

Ex Convict 3301

Chapter 3301

After Jasper returned to the Reed House, he locked himself in his room and finally had a good cry all by himself.

When Jason returned to the house, he learned from the driver what had happened.

So he arrived at the door of his daughter's room, lightly knocked on the door, and after waiting for a moment without a response, he opened the door and entered.

As soon as I pushed the door open, I heard my daughter crying "wuwuwu".

The sound of crying made Jason frown and feel a strong sense of heartache in his chest.

Among the children, Jasper is the daughter and also the one who resembles Grace the most. Therefore, she is the most beloved.

At this moment, seeing his daughter cry, he naturally feels full of heartache.

Jason approached and spoke softly, "Tell Daddy, why are you crying? Is it because the Abbott family used you?"

Jasper's body stiffened and he lifted his head to look at his father. His almond-shaped eyes were filled with tears, which made Jason feel even more heartbroken. He regretted his actions.

I had known it would turn out like this, maybe I should have lied and said that I couldn't find Lawrence in the first place. Then my daughter would have been disappointed at most, instead of feeling so sad and crying like she is now.

"Don't cry. Tell Daddy what you want, and it will happen just the way you want it to," said Jason. He promised to make his daughter's wishes come true, no matter what they were.

Jasper sniffled and cried out, "Daddy, I...I don't want to see Lawrence anymore. I don't want to see his parents either. They just want money, so they're using me and our family. I...I hate this!"

Upon hearing this, Jason gently embraced his daughter and said,

"Okay, from now on, Daddy won't let you see them."

"Why...why are they doing this? I always thought Lawrence was my good friend, but he was only nice to me...because he wanted to please me and help his family make more money..." Jasper buried his face in his father's chest, his shoulders shaking with sobs.

Jason's eyes flickered slightly. Although he felt that Lawrence was trying to please his daughter, he believed that he was sincere.

However, since his daughter doesn't want to see Lawrence anymore, he doesn't think it's necessary to say anything.

After all, with parents like Lawrence's, he doesn't want his daughter to have too much involvement with the Abbott family.

There are many children who play the piano well, so even from my daughter's perspective, it may be difficult to find someone she truly appreciates. However, this does not mean that we cannot find someone of her age who plays the piano well and can impress her.

If Lawrence is missing, then we just need to find someone else to substitute for him.

Jason gently stroked his daughter's head and said, "Because you are Jasper, they want to please you and gain more benefits.

Jasper, as a member of the Reed family, you are Jasper. In the future, more people will want to please you and gain more benefits through pleasing you. This has been destined since your birth."

Jasper paused for a moment, then lifted his head with teary eyes.

Jason took a tissue from the side and carefully wiped his daughter's tears. "So, in the future when you make friends, you need to be more careful in observing their character and make sure that they are truly worth being close friends with.”

These were things he had planned to tell his daughter in two years’ time. Although he had consciously guided her before, he had never expressed it so clearly before.

“So... how can I be sure?” Jasper asked.

“After you grow up, you will gradually understand how to make decisions,” said Jason. “But Daddy wants to tell you that before you make a decision, you shouldn’t easily confide in others, okay?”

“Does it mean that you cannot speak your mind to the other person?”

Chapter 3302

“Right,” said Jason. “You can only share your innermost thoughts with someone you trust deeply. It’s not something you can just say to anyone.”

This incident was a lesson for my daughter. Although it was a bit painful, it may be beneficial for her in the future.

Jasper listened as Lawrence, looking pitiful, begged her not to leave once again, bringing to mind the previous time she had tried to go.

Why is he making such a face?

If he took advantage of her, that would be great!

She really likes his music and wants to be friends with him forever!

Will she never hear his music again in the future? Her heart is still so sad... so sad...

The weather is getting colder and the days are getting closer to the Lunar New Year.

The atmosphere of the New Year is becoming more and more intense around here, and Valda is also getting more and more bundled up like a ball.

accompany you for a prenatal check-up, I am participating in the growth of our child with you. Even if it's tiring, I will be very happy."

"Happy?" She paused for a moment.

"Yeah, I'm really happy. It gives me a sense of fulfillment because I have a wife who loves me deeply and whom I also love deeply. Plus, we're about to have a child. When I wait outside for you during your check-ups, I think to myself that I finally have a family and I'm going to be a dad soon. The feeling of becoming a father is becoming clearer and clearer to me. It's something I never dared to dream of before," he said.

She said in a strange tone, "Why didn't you dare to even think about it before?"

"I thought I would never have my own children in this lifetime before falling in love with you," he replied.

She remained silent, understanding the meaning behind his words.

He's just that kind of man! He doesn't even consider any alternatives.

"So in the future, we will have children, and not just one child..." she said to him like this.

She wants to have children with him, many many children...

In the middle of the night, Valda was awakened by a familiar cramp in her calf.

It hurts!

She grimaced because she turned over and her calf cramped again!

In the later stages of pregnancy, the frequency of her leg cramps increased, and most of the time it happened while she was sleeping. Sometimes, an unintentional stretch or turn could trigger a leg cramp.

After a while, the pain from the cramp finally dissipated slowly.

Chapter 3303

Valda took a deep breath, looked at the empty bed next to her, sat up, lifted the blanket, put on her slippers, and walked out of the room.

Just think, at times like this, Brian is probably in his study again.

As expected, when she reached the door of the study, it wasn't tightly closed and there was a light on inside.

Valda gently pushed open the door and saw Brian sitting at his desk, browsing through his computer and then flipping through the documents on his desk.

The sound of her entering seemed to startle him. He looked up and turned towards her, asking "Why are you awake?"

"My leg cramped up and it woke me up in pain," she said.

Upon hearing her words, he quickly stood up and walked over to her. "Please have a seat, I'll give you a massage."

"No need, you focus on your work first," she hoped he could finish his work early, go to bed early, and not waste time because of her.

"Rub it." He insisted, because it would make her legs feel more comfortable.

Seeing how determined he was, she had no choice but to go along with him.

Although most of the time, he will comply with her opinions.

But once he is determined, it is often her who surrenders in the end.

On the sofa while Brian skillfully lifted her leg and rested it on his thigh. "Which leg is cramping?" he asked.

"The left one," she replied.

Then his fingers pulled up the cuff of her pajama pants and he began massaging her slender calf.

It must be said that his massage was just right and very comfortable.

Although her leg was no longer painful after the cramp, being massaged like this was still a kind of enjoyment.

The only regret was that her calf was a bit too thick now.

Due to swelling in the late stages of pregnancy, she felt her calf was becoming more and more like a radish.

"My leg looks so thick compared to your fingers," Valda sighed.

#

"Thick?" Brian didn't think so.

"Too fat." She said, women always care more about their weight. "Since I got pregnant, I've gained 20 pounds."

Especially since she hasn't reached full term yet, the later stages of pregnancy will cause her weight to increase rapidly. It's estimated that she'll gain around 30 pounds by the time she gives birth.

"You're not fat, you're very cute," said Brian. As he spoke these words, his expression was sincere and his eyes were so gentle that they could almost make one feel emotional.

Is it sweet talk or beauty in the eyes of the beholder?

Valda was pondering in her mind and then said to Brian, "Do you know that with your current expression and saying such things, it makes me feel like I'm experiencing a drama like an idol show?"

"Really?" He raised his eyebrows. "If you don't like it, then tell me what kind of expression you like on me." He was willing to change for her.

He can do anything that she likes.

"No, I don't," Valda shook her head. "I really like it." His expression was almost seductive, which made her feel the urge to pounce on him.

Unfortunately, the sad truth is that she is currently facing two major obstacles. Firstly, she has the desire but lacks the ability to achieve her goals. Secondly, the objective circumstances are not in her favor.

“But with that expression of yours, it’s only meant for me to see,” she said.

Chapter 3304

“Okay, I’ll let you see it alone,” he replied.

She smiled and couldn’t help but start touching his face with her fingers.

“Hmm?” He glanced at her again.

“Just touch it however you want,” she chuckled, “with such a handsome husband, it’s not worth it if I don’t touch him a few more times.” In reality, she was a bit aroused by his gaze just now, but she couldn’t do anything to him, so she could only satisfy herself by touching him.

He finished massaging her left leg and switched to the right leg.

Meanwhile, she was touching his cheeks, then moved to his neck, especially her fingers were stroking his Adam’s apple back and forth, as if playing with some new toy.

Even though Brian usually had good self-control, he couldn’t resist the teasing of his beloved wife.

His phoenix eyes became deeper, and his voice became a bit hoarse as he asked, “How long do you plan to play?”

“Huh?” She was startled, looking at his expression, she realized that she had gone too far, “I...um...”

“Do you like to play?” he said softly, looking at her with a gaze that carried a hint of heat.

Her face turned red involuntarily, and she subconsciously wanted to retract her hand, but his hand was faster and pressed hers against his neck. "Is it intentional?" he asked.

"What?" she looked at him blankly.

He leaned closer, his face getting closer and closer to hers, his breath spraying on her cheek, making her face even redder. All her attention seemed to be taken by him.

"Are you intentionally teasing me like this?" his low voice sounded in her ear.

"No, it's not intentional," she denied weakly after a while, but her denial seemed so weak.

"Whether it's intentional or not, please try not to do this during this time," he whispered, "Do you know how much self-restraint I need to hold back my impulses?"

Valda blinked her eyes, and she could only hear Brian's deep voice continuing, "Valda, do you know how much I want you? And how afraid I am of your touch? I'm afraid that for my own pleasure, I might hurt you and the child."

Valda then noticed that there were faint veins popping out on his forehead, and the veins on his arms were even more obvious.

So... he was enduring, and enduring very hard.

Suddenly, Valda felt a twinge of guilt in her heart.

She was just a passing fancy, but it made him have to endure so much hardship. "I'm...I'm sorry!" she apologized with guilt.

"You don't need to apologize, you haven't done anything wrong," Brian said, kissing her lips. This was the most he could do right now, as he was afraid of losing control if he did more. "Actually, I'm glad you're interested in me. It's just that my self-control isn't as good as you might think, so please bear with me."

As he spoke, he gently embraced her and said, "After you have given birth to our child, you can have whatever you want, and I will provide it for you."

The low murmuring voice was hoarse and magnetic. Valda's face was starting to blush because his words felt like the biggest temptation to her.

For a while, she murmured, "Then you... must keep your promise."

"Okay, I will keep my word."

Because he loved her so much.

Chapter 3305

The next day, it was Valda's prenatal check-up day and Brian woke her up.

Valda yawned repeatedly while watching Brian, who appeared to be in good spirits. Despite having slept more than him the night before, she now seemed less energetic than him.

"Still sleepy?" Brian asked.

"Um..." she dragged out her nasal tone for a long time, and then let out a yawn.

"Take a nap in the car when we get there," he said as he helped her get dressed.

Valda seems to have gotten used to it. If she were sober, she would still feel a bit shy, but right now, it's clear that drowsiness has overcome her shyness.

She squinted her eyes and let him help her put on the clothes.

After putting on his clothes, he skillfully squatted in front of her and helped her put on her socks. Since her belly had grown bigger and it was inconvenient for her to bend over, he had been the one to help her with putting on her socks and shoes.

Valda looked down at Brian who was crouching in front of her.

Her drowsiness, which was still present a moment ago, somehow became more alert.

"Brian, you will definitely be a great dad in the future," Valda suddenly said.

Brian tilted his chin up and looked at her, "Why are you suddenly talking about this?"

"I just think you're really good at taking care of people. In the future, our children will definitely be well taken care of by you," she said. At this point, she began to envy her own baby in her belly. How nice it would be to be taken care of so gently by him!

"I'll take good care of you too, whether you're pregnant or not,"

Brian said.

Valda smiled.

"Are you more awake now?" he asked.

She nodded.

"Then you go wash up, I'll change clothes," he said.

"Okay," she replied, put on her slippers, and walked towards the bathroom. But just as she was about to reach the door, she turned around and saw him taking off his pajamas. His lean and strong body, as well as his model-like golden ratio, made Valda feel a surge of attraction.

Stop, stop!

She quickly told herself in her heart that she needed to restrain herself and not tease him casually anymore, although... um, she had the urge to rush up and touch his muscles again!

Valda entered the bathroom and stood in front of the mirror, trying to calm herself down. After a while, she finally started washing her face and brushing her teeth.

Valda didn't have breakfast because she had to fast for the blood test during her prenatal check-up.

After she finished drawing blood, Brian asked, "What do you want to eat later?"

"Anything is fine," she said, without any particular craving for a specific dish. "By the way, I'm going to the restroom. Please wait for me."

Brian nodded and escorted Valda to the bathroom door, then waited outside.

Valda went to the restroom and when she came to the sink to dry her hands, a woman standing next to her washing her hands glanced at her and said “huh” before staring at her without moving.

Valda looked up with a puzzled expression and asked, “Is there something you need?”

“Are you Brian’s wife, Valda?” the other person spoke up.

Because the other person was wearing a mask, Valda couldn’t recognize who it was for a moment, but... it wasn’t someone familiar.

Chapter 3306

And from the way the other person spoke just now, it seemed like they knew someone named Brian.

“I am,” Valda said. “And you are?”

The other person took off their mask, and Valda immediately recognized the person in front of her as Taelyn! A powerful actor who had been popular for a while 10 years ago, and although not as popular now, still considered a strong actor who appeared in supporting roles on TV.

“Hello,” Valda said. “You’re Taelyn, right? I’ve seen your TV dramas.”

Encountering celebrity actors in the hospital was not strange to Valda, as many people from the entertainment industry came to this hospital, especially those who came for obstetrics and gynecology clinics.

“Hello,” Taelyn said, looking at Valda’s obviously pregnant belly with some emotion. “I never thought I’d meet you here.”

Valda looked puzzled. “Do you need something?”

“Not really, I just wanted to chat with you,” Taelyn said. “When I first met Brian, I thought that a man like him, even if he really wanted to marry, would only marry a high-class lady who was elegant and intellectual, or a stunningly beautiful woman. Otherwise, I can’t imagine what kind of woman would be worthy of him.”

Valda was surprised. “You know Brian?”

Taelyn laughed. “Who in the entertainment industry doesn’t know the prince of the industry? I was lucky enough to be his girlfriend for three months back then.”

Huh?!

Valda's eyes widened suddenly, "You...you are his ex-girlfriend?"

"Is she one of your ex-girlfriends? What, you don't know?" the other person asked in response.

Valda looked embarrassed, she really didn't know.

Looking at her expression, Taelyn said, "Back then, when Brian and I were dating, it even made it to the news and was a hot topic, so quite a few people knew about it."

"Um... at that time, I probably didn't pay much attention to this kind of gossip news," Valda said sheepishly.

This is her first time facing her husband's ex-girlfriend seriously, and for a moment, she doesn't know what expression to use to face her.

Two women, just like that, looked at each other...

Outside the restroom, Brian glanced down at his watch and furrowed his brows slightly.

Time has passed for a while now, I hope nothing unexpected has happened to Valda inside.

If he had known, he should have had the female bodyguard come along today, so it would have been easier to go in and check on Valda's situation.

Just then, two women came out of the restroom. One of them said, "That was Taelyn in the restroom just now. I heard it's easy to run into famous actors here. This place is really great!"

"Yeah, Taelyn was quite pretty back then, and she still looks good now. It's just a shame that she was supposed to be the main character, but now she can only be a supporting character."

"By the way, do you know the woman who was chatting with Taelyn? Is she also an actress?"

"That doesn't look like her. That woman's belly is a bit big, she might be pregnant and possibly a friend of Taelyn's."

Two women were talking and gradually walking away from each other.

However, Brian suddenly shuddered and his body stiffened.

Taelyn, that is... one of his ex-girlfriends from years ago. It seems like they only dated for a few months, so it was a pretty brief relationship.

To put it simply, the women he dated back then didn't last very long in terms of the duration of their relationships.

Chapter 3307

Did Taelyn meet Valda in the restroom and then had a conversation with her?

As soon as Brian thought of this, his face changed and he rushed straight into the bathroom, afraid that Taelyn might do something harmful to Valda.

After all, when he was in a relationship with the other person, he provided them with some resources. However, after they broke up, Taelyn's resources gradually decreased and he was no longer as successful as before.

Although he and Taelyn had a peaceful breakup, it has been many years since then and Taelyn's life is currently going well. Therefore, it is unlikely that she would go after Valda.

However, whenever something involves Valda, he loses his ability to make rational decisions and only wants to rush to her side as soon as possible.

When Brian rushed over to the sink, he saw Taelyn reaching out her hand towards Valda.

He suddenly rushed forward and stood in front of Valda, "Taelyn, what are you going to do?!"

Taelyn was stunned, her hand even frozen in mid-air. "Brian?! You...you're here too?"

“What exactly do you want to do to Valda?!” Brian questioned again.

“I...” Taelyn was still a bit stunned, but Valda peeked out from behind Brian and said, “Brian, Miss Taelyn didn’t do anything to

1. We were just talking about you.”

Now, Brian was stunned, “Talking about me?”

“Yes, like where you used to like going, what your hobbies were, and uh, how many women used to chase after you...” Valda said, feeling a bit embarrassed.

Facing his ex-girlfriend, she couldn’t resist her gossiping heart and asked about his past.

Because that was the him she wasn’t familiar with! It was the him before they met.

She wanted to know more about him!

Brian pursed his lips, looked at Valda, then at Taelyn, “Is that all?”

“What else could there be?” Valda muttered, “Do you want to fight when you meet?”

Her words made him feel a bit helpless.

Taelyn looked at the two in front of her and said to Brian, “Long time no see.”

“It has been a long time,” Brian said.

“I just saw your wife and couldn’t help but start a conversation with her,” Taelyn thought for a moment and said, “I guess I was really curious about what kind of woman could make you want to marry her.”

Brian stared at Taelyn with cold, piercing eyes, as if he was scrutinizing the truthfulness of her words.

Taelyn couldn’t help but feel even more emotional.

As expected, he was still as cold and distant as he was back then, but... just now, seeing him rush in with a worried expression on his face, it was difficult for her to connect him with the person he is now.

Or perhaps it should be said...his anxiety and concern were only for Valda.

And for others, in his mind, they don't carry that same weight.

"I just had an interesting chat with Mrs. Hart. I think I understand why you married her," Taelyn chuckled. "I wish you both happiness."

She said, "So, let's talk again when we have the chance," to Valda.

"Ah, okay," Valda responded.

Taelyn walked away, and Brian turned around to face Valda.

Suddenly, he bent down and rested his head on her shoulder, wrapping his arms around her waist. He let out a long sigh and said, "I'm glad you're okay."

Chapter 3308

"It's okay, I won't get into trouble that easily. Don't worry too much," she said.

As her pregnancy progressed, she could feel his nervousness more and more. It was like he was always on edge.

"Are you just talking about me?" he asked.

"Yeah, what else would we talk about?" she replied. After all, he was the only thing they had in common.

"If you ever want to know about my past, you can just ask me. I'll tell you everything," he said.

"Can I ask you anything?" she asked.

"Anything," he replied. "Valda, I have no secrets from you."

In other words, he was willing to be completely open with her. He wouldn't hide anything she wanted to know.

Valda felt warm inside, thinking about what Taelyn had said to her before.

"I really envy you for being the wife of the prince. He will marry you because he truly loves you. Although I dated him for three months, I never felt like his girlfriend during that time. He wouldn't even hold my hand or hug me, let alone any other intimate actions. I think his previous girlfriends probably had similar experiences."

So, there shouldn't be anything between him and his ex-girlfriend, right?

Valda was thinking when suddenly a woman's scream came from the bathroom, "Ah, this is the women's bathroom, why is there a man here?!"

Valda suddenly remembered that she was in the women's restroom.

Then, she clearly felt Brian's body stiffen.

When the two of them came out of the restroom, Brian's face was already flushed.

Valda rarely saw him blush like this, so she couldn't help but stare at his face in fascination.

"Don't look." Brian said awkwardly, it was his first time accidentally entering the women's restroom and he almost got mistaken for a pervert.

I never thought that I would experience such an embarrassing and awkward situation before.

It seems like because of her, he has experienced too many firsts.

"Well... um, I guess this is a special experience in life." She cleared her throat, trying to ease his embarrassment.

He was a bit speechless. A special experience? He would rather not have this special experience.

"And the way you blush is actually quite cute." She continued to comfort him.

He remained speechless, unsure if he should praise her for her creative comfort.

"It's like a red apple, makes people want to take a bite." She continued, as if afraid he wouldn't believe her. "Really!"

"Are you sure you really want to comfort me?" Brian said, laughing and crying.

"Isn't it comforting?" She said earnestly.

"Okay, as long as you're okay, even if you're really arrested by the police, I don't care." Brian said.

Valda opened her arms and hugged him, "But I care. Brian, I think I'm falling more and more in love with you!"

She thought that her love for him was already a lot.

But now, it seems like there are even more than before.

Will there be even more in the future than there is now?

"It's my pleasure, Valda. I'm glad you're falling more in love with me," Brian replied with a gentle tone and a tender gaze that made her feel like she was getting drunk on his affection."

Chapter 3309

After completing their prenatal check-up at the hospital, Valda and Brian went to a nearby restaurant to have breakfast.

Of course, Valda is the main one eating at the moment, while Brian is sitting beside her, occasionally using a tissue to wipe the corners of her mouth.

After finishing breakfast, Valda turned to Brian and said, "I want to go for a walk to the nearby mall and buy some baby items."

"Hasn't everything been prepared already?" Brian asked.

"Those were bought by my parents and godmother, I want to pick something myself," said Valda.

Especially her in-laws, even though the child hasn't been born yet, they have already bought a lot of baby supplies and toys and placed them in the nursery.

At first, she thought the nursery was too big, but now that all those things are stuffed in, she doesn't think it's big anymore.

She even suspected that after the child was born, her father-in-law and mother-in-law would directly move the mother and baby store into their villa.

“Okay,” said Brian.

The two of them left the restaurant and went directly to the nearby shopping mall.

It’s already past 10 o’clock now, but since it’s not a day off, there aren’t many people in the mall.

Valda arrived at the floor for the mother and baby section and began to look around.

Children’s things are always especially cute, and when faced with a pile of adorable items, they often want everything and start thinking about buying them all.

At this moment, Valda can understand why her in-laws bought so much.

Valda picked out some baby clothes and shoes. Of course, since she didn’t know whether the baby was a boy or a girl, she tried to choose neutral colors like yellow that could work for either gender.

As she passed by a counter, her eyes suddenly lit up.

It was a counter selling some mother and baby items, and there was a booklet displayed in the window. It was a baby journal that old. could record the baby’s first year of life, from birth to one year

Each page of the booklet had cute designs and came with some stickers that could be used for DIY customization.

“Do you like this booklet?” Brian asked beside her.

“Well, it’s quite interesting. It can record the baby’s milestones and you can also stick photos and customize it yourself. I feel like it will be very meaningful once it’s completed,” Valda said.

Naturally, Brian bought the journal for his beloved wife.

Back at the villa, Valda began to carefully flip through the journal, studying the stickers and searching online for similar journals. She looked completely engrossed in it.

After dinner, Brian saw Valda starting to write something in the journal.

“Isn’t this supposed to be recorded after the baby is born?” Brian asked in confusion.

“These are some initial thoughts and wishes for the baby. I can write down my expectations for the baby. After I finish, you can also write something for the baby,” Valda said.

Brian smiled slightly and asked, “Are these words for the baby? If their children grow up in the future and see these words written for their unborn child, what will they think?”

It seems that unconsciously, he has become more and more excited about the birth of this child.

Chapter 3310

After a while, Valda finally finished writing. She handed the notebook to Brian with a smile and said, “It’s your turn to write now.”

“Okay.” He responded, picking up a pen and writing in the notebook. “Baby, I’m glad you could come to be with me and your mommy. If you’re wondering why you exist, daddy will tell you it’s because he loves your mommy very much, and that’s why you’re here. The luckiest thing that ever happened to daddy in his life was probably meeting your mommy, because of her, we have a very happy home. Although we don’t know if you’re a boy or a girl yet, daddy and mommy will love you very much and take good care of you as you grow up...”

Brian is writing diligently, recording his happiness and expectations bit by bit...

In the future, he will flip through this journal with his children. At that time, he will slowly tell his and Valda’s story to his children, bit by bit.

Tell the child how much he truly loves Valda!

The New Year is approaching. As it draws nearer, many people become increasingly busy.

However, Valda is quite the opposite, she is never idle... always busy.

She feels a bit anxious because she has too much free time.

The manga work at hand has ended. The remaining work will have to wait until after she gives birth and completes her postpartum confinement before considering starting a new serialization.

As for buying New Year's goods, cleaning and decorating, these are all ordinary tasks that housewives would do, but she doesn't have to do any of them.

Basically, Brian or the servants did most of the work.

He seems to be afraid that she might hurt herself with even the slightest movement, as if she were made of glass. She even suspects that if she weren't pregnant and unable to be carried like a princess, he would carry her everywhere without letting her walk.

Before the New Year, Camille came to chat with her friend. Seeing her friend's rounder face, Camille exclaimed, "I envy you so much for your wonderful foodie life. So many people wish for it but can't have it."

"Thank you for your envy," Valda said speechlessly.

"I'm serious," said Camille. "There aren't many pregnant women who have as much free time as you do. I never realized before that Brian dotes on his wife so much. I used to think he was cold and distant, and I thought that even if he got married, he would still expect his wife to accommodate him."

Now it seems that after marriage, Brian has been accommodating Valda.

"It's pretty good, but sometimes I feel like Brian is a bit too cautious," Valda said.

"That's because he cares about you. If you were with someone who didn't care, you'd see how they would treat you!" Camille said. "You have to understand, Prince Hart had a reputation for being cold. All those female celebrities in the entertainment industry, whether they were famous or not, who wouldn't want to become Mrs. Hart? But no matter how tempting or desperate they were, they couldn't move Prince Hart. You can imagine how cold he was. But now... tsk tsk..."

As Camille spoke, she shook her head and wiggled around.

If anyone saw what Prince Hart was like after marriage, they would probably be shocked.

It can only be said that sometimes the colder a man is, the more surprising he may be after marriage.