

Ex Convict 2621

Chapter 2621

Valda Theller thought she would never meet him again. After all, Emerald City was a big city. Imagine the odds of running into a stranger again in this city.

She never expected to meet him here again.

"What... are you doing here?" Valda Theller asked in surprise.

"I just finished talking to the owner here and saw you. Do you need my help?" he said pointedly.

"You're already helping by coming over." Valda Theller took a deep breath and looked at Raymond Bowman. "He's my boyfriend."

Raymond Bowman frowned and looked back and forth between Valda Theller and Brian. "He's your boyfriend?"

"Yes, I'm Valda's boyfriend. Is there a problem?" Brian said indifferently and raised his hand toward Raymond Bowman's hand, which was grabbing Valda Theller's wrist.

Raymond Bowman instantly felt a sudden pressure on his hand, which gave him a fit of pain.

Chapter 2621

2/4

"I don't like people holding my girlfriend's hand like this. You'd better let go now or..." Brian did not finish his speech, but it was enough to let people know what he meant.

Raymond Bowman pressed his thin lips into a line. His instincts.

told him that he was no ordinary man.

After a moment's silence, Raymond Bowman let go.

Brian also withdrew his hand.

Brian looked at Valda Theller and said, "Do you want to go now?"

"Huh? What?" She was still in a trance.

"I'll get you out of here if you want, or I'll pick you up when it's over if you want to stay," he said.

Valda Theller thought about it and turned around to say to

Camille Strickland and Keith Sharp, "Excuse me. I think I'd better leave first today."

"It's... fine." Keith Sharp with after a dry chuckle. He could not help glancing at Raymond Bowman out of the corners of his eyes.

Raymond Bowman was currently staring at Brian with a look of hostility.

Chapter 2621

3/4

'Hostility?' Keith Sharp froze. However, he noticed that the hostility on Raymond Bowman's face had disappeared, and Raymond Bowman's expression had returned to normal when he wanted to get a closer look. Camille Strickland's eyes widened. She was still in disbelief.

'Gosh, is this the boyfriend Valda talked about?

'Are fraudsters this classy now?

'I would be fooled too if it were me!'

After Valda Theller left with him, Camille Strickland suddenly came to her senses and realized that she... she had let Valda leave with that fraudster!

'Gosh! Is she going to be okay?'

Valda Theller got into Brian's car and was still in a trance. "What a coincidence... Fancy meeting you here again. I was thinking we might never see each other again since we didn't give each other our contact information."

"I know your contact information," he said and reported her phone number and address.

Valda Theller looked at him with surprise on her face. "How do Chapter 2621 you know?"

4/4

"Your name is Valda Theller. You're a professional comic artist with your own studio. Your parents died young..." The shock in her expression increased with every word he said.

Chapter 2622

"You..."

"I'm sorry, I did some basic research on you. After all, there are some basic facts about you that I need to be aware of if we're really going to date," said Brian.

Valda Theller was silent. 'So, he knows all my basic information? Is that why he could call out my name in front of Raymond Bowman?' "Who the hell are you?" Valda Theller asked.

She recognized the logo of the car they were in. It was a Cayenne, which was not cheap. It was not something ordinary working-class people could afford. He managed to find out all her basic information in only one day after she agreed to be his girlfriend. She could tell he was no ordinary man.

"Brian," he said.

"How do I spell that?"

"G-U-L-I-C-H-E-N," he said.

Chapter 2622

"Sounds like a nice name," she muttered.

Brian glanced at the person next to him. Judging from her expression, she must have never heard of the name.

"You know what? The surname Hart is one of the top ten surnames for male protagonists in romance novels," she thought of a post she had seen before and said.

2/4

"Surnames for male protagonists?" He was slightly surprised.

"Yes, many writers like to give their male protagonists the surname Hart," she said.

There was a little twinkle in his eye. 'Male protagonists' surname? But I'll only be a supporting role in Grace's story!

There was a sudden silence in the car, and a depressing atmosphere spread.

"Did I... say the wrong thing?" Valda Theller asked.

"No." He gave a faint smile.

Valda Theller hesitated slightly before saying, "Do you really want to date me?"

“Did you think I was joking yesterday?” he asked.

Chapter 2622

“But I don’t know anything about you!” she said.

3/4

“Brian, project leader. I live in Emerald City and am the only child in my family. My parents are still alive and healthy...” He introduced himself simply without any superfluous details.

Valda Theller listened carefully and realized the car had stopped at a restaurant’s entrance when he was done. speaking.

“You didn’t seem to eat much just now. Let’s eat here. The food in this restaurant is pretty delicious,” said Brian.

“Okay, sure,” replied Valda Theller as she followed Brian out of the car.

The restaurant manager evidently knew Brian. As soon as they saw Brian, they approached him passionately and said, “Mr. Hart, you came. Do you want the same private room?” “Yeah, give me the same private room,” said Brian.

The manager led the way. Once Valda Theller followed Brian into the private room, she realized it was large. Besides the dining table, there was also a couch, coffee table, pool table, electronic screen, and so on. It was enough to hold a small party.

Chapter 2622

4/4

When she opened the menu and looked at the food, the prices stated almost shocked her so much that she did not have the heart to order anything.

Chapter 2623

Though she was a comic artist who had her own studio and she had saved up some money after years of hard work, the food here was rather expensive to her. A simple dish here costs hundreds of dollars,

“See if there’s anything you want,” said Brian,

Valda Theller hesitated slightly and ordered two simple dishes.

Hence, Brian ordered more.

Once the manager exited the private room, she asked, “Are you rich?”

Brian replied, “I suppose I have some money to spend. As for the price of dating me, I can satisfy anything you want as long as it’s reasonable.”

“When you say dating, does it entail being affectionate in front of others?”

He said, “Yes, it might involve holding hands and hugging, but nothing more. Of course, you can refuse me now if you find it inappropriate.”

‘Refuse?’

Chapter 2623

2/4

Valda Theller gazed at the person in front of her. Moments later, she said, “Although you said it doesn’t matter who you choose to be your girlfriend when I asked you why you chose me the last time, won’t it be more convenient if you get someone you’re familiar with to help you?”

His thick black lashes quivered a little as those dark phoenix eyes met her round and clear eyes. “You once said you loved someone, but you’ve withdrawn all your feelings and stopped loving him. Is that right?”

Valda Theller nodded.

“If you can withdraw your feelings for someone you once loved, I don’t have to worry about hurting you too much. Even if you fall in love with me during this fake relationship, you can withdraw your feelings and stop loving me. It won’t be too troublesome,” said Brian.

Valda Theller froze. He seemed to be saying the words... “Are you afraid I’ll fall in love with you?”

His dark phoenix eyes remained indifferent. “Because I’ll never fall in love with you, so you’d better not fall in love with me.”

A strange feeling suddenly flickered through her heart. 'Whol had a man like him fallen in love with?'

Chapter 2623

"Alright, you can request anything you want if you haven't changed your mind. What do you want?" he asked.

3/4

Valda Theller pondered slightly before taking a deep breath and saying, "I want to draw you. If possible, I hope you'll be my model for some time!"

"Draw me?" Surprise flickered in his eyes as if he did not expect such a request from her.

"Yeah, I'm starting a new comic. I'm doing some research for preliminary plot planning and character development, so I want to draw you to get some inspiration," she said.

"Inspiration?" His eyes narrowed a little.

"Yeah, because you have a dreamy face that gives me the urge to draw you." She stared somewhat infatuatedly at him as she spoke, already imagining what the face would look like as a character in a comic.

Brian did not feel as upset as he normally did when he was being stared at infatuatedly by a woman. Maybe it was because her gaze was too pure.

It was as if she was only obsessed with his face and nothing else, not to mention other desires and ambitions.

"If that's what you want as exchange, then sure," his cold voice

Chapter 2623 answered.

4/4

When Brian sent Valda Theller back to her place at night, she was still slightly distracted.

Was she... really dating this guy?

He said, "Then we'll meet three times a week starting tomorrow. Is that alright? The relationship isn't real, but we must at least get acquainted."

"Oh, sure," she answered quickly.

Chapter 2624

"Alright, let me know when you're free," he said.

After Brian left, Valda Theller only came to her senses when her phone rang. She could only hear Camille Strickland's deafening voice coming from her phone. "Valda, is the man in the restaurant today the fraudster boyfriend you mentioned?"

"Uh... I didn't say he's a fraudster," Valda Theller said as she rubbed her ear.

"Anyway, is that him?" Camille Strickland asked.

"Yeah, it's him."

"Do you really want him as a boyfriend? Do you know his name? Did you ever get to know him?" He was a good-looking man, but she still thought it was slightly risky for her best friend to do that.

"We're only pretending to date. It's not real. He must have some desperate reason. Besides, he said he wouldn't do anything inappropriate with me and told me his basic information," said Valda Theller.

"Do you believe him when he said he wouldn't do anything to you? Have you ever heard the phrase 'don't ever buy a man's lies'?" Camille Strickland was afraid that her best friend was so naive that she was getting fooled again.

Chapter 2624

2/4

Valda Theller quickly reassured her, saying, "Yes, yes. I'll be careful. I'll draw the line immediately if he behaves inappropriately. By the way, how was your blind date after I left?"

"It was so-so. Anyway, we split up after the meal. What a small world. We ran into Raymond Bowman just like that. But his attitude to you today... Uh... Didn't you find it a little weird? Do you think he still has..." Camille Strickland speculated.

"Still has what? Feelings?" Valda Theller chuckled. "If Raymond Bowman had feelings for me, he had so much time to speak up for me when I was ridiculed at school. He didn't have feelings for me back then, so do you think he'd have feelings for me after all these years?"

Camille Strickland was speechless. After a long while, he said, "Do you still have feelings for Raymond Bowman?" She was afraid that her best friend got a fake boyfriend to avoid her feelings for Raymond Bowman.

"No, I don't have any feelings for him anymore. Even if I wasn't so sure before, seeing him today has assured me," said Valda Theller.

Chapter 2624

3/4

She was shocked when she saw Raymond Bowman today. However, she felt relieved and found it funny instead of bitter hatred.

She found it funny that she had ever fallen in love with Raymond Bowman. Raymond Bowman was the campus hottie while she was only an ordinary girl.

They were even from different courses and had nothing in common. However, Raymond Bowman had suddenly approached her, asked her out, and gave her gifts.

If she had been smarter, she would have realized that he never liked her. He was usually distracted when they went out for dates, and the presents he gave her were never what she liked.

It would have been fine if that happened once or twice, but it was every time. It was obvious that he was never even bothered to find out what she liked.

She was immersed in the sweet dream of becoming Cinderella, thinking that she would be as lucky as the female protagonists in those romance comics.

In the end, she was proven to be nothing more than a minor character.

She was in the corner of the library when she heard him telling someone else... "You dared me to pursue Valda Theller, and I did. You found her irritating, so I helped you prank her. What about you? When will you be my girlfriend?"

Chapter 2624

4/4

This statement had shattered all her pride and love.

"Alright, I want you to dump her in public and make her the laughing stock of the school. I'll be your girlfriend if you do that."

"Okay. Don't forget what you promised me!"

Chapter 2625

1/4

She should have broken up with Raymond Bowman as soon as she heard this. If she were even more ruthless, she should have recorded it and exposed it so that others could criticize the shameless couple.

However, she was foolish enough to think that Raymond Bowman would have some affection for her, so she went to meet up with him with the last hope that he would not hurt her.

In the end, she underestimated the evil of human nature and became the school's laughing stock.

Raymond Bowman eventually became a wound in her heart.

However, it gradually recovered as the years went by. "Camille, don't worry. Raymond Bowman is history to me. At most, I'm just a little disgusted by him." The disgust became even more obvious, especially when Raymond Bowman grabbed her hand today.

"That's good." Camille Strickland was relieved.

After ending the call, Valda Theller looked through her phone contact list and looked at the words 'Brian' that showed up on her screen.

Chapter 2625

2/4

It was rather ridiculous that she got a boyfriend in such a way.

However, it was considered a gain that he agreed to model for her.

The next day, Valda Theller texted her schedule to Brian.

Two days later, Valda Theller went on her first date with Brian.

"Well... Is there anything we need to do when we meet?" Valda Theller asked. After all, her experience of dating the opposite sex was limited to her time with Raymond Bowman.

"You can do whatever you want," Brian said indifferently. Although there was still indifference and estrangement on his face, what he said was enough to provoke the imagination of others.

Valda Theller wailed to herself. 'Does he know how easily his statement can mislead others? If he ran into someone who had other ideas for him, he wouldn't...'

The seductive image instantly came to her mind...

"What's the matter?" His voice suddenly rang in her ears.

Chapter 2625

3/4

She instantly came to her senses and blushed. "Uh... Nothing.

I'm thinking we could go to my go to comic cafe to hang out, get a table, and read comics or something if it's okay with you. By the way, do you read comics? We can do something else if you don't."

"Do you go there often?" he asked.

"Yes, it's a hobby and a necessity for my work," she said.

"Let's go there. The idea is to spend more time together and get to know each other better," said Brian. Otherwise, Grace could probably see through him quickly even if they acted in front of her.

Since he wanted to put on a show, he would try his best to make it realistic and convince Grace that he had indeed gotten over her.

Maybe she would feel relieved in that way.

The comic cafe Valda Theller mentioned was located in the west of tMason Swansonty. It had many comics and independent private rooms equipped with computers and internet access.

Chapter 2626

The cafe provided free drinks and cost ten dollars an hour.

Valda Theller often came here to find some new comics to read.

1/4

Although the internet was advanced nowadays and one could read many comics online, she still enjoyed the feeling of flipping through paper books.

Valda Theller led Brian to an empty couch and said, "If you have a comic you want to read, you can go to the bookshelf and look for it. What do you want to drink? I'll get it for you."

"Water will do," said Brian.

Therefore, Valda Theller got Brian a glass of water and a glass of orange juice for herself. When she got back to her seat, she found Brian reading a comic book in his hand.

However, Valda Theller froze when she caught a glimpse of the comic book cover. It was... the comic she drew.

The problem was that she never told him her pseudonym was 'Zhong Xinyue'!

However, on second thought, it seemed natural that he would know her pseudonym since he was able to find out her name, occupation, and home address.

Chapter 2626

2/4

Valda Theller felt a little awkward to have someone read the comic she drew in front of her. Especially when the male protagonist of the comic she drew was paranoid and overbearing to the person he loved. There were also a lot of intimate scenes in the comic.

Seeing that he was about to flip to the page with the intimate scenes, Valda Theller quickly said, "Mr. Hart... Your water!"

Brian looked up at Valda Theller and reached one hand out to take the water. "Thank you. Also, I think we need to confirm our nicknames for each other. We don't look like a couple if you keep calling me Mr. Hart. Don't you think so, Valda?"

When his mouth uttered the word 'Valda', she felt as if her heartbeat had increased suddenly.

Only female friends would call her 'Valda', while her relatives called her 'Lil Ke'. As for her colleagues at work, they called her by her pseudonym, Xinyue.

"I'll call you... Bryn?" she called.

The look in his eyes changed instantly. However, his long eyelashes covered his eyes in the next moment. "Call me Brian. Don't call me Bryn."

Chapter 2626

3/4

It was because it reminded him of Grace. It was what Grace had called him as a child.

'Bryn... Bryn...' The name seemed to have been engraved into his bones and could not be erased.

"Oh, okay," Valda Theller replied immediately, but she scolded herself for her stupidity earlier. A nickname like Bryn was usually used for kids. No one would call a grown-up man in his 30s Bryn.

"Try calling me that," he said.

"Now?" She blinked.

"Otherwise?" he asked nonchalantly.

"Li... Brian..." she called with some embarrassment as her lips moved.

"You'll get used to it after calling me that more often," Brian said as he looked down at the comic book he was holding.

Just when he was about to turn the page, Valda Theller suddenly shouted in desperation, "Uhh... How about I find you another comic?"

"No thanks. I haven't finished this one," he said.

Chapter 2626

"But... But..." Her face blushed slightly.

Chapter 2627

His eyes glimmered as he seemed to realize something. He asked, "What's the matter? You don't like me reading the comics you drew?"

"I draw... romance comics for women. Men like you probably won't enjoy them. You don't have to force yourself to read the comics I drew," she said lamely.

"I'm not exactly being forced to read them. I watch some romantic films too. I don't mind reading such comics. Besides, we need to get to know each other better," he said.

'But the problem is that... there's a lot of intimate scenes at the back!'

Watching his fingers flip the pages again, she grabbed his fingers in desperation.

"Hmm?" He raised his eyebrows and looked at her with those dark phoenix eyes. "You don't want me to continue?"

She laughed drily. "Well... Some scenes at the back aren't that appropriate."

"Even if there's something largely inappropriate, it should be impossible to publish it according to the country's current publishing standards," he said.

Chapter 2627

2/4

"What I mean is that... Uhh... It's quite inappropriate," she explained hastily.

"It's alright even if there's something inappropriate. Do you think I'm not fit to see that because I'm not 18 yet? But I won't read it if you don't want me to," he said in reply.

Valda Theller froze. After a moment's hesitation, she withdrew her hand.

She had hoped that more people could read the comics she drew. That way, she could share the stories and images she found beautiful with others.

Brian continued to read it.

Valda Theller could not help feeling nervous because she knew that the next scene involved a lot of kissing as well as the two protagonists' wedding night. Although she focused on aesthetics and expressed the scene obscurely, anyone with basic common sense would be able to understand what was going on.

Brian read quietly as he turned the pages with slender fingers. Daylight fell on him through the window. Mixed with the indoor lighting, he looked so beautiful.

Chapter 2627

3/4

He had short black hair, fair skin, a straight nose bridge, and thin lips. Those deep phoenix eyes were looking down, making his eyelashes look more obvious. They looked just like feather fans.

Even in the entertainment industry where there were so many handsome men, there were not many male celebrities with eyelashes like his. Furthermore, the man in front of her was probably bare-faced.

Valda Theller suddenly had the impulse to draw down the scene in front of her. She took out a pen and a notebook she usually used to record her inspiration from her bag. She began to draw on the blank paper.

When Brian finished reading the comic in his hands, he looked up to find Valda Theller drawing.

She was drawing... him!

It was not a comic version of him but more of a realistic sketch portrait.

"Don't move. Just a while more!" Valda Theller suddenly said as her hand movements seemed to go faster.

Brian's eyes glimmered slightly, but he did not move as she wished and continued maintaining the posture earlier.

Chapter 2627

However, his eyes were looking at Valda Theller sitting opposite him.

4/4

Valda Theller's face was no longer awkward and embarrassed before but absorbed. Even those round eyes showed an indescribable seriousness.

It was the first time a woman had looked at Brian like that.

They were so pure as if they contained no other ideas, ambition, or desire, let alone infatuation. It was as if she was only looking at him.

Chapter 2628

When she finally drew the last stroke, she let out a long sigh of relief. Her expression returned to normal. "Done."

"Is dating me boring?" he asked.

"Huh?" She froze. Then, she seemed to realize something and hurriedly said, "No, I didn't draw you because it was boring. The image of you reading just now was so beautiful that I couldn't help... uhh... drawing it."

With that said, her expression changed suddenly. "By the way, do you mind if I draw you like this?"

"There's nothing to mind. I promised you we would date and you could draw me," he said.

Valda Theller breathed a sigh of relief when she heard this.

After the two left the comic cafe, Brian sent Valda Theller back to her apartment.

"Next time, I'll pick you up on the weekend," said Brian.

"Can you come to my studio next time? There's no one at my studio during the weekends. I want you to model for me," said

Chapter 2628

2/3

Valda Theller. Though she had drawn him today, she did not find it enough.

Brian said, "Okay, we'll do it at your studio. Do you have any dress code I need to comply with to model for you?"

"Oh, no, you can wear whatever you want," she said quickly.

"Alright." Brian drove away. Valda Theller turned around to walk into her apartment. However, she had only taken a few steps when a hand suddenly grabbed her arm.

She was shocked and turned her head to see Raymond Bowman, who had walked over to her at some point and was holding her arm tightly with one hand.

"Raymond Bowman, what are you doing?" She struggled to break her away from his fingers.

However, his five fingers grabbed her like steel bars. "Is the man who just sent you back really your boyfriend?"

He came to her place to look for her today, but she was not at home. Therefore, he waited in his car in the apartment compound, only to find that the man he had seen in the restaurant before this sending her back.

"I think I introduced him to you last time. That man is my boyfriend," said Valda Theller.

Chapter 2628

"Impossible!" Raymond Bowman said.

Valda Theller sneered. "How is it impossible? Does a boring woman like me doesn't deserve a boyfriend?"

3/3

Raymond Bowman's face turned pale. Boring... was what he had used to describe her.

With everyone watching, he said, "Valda Theller, I've never met such a boring woman like you. I hope you'll stop bugging me, I've told you many times that I don't love you. I'll only hate you more if you keep following me around and disgusting me."

"You still hate me for what I did to you, don't you?" Raymond Bowman asked as his lips trembled slightly.

Valda Theller looked at the person in front of her coldly. "I did hate you back then. But I don't hate you anymore. After all these years, there's no point in hating someone irrelevant."

"Irrelevant?" Her words made him paler.

"What else could it be? Am I supposed to think of you as important?" she asked as if she was amused.

Chapter 2629

He stiffened. "I know I did a terrible thing back then, I've been wanting to apologize to you all these years."

Valda Theller said indifferently, "Okay, apologize."

He froze as if he was a little stunned that she was this straightforward.

"Didn't you say you want to apologize? Now that I'm here, aren't you going to apologize?" she asked.

Raymond Bowman took a deep breath, and his thin lips parted gently as he spat out two words, "I'm sorry."

"Okay, I heard you. Can you let go now?" Valda Theller asked without any expression on her face.

"Do you forgive me?" Raymond Bowman's eyes contained a rare look of eagerness.

"I've only acknowledged your apology. It doesn't mean I forgive you. I'm no saint. I'm not used to forgiving someone who used to hurt me, especially a man who hurt me to please another woman."

Chapter 2629 "Valda, I..."

2/4

Valda Theller said, "Don't call me Valda! Raymond Bowman, whatever happened between us is over to me. I don't hate you, but it doesn't mean that I'll forgive you for what you did. I only hope that we'll never meet again or that we'll treat each other like strangers when we meet."

"Strangers..." Raymond Bowman laughed bitterly. "If I said I could start over with you-"

However, she interrupted him before he could finish, "There's no starting over. I want nothing more to do with you. Raymond Bowman, I have no feelings for you anymore. And to tell you the truth, I only think it's some other bet you've made at my expense when you talk about starting over!"

There was a pain in his eyes. "I won't hurt you again. I've been regretting what happened back then."

However, there was still a calm expression on her face as if whatever he said did not matter to her anymore.

Raymond Bowman could not help saying, "What about your so-called boyfriend? Do you think he's serious about dating you? That man looks rich and is good-looking. A man like him should have plenty of women around him. Maybe he's just fooling around with you."

Chapter 2629

Valda Theller said confidently, "He's serious about me!

Whether a person is sincere or not has nothing to do with their looks and fortune but character. I trust my boyfriend's character, and I love him!"

Of course, the last part was a lie.

3/4

Raymond Bowman's pupils shrank suddenly. His five fingers.

that clenched Valda Theller's arm slowly loosened. "You... love him?"

Valda Theller said, "Yes, I love him very much. Raymond Bowman, I've heard your apology. I hope you'll leave me alone!"

With that said, she turned around and walked into her apartment block.

Raymond Bowman stared blankly at the figure until it disappeared from his sight. He gently lowered his eyes and looked down at the hand that had grabbed her arm earlier.

Her warmth seemed to remain in his palm, but she was already so cold to him.

She had once been warm to him, telling him, "Raymond Bowman, I like you very much. I think this is love. I think I'll always love you. Even if I've become an old woman, I will still love you this much."

Chapter 2629

However, he had destroyed her feelings for him!

Chapter 2630

1/4

He thought she was only a tool. After all, she was not the one he had fallen in love with at the time. He was only using her to complete a bet with another woman.

However, when he saw her taunted at school and even humiliated in public, he felt a painful pang in his heart.

A person who had once been cheerful in front of him had become tremblingly fearful of her surroundings.

He knew she was being bullied and became the laughing stock of the school.

He caused all this. It happened to her because he used her. However, he still did not explain anything at school even when he saw her so miserable.

He hurried abroad as an exchange student half a year later as if to escape all this.

However, the scenes of her being bullied by others still appeared in his mind from time to time even after going abroad. She had imperceptibly held a place in his heart.

He would wonder how she was doing and whether she was alright.

Chapter 2630

It never occurred to him that the woman he did not care about but only wanted to use could not be erased from his mind.

8/4

Even when other women were friendly to him, deliberately approached him, and made intimate gestures, her face would

He could not get rid of her!

“Roverond Bowenson, have you ever thought you might have fallen in love with Voleo Theller His former university classmate and current best friend Chong Mingyu had said to

I’ve fallen in love with her? He found it ridiculous as soon as he heard it

How could I have fallen in love with Yoloo Theller? That woman has never been my cup of ex Basics/was attracted to another woman of mat

“How is that possible? Siop jong resold

“How else would you why do you 95k of ba after all these ye

you have a ly

Chapter 2630

3/4

many women have been rejected by you. Why don't you feel guilty about them?”

Therefore, he found out about her whereabouts, secretly investigated her current situation, and asked Keith Sharp to take him on the blind date.

He only wanted to take this opportunity to reconnect with her, but he did not expect her to have a boyfriend.

She did not have a boyfriend when he investigated her!

‘Where did this boyfriend of hers come from? And she’s in love with him? I was the one she loved!”

The thought of this sent another pang of pain through his heart.

He thought she would hate him, try to avoid him, or rush up and beat him when they met.

He never thought she would not hate him.

She did not hate him because she had no feelings for him anymore! Her love for him was gone, but he...

If there was karma in this world, perhaps this would be it!

”