

Ex Convict 2121

Chapter 2121

Although she had thought of getting an abortion, it was so upsetting to hear it from someone else.

She had made up her mind and was ready to have this baby no matter how difficult it was. Was this the end of it?

"I don't want to terminate my pregnancy," said Kyla.

Martin Weiss turned paler as soon as she said that. When he heard that the mother would also be in danger, his first reaction was to terminate the pregnancy.

As much as he cared for the little human life, he cared more about her life.

He almost lost her when she was suffering from liver cancer. How could he bear the possibility of losing her again when he had managed to save her?

"Kyla, why don't you take the doctor's advice? If you continue carrying the baby, who knows what will happen later? Besides, you still have Nelson. What should Nelson do if something happens to you?"

'And what about me...'

However, he swallowed the last few words and did not speak them out loud.

Kyla felt a wrenching pain in her heart. 'Yes, I still have Nelson and Mom.

'If something happens to me, what should they do? Nelson's too young while Mom's too old.

'But... I can't give up the little life I'm carrying!'

When she saw the tiny embryo in the ultrasound, the fetal heart rate, and the fetal pole on the ultrasound report, she had already accepted the baby.

She was Nelson's mother and also this baby's mother!

"Dr. He, you're the leading expert on this. Please think of something. I want to have this baby. I... I've been in good health these years. I've not had any serious illness besides the occasional aches caused by the after-effects of my liver transplant. Besides, you only said that it's a possibility. It's not certain that I'll be in danger, right?" Kyla said earnestly.

Dr. He sighed and said, "In this case, we need to conduct further examination and see the results. We'll also invite liver experts from other hospitals. Why don't you go through some preliminary tests first?"

Martin Weiss said, "Wait. Excuse me. I would like to talk to my wife first." He looked at Kyla sternly as he asked, "Do you really want to give birth to this baby?"

"Yes," she answered.

"Don't you know how risky it is?" he asked.

"Unless it's 100% confirmed that it's dangerous for me to give birth to this baby, I want to give this child a chance," said Kyla.

Martin Weiss seemed particularly solemn. After a long while, he said, "What if I don't want you to have the baby?"

She suddenly smiled. "Weren't you eager for me to have the baby? You were firmly against me getting an abortion at the time!"

"It was different then!" Of course, he wanted the baby if she would be safe.

However, that did not mean he was willing to trade her life for the baby.

Kyla was unmoved. She turned to the specialist and said, "Dr. He, do you mind arranging the test that I need to undergo and schedule a consultation? I want to keep this baby."

Dr. He looked at Kyla, then looked Martin Weiss, who had been silent. Finally, she nodded and wrote down the tests.

Kyla finished undergoing the tests with the nurse's help and got into the car with Martin Weiss.

Chapter 2122

However, neither of them spoke on the way back.

Martin Weiss's car arrived in front of the store. Mrs. Corbyn asked as soon as she saw that her daughter was back, "What took you so long? You've been gone the entire day. How was the pregnancy check-up? Are you okay?"

"Yes, Mom," Kyla said with her usual smile.

"Okay? Are you going to hide it?" asked Martin Weiss. Then, he told Mrs. Corbyn what had happened at the hospital.

Mrs. Corbyn instantly became deeply worried. "Is there any danger? Then... Then what should we do?"

Martin Weiss said, "Mom, please advise Kyla not to have the baby. Her health is important. If she wants to have another baby, then... Then I can adopt a baby with her. Anything else is possible but this. I just don't want anything to happen to her again."

Mrs. Corbyn ignored that Martin Weiss kept calling her 'Mom'. She looked at her daughter nervously and said, "Martin has a point. Why don't you give up this baby..."

"Mom, it's too early to make such a snap decision before the doctor's consultation. I'll regret it for the rest of my life if I kill this baby prematurely when I had the chance to bring them into the world." Kyla looked at her mother and said, "Mom, you don't want me to regret it for the rest of my life, do you?"

Mrs. Corbyn could only sigh heavily.

Martin Weiss said, "What if the situation still isn't optimistic after the consultation? Are you still going to have the baby?"

"Then let's see how bad it is!" replied Kyla.

Martin Weiss was instantly overwhelmed with regret.

Martin Weiss rarely did anything he regretted.

If treating Kyla like that back then was one of the things he regretted, then knocking her up after getting drunk was another thing he regretted.

If he had known she would get into such danger after getting pregnant, he would never have knocked her up. He even... tried to stop her when she tried to abort the baby!

Martin Weiss just wanted to slap himself hard, and he did!

Grace saw slap marks on Martin Weiss's face when she saw him.

"Did Kyla do that?" asked Grace. After all, in her opinion, only Kyla would be able to leave slap marks like that on Martin Weiss's face.

"I did it myself," said Martin Weiss.

Grace was at a loss for words all of a sudden.

Martin Weiss said, "I came to see you today because I need your help with something. If you're willing to help me, I'll effort to help you or the Reed family whenever you need me in spare no

the future! Take it as though I'll owe you a big favor. What do you think?"

It was rare for the head of the Weiss family to say such a thing.

Grace frowned. "If you want me to help you with something related to Kyla, then I'm afraid I can't help much." She thought he wanted her to help him put in a good word to Kyla and bring him and Kyla back together.

Chapter 2123

"Whether you can help or not, I want you to try. You don't want anything to happen to Kyla either, do you?"

"What?" Grace was taken aback. "What's going on?"

Martin Weiss told Grace about the hospital's diagnosis and said, "You're her friend. Whatever I say doesn't work on her, but maybe she'll listen to you. Please advise her to give up the baby. If her body can't take it in the third trimester..."

He could hardly imagine it.

Grace's face became serious at this. She pondered for a moment and said, "Okay, I'll find time to persuade Kyla, but I can't guarantee that I'll succeed."

"As long as you'll try to persuade her!" Martin Weiss said gratefully.

Grace told Jason about it at night. "I'm planning to go look for Kyla tomorrow to talk about this."

"Are you going to persuade her to give up the baby?" asked Jason. He was able to understand what Martin Weiss was feeling. It was just like when Grace was pregnant with the triplets and the doctor said that it was necessary to have a pregnancy reduction to keep the mother and babies safe. However, Grace still insisted on not having the pregnancy reduction.

They even argued over it for a while.

"I hope Kyla will be safe, but I also understand how hard it is for a mother to give up her children," said Grace, who also narrowly escaped death to give birth to the triplets.

Jason murmured, "But have you ever thought about what will happen to the man who loves you if you give up your own life to keep your children? Just like how you would risk your life for the children, I would risk their lives for yours."

Grace blinked her eyes as if she was surprised.

"What's the matter? Do you think I'm not a good father?" he asked.

"Not... really. I know it's because you love me very much, but..." She hesitated and said sternly, "If the children and I are ever in danger, I'd still want you to save the children."

As a mother, she was willing to sacrifice herself, including her life, for her children.

He stared at her quietly, his eyes glimmering slightly. Then, he said slowly, "Okay."

That one word was worth a thousand words. If that ever happened, he would save the children as she wanted, and then he would die with her.

He would live if she lived; if she died, he would die too!

Grace seemed to understand the meaning behind Jason's answer instantly. Her eyes were instantly covered with tears. "You..." She sobbed, unable to speak. Was she going to call him foolish, stupid, or stubborn?

However, it was only because he loved her so much!

He loved her the most in the world!

"Jay, thank you for loving me so much," she said as she stood on tiptoes and kissed him on the lips.

He responded to her kiss.

Chapter 2124

He loved her. However, this lifetime was not enough. He hoped there was a next life. In the next life, he would love her more, take care of her carefully, and not let her suffer any harm.

Grace came to Kyla's store the next day and found that Lina was also there. However, Lina only came to chat with Kyla.

After all, Lina only stayed at home and took good care of the baby in her belly these days. She had stopped working. All she did was eat and sleep or watch TV shows. She was extremely bored.

Lina smiled when she saw that Grace was here. "What a coincidence. We three are all here. If we have one more person, we can play mahjong. But if our kids get together, we can have more than one mahjong table. When they find their other halves, we can have three tables."

Kyla was amused by what Lina said. "Why do you keep thinking about mahjong? What's the matter? Do you want to play mahjong?"

"A little. Let's play mahjong after I deliver my baby!" said Lina. Then, she looked at Kyla's belly. "Kyla, where do you plan to register your baby's obstetric record? Do you want to go to the hospital I'm going to? I have a good doctor."

2/3 "No thanks. I... A specialist from Municipal Women's Hospital is overseeing my pregnancy," said Kyla after hesitating a little.

Lina did not overthink it, but Grace said, "Kyla, Martin Weiss came to look for me yesterday."

Kyla paused and looked at Grace.

"Martin Weiss asked me to persuade you to give up the baby. He said that it's too risky for you to have this baby as it'll affect your own safety. I want to hear from you whether he's telling the truth," asked Grace.

Lina said with shock, "What? It's dangerous for Kyla to have the baby? What's going on here? Is it because she's pregnant at an older age? But aren't there a lot of people who gave birth in their 40s?"

Kyla looked at her two friends who were concerned about her and said honestly, "It's not because I'm older. It's because I've undergone a liver transplant. The doctor said my liver function might get affected during the third trimester, and my body might not be able to take it."

Lina was worried when she heard that. "Then... Then are you still going to keep the baby, Kyla?"

Kyla said, "Well, I'm not giving up for now. I'll make up my mind after the consultation with the specialist from Municipal Women's Hospital. But I'll fight for the baby unless it's necessary that I give them up."

3/3 As she spoke, Kyla looked at Grace. "Grace, didn't you risk your life for your three children too? You know it doesn't matter who persuades me."

Grace naturally understood Kyla's current state the best, so she said, "But promise me, if the doctor says the chance of delivering your child safe is too slim during the consultation, then you-"

"Then I'll see what I can do," interrupted Kyla.

Just then, Lina, who had been sitting on the chair, suddenly frowned. She covered her belly with one hand as she looked at the two with panic on her face. She said, "Um... I think my water broke!"

Her water broke without warning!

Kyla and Grace had given birth before and knew what it meant when one's water broke.

Therefore, Grace quickly said, "Get in my car. I'll take you to the hospital. Don't panic. Lie flat after you get into the car."

Lina replied and tried to take a deep breath. Grace and Kyla quickly helped Lina into the passenger seat and then reclined it.

Chapter 2125

Lina lay down.

Kyla asked her mother to look after the store while she got into Grace's car.

Grace drove while Kyla called Hadwin Stephenson. "Hadwin Stephenson? Lina's water broke. We're sending her to the hospital..."

"How is Lina doing?" Hadwin Stephenson asked urgently.

"She... She's pretty calm right now," said Kyla as she put the phone in front of Lina.

On the phone, Lina said while taking a deep breath, "Hadwin... The... The baby and I will be fine. Don't... Don't worry. Don't... Don't panic when you go to the hospital. Don't drive yourself. Have the driver drive..."

She did not forget to warn him. She was afraid he might drive himself and get into an accident if he was distracted.

"Okay, I got it. Don't be scared. Don't be scared! You have me," said Hadwin Stephenson, but his trembling voice sounded more scared than Lina.

Once the call was over, Lina continued taking deep breaths to relax, while Kyla kept talking to distract her.

Grace only wished she could reach the hospital immediately.

Fortunately, the hospital Lina had registered in was not far away from Kyla's store. 20 minutes later, they finally arrived safely.

Hadwin Stephenson had already contacted the hospital, so as soon as their car arrived, doctors and nurses instantly carried Lina onto a stretcher and pushed her to the delivery room.

Kyla then finally found herself a little weak. "Lina... will deliver the baby safely, won't she?"

"Yes, Hadwin Stephenson must have made all the preparations in the hospital. She also has all those specialists tending to her. She'll be fine!" said Grace.

The two waited outside the delivery room. Moments later, Hadwin Stephenson also hurried over. As soon as he saw Grace and Kyla, he immediately asked, "How is Lina?"

"I don't know. The doctors are still checking on her," said Grace.

Moments later, a nurse came out of the delivery room and said, "Is Lina's family here?"

"Yes!" Hadwin Stephenson replied immediately.

"The mother's water broke too soon. Please come with me to handle the paperwork, and a family member can go in to accompany the mother..." the nurse said as she took Hadwin Stephenson to the registration place.

Hadwin Stephenson put on sterile clothing and followed the nurse into the delivery room, while Grace and Kyla continued to wait outside.

However, as time passed, the feeling of unease grew. It grew stronger when Grace saw several doctors hurrying into the delivery room.

"Grace, do you think... something happened in there?" Kyla asked nervously.

"No, everything should be fine. Lina's pregnancy check-ups before this had all been normal," said Grace, but she felt intensely uneasy.

When a nurse hurried out of the room, Grace immediately asked, "I'm Lina's friend. How is Lina doing right now? Has she... Has she delivered the baby?"

"The mother's having a difficult labor." The nurse hurried away after saying this.

Grace and Kyla both looked shocked.

'Difficult labor...'

Chapter 2126

"No way!" Kyla exclaimed.

Grace was a little wobbly. She took a deep breath several times and took out her phone. However, her hands trembled violently as she tried calling Jason:

The call soon got through. As soon as Grace heard Jason's voice, she could not help sobbing. "Jay, think... think of a way. Lina is having a difficult labor. Many doctors have entered the delivery room. Find every good obstetrician in Emerald City. Nothing must happen to Lina. No..."

She choked as she got to the end of her words.

Jason immediately said, "Okay, stop crying. I'll think of something. Where are you right now?"

Grace gave him the hospital name, and Jason said, "Wait for me!" With that said, he hurriedly ended the phone call and rushed out of the office, leaving behind a group of people who was in a meeting.

The crowd looked at each other, wondering what had happened.

Terrence hurried out, caught up with Jason, and said, "Young master Reed, the meeting-"

"Postpone the meeting. Also, I need you to contact all the maternity specialists in tMason Swansonty right now. I want the best. Then get them to go to..." Jason told him the hospital where Lina was delivering the baby and entered the elevator.

Terrence accepted the task in confusion. 'Maternity specialists?

'Is someone having a baby?

'Young Madam isn't pregnant! But seeing Young master Reed looking so worried just now, it must be a big deal!'

Jason drove to the hospital. As soon as Grace saw Jason, she immediately cried harder. "Have you found any doctors? Lina... Lina's condition seems to be getting worse."

"Yes, the doctors should be here soon. Don't worry. Don't worry!" Jason quickly took Grace into his arms and comforted her softly.

He naturally knew how important Lina was to her, so he would not let anything happen to Lina.

"I didn't expect Lina to have a difficult labor. Everything was fine when she went for her pregnancy check-ups! How did this happen? How..."

"Hadwin Stephenson must have already done a lot of preparations, and the doctors he chose should also be experienced," said Jason.

Terrence soon hurried over and told them that tMason

Swansonty's top obstetricians had gathered in the hospital. They were meeting in a temporary office to find a solution for Lina's a difficult labor.

"Meeting? How long will it take? How long can Lina hold on?" Grace panicked.

"It shouldn't take long. Besides, doctors need to know the patient's case thoroughly before they can make a judgment," said Jason.

Grace knew that too, but she could not stop feeling anxious.

Fortunately, it was not long before more doctors entered the delivery room.

Grace could only keep praying that her best friend was safe.

There were still moments when one would feel helpless no matter how much money or power one had.

Just then, Martin Weiss rushed over. "What's the matter? Is Lina still in the delivery room?"

Kyla froze. "What are you doing here?"

Chapter 2127

"I went to the store to see you, but Mom said Lina's water broke, so you accompanied her to the hospital," said Martin Weiss. He was getting more used to calling her mother 'Mom'.

Kyla answered somewhat difficulty, "Lina's having a difficult labor, and she's still in there. Hadwin Stephenson's accompanying her, and many doctors have gone in."

Martin Weiss's face turned solemn when he heard this.

The four said nothing and waited outside the delivery room.

However, as time went by, the air became more depressed.

Sometime later, there was suddenly a piercing roar from the delivery room.

The delivery rooms here were soundproof, but they could hear it when they were standing outside. They could imagine how loud it was inside.

The four of them froze, and Grace said nervously, "What happened? That scream... It seems to be Hadwin Stephenson's voice! Is it..."

'Is it Lina? Did something happen to Lina?'

Just then, a doctor rushed out in a hurry and said to Jason,

"Young master Reed, the mother in there is dying. She has passed out, and the baby is stuck in the birth canal. We can't carry out a Caesarean section, so we can only opt for a natural birth. But judging from the current situation, I'm afraid it'll be difficult to save both the mother and baby."

Grace almost fainted when she heard this. Kyla, who was nearby, also paled.

"How did this happen? Is there nothing we can do?" Grace asked urgently, finally understanding why Hadwin Stephenson let out such a piercing roar.

It was tantamount to losing his wife and baby overnight!

"If there's a way, we would have done it already. We've done everything we can. We doctors aren't gods. There's nothing we can do!" the doctor said.

Grace staggered and would have collapsed if Jason had not supported her.

"There must be another way. There must be!" Grace sobbed as tears streamed out of her eyes. "We said we would play mahjong together in the future!"

Kyla was sobbing too. They were together just a few hours ago, talking and laughing. However, a few hours later, this happened!

Just then, a young voice rang out. "I can save her!"

3/3 Grace and Kyla looked toward the voice. It was the same little boy they had seen back then. The mysterious little boy who predicted that Lina was carrying a daughter had appeared outside the delivery room, saying he could save Lina!

"Can you really save Lina?" asked Grace.

"Yes, I can save her and her baby." Of course, the baby mattered more to him!

Grace stared at the boy. "This isn't a game but concerns actual lives. Do you know that?"

The little boy said calmly, "I know. But you'd better let me in soon, or there's no way I can save them."

Grace took a deep breath, "Okay, I'll bring you inside!"

Chapter 2128

Kyla said urgently, "Grace, do you really believe that this kid can save Lina and the baby?" After all, the kid was too young. How could a seven or eight-year-old boy save someone even specialists could not save?

"Since the doctor has said that there's nothing else they can do to save Lina, we can only try everything in this moment of despair. Besides... the kid was right about the baby's gender before this. Maybe there's something special about him!" said Grace. She could only take a bet.

Grace led the little boy to the delivery room, and Kyla followed. The two women entered the delivery room while the two men waited outside.

After entering the delivery room, Grace only saw Hadwin Stephenson sobbing and shouting Lina's name.

Lina had passed out on the birthing bed with no color on her face. Her big bulging belly was not exuding life but death.

The doctors and nurses in the ward saw the three people coming in and were trying to stop them when Grace said, "I'm Jason's wife, Grace. I'm also Lina's friend. Since you failed to save her, then I'll give my way a try!"

Grace's voice seemed to give Hadwin Stephenson some hope after losing it just now. "Do you really have a way to save Lina?"

"It's this child. He said he has a way to save them," said Grace.

"Him?" Hadwin Stephenson looked at the little boy in front of him with surprise. Could a child whose height only reached his waist save Lina? "Are you... kidding me?"

"Why don't we just let him try anyway?" asked Grace.

Just then, the little boy beside Grace walked up to Lina, who was in a coma. He picked up an unused scalpel when no one noticed and cut his own hand!

"Ah!" a nurse shouted.

A doctor yelled, "What's the boy doing? Hurry... Hurry and get him out of here!"

"Don't touch me!" the little boy shouted suddenly. There was a rare sense of authority in his voice.

While the doctors and nurses were stunned, the little boy raised his hand and moved his bleeding hand to Lina's mouth. One drop, two drops... The red blood dripped.

Lina, who had fainted, gasped for air and opened her eyes.

The little boy said to Lina, "You have to deliver her no matter what you do, or both of you will die!"

Lina seemed to understand what the little boy said. Her face instantly turned red as her hands grasped the covers. It was as if she was trying to use her remaining strength to give birth to the baby in her belly.

The doctors and nurses, who had given up hope, gathered round and began to work on delivering the baby again.

Grace and Kyla gaped at all this. Who knew... the boy's blood could give Lina the strength to deliver the baby?

Hadwin Stephenson also quickly rushed to Lina with surprise and joy. It was as if hope had been injected into the despair he felt.

Finally, the baby was born.

However, the baby was purple and not breathing.

Doctors and nurses rushed to rescue the baby. However, after one minute, two minutes... The baby was still not crying.

Chapter 2129

"Give her to me," the little boy said to the doctor, who was holding the baby.

The doctor hesitated. After all, she had seen the little boy feed the mother blood. She immediately regained consciousness after that and delivered the baby.

However... she would be held responsible if something happened after she handed the baby to the child.

"Give him the baby. I'll take responsibility if anything happens!" said Grace.

After what happened, her faith in the boy had increased. Something told her the boy could save the baby!

The doctor then handed the baby to the little boy.

The little boy took the baby, lowered his head, and kissed the baby that was not breathing.

"Ah!" Everyone was taken aback at this sight.

The boy's lips pressed against the baby's lips. Upon closer inspection, Grace realized it was not as simple as just a kiss. Instead, the boy seemed to be sucking something.

Finally, his lips parted from the baby, and he spat something out. It was a muddy discharge mixed with amniotic fluid.

The doctors and nurses seemed shocked. They had already cleaned the secretion from the baby's throat with instruments. Who knew there was still residue?

A baby's cry rang out in the delivery room.

Everyone was finally relieved.

After hearing her daughter cry, Lina finally fainted with a smile on her lips!

"Lina, Lina, what's come over you? Don't frighten me!" Hadwin Stephenson shouted.

The doctor, who had been treating Lina, said, "Mr. Stephenson, the mother is stable now. She probably just fainted from exhaustion."

Hadwin Stephenson let out a sigh of relief at this. 'As long as Lina is okay!'

Hadwin Stephenson and Lina went to the ward first, while the newborn underwent examinations and evaluations by the doctors.

Grace and Kyla felt like they had gone through a battle.

However, when they came out of the delivery room, the little boy was gone.

"Where's the kid?" asked Grace.

3/3 Kyla shook her head. She was so focused on Lina and the baby that she did not know where the little boy had gone either.

They got out of the delivery room. Jason and Martin Weiss walked up to them.

"Did that kid really save Lina and the newborn baby?" asked

Jason.

Grace nodded. Though she witnessed it herself, her head felt like it was in the clouds. Everything... seemed unbelievable.

"By the way, did you see that little boy come out?" asked Grace.

"Yes, a couple of men picked him up," said Jason.

"Picked him up?" Grace froze.

"They were very respectful to him. His family probably sent them. The kid's probably no ordinary person," said Jason. Then, he looked at the time. "Alright, it's late now. Let's get something to eat first. The doctor said Lina won't wake up for a while."

Grace looked apologetically at Kyla as if she had just come to her senses. "I'm sorry to have kept you starving, Kyla."

Chapter 2130

It did not matter to her, but Kyla was pregnant. It was bad for her to starve.

Kyla said, "I was too nervous to feel hungry myself. But fortunately, Lina and the baby are safe now."

"Yes, they're safe now," Grace said with relief.

The four of them arrived at a restaurant near the hospital. Grace and Kyla ordered while Jason said a few words. Only Martin Weiss was silent from the beginning, and the expression on his face was icy.

When Grace and Kyla went to the bathroom after ordering the food, Grace asked, "What's the matter? Did you quarrel with Martin Weiss?"

"No."

"Why does Martin Weiss's expression look so grim? He looks like it's the end of the world," said Grace.

"He's always serious. Just ignore him," said Kyla.

Jason and Martin Weiss were also chatting in the private room.

"What's the matter? Are you worried about Kyla after seeing Lina's difficult labor?" asked Jason.

Martin Weiss's expression changed slightly. The person in front of him had sharp eyes. It was as if he could see right through people. "Hadwin Stephenson was probably well-prepared, but something like this still happened. If it hadn't been for that little boy, would there have been two deaths today?"

"Yeah, it's all thanks to that little boy. That's why money isn't everything sometimes. Women walk into the jaws of death when they deliver a baby," said Jason.

Therefore, he went straight to the hospital and got a vasectomy after Grace returned to him.

Even though doctors said the chances of Grace conceiving again were slim, he did not want to bet on that one-in-a-million chance.

“Walk into the jaws of death...” murmured Martin Weiss.

Moments later, Grace and Kyla returned. The dishes were soon served.

The four of them began eating dinner.

After the meal, the four went back to the hospital again, but Lina was still in a coma and had not woken up.

New babies were monitored in the neonatal care unit. They would be sent back to the ward if nothing happened in 24 hours.

Hadwin Stephenson looked at Grace and said, “Thank you for bringing the child over today. If it hadn’t been for the child, then...”

“The child appeared outside the delivery room himself, saying he could save Lina. I had no other choice but to try everything I could. Luckily, it turned out alright in the end,” said Grace.

“Really?” Doubt flashed across Hadwin Stephenson’s face. “Lina mentioned a little boy looking at her belly and saying she’s having a girl before this. Is it the same child?”

Grace said, “Yes, he’s the one. I have a feeling that he’s no ordinary child. Or maybe he and Lina are fated?”

After chatting for a while, Hadwin Stephenson said, “Thank you. I have no idea when will Lina wake up, so I’ll stay the night. Why don’t you go home and have a good rest?”

“Okay, let us know if you need anything,” said Jason.

The four walked out of the hospital ward. Grace looked at Kyla and said, “Kyla, are you going home?”

“Yeah, you don’t have to take me home. I’ll-”

However, Martin Weiss interrupted Kyla before she could finish speaking. “I’ll take her home.”
