

Enchanted 528

Her mouth opened slightly, and that made her look so sexy.

Looking at her, Jay had an inexplicable impulse.

Lilith gazed at him and couldn't move. She breathed more and more rapidly while Jay's eyes looked profound, like a deep ocean. Her heartbeat also accelerated, and she wanted to move but didn't have the strength.

In this way, Jay gradually lowered his head until his lips fell on hers.

Their breath intertwined with each other's, and under the effect of alcohol, their strong lust surged up.

Lilith looked up and rubbed his lips, and gradually, she thought his kiss was a little different than his soft kiss of usual. It turned hot and eager, overwhelming her.

She felt a hot current spreading all over her body, impacting her internal organs and taking away her mind.

The masculinity was getting intense while she felt dizzy, her body soft. Lilith reached out to touch his chest subconsciously but only found his heartbeat accelerated.

She thought he would let her go after lingering on her lips for a while.

However, unexpectedly his lips began to move down to her chin and then fell on her neck. She felt that her heart almost jumped out of her chest.

She called his name softly, clenching his sleeves and her skin turned more flushed under his fondling.

Her groaning and panting were like an aphrodisiac, and Jay just felt that his blood was upwelling. He raised his hands, covering her back, and then moved down along her back, slipping into her shirt.

His hot finger gave her a violent shudder.

Jay held her tightly, with his lips moving beside her ears, biting her earlobes gently.

Lilith took a deep breath but still couldn't help trembling.

Her slender fingers wrapped around his back, grabbing his clothes, and her heart almost stopped beating.

Then Jay's deep voice sounded beside her ears, "Lilith, can I....."

Her eyes were bleary and looked more enchanted out of drunkenness.

Jay stared at her with rapid breathing, and his eyes were dyed with strong desire.

Reaching his hands, he held her face, asking again with his magnetic voice, "Lilith, can you give your first night to me?"

Lilith soon understood what he meant, so her face blushed immediately.

She didn't get so intimate with a man before, and she also didn't stay with Jay every day since they were all busy with work. They had just kissed before, and Jay did never cross the line.

However, she could perceive his eyes looked different than usual, as if there was a small beast there that was restless in the deep of his eyes, making him look more profound and meaningful.

"I....." Lilith lowered her head out of embarrassment and was a little flurried, "I don't have any experience, and I don't know how to do it....." She was afraid he would be averse to her poor performance.

Jay felt his heart was filled with her, so he embraced her more fondly but found her body was tight. He couldn't help smiling and said softly, "Don't worry."

She looked at him shyly.

Jay was at the age of hot-blooded and impetuous, and he was driven by the alcohol tonight. Her look of shyness satisfied his pride, and he breathed more rapidly, holding her into the bedroom without hesitation.

It was a chill night, but it was hot in the room. The man and the woman were lingering on the bed, their clothes disheveled.

When Jay took off the last cloth for Lilith, she was eager to bury herself out of shyness. She was naked, and her pink skin formed a sharp contrast with the dark-colored sheet.

She was shivering and moved restlessly because of his fondling. Jay also took off his clothes quickly, but when his sturdy chest was exposed to the air, she was in a great shock since his chest was covered with scars of wounds.

Lilith gulped, widening her eyes, and soon a severe pain spread in her heart. It was not until now she realized he had suffered so many injuries.

Jay took her hand and kissed gently, "I'm sorry to scare you."

In his opinion, Lilith was a flower in the greenhouse, and her world was pure. Even if the external environment was messed up, she still lived in her own world, freed from those dirty things. She would never complain about this world and thought everything in this world was beautiful.

Therefore, she would never know that there were people in this world who would kill people for profit. He wanted to protect her as well as her pure inner land, and he also wanted to prevent her from the darkness of this world.

In fact, Kelly was right, and he could understand her thoughts as a mother. But as the boyfriend of Lilith, he was also willing to give up something for her as long as he could be with her and spend this life with her peacefully.

Lilith shook her head gently, taking the initiative to hold him and determined to love this man for her whole life.

Jay was even happier, and his hands slipped up and down, tantalizing her beautiful body.

Lilith couldn't help groaning but was embarrassed about this groaning.

Jay took her hand that covered her mouth and kissed her again.

When he pressed on her, she felt that her heart was going to jump out.

She felt something hard against her, and it felt so weird, but she knew what it was, so she was even tighter.

"Don't worry." Jay cherished her pureness, sucking her delicate earlobe while his hot breath made her tremble violently.

Lilith clenched her hands and was anxious since she heard that it might hurt for the first time. What's more, his penis was so big.

Of course, she was too embarrassed to tell him that and what relieved him was that Jay was gentle and skillful, so she believed that he wouldn't hurt her.

Skillful...

Upon thinking of this word, she suddenly felt sorrowful.

She was not his first girlfriend, and he must treat another girl gently. His lips were slipping on her chest, and she couldn't help groaning.

Jay smiled and took off her hand that intended to cover herself and whispered beside her, "You are so beautiful."