she reached the office, she told the manager about Bruno and let Dane know about it.

The people around them could see Dane and her getting distant from each other.

"I bet he broke up."

"Something must have happened in the Mystic Shadow Pack."

"Yeah. Alpha still cares about her. Why has Miss Taylor turned so cold toward him?"

Ava overheard the gossip of the workers in the company. Everyone had the same question, and she had been hearing about it every day now. So she chose to ignore their gossip.

She applied for a leave from the company.

Dane called her into his room and asked,

“Is there any special reason for the leave?”

She looked at him without having any feelings in her heart for him. She replied calmly,

“My friends came here to spend their vacation. I want to give them some time.”

He gave a nod of agreement. When she was about to leave his cabin, Dane spoke from behind.

“This weekend...”

She paused without turning around to him, waiting for him to continue.

“This weekend I am throwing a birthday party. You will have to come.”

Ava lowered her gaze to the floor. This weekend was Dane’s birthday.

She let out a sigh and replied,

“I will come.”

After that, she left the cabin.

She went downstairs and was on her way to the lobby when she noticed a man sitting in the lounge area.

“Brother Griffin”

He got to his feet and hugged her. “Why are you so surprised? Have you forgotten about our plan? You said we would meet this evening.”

Ava almost forgot about it. She was considering going to her friends, who had come to stay with her for a week.

She told him about her friends. He asked if he could accompany her. Ava agreed and called her friends.

Abigail received the call.

“Ava”

“Where are you

two?”

“We have come to visit the eastern gate. People said it was a good tourist destination, so we came.”

“Oh.”

The eastern gate was a long way from her company. She could not reach there in two hours, so thinking about going to them was not a good idea.

“Okay, I am with Brother Griffin now. You can call me when you arrive at my house.”

“Sure. No worries. We do not think we will be able to reach your house before midnight. We heard that at 12 a.m., there would be a show for all of the tourists. Debra wants to see that.”

“But it’s not safe all alone there,” Ava reminded her in worry.

“We found our friends here. Don’t worry. They will be with us.”

“Friends?” Ava mumbled.

She blinked, trying to remember which friends she was talking about.

“Okay, take care then.”

After speaking with Abigail, Ava turned to Griffin. “They have brought some friends along. Let’s go somewhere then.”
