

Reincarnation: I Married My Ex's Brother

Chapter 16 Blind date

Apart from Fang Yuqing, no one in the Fang family knew about Fang Yusheng's allergy to eggs.

After subconsciously fiddled with the Buddha beads, Fang Yusheng praised his new wife with a virtuous voice. This was a curiosity and said, "Today's breakfast tastes good, especially the preserved egg and lean meat porridge. If I can't eat eggs, I really want to do it again. Taste a few more mouthfuls."

"Hey, the preserved egg and lean meat porridge is the breakfast that Ersao ordered last night. I also think it tastes good." After Fang Yuqing finished speaking, she realized that Fang Yusheng's words were a bit wrong, "Brother Yusheng, you have to eat that morning. Congee?"

Seeing that Fang Yusheng did not deny it, Fang Yuqing's face turned a little ugly, "I know that I am allergic to eggs, why would I still eat that porridge? Are you feeling sick now?" Fang Yuqing's tone was very anxious, and her counterpart Yu Sheng's concern is sincere.

Fang Yusheng waved his hand and said, "I only tasted it, my body is fine."

Fang Yuqing felt relieved when he saw that he was really fine.

Fang Yuqing made a special trip to send orchids as an excuse. The real intention was to remind him that his mother and father were planning a blind date for him. She carefully looked at Fang Yusheng's face, his expression was plain, and Fang Yuqing couldn't tell what his mood was at the moment.

Even if he couldn't see it, Fang Yusheng could feel the focused gaze of the girl beside him.

He curled his mouth and asked her, "What are you staring at me to see."

"Brother Yu Sheng, you are going to suffer a catastrophe these few days."

"Ok?"

Pursing her lips, Fang Yuqing hesitated for a few seconds before choosing to explain, "In a few days, Dad may let you go on a blind date."

Fang Yusheng's smile remained the same, but that hand began to move the Buddhist beads again.

"Oh, isn't it?"

Fang Yuqing did not answer, and Fang Yusheng, who closed his eyes, raised his head and faced the window. The window was open, and he felt the breeze coming in and passing by his face.

Fang Yusheng's hand repeatedly rubbed the biggest buddha beads, and whispered, "Miss of Binjiang City, who would like me, a blind man?" His tone was very gentle, but Fang Yuqing But from his words, I heard a piece of... hatred.

Fang Yuqing was startled, she suddenly raised her head to look at Fang Yusheng, but saw the person with a slight smile on the corner of his mouth, and the smile was light and gentle. At this moment, he gave Fang Yuqing a feeling of idle clouds and wild cranes, as if the words just now were not uttered from his mouth.

Fang Yuqing felt unfamiliar with Yu Sheng's brother.

She suddenly felt that she had no courage to stay in this room again. Quickly got up, Fang Yuqing said that she had an appointment with a friend, so she left in a hurry.

As soon as she left, Qi Bufan walked out of the monastery.

Standing still behind Fang Yusheng, Qi Bufan said, "Mr. Fang, it seems that this second lady has a lot of opinions on you."

"As soon as I got married into Fang's family, I was anxious to get ahead for my second child. It really means that the husband and wife have a deep relationship." Fang Yusheng just smiled, seeming to be very envious of their affectionate feelings.

Qi Bufan looked down at the man in front of him, feeling strange in his heart.

"Then blind date, are you going?"

Fang Yusheng didn't speak, no one knew what he was thinking.

*

A woman is born to be a matchmaker.

The blind date mentioned that morning was put on the top priority by Xu Pingfei in the recent agenda. Xu Pingfei is a typical lady who is not proficient in business matters, but she is very good at dealing with the shortcomings of parents.

No, with her husband's permission, Xu Pingfei was busy looking for an unmarried girl of the right age for her boss.

Bringing Qiao Jiuyin to the tea party, at the party, Xu Pingfei inadvertently mentioned that she wanted to make a blind date for the family boss. After hearing this, a group of expensive wives were busy searching for the right-age objects in their minds. Some families had unmarried and right-age daughters, and they all signed up.

After only attending a tea party, Xu Pingfei obtained information on dozens of unmarried women of the right age. When they returned home, they discussed with Qiao Jiuyin, and the two finally selected more than twenty suitable blind dates. These twenty girls, all of them are like flowers and jade, and have a good family.

Not long after the wedding, Fang Mu found a reason, moved out of Fang's house, and moved into the house where Qiao Jiuyin proposed to him that night.

This night, the two ended a hearty affair, and they were not in a hurry to take a bath, they just faced each other naked, staring into each other's eyes.

Fang Mu pulled out the sweaty hair between Qiao Jiu's forehead, looked at her brown eyeballs, remembered something, and asked, "These few days is your ovulation period?"

Qiao Jiuyin's cheeks were reddish, and he hummed.

The corners of Fang Mu's lips conjured up an inconspicuous range.

He had noticed that after each incident, Qiao Jiuyin did not take contraceptives. It seemed that she was planning to give birth to a child for him. Fang Mu is naturally happy if his beloved is willing to have children for him. Noting that he was in a good mood, Qiao Jiuyin smiled mischievously following Qiao Jiusheng's way, then lay on Fang Mu's chest and said to him, "The matter of choosing a blind date for the eldest brother has been done."

The smile on Fang Mu's face converged slightly.

Qiao Jiuyin noticed that he was more convinced that the relationship between the two brothers should be worse than they seem on the surface.

"What kind of women are they?"

"Naturally, they are all innocent girls who look good, and they are very gentle and considerate. They will be able to take good care of their eldest brother if they get married in the future." Qiao Jiuyin and Xu Pingfei will both be considerate and kind when choosing girls. , In the first place.

For them, Fang Yusheng is an inconvenient disability. If he marries his wife, he must be a virtuous girl who can take good care of people.

Fang Mu smiled unclearly, "Very good."

To let a person who was once so proud to find a vase woman who was insignificant and was no different from a nanny, this is undoubtedly a knife in the heart of Fang's boss.

*

On a sunny day, Fang Yusheng was taken by Aunt Xu and appeared in an upscale and secret open-air cafe.

"Yu Sheng, don't blame Aunt Xu for being troublesome, you're almost 30, and it's time to start a family." Xu Pingfei is the continuation of Fang Pingjue. She is the daughter of a big family and has good conduct. His son is not dirty.

She always remembered her identity and would not intervene too much in Fang Yusheng's affairs, but she would not let it go.

She always cares about marriage issues.

The marriage between Xu Pingfei and Fang Pingjue was a typical marriage, and Fang Yusheng had no opinion on the woman opposite. He understood her intentions, and when he heard this, he gave a soft hum.

Seeing that Fang Yusheng did not resist the blind date, Xu Pingfei was somewhat relieved.

Xu Pingfei asked about Fang Yusheng's life problems again, and while chatting, she saw two women walking by the entrance of the rooftop. A middle-aged woman in a yellow dress came towards them with a beautiful lady in a white dress.

"Here." Xu Pingfei whispered to Yu Sheng.

Fang Yusheng didn't even move his brows.

The sound of footsteps progressed, and a gentle fragrance of the lady entered Fang Yusheng's nose. The faint fragrance of fruit and wood was not strong. Fang Yusheng's heart was still very calm, he heard the sound of Xu Pingfei's chair moving opposite, and stood up.

The visitor opened his mouth to Xu Pingfei, "Sister Xu, this is my Xiaoluo."

"Hello Aunt Xu." The girl called Xiao Luo took the initiative to greet Xu Pingfei, and a pair of beautiful apricot eyes calmly looked at the man with his back to her.

No data found.