

Enchanted 562

Irish shook her head slightly since she was so exhausted and didn't want to move at all.

Joseph said nothing but embraced her tightly, and her buttocks clung to his hip. His cock was resting after the great passionate moment, but it still looked so big, which made her have a lingering fear.

"Do you get mad with me?" He had to admit that he was rude just now. Though the love bites served as a stimulus for him during their sex, he still felt sorrowful for her after that. He raised her wrist and kissed gently, "You are so sexy."

"I am not angry," Irish mumbled since she also knew that his abnormal behavior tonight may have something to do with her nude pictures.

But she didn't want to mention it in front of him.

"Is there any other woman wearing this sexy lingerie in front of you?" She asked him.

Instead of being angry, he turned her around and smiled softly, "I never bring such a woman back home."

She glared at him and pouted her mouth, "Who knows the truth? I am afraid that you have brought back such a woman to your house, and you also lay in this bed."

"Isabel." He turned a little serious for a second but soon he made a compromise and pinched her face, "Don't talk nonsense."

"Well, then, why do you know about picking such sexy lingerie for me?" It seemed that Irish didn't want to let him go.

Joseph knew that he couldn't argue with her, so he hastily surrendered to her, "Well, it's my fault."

Irish didn't reply but pushed him away and then staggered to the bathroom. It took her a long time to finish the shower. She held the cute pajamas he had bought for her and went to bed.

Joseph took off the pajamas and complained, "Why do you have to wear clothes in bed?"

"I know you hope I can be a Catwoman." Though she was exhausted, she was still firm in speech.

Joseph pressed beneath him after hearing that and showed an evil smile, "But I don't need a scratching kitten, but I need a naked and sexy Catwoman."

"You....." She felt that his pee-pee was awakened again.

The hotness burnt her heart, so she hastily pulled down his hands and begged in a low voice, "Calm down. It is swollen."

"Where is swollen?" He asked deliberately.

Irish blushed and held his hands, "Stop joking. I am so tired."

"I have to cure it for you since it is swollen."

Irish felt embarrassed by his words.

He pressed her body, lowered his head, kissed her abdomen, and then moved down.

When his head finally fell on her hips, she couldn't help groaning.

The ardent flame once again burned the airflow that calmed down in the room.

Runestone Group announced the resignation to ease the nude picture scandal because those reporters turned from entertainment to commerciality and began to focus on the stock price of Runestone Group.

Runestone Group didn't make a response to the Media and opponent's attack, and even Shirley, who cooperated with the Media, also stopped causing trouble. But only the insiders knew the fact.

Henry filed a divorce with Shirley, and he personally drafted a divorce agreement. But she refused to sign it. Henry was so annoyed and was going to expel her from the Lake family, while Ruby and Roy begged Henry for mercy every day.

Henry wanted to ignore their supplication, but he also knew that Runestone Group was trapped in a big dilemma, and he was afraid that if Shirley was expelled from the Lake family, Runestone Group would encounter endless troubles, so he didn't allow her to go out and wanted to cope with this issue after the disturbance.

And at present, Leo was the strongest enemy of the Runestone Group.

He tried his best to combat the Runestone Group and seized the opportunity in successive activities without giving the opportunity for the Runestone Group to buffer. Though Henry was the founder of Runestone Group and he also had many supporters, his era had passed. And the reason why he asked Joseph to manage this company was because he felt that his ability was falling short of his wishes.

And now it was beyond his capability to deal with the disputes as well as overt contention and covert struggle in business.

Therefore, when Henry encountered the board of directors after being repeatedly combated by Leo, he decided to let Joseph deal with it. Though Joseph was deprived of his position as a manager, Henry still asked him to stabilize the stock price.

But all of the staff didn't know it was Joseph who manipulated behind.

They even discussed widely when the executive department took the sign of the "General Manager's Office" from Joseph's office.

Some of them said that Henry was heartless since Joseph had devoted his life to serving Runestone Group for so many years, while others said that Irish was too ruthless since she disappeared when such an incident occurred to Joseph, and some even said that Joseph fell down with a woman after experiencing so many hardships. They all sighed with the feeling that even a hero failed to pull himself up because of a beautiful woman.

But Joseph didn't make a response to these comments. He was not the manager of Runestone anymore, but the staff also held in awe and veneration to him.

There was no other change in his office except for that position card being taken off the door.

And that was why Mary could enter his office so easily without circulating a notice.

Joseph, who was closely observing the situation of Key Group, didn't expect anyone to come in. He was not used to meeting people without an appointment, but he had no choice since it was Mary. He stood up and took a cup of tea for her, inviting her to the reception room.

"I never expected that you would come here," He said quietly.

Mary looked at him and replied with neither too hot nor cold attitude, "I also didn't expect that Henry would be so ruthless and remove your position as a manager."

Joseph smiled but said nothing and didn't make any comment on this matter.

"Are you coming here for Isabel?" He asked frankly.