

Enchanted 601

Irish saw clearly what she was doing just now and smiled lightly. She added, "You can just tell me something about the process of being his lover. For example, when did you begin this relationship, and when did you break up?"

Britney just opened her eyes and blurted out subconsciously, "How did you know that? Did Joseph tell it?"

And her questions immediately made Irish cold.

Her guess really came true, and Britney was Joseph's real lover!

As they were in the Light Town, Irish thought about why Britney mentioned Joseph's name regardless of anything. And later, Britney deliberately disclosed her rumor about Joseph again and again, which made everyone believe that Joseph had an affair with Britney. At that moment, although she knew that Joseph did it to protect her, why didn't Britney consider her own fame though she might plan to be more famous with the rumor? In addition, Britney has already been a celebrity, so she didn't need any rumors to hype.

She didn't want to think too much about the real reason.

However, as a woman, she sensitively thought that it was not simple. Britney tried her best to help Joseph. Didn't she want any return?

She didn't want to ask much about the past, but Joseph's silence showed when she asked whether he had any lover before demonstrating that he did have.

Anyone had his past.

As long as Joseph liked her, it was enough.

As Irish determined to be with Joseph, she understood that Joseph had had lovers before and would have more in the future, and she needed to compete with so many women to draw his attention and only to put her in his mind.

However, it was unfair.

And when she met Britney today, she knew that it was an unfair relationship between her and Joseph.

She could love this man with all her care as long as he loved her. But now, the premise didn't exist, so she had to struggle for a fair relationship.

Britney realized that it was a slip of the tongue for her, so she just tried her best to smile to hide his embarrassment. She cleaned her throat, "Does Joseph know that you found me here?"

"Do you want him to know?" Irish sneered. She knew that Britney dared not disseminate it.

Britney was really anxious, "Of course not."

They two were both smart. Britney had already known that she had made a mistake before, and if Joseph really knew it, there would be no place for her to take root.

"Just say something. I have enough time to listen to your story." Irish said it easily.

Britney sighed lightly and hesitated, "You really want to know?"

Irish frowned, "It's okay if you don't want to say it. I can ask him directly. He dares not to hide something since you have already disclosed something."

This statement obviously showed her status in front of Britney.

Britney was helpless about it and just nodded, "I was indeed Joseph's lover."

Irish had no prominent facial expression, but she felt an ache.

"As a matter of fact, for Joseph, many women will rush to him even if he doesn't request them." Britney set the stage for her. It could be seen that she really wanted to beautify her image.

Irish sneered.

"I was kept as his mistress for three years, and I might be his lover who has kept in touch with him for the longest time."

Britney spoke hardly.

Irish's fingers quivered.

She knew that Joseph had a lover, but it was still hard for her to accept it.

"Maybe you will never believe that..." Britney licked her lips and took a deep breath, "Joseph is my first love, and I have had sex with him. It was my first time. I have been with him for three years and never betrayed him. I really loved him and even imagined that if only he could be my boyfriend, even my husband."

Irish covered the coffee cup, and her digital joints ached.

Britney sipped the coffee slowly and said something about her and Joseph to Irish. At first, she felt uncomfortable saying something and was so careful, but gradually her mood turned to be natural and pleasant as the beautiful scenes showed.

When Britney knew Joseph, he didn't come back from abroad.

And she went abroad with one of her friends. They first thought of going sightseeing and went back then. And when they went there, they made some friends in the business field, with whom they had much fun.

She met Joseph at a dinner for businessmen.

And just one glance was enough for her to fall in love with him.

Joseph, at that time, was not so serious but was already outstanding in the branch company. He became the most excellent man in most women's eyes.

One of her friends worked in the bank and cooperated with the branch company, so she just pulled her forward and chatted with Joseph.

At that moment, Britney nearly screamed out.

She never knew that there would be such an attractive man, and no matter where he went, he would always be the focus.

When she shook hands with Joseph, she dared not to take a deep breath.

However, Joseph's look didn't stay with her for a long time, but he always talked about cooperation.

"So when we met each other for the first time, I remembered him, but he didn't remember me." Britney made a forced smile and said it to Irish.

Irish felt that there was a sharp blade cutting over her weasand and she felt ached when she took breaths.

"It was one year later that we met again." Britney continued.

Britney didn't have a good career that year. She encountered many difficulties while trying to perform a drama and met some cheaters who took away all her earnings.

She had to sell herself out helplessly.

"Selling herself out" she meant to act as a model and show up on many shows. She was not particular about it as long as she could earn money. Because she was tall and beautiful, an agent focused on her and signed a contract with her.

That agent was experienced in the modeling field, who kept intimate relationships with some successful businessmen. One day she gave a great amount of money to Britney. Britney was puzzled about it, so the agent ordered her smilingly to go to a certain box and company several significant customers.

Britney then got her meaning, so she just refused her and told her that she would only walk onstage but not accompany customers.

The agent was not satisfied and said maliciously that if she didn't go, there would be no opportunity for her to develop. Britney had to agree helplessly. But when she tried her best to open the door, she saw Joseph, who was drinking the spirits slowly at first sight.