Chapter 21 Trophy

In this battle, Ethan relied on the absolute superiority of his equipment and was purely abusing food.

The opponent completely lacked the courage to fight to the death with himself, which caused Ethan to not even have the opportunity to use his only defensive magic ice shield.

However, he still took this opportunity to test his combat effectiveness.

“In the future, when facing ordinary robbers, not only will they not hurt themselves, but they can also kill them perfectly.”

This is definitely not an illusion!

Two short arrows are recovered. The short arrows made of pure metal are not easy to supplement. Ethan will recover them if they can be recovered.

Simply, he rummaged over several people again, and found some things in bits and pieces, but these weapons were still the most valuable.

“Maybe you can change some low-level magic stones?”

In fact, even the old clothes worn by these people can be used to change something, but Ethan didn't do that. Apart from his lack of 'money', there was also some resistance in his heart.

Although is not a good person, since I have already killed him, what is the point of humiliating a corpse?

Because of Ethan's thoughts, these robbers kept their clothes, and they were buried together with their last dignity.

“By the way, these guys still have a boat parked on the beach. I don't know what kind of boat it is?”

There are six people here, and it is not clear whether there are any remaining crew members on the ship. Even if there are none, the ship that can carry six people is definitely much larger than the ship.

Regardless of whether they have found other islands before, and do not consider how much food and drinking water they still have on their boats, such a boat alone is a big gain, and Ethan's trip to sea this time is not a waste of time.

was busy for a while, and the sky gradually darkened. He was not going to go back to his camp, but was going to visit the boats of this group of people.

If there are crew members staying behind, take advantage of the cover of the night to solve them all, if not, by the way, check your own trophies.

Along the path that Rodney and the others had opened before, Ethan quickly found the place where they anchored the boat.

It was a brig about fifteen meters in length, and it looked a bit like the Caravelle that I used to play big sailing games in my previous life, but it was a little smaller.

is much taller than my own ship. This ship has two decks, which is different from the so-called double deck of my own small boat. The inner deck of this ship is very spacious, enough for a person of normal height to move freely.

In addition, the main sail of this ship uses a spinnaker-like sail. Although this type of sail is less stable than a standard horizontal sail, it has excellent speed and flexibility. It is especially suitable for calm seas. The advantages of fastness and flexibility come into play.

Of course, it's even more troublesome to control. If you are the only one, driving this boat out to sea, I'm afraid you will be tossed around.

"Go back and sell it?"

It seems a bit wasteful. It is rare to have a better ship without buying it yourself. If you sell it directly, you will have to buy a new ship later, which seems a bit stupid.

"Maybe I really have to find some partners. I just feel unreliable on the sea alone."

At this time, the sky was completely dark, but there was no light on the ship.

"It seems that no one is staying on the boat."

has been touching the cabin, and Ethan did not find a figure. However, he didn't directly light up the lights, but stayed in the dark corner all night with his spirits up.

When the sun rises above the sea level again, he is sure that there are no other enemies.

searched the ship again, and by the way, he also counted the remaining supplies on the ship. The situation was much better than Ethan thought.

The food and fresh water on this ship are abundant. It can be seen that Rodney's gang should have just replenished supplies, and soon discovered the island.

"Aren't these * catching up after me deliberately, right?"

This is not impossible. When he went out to sea, Rodney saw which direction he was driving. Although it is not easy to find someone in the vast sea, but with the two points of floating islands and island pointers It is not impossible to really want to find someone.

determined the course, and then just sailed in one direction, and then headed towards the first island locked by the pointer, the probability of catching absolutely exceeded 70%.

"I still have too little experience. I really want to get rid of tracking in the future. I have to go around a few more circles, at least to avoid the route that is most likely to be locked."

Eating a ditch and gaining a wisdom, Ethan silently remembered another lesson, and then got off the boat and searched again near the shore.

There is no trace of a campsite. After getting on the island, the Rodney group should rush directly to the center of the island at the fastest speed. In their eyes, whether I am on this island or not, they all need it. Grab the most important things on the island first.

Or, they think that if I were on the island, I would definitely be exploring the center of the island at this time, so no matter what, rushing directly over is the most correct and time-saving choice.

After eliminating all the hidden dangers, Ethan continued his previous exploration, and it took another two months to explore the island.

He found all the places he could find. The biggest gain was that he found a hidden mine. Of course he couldn't tell what the ore was inside, but the ore is a very valuable material. No matter what mine, he can get a lot of materials. .

Because of an extra 'big ship', he also has the possibility to move a lot of ore. So soon these rough ore stones filled the warehouse of the big ship. For this reason, Eason even moved all the fruits and drinking water to the land. He only planned to bring some fruits to maintain vitamins when he left. Drinking water was completely reliant on water production. To solve the problem.

A lot of heavy objects were suddenly added, and the draught of the big ship became a lot deeper. Ethan also took some effort to drive the ship to a slightly deeper place and stop.

When he was about to continue exploring, a sudden shock made him almost fall.

“Earthquake?”

An earthquake is a warning before the sinking island is about to sink. According to Ethan’s speculation, it is this island floating above the sea inexplicably. The foundation below has already begun to be unstable and may collapse at any time, causing the island to sink.

“It seems that time is running out.”

This is an island without animals, so the island will not stay at sea for a long time, ranging from a few months to a few days. Now I have lived on the island for two months, and it has been around for a long time. .

“Unfortunately, the magic stone has not been found.”

What the people of the guild said to him, he has always kept in his mind, so his first goal on this island is always the magic stone.

When I first found the mine, I thought I had found the right place. Maybe the ore was so much deep in the mine that I could pick it up, and I had what I wanted.

Unexpectedly, this mineral vein was shallower than I thought. It didn’t take a long time to go inside. Although his eyes were full of ore, Ethan was still unwilling to use the long sword cameo that Kasha gave him. I got a handful of miners, and in addition to getting tired of myself and a dog, I only collected more ores that I didn’t know what to use.

The vibrations are getting more and more frequent, from the first half a day, to about two hours now, it will vibrate once, and the duration and intensity of the vibration are getting stronger and stronger. Ethan understands that he can no longer stay on the island. Going down, began to prepare to evacuate.

As early as the first shock, Ethan had already packed up the things he had packed up, and even in order to avoid having to drive the boat out of the small bay in a hurry, he even parked his own place in advance.

It was another vibration. Ethan felt that the frequency was fast again, and the intensity of the vibration began to cause obvious damage to the island: the ground cracked and the hillside turned into a big pit, everything reminded Ethan to leave quickly.

He did the same, swiftly rushing towards the location he had chosen. But just when he was about to leave, he suddenly noticed a white light flashing in a large pit not far away.

“what is that?”

Ethan originally thought it was an illusion or something like minerals, and shook his eyes under the sunlight, but the clear magical fluctuations reminded him that the things are not ordinary minerals. .

“Magic Stone!”

Ethan ran quickly to the side of the big pit, and at a glance, he saw the white stone emitting soft light and rippling magical power.

“White magic stone? I don’t know what it is.”

Observing the structure of the big pit, Ethan almost made a judgment in the shortest time, and then jumped down.

At that instant, he almost exploded with a speed and agility that far exceeded his limit, and under the intermittent vibration, he grabbed the magic stone that was blasted into the air.

Then he climbed back to the ground from the route chosen earlier with a movement that was more sensitive than a monkey, and then sprinted to the beach like the mad dog Sahuan.

He was not far from the sea, but he didn’t expect that the magic stone was on the shore where he planned to leave, and it was buried in the ground. If it weren’t for a series of coincidences, Ethan would not be able to find this magic stone. .

After returning to the ship, Ethan immediately raised the anchor, raised the sails and sailed his Aurora to the long ship that had stopped.

I looked at the island that was still shaking. Although the shaking became stronger and it was no longer suitable for living on the island, but seeing that it would not sink for a while, Ethan also put down his worry and looked at the piece in his hand. White magic stone.

“What is the attribute of this thing?”

Ethan looked at it for a while, suddenly felt that the fluctuation of this magic stone seemed a bit familiar? He hadn’t seen many magic stones, they were all red fire magic stones.

The white one I have seen is the only one I used when the guild helped me fill in the information.

Chapter 22 The lonely way back home

“Such luck?”

Ethan researched over and over again for a long time, and didn't figure out whether the white magic stone in his hand was the type he had guessed. If it was, thinking of his own experience during this period of time, if he was lucky, he would be a little bit unable to figure it out. Believe.

"Although I know that good luck will not always happen...I hope I can maintain this luck forever."

It's a pity that the gold finger I got doesn't have an attribute panel or something, so I can't see how much or what grade my luck is.

Put this magic stone close to your body, and this time I have gained much more than I expected, plus a bigger and better Caravel ship—because the appearance is very similar, Ethan regards it as a ship Caravel sailed.

I believe that these things can exchange many things for myself to improve my strength.

"I still don't know much about this world. I have no idea how to improve the strength of this world."

A bigger and better ship? After getting a new ship, there is no need to think about it for the time being. If the ship is bigger, it is really difficult for him to drive by himself. Unless he can find a reliable partner, he is not ready to continue to change to a larger ship.

The Goddess of Aurora just got may have to be sold back to the guild, of course, the name will continue to be retained.

The ore that is full of the cabin may be able to build something? I just don't know what ore I found? What can be built? Or directly exchange for the finished product?

"I wonder if there are artillery or steam engines in this world?"

As far as he can see, all ships in this world are still in the age of sailing. The power of ships mainly depends on wind and manpower. He has not seen steam-powered drives or other power devices that he does not know.

"Maybe there is, after all, there is something like magic stone, maybe it will develop magic stone cannon or something."

Thinking of his own magic stone-fueled stove, Ethan felt that his guess was very likely to be reality.

"If this is the case, I will not only collect all kinds of materials, but also study magic stone technology?"

While thinking about his future, he used several thick ropes to tie his original boat to the new Aurora, and let the big boat tow the boat forward.

In addition to the cabins full of ore, the Caravel-type sailboat, which should have been known for its speed, could not run as fast as the first boat before it.

“Fortunately, there is enough food. I can make clean water by myself. Slowly go slow.”

He also took this opportunity to consolidate what he had learned during this time.

In this way, Ethan once again resumed his regular life on board.

Wake up in the morning and make breakfast after washing. After eating, take a break and then practice swordsmanship; read when the sun is full at noon. There are still many books that Ethan brought back, but with his spirit. His strength gradually increased, and his reading speed also accelerated.

For example, the huge pile of “English textbooks” that Gu Yi gave to himself before has already been studied by him. Now he can talk and write in English freely. At most, because no one has conversations with him, the spoken language is a bit rusty. -But this problem is very easy to solve, just find a plane that uses English, and he can use English as his native language in less than three days.

He has the space-time pointer that can search for space-time energy and travel through various planes. It can be judged based on the first Marvel movie world he went to. Similar movie worlds will definitely be encountered, and many movie world English can be used for communication. Coupled with the Chinese heritage that I inherited from my previous life, I shouldn’t be blinded by the inability to talk to the movie world again.

All this stems from his choice of the spiritual power cultivation path of the mage. If he chooses the fighter-side improvement method at the beginning and prioritizes his physical fitness, then the dialogue alone will bring him countless troubles. .

“And I remember that there are spells that can quickly master the other party’s language. In the future, you will not be tortured by language problems when you go to non-terrestrial worlds like Diablo and Warcraft.”

The premise is that Ethan’s strength is further improved, at least to become an official mage.

Now, he is working hard in this direction step by step, but he has to learn a lot before then.

After the reading time at noon is over, simply eat some fruits to replenish energy. In the afternoon, Ethan will simply do some basic exercises, which can be regarded as a consolidation of the morning exercises, and then decide whether to grab some seafood from the sea according to the situation. Serves as dinner and breakfast the next day.

After dinner, the sun has basically fallen below sea level. Ethan will not go on a night cruise because he is the only one on board and no one changes shifts with him.

So before making dinner, he would get off the anchor and park the boat before going to work on dinner.

After eating the last meal of the day, Ethan will begin to practice mental power, and he will practice until late at night, at which time he can go to sleep and rest.

His schedule is basically like this, very fixed, only occasionally mixed with some trivial things, such as taking out the books and drying them on the deck to avoid damp and mold damage. Maintaining his weapons and armors, every time at this time, he kept complaining about novels he had read in his previous life.

“The weapons that the protagonist got have never been repaired before. A gun has been fired with thousands of bullets and it is the same as the new one. Not to mention the maintenance, it hasn’t even been wiped.”

“Not to mention the cold weapon. It is not a magical weapon but also a magical weapon. The last is a magic weapon created by the famous Dashi. There is no concept of maintenance at all. I throw the ash from the corner for a few years and take it out. It still shines. , Cut iron like mud.”

“As for me, there are a lot of equipment, and they are all very easy to use, but it is really troublesome to clean and maintain one by one.”

At this time, Ethan hopes to get the legendary weapon that will never be damaged, or a space storage equipment that can freeze time.

Complaining about complaining, after all, these equipment is the foundation of one’s own life, and most of his life depends on these equipment to maintain, so Ethan keeps talking about it, but he is very careful and meticulous in his hands, for fear that his maintenance is not in place. Cause damage to equipment.

His broken thoughts were actually forced out by the lonely life on the boat. For a long time, there was no one who could chat with him. He was afraid that his language function would degenerate over time, so he could only talk about it when he found an opportunity.

From time to time, he also realizes that if this goes on, he will either become mad or stupid, and he must find a partner as soon as possible.

“But... where is the partner so easy to find?”

To be trustworthy and not to mention, can you share your secrets? Take your companions to other planes? It's not that he can't accept it, but what kind of response will these people make when they learn this? He didn't want to speculate on others too maliciously, but there was a clear example to remind himself not long ago.

“How about... looking for companions from the world that you traveled to?”

Because he wants to bring people out, the secret is not a secret from the beginning, and this choice also has an advantage, that is, he can find familiar people in the familiar plane to 'fudge'.

At least he knows who has a noble character, even if he doesn't agree to it, he won't stab himself in the backhand.

He suddenly thought of many plane shuttle novels he had seen in his previous life. Looking for partners from other worlds seemed to be one of the uses of this kind of golden finger. When reading a book, it was not that he had obtained such golden fingers crookedly, and then flicked a few pleasing 'characters' with himself.

“I wonder if this thing can bring people out?”

He remembered that he had to bring something up before. Could it be that he had to bring someone up and pick him up?

With a wave of his hand, Ethan summoned the space-time pointer, immersed his spiritual power in it, and wanted to explore more secrets of this pointer.

The first time I used it, the moment the space-time pointer activated the magic circle, the burst of space-time energy also injected some information into my mind. The basic use and general function of the space-time pointer was understood at that time. When UU read www.uukanshu.com, his mental power was very ordinary, and he may only carry a small part of the information. I don't know if he can get more when he becomes stronger. 'S message?

It is a pity that no matter what kind of “posture” he puts his mental power into the pointer, in addition to making the shape of the pointer more stable, no information is fed back to his mind.

“Can I only find it on my own?”

was depressed, and suddenly noticed that the arrow was displayed in the space-time pointer.

“Time and space energy?”

I was thinking about it just now, but I didn't notice that what the time-space pointer showed was not searching...but an arrow pointing to the left side of his ship.

As the ship keeps moving forward, the direction the pointer points to is also undergoing subtle changes.

"Is it not far away?"

Ethan immediately jumped up, changed the course at the fastest speed, and drove in the direction the pointer was pointing.

"That's right! Forgot one thing at this point."

There has always been a problem that he has not solved. When he shuttles to another world, is the time of this world parallel to that world? Or is there a completely different flow rate?

I didn't think of this before, but there was no way to test it. This time, thanks to a ship that was robbed of a lot of small bits and pieces, there happened to be an hourglass. He tried it before, and the sand flowed down for just one day. time.

"Only one day is a bit short... but at least we can tell if it is stagnant or flowing."

Putting on all the equipment properly, Ethan even put a few bottles of 'blood bottle' in the pocket of his belt. After checking it several times, he started to use the hourglass to record, and then stepped back a few steps to activate the shuttle magic circle.

"I don't know what world I will go to this time."

Chapter 23 Merlin

The familiar feeling and the glorious brilliance that still made him unable to see anything. After everything was calm, Ethan swept around for the first time, and at the same time, his right hand was already on the hilt.

There is no heavy encirclement—this is the first time. I think of the previous two shuttles. Every time I opened my eyes, I was surrounded by a group of people. In the dark world, a group of Rogers still opened their bows and arrows, and shot him when something was wrong. The hornet's nest's posture left a huge shadow on him.

The landing location chosen by the shuttle magic circle every time seems to be quite unreliable-but thinking in another direction, it seems quite reliable to throw it in the safe zone every time.

"Don't be nervous, mages from other planes."

just relaxed a little, there was a voice from behind.

Ethan, who was startled for a moment, turned around and looked at the plain and steep mountain wall. The voice came from here, but there was no one in front of him.

“This is... illusion?”

Concentrating his mental energy and strengthening his senses, Ethan noticed a sense of incongruity. He still can't release his mental power so that he can find out more things. Now he can only detect what's wrong. To find out what's wrong, other extra methods are needed.

But the other party didn't seem to have any intentions to hide himself. With a wave of water-like waves, the original steep and bare mountain wall disappeared, revealing a narrow passage.

At the same time, an old man with a white beard dressed as the mage in the impression, holding a long stick, walked out with a blond teenager.

“Hello, guests from other worlds.”

The old mage's speech speed is very slow, and his soft voice seems to indicate that he is not malicious, but simply shows his hospitality-if he does not have him, he will unleash the bottomless wave of magic power like the sea. This is a prerequisite.

“Please don't get me wrong. As a mage, you should know that sometimes you have to do this to have a good conversation.”

The old mage quickly took away his shocking magical power fluctuations, still speaking in that amiable tone.

“Furthermore, in order to break through the huge energy blockade to communicate with you for the first time, I tried too hard.”

Yi Sen realized that he could hear the other party not because he could understand it, but because the other party used his mental power to communicate with him.

“I wiped it!”

Although he knows that he is still very weak, but every time he is linked with himself by a powerful mage like walking in the back garden, he is still very unhappy-it seems that he has to build something to prevent these mages from linking himself without even saying hello. the spirit of.

“Well, young man, you should be angry about this, but I hope you can give me a chance to compensate.”

The old mage in front of him seemed to be a good person with strong moral qualities. He apologized for the first time and was also willing to offer compensation.

“For example, help you create a talisman that can defend against mental attacks? How about?”

Ethan was taken aback: “Can you read my thoughts?”

“Oh, no! I just think what you want most at this time is this kind of thing.” The old mage showed his wisdom without any cover, and there was a bit of sharpness in his eyes that were full of kindness and kindness.

Ethan thought for a while, and decided not to care about compensation. The old mage seemed to regard making such a talisman as a simple matter in his words. It can be seen that he is very confident in his ability to make magic equipment, and now Ethan is not urgent. He needs such a defensive item—in fact, as his mental power increases, as long as he doesn’t encounter an existence that absolutely crushes himself, the other party can’t arbitrarily use mental power to invade successfully.

As for being able to invade successfully without knowing it, it proves that there is a huge gap in the strength of the two people. The other side can easily wipe themselves out of this world. If the other side is hostile, it would be meaningless to have such a talisman.

“So, what should I call you?”

The old mage saw Ethan expressing a willingness to communicate, and nodded happily: “My name is Merlin, you can just call me by my name.”

“Merlin...”

Ethan frowned. He didn’t know who Merlin was. He was called Merlin, and he was also a powerful mage. His identity was already obvious. He was just thinking in his head which Merlin was this? As a famous legendary magician in the West, he has appeared in many works, and there are even more works in which although he did not appear directly, he indirectly mentioned this majesty.

scratched his head, he realized that there were too many works he knew, and it was impossible to eliminate them one by one.

And his reaction made Merlin on the opposite side very curious.

“Young man, have you heard of my name or have you met me in other dimensions?”

Ethan was a little surprised by Merlin’s question, but he quickly figured it out—from the very beginning, Merlin broke the fact that he came from other planes, which shows that this great magician has a concept of multiverse. You must know, maybe even more than you know.

“Wait...” Ethan suddenly thought of a possibility: “My teleportation array will send me here, isn’t it your ghost?”

Mei Lin was taken aback, then smiled and nodded: “I didn’t expect you to think of it so soon. I didn’t intentionally hide it. In fact, even if you didn’t notice it, I will mention it later.”

Ethan’s face turned black. The last time he was caught by Gu Yi, it was also because when he was traveling into the Marvel universe, he was intercepted by this supreme mage who guarded the earth from being invaded by other planes. At that time, he knew something powerful. The existence of can interfere with your own transmission.

I didn’t expect to meet another person so soon, so I wouldn’t dare to use the magic circle to shuttle between the planes in the future. Does the ghost know if he will run into a guy who just killed him without saying a word?

“Or, can I teach you how to better control that huge energy without making it as conspicuous as the moon in the dark night sky, so as to prevent you from being noticed by other wizards the next time you teleport?”

Merlin quickly put forward a condition that Ethan could not refuse, and this was exactly the problem he desperately wanted to solve.

“I really want to solve this problem.” Ethan nodded and admitted it, but he didn’t want to be led by Merlin like this: “Then, you who brought me here specially, want something more. What? The great Master Merlin.”

Merlin deliberately intercepted him and changed the location of the teleportation in front of him, definitely in an attempt. If you suspected that this famous mage was a guardian of the plane like Gu Yi at first, Ethan denied it when he offered benefits again and again.

“This product has something to do with me.”

He wondered what he was worth plotting in the eyes of this legendary super power? The only thing that is eye-catching is the ability to travel through planes, right? However, the previous words revealed that Merlin didn’t seem to be interested in this ability—otherwise, why propose to help Ethan better grasp the space-time energy?

“Let’s talk about it from another place, should we always stand here?”

“It should change place indeed.”

“Then, please follow me, young man.”

Merlin greeted him, turned around and walked back first, and Ethan followed him into the path hidden by magic. When passing by the location of the mountain wall, Ethan felt that he had passed through a very powerful wall of magic power. It felt like passing through a curtain of water, but was washed away by magic. Not only will there be no drenched embarrassment, but there are even some benefits: the spirit that was consumed by the previous shuttle seems to be restored.

The road is not long, just after walking for a while, the originally narrow passage suddenly opened up, and Ethan came to a very beautiful valley under the leadership of Merlin.

Various flowers and trees fill every inch of the valley, and countless kinds of blooming flowers fill the valley with the fragrance of flowers. The spirit was shocked again, and Ethan immediately noticed the extraordinariness of these flowers and plants.

“Wonderland on earth!”

Merlin seems to be deliberately waiting for this compliment. UU reading www.uukanshu.com

“This is where I live.”

The only man-made object in the valley is an ordinary-looking house, which looks like a very ordinary three-story building from the outside. But when Ethan stepped into it, the huge space made him understand that this cabin was definitely not as simple as his appearance.

A few people did not stop, and under the leadership of Merlin, they walked into a room—this is a reception room. Ethan also saw some fruits on the table.

“Please sit down!”

Merlin sat down by herself first, waited until Ethan sat down opposite her before continuing.

“I wanted to communicate with you for a while, and then tell you my purpose, but it seems that you don’t like this method, so I don’t have to keep hiding it.” Mei Lin just wanted to speak to the blond boy next to him. Suddenly remembered something like: “Oh, sorry, I might have to offend before that.”

Merlin nodded his forehead with a finger: “There will be no side effects, but I will feel a little swelling and numbness in the head, or a slight headache.”

Before he finished speaking, the finger that touched his forehead slowly pointed to Ethan, a stream of light first flowed from Merlin's forehead to the finger, and then swished into Ethan's head following the movements of the old mage.

His body became stiff, and Ethan, who was about to get up, stopped alive again. He had already realized what magic Merlin had just used—he “wrapped up” some of the language knowledge in his mind and then “transmitted” it to him. Ethan made him master a foreign language in the shortest time.

“Hello, my name is Arthur.” At the sign of Merlin, the blond boy stood up and introduced himself very formally in the language Ethan had just ‘learned’.

Chapter 24 1 trade

Arthur Pendragon.

Even if Ethan did not get the ‘language pack’ transmitted by Merlin, he could still know the identity of the boy in front of him only from the pronunciation.

“This product is King Arthur?”

He can basically be sure that this world is not one of the “movie worlds” he is familiar with. If it is a movie world, the film companies of the United Kingdom and the United States will basically shoot King Arthur, and they will definitely use English for dialogue instead of one. Languages that I have not been exposed to.

His historical knowledge is also the case, most of which are obtained from online novels. Just as he knew that King Arthur was a native hero of the British Isles, the time of existence is not very clear, and it is not even certain whether this person actually exists—of course, it is certain that it does exist on this plane.

In the British Isles of this period, it is of course impossible to use modern English, or even ancient English.

“Could it be ancient Celtic?”

Ethan is not very sure, he can only guess wildly.

Carefully looked at the boy in front of him. The blond hair was as dazzling as the sun, with thick eyebrows and big eyes, a face of righteousness. The description of the sun at 8 o'clock in the morning seemed to be tailored for this boy.

“Hello, Arthur, nice to meet you, my name is Ethan.”

Ethan nodded and officially greeted the young King Arthur. This was the first time he introduced his name.

The young heir to the throne gave a formal reply, but Ethan felt a little embarrassed. "I am also very happy to meet you, Your Excellency Ethan."

"After getting acquainted, let's talk about business." Merlin, who had been sitting next to him, saw the two people introduced each other and mastered the topic again: "Actually, I hope Ethan can help me a little bit, so it will stop you when you are teleporting magic."

Ethan did not interject, he was waiting for the following text, and Merlin did not play any mystery, and directly stated his purpose.

It turned out that Merlin, after teaching Arthur for a few years, saw him getting older, and wanted to take him out for a period of time to broaden his horizons and increase his knowledge. By the way, it would also allow him to get a good understanding of the current situation in this country. It will be of great benefit for him to rule this country in the future.

At this time, he noticed that a magician used powerful time and space energy to break through the barriers of the plane and came to this world. A new thought suddenly appeared, and he would never stop thinking about it since it came out. He couldn't hold it back, and he didn't even continue to waste time thinking about it. He just shot Ethan and 'drew' it in front of him.

Actually, Merlin originally planned to contact Ethan for a period of time to learn about the other person's personality, and at the same time sort out his own thoughts, and then consider whether it is reliable or not. It's just that he is not an unreasonable person after all. Ethan wants to know why he brought him here, so Merlin felt that he should give a reason.

After hearing Merlin's request to himself, Ethan felt that the famous legendary mage was too worried.

"You mean... let Arthur go to other worlds with me?"

That's right, Merlin had such an idea suddenly. He thought it would be enough to let Arthur understand the world. I don't know how, suddenly such an idea arose in my heart, and when it came out, it was a bit closed. Can't help.

As a powerful magician, he knew that he would not have such thoughts for no reason. Then maybe it was the powerful energy that stimulated him to have such thoughts at that moment.

It was also because of this, that Merlin decided to explain it directly to Ethan. He didn't think Ethan would refuse, because he had enough chips to talk to Ethan. As for Ethan's character? He also has enough time to investigate. If he is really an unbearable villain, Old Mage Merlin is not that kind of pedantic old stubborn, and it won't be too much trouble to get rid of an evil easily.

“Yes, I suddenly felt that if you want him to be the best king, you need to see more and know more.”

Ethan squeezed the bridge of his nose, he felt that the amount of information was a bit too large.

“Because of this, do you want him to go with me to other worlds and run around? Let’s not talk about anything else. You should know my strength. I can’t guarantee his safety.”

Merlin didn’t answer this time, but Arthur, who had not spoken, spoke.

“If I lose my life while traveling, it proves that I am not eligible to inherit the throne.” After a pause, Arthur added: “In addition, I have studied swordsmanship for a long time here in Merlin, so I can completely protect myself.”

Ethan did not answer, but continued to look at Merlin.

“As Arthur said, if he loses his life during the trip, then maybe he shouldn’t inherit the throne.” Merlin looked at Ethan, as if explaining what the two had said. “If you want to become a king, you will encounter many difficulties and dangers, and many of them are beyond the imagination of ordinary people. Sooner or later, Arthur will face various crises. He needs a suitable environment to train him to face each The ability of this kind of situation.”

Ethan nodded, the last sentence barely acceptable.

“However, what if he leaves with me and can’t come back again? You should be able to see that I can’t control those powerful space-time energies freely.”

Merlin can of course see it, and it is precisely because of this that he has the bargaining chip to sit here and negotiate with Ethan.

“Yes, your control of those energies is terrible, so I will teach you for a while.” Merlin’s bargaining chip this time is not unimportant. He believes that no young magician can openly reject the legend. The guidance of the magician Merlin.

Ethan will not work either!

He really needs an excellent tutor to provide professional and systematic guidance. Although he has not encountered a bottleneck during this period of time, all of that is because his starting point is too low, and it takes quite a long time to cultivate until the entry stage. time.

Ethan knows this, and in order to avoid encountering bottlenecks, he expands his cultivation direction as much as possible. Learning the making of magic potions, learning the construction of magic circles, etc., are all precautions made in advance to avoid bottlenecks when they have no other means to improve their strength.

“Everything about magic?”

can't seem to refuse? Ethan still needs to confirm whether Merlin's teaching is limited to the application of space-time energy, or whether he can learn everything he knows.

“It's not just about magic.”

Merlin's answer made Ethan very happy, but now he hopes that the 'deal' will be successfully concluded.

If this is a business negotiation, I guess Ethan will have to sign a long list of unequal treaties to achieve his goals.

Fortunately, none of the people present were businessmen, and this was not a business negotiation; the moral qualities of several people were also on the standard line, and there was no need to even sign any contract. Both sides reached a tacit consensus.

Next is the mutual understanding phase.

Whether it is to facilitate Merlin's teaching or to increase understanding with future 'teammates', Ethan needs to talk about something in detail.

“We can put your personal cultivation situation aside first, I think what Arthur wants to know most is the world that he will experience next.”

Ethan shrugged and briefly introduced the world he had experienced.

The Marvel Universe himself was caught by Gu Yi and didn't get it done anywhere, so there is nothing to say. The Dark World roughly talked about it, but it was mainly limited to the adventures he had experienced.

mainly talks about the calm sea, a world full of oceans. For example, everyone has to find magical islands on the sea, collect all kinds of materials to maintain their lives, and so on.

This completely different magical world made the young Arthur feel very magical. It was rare to reveal a little childishness of his age-there seemed to be needles under his butt, and he couldn't sit still.

As for the way to travel through various worlds, Merlin initially thought that Ethan had some powerful magic items, but he did not expect it to be similar to a kind of talented ability-he had never risen to * with extraordinary strength. If he really had such an idea, Ethan would have nothing to do, so he could only choose to believe in Merlin's character. Fortunately, Merlin's character is pretty good.

"So this is ah."

After listening to Ethan's introduction of his abilities, Merlin also understood why Ethan's mental power is only stronger than ordinary people Magic power is not even greater, but it can spur such a huge energy to transmit on the plane. .

After observing the energy pointer in Ethan's hand, Merlin realized that he couldn't see how this thing exists. Finally, he could only give his own advice: "Although I don't understand the reason for this thing's existence and the principle of operation, but for For the mage, any energy can be controlled, the only difference lies in the difficulty of control."

Therefore, Merlin suggested that Ethan, taking advantage of the large amount of space-time energy in his body, seize the time to practice his control of energy, instead of letting them dissipate naturally in his body, and then passively trigger the teleportation when he is about to disappear. Kick back to the original world.

"If my guess is correct, the more you have control over time and space energy, your ability will change accordingly."

What exactly will change, Merlin is not very clear.

Ethan does have a lot of speculations, for example, he can go back and forth more freely; he doesn't even start directly after absorbing space-time energy, but stores it and transmits it when needed; and even specifically locates the world he wants to go to. Not so randomly.

These are all directions, and he has not thought of them, but he lacks the means to achieve these goals.

Now Merlin pointed out one to him, which is to strengthen his control over energy.

It just so happens that controlling energy is an ability that magicians must master, but he has been practicing spiritual power honestly before, and wants to wait until the spiritual power reaches a certain strength before learning.

In addition to this factor, there is another important reason, that is, the energy absorbed by the first contact is likely to affect the life of a magician, so we must be careful!

Merlin also specifically mentioned this at this time.

Chapter 25 1 hard way

Ethan has mentioned it more than once in his current books. When a magician absorbs energy for the first time and transforms it into magical power that he can drive, he must be cautious, especially when it comes to the choice of energy, never make casual decisions.

For example, elemental energy. Generally speaking, a wizard who is just getting started must choose a certain element. In addition to giving the wizard a better control over the element, this energy will also affect the wizard himself.

The mental power is assimilated in turn, and the attributes with some of this energy are considered light. Extreme energy such as fire energy can even affect the character and thinking of the mage. After a long time, it will even completely become another one. people.

This is why all energy can be used as magic power for the wizard, but most wizards are very taboo against some extreme energies.

Ethan initially set his goal on the energy of water element, except that the first magic he learned was water creation (however, water creation does not use the magic power of water element attributes, it is simply the application of spiritual power. Strictly speaking, Not counting water attribute magic), the most important reason is that the calm sea is a world full of water, and water attribute magic can be greatly enhanced in this environment.

At the same time, the water attribute variant ice attribute is also extremely versatile-and it is handsome enough to use!

Of course, for a real magician, it is not like the setting in the game. After choosing a certain elemental energy as his own magic power, he cannot use other magic other than that element. It is just relatively speaking. In terms of the speed of operation and the consumption of energy, it will be different according to the degree of conflict between the nature of your magic and your own magic.

Relatively speaking, pure elemental magicians who use water elemental energy as their basic magic power will be more or less effective in using fire attribute magic.

Of course, there are many mages who are proficient in the three elements like Ishandrola, but either they have completely controlled the elemental energy, and there is more than one elemental energy contained in their own magic, or they use another kind of energy as their own magic. The foundation of this energy, and this energy has strong plasticity and can be transformed at will—such as arcane energy.

“If I’m not wrong, you wanted to absorb the energy of the water element at first, and start your own mage’s path from the control of elemental attributes.”

In fact, in the world of magicians, there are far fewer miscellaneous classifications. There is no difference between elementalists, arcanists and even magic net blue strips. The real great magician will not let himself have magic knowledge at all. Shortcomings, they know almost all the relevant knowledge, and can freely switch the method of casting and the attributes of their own magic.'

But in the pursuit of this goal, the influence of magic attributes on the mage will determine how long he walks on this road, and even determine where a mage ends.

"Yes it is."

Ethan has lived here for two days in Merlin. During these two days, Merlin did not teach, but conducted a comprehensive assessment of Ethan's abilities. It is only now that he is preparing to teach.

"Actually, there is nothing wrong with your choice. If I were in your situation, I might have made such a decision." Mei Lin considered his words: "However, if I have one, it is very suitable. You, but it will be more difficult to walk, but the future achievements will be extremely great, so are you interested?"

Ethan was a little puzzled, because Merlin was too general in what he said.

"A huge achievement? How huge is it?"

Merlin thought for a while, maybe he was choosing a reference that Ethan can understand straightforwardly and clearly? Finally, I thought about making a comparison directly with myself.

"I don't know how strong it will be in the end. It depends on you, not something else... But if you can continue this path firmly, then your ultimate achievement will at least not be lower than the current me. "

Ethan's heartbeat became uncontrollable a little faster, but fortunately, he was also a person who had seen the "big world face". After a while, he had regained his composure, and he did not lose his temper in front of Merlin.

"Able to observe the endless plane, and be able to break the plane barrier, and even have the strength to completely destroy a plane?"

The first point is that Ethan is sure that Merlin can do it; the second point is also very likely! As for destroying a plane, this is hard to say, but the most conservative estimate is that it should not be difficult for Merlin to destroy a planet-Gu Yi, who protects the earth from being invaded by the multiverse, if you let go of your hands and feet, the earth estimates It's not enough for her to toss.

This does not mean that these two wizards can smash the world with a punch or a forbidden spell, but that these two wizards have countless cards. For example, Gu Yi, if she is willing to plunge into the darkness, release Domam...

The horror of the mage lies in this, no one knows what they can do or even do? This unknown is also one of the reasons why people are jealous and fearful.

Ethan also wanted to become such a mage, so he was very interested in the path that Merlin proposed.

"You should know that wizards are based on powerful mental power, manipulate energy and achieve their own goals, whether it is fireball or higher magic, it is essentially the same."

Ethan nodded and waited for the following.

"Therefore, mental power is the foundation of the wizards. The increase in spiritual power means the ability to control more energy, which is equivalent to being able to cast more powerful magic and achieve higher goals."

Ethan is not qualified for his spiritual power, so he has been working hard to improve his spiritual power. In addition, since the moment the time-space indicator appeared, he has more or less exercised his spiritual power. After more than seven years of training, he has The current level-it is still a bit short of being able to get started and become a mage.

"Actually, the powerful mental power not only allows the mage to use more energy, but also has more benefits."

Spiritual power is the foundation of the wizards, and its importance is naturally beyond doubt. The extent of the research and careful treatment of spiritual power by the wizards is beyond Ethan's previous imagination.

Relatively, the 'secret' of spiritual power has also been studied by wizards a lot. As a top magician, Merlin has reached a considerable level of understanding of spiritual power.

"In addition to the control of energy, the strength of mental power also determines the primary and secondary position between you and magic."

"What does it mean?"

Merlin explained it in detail, and Ethan then understood. The relationship between magician and magical energy is not that simple master-slave relationship.

To put it simply, the magician must be able to figure out his 'limit' when he improves his mental power, so as to avoid absorbing too much magic energy and being invaded by the energy.

As Ethan saw in the book before, the energy absorbed by the magician's spirit, in turn, 'pollution' is the mildest symptom, and the most serious is that the personality is affected.

For example, some fire mages have become irritable after they have cultivated to a certain level, because they have ingested fire elemental energy beyond their control.

"For example, if the mental power is one, then these mental powers can perfectly control the magic power of ten units, then once this value is exceeded, there will be danger." This is of course not absolute, the amount of mental power can be the same, but The quality is different, so Merlin's words are just to facilitate understanding.

Ethan heard this and seemed to understand what Merlin meant: "What do you mean, let me continue to focus on cultivating mental power, instead of absorbing energy early to transform it into magic?"

Merlin smiled and shook his head directly to deny Ethan's guess: "Actually, the path I suggest you take requires you not to take in external energy to transform it into magic."

Ethan was stunned, completely unable to guess what path Merlin had designed for himself.

"You should know that in addition to absorbing external energy, the wizards themselves can also nurture magic."

Shaking his head, Ethan hasn't touched this yet, but according to the introduction in the books he read, after the wizards ingest and transform energy into magic power, and then consume their own stored magic power, in addition to absorbing energy of the same attribute from the outside world again , Can indeed recover consumption by itself.

From this point, we can know that the mages themselves can produce magic power.

"The magic power generated by the wizards is different from the energy absorbed by the outside world. It has stronger plasticity. It can even be said to be the purest magical energy, and its plasticity is the strongest."

Merlin said this and sighed helplessly: "Unfortunately, when many wizards noticed this, UU reading www.uukanshu.com's own spiritual power has been more or less contaminated by external energy, and the magical attributes that are bred in this situation It is inevitable that he will get closer to the energy attributes he had previously absorbed. The specific amount depends on the degree of contamination of the wizard's spirit."

It is for this reason that the mages call the invasion of their own spiritual power by external energy as 'pollution'. The mages also have many different ways to deal with this situation. But no matter how they respond, they will waste more time and energy before reaching the end.

When Ethan heard this, he made up a professional class. Thinking of his previous decision, with his mental power, he would almost inevitably be polluted by water attribute energy, not to mention that he wanted to learn to absorb other attribute energy in the future. Just after the mental power is contaminated, there is a risk of a decline in the control of time and space energy-no, it should definitely decline.

Ethan, who suddenly consciously avoided a difficult situation, gradually understood the path Merlin wanted to take by himself.

"The path you arranged for me is to continue to focus on cultivating spiritual power, and then rely solely on your own spiritual power to nurture magical energy?"

Merlin smiled and nodded. Ethan guessed right this time. He did suggest Ethan to go this way.

It's just that the difficulty of this road is countless times more difficult than the road of ordinary wizards, especially in the early stage, almost being unable to use any magic makes Ethan not much better than ordinary people. Therefore, he feels that Ethan may take some time to consider carefully before deciding whether he wants to take this path.

Unexpectedly, Ethan made a decision much faster than he imagined, and gave him the answer on the spot.

"Don't think about it, I will choose this route."
