

Ethan's Fantasy Drift

Chapter 36 Trivial

After several months, Ethan came to State Island again.

Compared with the last time, the changes in his body during this period can be said to be earth-shaking. From a thin fisherman boy to a mage apprentice who has touched the mysterious power, the equipment on his body can ensure that he is free in this sea. Without worrying about the safety of your own life.

"This is State Island?"

Arthur stood at the highest part of the stern tower, looking at the port constantly, while Ethan was negotiating with the management staff stationed in the port.

He drove back two ships this time, of which the smaller one, he was going to sell it back to the Adventurer's Guild. He was ready to repair the larger ship, and replaced it with his registered name of the Dawning Goddess for his use in the future.

"This time, it will last longer, right?"

Actually, even if he wanted to leave early when he came to State Island this time.

It takes a lot of time to unload the cargo on the ship for inventory and then sell it. The ship also needs to be repaired and taken care of. The Angus didn't know how long the ship had been floating at sea before, and the last time it was maintained. When is it?

He didn't want to drive the boat to float on the sea, and suddenly discovered that various problems caused him to encounter a dangerous situation. The safest thing is to not care about the cost, and directly perform a major maintenance on the boat.

"Also, clear out the name on the side of the bow."

"So what's the name of the ship? Where is it carved?"

The name of the ship will be individually engraved on a wooden board, and then additionally nailed to a certain place on the ship, it will not cause damage to the hull itself, and it is also convenient to change the name.

There is only one shipyard on State Island, which has contracted all the shipbuilding, ship repair, and maintenance work in the Sea of Peace. However, although an absolute monopoly is formed, the price is fair and the craftsmanship is trustworthy-the ship in the Sea of Peace is basically They were all made by them, so there are so many adventurers in craftsmanship.

With the help of people from the port, the shipyard directly sent a young man in his twenties to receive Ethan. In addition to determining and registering which ship is to be maintained, it also records all additional requirements of the employer to avoid final delivery. Deviations in the shipment lead to conflicts.

From this point of view, this shipyard without a name is still very conscientious.

“Goddess of Dawn.” Ethan touched his chin. He considered for a moment and decided to put his name on the stern: “If possible, add me a head of the ship, and a goddess of prayer.”

The bow of the ship is not a rare thing, but it exists purely as a decoration, and few people will ask for it-these additional things will be charged separately.

This kind of thing that is useless to others is different to Ethan. He learned a lot of things and practiced for so long at sea. This time he was going to change to a larger prop to practice his hand. It's dangerous to test directly on the hull. It doesn't matter if the bow is like this, and it won't hurt the ship itself if it is damaged.

If you succeed, you can improve your ship's abilities! That's right, he just wanted to engrave some magic circles on the head of the ship, so that his ship could become a magic warship.

The young man sent by the shipyard was called Margo. Hearing that Ethan was about to install a bow portrait, his usual routine finally changed.

In fact, he was a little surprised when he saw this ship-the mad dog of the vicious dog Angus is still somewhat famous on State Island, not to mention that their shipyard is responsible for almost all the ships in this ocean. I don't know how many times this ship has been seen for maintenance.

Of course, although the reputation of the evil dog is not small, but the strength is also the same in the eyes of these people who have seen the world. It is not surprising that he accidentally kicked the iron plate or was killed because of bad luck.

I just didn't expect that this young man would not only want to keep the Mad Dog number for his own use, but also make a lot of renovations-it seems that this young man is not only good in strength, but also in financial resources.

“Apart from the bow and routine maintenance, is there anything else to do?”

Margo turned his head and looked. There were a lot of scars on the boat. It was obvious that he had gone through a battle, but the traces were very shallow, and there was no need for major repairs, just proper repairs. However, after confirming that Ethan seemed to have good financial resources, he was ready to develop this major client.

“What renovation projects do you have?”

“Oh, this is too much. I am afraid I can’t explain it clearly here. If you are interested, I suggest you take a time to visit the shipyard in person. Not only are there detailed catalogs, but also actual samples can make you more straightforward. Understand the specific effects of those transformations.”

Ethan did not expect this shipyard’s service to be so in place, and nodded and agreed: “I will see it myself when the cargo is unloaded.”

Margo wrote a note in his notebook, since Ethan promised to go there personally, then he doesn’t need to waste time here. He came today just to record the services that the other party needs. The ship has to wait until the cargo is unloaded before being sent to the shipyard by another person.

“Then, goodbye, Ethan of the Aurora.”

“Goodbye.”

Watching Margo leave, Ethan returned to the ship. The workers hired by the port administrator have already begun to take out the ore from the cabin and load it on one ox cart after another.

Until this time, he knew that the ore he found was a kind of rough ore with multiple metals. Common metals such as iron and copper could be extracted from it. It was the most common and most in demand ore in the world.

Don’t look at it is very common, in fact, because of the huge demand, even the residents of the island who do not go to sea need a lot of copper and iron, so the ‘price’ of this ore is not low.

“If all these minerals are sold, you will be able to live a life without worry for a long time.”

Even the shipyard is willing to use ore to pay for his maintenance, repair and transformation. Although the specific price depends on what the ship is to be transformed, it will not consume much in the end.

“Should all be shipped to the guild?”

“Yes, then store it directly into the guild.”

The guild sent a special clerk to handle this matter earlier, and such a large amount of ore is enough to attract their attention.

“Do I need to arrange a slightly larger accommodation this time?”

This clerk is very insightful, not to mention that the guild would have arranged the people on the same boat together when arranging accommodation.

“Just get closer... By the way, is there a place where people can exercise in the guild?”

“There is a dedicated practice range, and it’s completely free. It’s just a public space, so there will be a lot of people, and some bad things may happen.”

The words are very vague, but the meaning has been conveyed in place. Ethan nodded and said that he understood: “It doesn’t matter. Arrange the residences of the two of us together, it’s better to be closer to the driving range.”

“sure no problem.”

Others will naturally do the statistics. What the clerk has to do is to record all the statistical “property data” under Ethan’s personal name, and then go to the guild for backup, and then Ethan can consume and store it in The property in the guild enjoys some “charged” services, and at the same time, you can directly “buy” what you need from the guild’s store.

It is a pity that the guild of the Sea of Peace still uses the simplest barter, and there is no currency accepted by everyone to facilitate transactions.

“Forget it, it’s better than carrying a lot of things on your back.”

Now he is very fortunate to have joined the guild directly, instead of rushing around on his own. Not to mention the storage of materials, just collecting all kinds of data will waste a lot of time.

As Ethan’s “account” deposited a large amount of “property”, a lot of information in the guild began to be opened to him, and even the clerks told him some information very frankly: For adventurers who can bring a lot of materials, the guild Not only will it provide various materials, but it will even provide support to a certain extent.

For example, prioritize the provision of information and new ships; for example, when in distress, other leisure adventurers will be called to rescue them; for example, after the trouble of “bankruptcy”, the guild will provide some basic ship materials so that this An adventurer has the opportunity to stand up again These treatments will become better and better as the wealth that adventurers bring to the guild increases.

“Oh, there are so many benefits?”

“Of course, there are still many benefits to joining a guild.” Having said that, the clerk suddenly came over and lowered his voice: “In addition, including the information on the sea of storm and the side of the sea of storm, the guild can also be consulted.”

“Oh?”

Ethan is more interested now. He planned to collect some relevant information during this period. He didn't expect that someone would give pillows when he fell asleep.

Just, telling yourself what these things do to these clerks?

When I thought of joining the guild for the first time, the same was true for the one who helped myself to join the guild. He always secretly revealed various information. It's just that these messages are good for him, and it doesn't seem to be intentional to cheat him.

“What are they coveting? Are these clerks all helpful characters?”

I really can't figure it out. At this time, the goods have been processed, including the ore from the two ships that have been transported to the guild, and the remaining food and water on the ship will be used as a reward for hiring these laborers, and the rest will be handed over to the guild for processing. These items will soon be sent to the market to be sold, replaced with other items that can be stored for a long time, and deposited in Ethan's account.

After all this is done, Ethan has no time to visit the guild's database, and can only rest in the assigned room with Arthur.

“Let's go to the reference room until tomorrow.”

After a simple wash, Ethan is going to take a brief exercise and rest, and then go straight to solve Arthur's language problem tomorrow.

“Unexpectedly, Merlin left me a test even in this matter.”

Chapter 37 Enemy track

Before Arthur came to this world, he got a lot of things from Merlin. There were all kinds of things, and there was no clue when mixed together.

If it hadn't been stimulated by Keno's escape before, Ethan wouldn't have thought of tidying up the things Merlin gave, and without this time, I wouldn't find that there was an item in it so quickly, just fine. Solve Arthur's language problem.

It is a small piece of metal skin care, very inconspicuous, it is easy to be overlooked when mixed in a lot of things.

The biggest function of this talisman is to transfer part of the knowledge in one person's mind to another person's mind. It is the prop version of the magic that Merlin used to instill words on Ethan.

From this point of view, it seems that with a simple operation, Arthur can learn a new language?

But it is not!

The magic item given by Merlin is not a complete magic, and can only be used as an auxiliary item. The main user of the spell is still a mage.

In other words, this magic must be actively controlled by Ethan himself. This item can only ensure that his casting will not make a mistake, or that an error will not cause any damage to two people.

"This is a safety device."

With Ethan's current spiritual power cultivation base, it is still relatively reluctant to cast such a spell, so he said that this was another test given by Merlin.

He has to find this item correctly in countless sundries, and then use it with his own ability. As long as he can do this, their little problems will be solved by the way, and Ethan's strength will also be considerable. Promote.

"It is exactly the same as the practice method given in my magic book."

The mental training in the Book of Inheritance is a similar style, constantly putting new goals in front of Ethan-this goal is not too far away, as long as you work a little bit, you can reach it, which will let him Always maintain the motivation to move forward, and will not get tired of not making progress for too long, and then become slack.

This time, not only was he able to use the item with a little effort, but he also included a spell.

"This spell does not seem to be too difficult, but its effect is not small, and there will be a lot of use in the future."

Although Arthur has become his partner, this one will go back to inherit the throne in the future. His coming out this time can only be regarded as traveling and training. Maybe one or two years, or even more than three to five years, he will leave, so Ethan must continue. Find the right partner.

These partners can't guarantee that they will be smart, and they will be able to learn new languages in a short time—Ethan has to travel to various planes, and the languages used are too many and miscellaneous. If you understand this spell, No need to bother with the language off.

“At that time, we will make a language pack, and each new entrant will send one.”

Ethan has been playing with this amulet since the morning, and finally researched a transparent white after noon, and then he kept practicing until he could cast the spell correctly and completely.

asked Arthur to have a meal together, and then went to the practice range by the way.

empty!

This is the only impression. The so-called practice field is a huge playground. There is no area division and there are not so many exercise props. Do you want to use weapons or load? Please bring your own! The guild only provides a public space, nothing more.

Seeing this, Ethan and Arthur just left after a routine practice. There is really nothing to look at here.

Then Ethan ran to the reference room, stayed until dinner time, and then had dinner with Arthur, and taught Arthur some language basics by the way—he couldn’t always follow Ethan’s ass, he always had to go out by himself. of.

It is a pity that learning a new language is not so easy, especially for completely different languages. So after half a month, Ethan has already mastered this little spell called “knowledge sharing”. Arthur is still very good at it. Desolately holding a few small slips of common words and pretending to be dumb.

Arthur is very smart and his memory is not bad, but because he does not practice mental power like a mage to increase his memory to an unforgettable level, just memorizing the pronunciation and common vocabulary of the new language almost drives him crazy and barely grasps it. A few more, but also to consider the pronunciation of the spoken language... In the end Arthur gave up and honestly waited for Ethan to practice this spell.

Until this day, after Ethan said that he could give it a try, Arthur finally let out a sigh of relief.

“It’s really painful not to be able to speak.”

Ethan couldn’t laugh. In order to avoid being noticed by others, Arthur simply pretended not to be able to speak. So when there were outsiders, he even had to resist the urge to talk to Ethan.

After all, there is only one universal language in Peaceful Sea, and there may be a slight accent difference, but it does not affect communication. This situation has never happened to Arthur. If he can speak but doesn't understand the language of the world, it is easy to be suspicious. If it is pursued, it may reveal Ethan's greatest secret.

For the sake of safety, Arthur simply pretended that his throat was injured and could not speak recently. It is not appropriate to pretend to be dumb, because you will be able to communicate soon.

Today, his painful days are finally over.

"Don't be happy too early, maybe my mastery of spells is not in place, the possibility of failure still exists."

Arthur showed a smile full of sunshine: "I believe you will succeed!"

But in Ethan's eyes, I always felt that the sunlight was a bit dazzling, as if it was going to burn him to death.

"Okay, I will succeed!"

Well, it seems that it's not that hot anymore.

No longer looking at the eyes that Arthur was expecting, Ethan concentrated on mobilizing his mental power, and then cast this small spell—this is also a small spell that can be completed without magic power, only spiritual power, because it is directly used with spirit. Power operation is very likely to cause irreparable mental damage to the user and the subject, so the control is very demanding, just like a precise operation, and there is no room for mistakes.

The prop provided by Merlin is a kind of insurance, decisively suspending the operation of the spell in the event of an error, and then 'returning' the caster's mental power in a relatively gentle way.

As for the subject, it is safer. As long as the caster successfully casts the spell, it will be recorded by the amulet, and then cast as it is to the subject.

So, as long as Ethan's side succeeds, Arthur has nothing to worry about.

Watching Ethan carefully mobilize his mental power, and even sweat stains appeared on his forehead, Arthur also knew that the spell's casting had reached the most important moment.

He even breathed cautiously, for fear that he accidentally disturbed Ethan, who was preoccupied...

But if he was asked to notice Ethan's true state at this time, he would probably draw out a long sword immediately to demand a duel, and then teach Ethan how to be a man.

"Huh? It seems easier than I expected?"

"Everything is going well. Is my ability to control my mental power improved again?"

Ethan looked at the talisman in his hand and began to be in a daze.

"Maybe it's because Arthur and I found out that the talisman was a little late? After all, we didn't count the talisman right after we came to the calm sea. We have been floating on the sea for a long time."

Unable to think of an answer, Ethan raised his head and noticed the cautious Arthur on the side, and immediately gave him a big smile: "Success, the next thing will be very simple."

Arthur finally took a breath, and the days of pretending to be dumb were finally over.

As Ethan said, the next thing is simple and smooth. It's just that Ethan still wanted to instill English, Chinese, and other languages he had already mastered into Arthur, but seeing the dizzy look of the new Arthur who had just accepted the new Arthur, he decisively suppressed this idea.

Arthur's mental power is of high quality and tough, but he is not a mage after all, and the nature of the spiritual power of the two parties is still very different.

Arthur, who had acquired a lot of new knowledge at once, was not as ineffective as Ethan's before. He had to spend a certain amount of time to digest it before he could continue to use this spell to carry the new knowledge-and the carrying was not infinite. If it is overdose, it will also cause damage to its spirit.

"Well, it seems that it will take a while to transmit the new language to you."

Arthur also understands why Ethan did this, UU reading www. uukanshu.com had never expected such serious side effects before, and he still feels a little dizzy.

"It seems that I have to go to rest early today."

After saying goodbye to Ethan, Arthur went straight to rest. But Ethan was not ready to go to bed directly, and solved Arthur's problem, and then he was ready to deal with his own affairs.

He set his sights on the guild's database. In the past few days, he just flipped through the "catalog" and locked the information he wanted to inquire, read, or even record.

Many of those things are not allowed to be brought out. I watched it internally, so Ethan was going to spend the night in the reference room this time.

“With the uploading book, important information is copied directly to facilitate future inquiries.”

He has a very good memory now, but he is not as comfortable as the top mages in recalling his memory, and sometimes there will be situations that suddenly cannot be remembered.

To put it simply, he can only be regarded as an ordinary person with a relatively strong memory, and he has not exceeded this level. So the safest case is to record important information in the book of inheritance.

He just walked out of the accommodation area and heard two middle-aged people standing not far from the door talking about topics of interest:

“It looks like Sean the Hand of Fire is dead. His name and that piece of equipment were inherited by the original first officer Keno.”

“Oh? Are you sure?”

“I heard from the port that an adventurer crashed into the Flame Monarch and lost half of his supplies to save his life.”

“Oh, it seems that even if you change the individual, the hand of flame is still the hand of flame.”

“Yes, I still have to be careful to avoid the Flame Monarch in the future... By the way, I don’t want to go out to sea recently. I heard that the guy is in the sea near here, robbing the adventurers who have returned from sea.”

“Really...”

Chapter 38 There will always be surprises

As Ethan walked away slowly, the voices of the two people’s discussions gradually became unintelligible.

As if he didn’t care about it at all, he went straight to his own business.

But when he walked into the data room and sat down in front of him all the things he wanted to see, his head began to wonder whether he should take the initiative to attack?

“If only food and water are loaded, the speed and agility of the Caravelle should be maximized, and it is difficult for Keno to take advantage of the chase at sea.”

But left and right thinking, this will give the opponent the opportunity to use the magic cannon. If the ship that has just been repaired or even rebuilt is seriously injured, it seems to be a bit of a loss.

“The last time I escaped seems to be because there were no shells, but who knows if they have added anything during this time?”

After thinking for a while, I felt that the duel at sea would still suffer. It would be better to wait for them to come ashore and solve it. It would be able to completely offset the threat of magic cannons, and at the same time, the lack of experience in naval battles can be ignored.

“It’s impossible to float at sea forever, be patient!”

A good hunter must have enough patience. If he loses his patience, he will leave the prey with a chance to escape or even fight back.

kept admonishing himself in his heart, Ethan calmed down and began to read the information.

At this sight, I was completely plunged in.

Through the information stored by the guild, Ethan learned that the sea of calm is actually connected to the sea on the other side of the sea of storms.

After all, it’s not a secret that there is a “passage” in the sea of storm, but that passage is still very dangerous for most adventurers on the sea of calm. Maybe if you are not careful, the whole army will be wiped out in the crazy rainstorm. .

Relatively, these dangers are not so terrible for more powerful adventurers.

Stronger strength, better, stronger, and larger ships, and may even be loaded with magic stone technology equipment that Ethan does not yet understand. It may be difficult for them to cross the sea of storms, but the passage is blocked. Can’t hold them.

These people are active in another sea area, and the biggest reason they don’t return to the calm sea is because the calm sea is too barren.

For them, another name for the Sea of Calm is the Sea of Barrens, and it is impossible to feed adventurers of their level. It’s just a practice field for some young rookies to learn how to navigate the ocean.

Ethan squeezed the bridge of his nose. His previous guess was correct. The Sea of Peace is a 'novice village'. It doesn't make any sense for him to run wild here. The goal is to rush out of this ocean and go to the next sea as soon as possible. That's right.

At the same time, the guild is indeed a giant as expected. They are not only the center of all life in the calm sea, but also exist in the next sea area.

The guilds of the calm sea collect supplies, and a considerable part of them will be transported to the guild station in the next sea area, and then exchanged for more useful things in this sea area-such as more food and more basic consumables, including Lots of low-quality magic stones.

High-quality magic stones are so rare in the calm sea, there is a big reason that they were collected by the guild and sent away. In the calm sea, there are not too many adventurers who have the capital to hoard high-quality magic stones. They are more in pursuit of basic daily necessities. Food and water will never be enough.

If Ethan hadn't had a plug-in such as a time-space pointer, and accidentally learned a water-making technique to solve the problem of drinking water, I am afraid that he would be a headache because of this problem-without food, he can catch seafood from the sea and deal with it for a while. Water is an essential resource.

Still the same sentence, Ethan's 'opening' is really lucky, and he can get what he needs most every time.

Thinking of this, Ethan unconsciously began to look at his left hand.

"Once twice is good luck, three or four times is still good luck? Maybe it's not completely random as I guessed before?"

This is really difficult to judge, because no new space-time energy supplement has been found, and there is no way to continue practicing.

looked at no one on the left and right, and summoned the time-space pointer casually.

He just simply took a look at it casually, and didn't expect that he was still on the island in the middle of the night, and suddenly he would be able to search for new space-time energy or something.

But the world is like this, always full of surprises or frights.

This time, a surprise suddenly appeared.

"Time and space energy?"

Ethan looked at the clear pointer with only one arrow, and he could only sigh with emotion, 'I thought a lot before, I think it's just good luck! ' accidentally discovered the space-time energy, Ethan is not prepared to stay in the data room. He had copied these materials with the Book of Inheritance before, so he can go back and read it slowly.

is the space-time energy. He hasn't thoroughly studied it until now. Let's not talk about how they appear. The law, location and intensity of their appearance make him unable to get a clue. It seems to be completely random.

put all the materials back to the original place, Ethan left the data room.

This time is already midnight.

The moon high in the sky is round and bright, and the night sky dotted with countless stars is as beautiful as a painting.

It's a pity that Ethan didn't have the least interest in appreciating him. He just moved forward in the direction pointed by the time-space pointer, and then every time he walked for a period of time, he glanced at the pointer after making sure that there was no one around to make sure he was not off the track.

"I don't know if it's on this island."

Judging from the fact that the space-time pointer only gave an arrow, the distance should not be far, but he is also not sure whether the distance exceeds the maximum diameter of the island. If it happens to be in the nearby sea, it will be no show tonight.

It's been so lucky recently. It didn't take long for Ethan to leave the guild archives, and even before he walked out of the guild's building complex, he had already found those space-time energies.

"Not much?"

He has been able to initially control this space-time energy, he no longer has to absorb the energy where he found it, and then the teleportation magic circle will be triggered when the energy is absorbed.

is particularly conspicuous, not to mention, but also very passive.

Now there is a slight change. After absorbing the energy into his body, he can clearly feel that this energy is concentrated in the magic circle in his left hand-it has not affected his spirit because of the energy entering. force.

After absorbing the energy of time and space, the pattern of the magic circle appeared on the back of his left hand. If you look closely, you will find that this magic circle is shining slightly.

This means that the magic circle is active and can be activated at any time. At the same time, it also means that he still lacks control over this energy, just being suppressed forcibly.

“It seems that the control exercises can be carried out smoothly before, because the magic circle has been activated, most of the energy has been consumed with the first burst of shuttle, and the remaining energy is also stable. This is what allowed me to practice that time. Relax.”

“This kind of energy just absorbed is different. They are more active and less easy to control. This time the energy intensity is lower and the quantity is smaller. I reluctantly suppressed it. If it is more space-time energy, I may have been passive. Was teleported away.”

After stabilizing the restless space-time energy a little bit, Ethan did not intend to continue to grind with this energy so hard, but went straight back to the dormitory and knocked on Arthur's door.

I thought Arthur would delay some time before opening the door. After all, he was dizzy because of the knowledge transfer, and it was midnight now, and most people were sleeping well at this time.

It turns out that he had a little glimpse of the young King Arthur. Not long after he knocked on the door, the blond boy appeared in front of Ethan fully armed.

was looking at his expression, nothing was affected by the previous dizziness, nor did he lose sight of his eyes because of lack of sleep.

“You actually move so fast.”

“When you come to me at this time, there must be something unexpected, and I will keep all the equipment at hand when I rest, so it is faster.”

Ethan nodded. The environment where the two people are now is not peaceful, and it is a good habit to maintain considerable vigilance.

“Don't be so anxious, you still have time to tidy up your equipment, and then come to my room to talk about it.”

Arthur shook his head: “No need I will pack the equipment, and I can take it with me when I need it.” After finishing speaking, he lifted a heavy backpack from his feet: “Now you are in the past. Go there, it seems I still have time to wash my face.”

Ethan and Arthur went to his room together, and then locked the door behind him. With caution, he blocked the door with a chair... Well, Ethan suddenly felt that something was wrong?

Arthur, who was wiping his face with a towel, did not put down his backpack and waited for Ethan to speak.

"I just found the space-time energy on the island, so we may have to take a plane trip."

Ethan illuminated the faintly glowing magic circle in his left hand, and Arthur understood why Ethan called himself up in the middle of the night.

"There is also time and space energy on this island?"

"It is also the first time I have collected it on land. It seems that space-time energy may not only appear in the sea, and may be collected on those floating islands in the future.

Arthur nodded. After all, Ethan didn't shuttle planes a lot, and many things were still being explored.

"Then, let's go straight ahead!"

Compared to Arthur, Ethan took a little bit of time. After finishing the equipment, he launched the time-space shuttle magic circle.

The familiar magic circle, the familiar eyes are filled with brilliance and nothing can be seen, and as Ethan's control increases, he gradually ceases to be so restless and releases huge fluctuations of space-time energy; under Ethan's careful control, this time The bursting energy of the shuttle, finally no longer as dazzling as a torch in the night as before.

After the light faded, Ethan and Arthur successfully completed the crossing. Just after seeing his surroundings clearly, a big sign on the front side made him feel bad: Welcome to Raccoon Town!

Chapter 39 Gil

Ethan looked at the English sign, and had an urge to turn his head back in the other direction.

Raccoon Town, from the famous work Resident Evil, has appeared directly or indirectly in many works in this series, and is a city full of disasters.

So, he is now wondering which version he is in.

If it is the game version of the plot, Raccoon Town should be a small town in northwestern North America, not a big city. Umbrella company arranged the research institute here without being discovered for a long time.

In fact, in the game version of the world, Ethan is not worried about the safety of himself and Arthur. Although biochemical incidents are difficult to deal with, they are controlled in a controllable area every time, as long as he can take the initiative to stay away. The location of the incident was still very safe in most parts of the world, not much different from the earth where I lived in my previous life, and even slightly higher in technology—compared to the same period.

If it were the movie version of the plot, it would be difficult to handle, even if he and Arthur turned around immediately, they would not escape the biochemical virus that would spread into a global disaster.

But this time, he strengthened his control of energy when he was traveling, and the space-time energy was stored honestly in the magic circle in his left hand, so he and Arthur could not leave the world in a short time—he can only control it now. The energy will not let it overflow and dissipate, and it will not be able to actively trigger it to send itself back to the calm sea.

Standing under the sign, you can vaguely see the distant city, the towering skyscrapers are very conspicuous, and indirectly tell Ethan which version of Raccoon Town this is.

“I remember the game version... The city is not so advanced, and there are not so many skyscrapers.”

Ethan turned to look at Arthur who was waiting for him quietly, and suddenly noticed the armor on Arthur.

“We have to change our clothes first.”

“What?” Arthur only knew that Ethan had the ability to shuttle planes, but I didn’t know that Ethan was very familiar with many planes. “Is this world safe?”

Ethan is not easy to explain. He can only use “We are more easily noticeable in this dress.” to shirk. This involves another big secret of his own. He has not shared it with anyone, and is firmly hidden in it. In my heart.

“So in ordinary clothes?”

Ethan suddenly started to feel a headache. Let Arthur not talk about it, the casual clothes he carried were all ancient styles, and even the clothes he carried were similar, as eye-catching in this modern city.

After much deliberation, in the end there was no way, Ethan decided not to change.

“Forget it, just wear armor.”

It’s okay to pretend to be young people to participate in the comic show. There are many similar activities in this country, and they are not inferior to the island country in Asia. In addition, two of them are less than 18 years old and one is only about 14. It is not surprising that young people participate in such activities.

The only thing to pay attention to is not to let people get too close, and realize that they are wearing ‘real guys’.

“Where are we going now?”

“There...” Ethan pointed to the vaguely visible edge of the city: “That city called Raccoon Town.”

Just as he was about to move forward, Ethan remembered that Arthur could not speak English.

“Are your dizziness symptoms gone?”

Arthur shook his head: “There are some, but they don’t affect the battle.”

In this case, it would be impossible to ‘teach’ English knowledge to Arthur, so he was asked to pretend to be dumb for a while, and Ethan and the depressed Arthur walked towards Raccoon Town.

In fact, he can leave this place. Even if the outbreak of the Resident Evil is unavoidable, and it will even become a global disaster, it will take some time to ferment. No matter how long Ethan stays in this world, he won’t be able to stay there. The day the world became a desert.

It’s just that he shuttles between various planes, for what? Is it simply to find some food and water? That would be a waste of this ability.

Compared to those, the most important thing is to collect the unique resources of each plane to make yourself stronger faster. Although Resident Evil is a sci-fi world, this does not mean that those things are useless for Ethan.

Various viruses in the world of Resident Evil, in the eyes of the Master, are just a kind of raw materials, especially the movie version of the T virus, which has a certain probability to stimulate a substantial increase in mental power. How could he not be tempted?

The only thing worth worrying about is whether this medicine will pollute mental power? As for the other side effects, it is easy to solve-the magic potion he learned is to extract a certain characteristic of the raw materials separately, so he only needs to extract the effect of boosting mental power. He has all the other effects attached to the T virus. Can be discarded.

Of course, it can be done theoretically. Whether it works or not, you have to get the real thing to know. In addition, he has to judge the current timeline to determine what period he is in.

From current observations, Raccoon Town still exists. With the gradual walk in, more and more vehicles come and go, it is already certain that the Resident Evil has not completely erupted.

“By the way, when you came out, did Merlin prepare some gold jewelry for you?” He has no money, and now the Resident Evil has not broken out, Raccoon Town is still a normal city, and they can’t help but want to live. Some banknotes are needed.

“Gold is a little bit.”

Merlin was really thoughtful. He also considered that currencies such as copper coins and silver coins might not be able to circulate in other worlds, so he brought some gold directly to Arthur—if gold couldn’t be circulated, there would be no way.

But in this world, gold can still circulate. Just wanting to turn gold into banknotes, Ethan found it more troublesome than he thought.

The regular store does not collect gold from unknown sources, especially when these two young people are not very old, and the other side suspects where these two “bad boys” have melted the stolen goods and made it. These pieces of gold want to be sold.

There are only a few private shops willing to take over. The price is more disgusting for Ethan, but he sold it happily. Now he urgently needs some banknotes to settle food, lodging and clothing, and he can’t bother to negotiate with profiteers.

Of course, two young people peddled gold everywhere, inevitably attracted some unscrupulous people to watch, even if they had sold the gold, they still have cash! So Ethan and the others were surrounded by a group of strong men before they could go far.

Needless to say, it turned out to be violent.

If it wasn’t for not wanting to get along with the police in Raccoon Town, these guys could not have been let go so easily.

What surprised Ethan was that he found a Beretta from one of them, which was the only trophy.

“It is indeed a beacon of freedom.”

looked at the magazine, fifteen rounds filled the magazine, and Ethan put it away.

He suddenly remembered that in this world he can collect more thermal weapons, these things are very suitable for him now. It is estimated that no one can resist firearms in the calm sea.

No longer worrying about those gangsters, Ethan and Arthur found a small hotel nearby—because they didn’t have an identity certificate, they had to spend a little extra money to successfully move in, which made Ethan realized that he had entered a modern background. The world needs to solve the problem of identity as soon as possible.

In the next few days, Ethan first bought the clothes that he and Arthur would wear next, and then bought a lot of convenient modern products.

has lived in a world similar to ancient times for many years. What he misses most is all kinds of convenient items in modern society. He even has the urge to buy everything he sees, and then bring it back to the calm sea.

It’s a pity that it’s an impossible task. Many things can’t be used in the calm sea, and consumables like toilet paper can’t bring much to him.

He went to the library in Raccoon Town and copied a large amount of modern knowledge with the book of inheritance. Among them, he focused on collecting books on navigation and ship development and structure.

Originally, he planned to wait until the evening to find the villa that serves as the entrance to the hive in the outskirts of Raccoon Town, but he didn’t expect to come out of the library when he was stopped by a woman.

The woman in front of her has short brown hair and is wearing blue-black training uniform pants. The trousers are tucked in black boots, and the upper body is an ordinary blue short-sleeved t-shirt. Looking at the other’s face again, the more familiar look finally reminded Ethan of who this woman was.

Gil-Valentian, also called Gil-Valentin.

A member of the STARS Special Operations Squad under the Raccoon City Police Department. UU reading www.uukanshu.com

Compared with the characters in the movie version, Ethan has a deeper impression of the characters in the game version and understands a little bit more, plus the other party did not wear the short skirt in the movie, he did not recognize the identity of the person in front of him for the first time.

“Raccoon Town Police, Jill Valentian.”

First, he showed his credentials, and Jill pointed to the side, indicating that he had something to talk to Ethan, and it would be better to let the door open first.

“Okay, police officer.” Ethan walked aside in a kind-hearted manner, and then looked at Jill who kept looking at himself: “Is there anything wrong?”

“Someone accused you of causing personal injury to others and robbing others of their property.”

“what?”

Ethan thought he was investigating his selling of unidentified gold; or did he stay in a hotel without using any documents and aroused suspicion, but didn't he think that someone accused him of personal injury and robbery?

He immediately remembered the gangsters who had been taught him a lesson: “Really...” Ethan couldn't think of any suitable words to describe this kind of thing after holding back for a long time. These guys are deliberately calling the police and disgusting themselves, look. The day I came was light.

“I want to remind you that there is an experienced police officer in front of you. I really can't pretend to be invisible with your expression like you want to find trouble.”

Ethan looked back at the female police officer in front of him, and finally shrugged his shoulders: “I didn't say anything, nor confessed anything. You said someone accused me, so now are you arresting me?”

“No! I know who that guy is better than you.” Jill suddenly showed a very serious expression: “What I want to know is, who are you?”

Chapter 40 Savior Ethan

“Who am I?” Ethan thought very seriously for half a second: “My name is Ethan.”

Jill continued to stare at him, as if waiting for the following, the posture was as if Ethan would not let him go if he didn't give a satisfactory answer.

“Is the savior of this world.” After a moment, Ethan said again.

“Savior?” Jill's eyes finally changed, no longer staring at him like that, but a look that cared for fools.

Savior or something...Look at Ethan's young appearance, who is less than twenty years old, and wonder if this young man has watched too many movies or comics, and his mind is starting to be abnormal.

Ethan spread out his hands: "You asked me who I am, and I have already answered you. As for whether you believe it or not, it is your business. If there are no other questions, then I will go first."

After speaking, he left here without waiting for Jill to react.

In fact, these remarks are not entirely nonsense. Ethan has long remembered the T virus in the hive. If everything goes well in his plan, the world does not have to face the end of the day. It is not nonsense to say that he is the savior.

Jill, believe it or not? That has nothing to do with him.

First of all, he didn't know this woman. The good feeling for the movie version of Jill still originated from the characters in the original game. This good feeling is not enough to let him take care of this woman.

In the next few days, Ethan still lived a peaceful life, collecting information every day. At the same time, after Arthur's dizziness was completely eliminated and his spirit recovered, he once again used knowledge transfer to instill English into the young King Arthur. In his mind.

"This feeling is really terrible, why should I endure it twice in such a short time?"

Ethan stretched out his hands helplessly: "Because you don't want to be a deaf and mute person all the time." He has already begun to study how to improve this spell.

When Merlin cast this spell on him, his mental power was about the same as Arthur's now, and the quality might be slightly inferior. But when Merlin cast this spell on him, not only was it fast, but it had almost no effect, and there were no sequelae at all. In contrast, with the help of the talisman, with such a big side effect, it proved that he still had a lot of details to deal with.

"Maybe I can change the transmission method to breakpoint transmission? So that the subject can absorb the knowledge bit by bit, and avoid the side effects caused by too much knowledge at once?"

Arthur nodded: "I think this is a good idea. Although it takes some time, it is safer. In this way, what happens suddenly will definitely affect my combat power."

"You are right, there are indeed risks in this situation now."

But the improvement of magic will be discussed later. Next, he has to collect all kinds of materials-in the public library, it is impossible for him to scan all the books directly with the book of inheritance, and then copy the content into the book, only to transmit it quietly.

Find a few books that you need every day, and then stack them together, putting the book of inheritance at the bottom. This copying method is much slower, and it takes several hours for a few books. The advantage is that there is no such dazzling light and shadow effect, and it will not be noticed.

Ethan also went to the gun shop in Raccoon Town by the way. The Liberty Beacon Nation really deserves its reputation, and many firearms are blatantly placed on counters and shelves for people to choose and buy.

But he still noticed some differences. The weapons sold in gun shops in some large shopping malls are clearly marked with civilian versions, and there is no shadow of automatic weapons. These shopping malls are mainly pistols and shotguns.

He also ran into a few people who happened to be choosing to buy, and found that buying through formal channels is a very troublesome thing, and a series of processes are required for various documents.

On the surface, this country has indeed put a lot of effort in managing guns. It's a pity that there is no use for eggs-in order to attract customers, many private gun shops will secretly sell all kinds of "good goods"; there are more mobile dealers, and these guys have no scruples and dare to sell any weapons. .

In short, the guns in this country have been flooded to the point where it cannot be saved. After observing for a period of time, Ethan found that if he wanted to collect thermal weapons, there were too many choices. You can wait to consider specific plans before leaving.

"If it fails to prevent the spread of the biochemical virus, then collect it at will. If it is successfully prevented, you can consider a wave of black to eat it? No, there should be a lot of weapons in the hive."

The information has been collected almost, and he is not going to go to the library again. If the next thing goes well and the world avoids the biochemical doomsday, he can continue to copy more materials, if it can't be avoided, then he will have to live in another city next.

These days, he has been looking for Alice as the protagonist of the movie, and found that she has already lived with Spence, the number one villain in the first movie, as a husband and wife.

After discovering this, he knew that it was not far from the beginning of the plot. These days, he would go to stay outside the suburban mansion at night to wait for the plot to happen.

If the plot doesn't start, he can only force it in if he wants to get the T virus. If that happens, he will have to break through. Let's not talk about Umbrella's security personnel in the hive and various modern defense facilities, he has to face the possibility. Reinforcements coming in endlessly...Unless he is crazy, he will do it.

"I hope it won't let me wait too long."

went back to the hotel where he was staying, and found that Jill appeared in front of him again.

Since the last time he left a savior, he thought that this woman would only treat herself as a lunatic, and she didn't show up in the next few days. Maybe she had forgotten her own name, but he would suddenly come back and be blocked. At the door of her residence-doesn't this mean that she is investigating herself these days?

Yes, Jill is indeed investigating Ethan these days.

At first, she was just curious. A young man under twenty years old was able to turn the other party down and even * the other party's things (the * did not say that he was snatched away). Is a gun).

She even thought about incorporating this young man into STARS, but she did not expect to run into a product with an abnormal brain.

After going back, the more I thought about it, the more I felt that I was being tricked, so the female police officer began to investigate Ethan's information on her own.

It's okay if you don't check it, but it's fun to check it.

No matter how she investigates, Ethan seems to be a person who appeared out of thin air. Before he appeared in Raccoon Town, there was no trace of this person.

Considering the suit he was wearing when he first appeared, she also investigated whether there were any activities such as comic shows in the surrounding cities, but ultimately found nothing.

Gil does not believe that a big living person will emerge out of thin air, she can only boil down to someone covering up all the information.

Thinking about this, things happened.

Do ordinary people need to do these things? Why cover up all the information inexplicably? It's as if this person doesn't exist at all?

The more I thought about it, the more things went wrong, Jill tried to check in several directions, and even retrieved all the surveillance videos of the highway that Ethan entered Raccoon Town during this period of time.

I still don't have a clue. It's as if Ethan suddenly appeared outside of Raccoon Town and went straight into the town. He sold some unexplained gold in exchange for some cash. It's not good to live in a family, but he doesn't need an identity. Proved in the small hotel.

I just go around in the city every day, read books in the library for a long time, and then continue to go around. In the evening, I honestly return to the hotel to rest-looks like an ordinary traveler? But which traveler specializes in the library?

can't figure it out, Jill thinks that the breakthrough of the matter lies in Ethan himself, as for his companion, it seems that he can't speak? So she didn't try to open the gap from the blond boy.

"See you again, officer."

"Just call me Jill." Jill saw Ethan come back and stood in front of him: "I am a little interested in what you said before. UU reading www.uukanshu.com can tell me about you in detail. Your salvation plan?"

Ethan raised his eyebrows. He didn't believe that Jill really believed that he was the savior, so the most likely reason was that the policewoman suspected that she was going to do something ulterior, so the occupational disease criminal wanted to investigate thoroughly, even Be prepared to kill yourself to prevent a terrible incident from happening.

But... this seems interesting too?

He didn't want to do bad things, he could even say that what he did would really save the world. How boring is obscurity? Having a witness can also make him feel more fulfilled, isn't it?

Even considering Umbrella...that is, the umbrella company is extremely powerful in this world. Even if you eliminate the hive crisis and kill a large group of high-level people hiding below, there are still a lot of clones outside. ? Let Jill witness everything, and then let her go and die with Umbrella's clone management.

"Are you really interested?"

"Yes it is!"

Gil made a very, very interested look, as if a nymphomaniac girl looks at a handsome guy.

“I have to say that your acting skills are really poor. Fortunately, you didn’t become an actor, otherwise you would definitely not be a big star.” Ethan waved her hand and motioned for her to follow: “If you want to know, just follow Let me come, it’s not a shameful thing anyway, and I do need a witness.”

“Witness?” Jill followed Ethan to his room, but his eyes moved from side to side, constantly looking at the surrounding environment. As an elite in the police force, she has no shortage of caution: “What do you want to prove?”

“Prove that I saved the world.”