

Ex Convict 3321

Chapter 3321

At that moment, Lawrence suddenly looked at the child's watch on his wrist.

That was given to him by Mr. Barlow, and it cost over ten thousand! His mother said that the watch is waterproof, so even if he wears it while diving, the watch won't break!

He suddenly pressed the button on his watch, which had a phone function. Inside, there was Jasper's phone number.

If they just call Jasper, he will save their family, right?

Maybe Daddy and Mommy were just injured and there might still be hope. Mommy said that the Reed family is the most capable in Emerald City. As long as the Reed family wants to, there's nothing they can't do!

Lawrence called Jasper's phone, but no one answered on the other end!

And his gaze gradually became dimmer.

The pleasure boat docked and everyone was waiting for the police to take the child to the station. However, Lawrence unexpectedly dashed off the boat, surprising everyone.

Due to the fact that the disembarkation point happened to be a busy place located in the Mason Swanson Center, a 10-year-old child disappeared in the crowd after running into it.

At this moment, Lawrence only wants to go to the Reed family and find Jasper.

She has become his only hope now.

If Jasper is willing to help, maybe there's still hope for my parents. Mom said the Reed family is very wealthy, so if they can help him find good doctors to save my parents...

And so, Lawrence kept running until he reached the subway station.

In his pocket, he had 20 dollars, which his dad gave him yesterday to buy cigarettes. But then his mom came back before he could leave, and they got into a fight, so he never went out to buy the Mason Swanson cigarettes.

And now...

Lawrence used the 20 dollars to buy a subway ticket from the self-service machine.

When the subway arrived at the station closest to the Reed family, he almost ran out as soon as the doors opened.

His wrist, which had been cut, hurt a lot. Even though it had been bandaged, every step he took caused him pain. By the end, he felt like his hand was numb from the pain and he couldn't feel anything.

Just as he was gasping for breath and almost there, a car drove up from the other side and stopped at the Reed House's door. He saw Jasper getting out of the car, holding a phone and talking happily to someone on the other end.

In an instant, Lawrence's footsteps stopped as he stared at the figure.

She was on the phone with someone, which meant... she had seen his call, right?

But she didn't answer!

Just as she had said before, she didn't want to see him again in the future, so she didn't answer his phone calls.

But... does she know how much he hopes she would answer that phone call?

If she agrees to answer the phone, then... does that mean his dad and mom...

As soon as the Reed family entered the mansion, someone suddenly grabbed him from behind. When he turned around, he saw two men wearing police uniforms.

One person is speaking into a walkie-talkie, saying "The child has been found, but their wrist is still bleeding. We need to take them to the hospital first."

Lawrence didn't struggle, he just went along like a puppet as the two police officers took him to the hospital.

His wrist was cut and bleeding profusely, requiring immediate surgery. However, he remained silent and did not cry or express any pain while the doctor examined him.

After finishing the inspection, he asked the police officer who brought him there, "How are my dad and mom doing?"

Chapter 3322

In his heart, he already had a faint answer, but it wasn't until now that he finally had the courage to ask it out loud.

The two police officers who brought him to the hospital exchanged a glance but did not immediately respond to his words.

Lawrence's body trembled, his black eyes looked empty and gloomy, "Have my parents... already passed away?"

For a 10-year-old, he already understands the meaning of death quite well.

The two police officers looked pained, and one of them reached out to pat his head. "Alright, you're going to have surgery soon. We'll talk about everything after the surgery is done."

Lawrence was pushed into the cold operating room, knowing that he would never see his mommy and daddy again.

Even though he understands that his parents have many flaws, especially his mother who owes money to many people and is often cursed at by debt collectors using harsh words.

But even so, he still wants to see his mommy again!

At this moment, tears finally welled up in Lawrence's eyes and began to flow down his cheeks.

On the second day, Grace learned about the news of the Abbott couple being killed by loan sharks.

"What's going on here?" She looked at her husband in surprise.

Although she didn't like the Abbott couple, especially Wilona's gambling habit, it never occurred to her that they would die.

Jason explained to Grace what he knew.

"What about Lawrence? The child didn't die?"

"He should still be alive," Jason said.

"Should be?" Grace was confused.

"The child escaped with a hand injury and was sent to the hospital for treatment. After the surgery, the child was supposed to be sent to the ward, but in the middle of the night, the child disappeared."

Upon hearing this, Grace was suddenly shocked. "Lawrence disappeared?"

"He was drugged and taken out of the hospital secretly," Jason said. This was also discovered by the police through surveillance footage after the fact.

"Does that mean..." Grace thought of a certain possibility.

Since the Abbott couple were killed by someone, Lawrence became a witness because he saw the killer's face. That's why the kidnapper took the child, so that Lawrence couldn't identify the killer later on!

"Lawrence is in great danger now. If the culprit's people have taken him away, it's very likely that they want to silence him," Grace said urgently.

"Mhmm." Jason also leaned towards his wife's guess.

"Jason, if we rely solely on the police to search, it may not be in time. Can you send people to search together?" Grace asked.

The Abbott couple has passed away. She doesn't want Lawrence to suffer the same fate, especially with the child whom she actually likes.

"There's nothing that can't be done between us. As long as it's something you wish for, I can make it happen for you," said Jason.

0

"However, let's not let Jasper know about this for now," said Grace. Although her daughter is currently angry with Lawrence, it is precisely because she values him that she is angry, and she has been angry for a long time.

If my daughter were to find out about the tragedy of the Abbott family and Lawrence's uncertain fate, it would be a huge blow to her.

"I understand. I will give the order. Don't let the children know about this," said Jason. He knew that not only Jasper, but the other children as well, should not find out. Otherwise, there was a risk that Jasper would eventually find out.

And so, the Reed family began sending people to search for Lawrence's whereabouts.

Chapter 3323

Lawrence disappeared without a trace, and neither the Reed family nor the police were able to locate him.

It was thanks to the Reed family's intervention that those loan shark organizations were exposed, and the murderer of the Abbott couple was also brought to light.

As the days went by, Grace's heart sank deeper and deeper.

The longer the time drags on, the smaller the chance of Lawrence's survival.

One month later, the police issued a notice and formally arrested the suspect for the crime.

In the announcement, the names of the Abbott couple were only mentioned as "the Abbott couple" along with their missing son.

However, anyone familiar with the Abbott family can easily recognize which family it is!

And Jasper finally found out about this matter!

When Jasper stood in front of Grace with teary eyes, sighed in her heart.

Grace

With the advancement of technology, she naturally didn't think that she could keep this a secret from her daughter for a lifetime. Originally, she only planned to tell Jasper about it after finding Lawrence.

However, unexpectedly, Lawrence did not find what he was looking for. Instead, he went missing!

"Mummy!" Jasper choked up and said, "The news was talking about Lawrence's family, wasn't it?"

"Yes, it's the Abbott family," said Grace.

"What about Lawrence? The news said that Lawrence has gone missing and his whereabouts are unknown. Is it true that he cannot be found?" Jasper said, tears falling down his face.

She is angry with Lawrence for wanting to use her, but she never imagined that Lawrence had gone through something so terrible and even disappeared!

"Mummy, can you send someone to find Lawrence for me? Please help me find him, I... I'm not angry with him anymore!"

"In fact, when we first found out that Lawrence had gone missing, Mom and Dad had already sent people to look for him, but they just couldn't find him," Grace said, feeling reluctant to see her daughter's disappointed expression.

Jasper heard this and cried even harder, "So... does that mean I will never see Lawrence again?"

"In the future, anything is possible. Maybe we'll be able to find Lawrence soon," Grace said. "My parents will continue to send people to search for Lawrence, and the police will also continue to search. With so many people looking, we'll eventually find him."

Grace knows deep down that this is just a beautiful hope, and the possibility of it happening is actually very small.

But now, in any case, she has to give her daughter this hope.

Jasper sniffled and his tears finally subsided a bit. "Really?"

"Really, Mommy believes that we can definitely find Lawrence!"

said Grace.

"Yes, we will definitely find him!" Jasper nodded heavily. "When we find Lawrence, I...I want to tell him that I want to be friends with him again! And since his parents are no longer around, how about we bring him to our home to live? I will go to school with him and we can play the piano together..."

Although she was very angry with him before, now she just wants him to be safe!

"Okay, when we find Lawrence, Mommy and Daddy will bring him to our home to live with us," promised Grace.

At night, after my daughter cried herself to sleep, Grace found it hard to fall asleep herself.

The door to the room was pushed open and Jason walked in.

Chapter 3324

"Did Jasper fall asleep?"

"Well, I just woke up not long ago. Today, I'll sleep in her room with her. I'm worried that she might wake up in the middle of the night and cry again," Grace said.

"Okay," Jason responded, "then you should also go to bed early and don't worry too much."

As he spoke, he walked closer to Grace and leaned down to give her a kiss on the forehead. "I'll head back now," he said.

"Wait a minute," Grace stopped Jason and said, "Jason, what should we tell Jasper if we still can't find Lawrence after some time?"

She's afraid that it will have a bigger impact on her daughter if she does it later.

"Anyway, there are some things that she always understands and learns to accept," Jason said, such as leaving and death...

"But..."

"Grace, Jasper is our daughter. She needs to grow up slowly and become stronger. Otherwise, what will she do when she faces more difficulties in the future?" Jason said, looking at his sleeping daughter. "As a father, I want to protect her and make her happy for her whole life, but life is full of unexpected events that we cannot control."

Grace sighed, knowing that Jason was right.

In this world, nothing is ever perfect.

There are always things we need to face, whether it's sadness or happiness... they are all part of our own experiences!

She just hopes that her daughter can be stronger by that time.

After the official announcement by the police, the tragedy of the Abbott family became a hot topic in tMason Swansonty for a while. Valda naturally became aware of it.

After seeing the news, she made a phone call to Grace to confirm that the people mentioned in the news were indeed the Abbott couple and Lawrence. She felt a sense of sadness and regret.

After all, that was a child she had seen before, but now they are missing and their whereabouts are unknown, and there is a high possibility that they have been silenced by someone.

"What about Jasper?" Valda asked.

"I'm still feeling sad. It will probably take some time before I can calm down," said Grace.

"Valda suggests that it would be better for the child to spend more time with peers of the same age, which may help her feel better."

“Well, Mick and Mason will be accompanying me, and William is also planning to come to Emerald City,” said Grace.

Her own two sons, however, are not talkative.

These days, Mick has been spending time with Jasper both at school and at home. Even though he doesn’t talk much, he stays by her side and is always there for her. He even sleeps in Jasper’s room at night, holding a pillow and blanket.

As for Mason, Grace didn’t expect him to come all the way to The Reed House just to accompany Jasper.

After all, Mason doesn’t usually come over to the Reed family’s side on his own. He mostly likes to hang out with the Barlow family and be with their daughter Veronica.

However, this time Mason came alone with a bodyguard accompanying him.

He also played a piano piece for Jasper and awkwardly said, “If you like listening to piano music, I can play for you.”

This made Jasper burst into tears and hug Mason on the spot.

Normally, Mason only allows hugs from Veronica. If anyone else tries to hug him, he will resist.

In the past, Jasper often wanted to hug her brother, but Mason always rejected her.

But this time, Mason stood quietly, allowing Jasper to hug him, which made Grace notice Mason’s change.

Over the years, Mason gradually developed feelings towards his family and was no longer indifferent towards them.

Chapter 3325

“By the way, you’re almost at your due date, right?” Grace said to Valda on the other end of the phone.

“Yeah, in a week it will be the due date. These days, I’m on high alert at all times,” said Valda.

“Then I wish you all the best and please let me know when you give birth.”

“Okay, definitely,” said Valda.

After the call ended, Valda saw Brian walking down from upstairs.

As her due date was approaching, he stopped going to the office three days ago and brought all his work home to handle.

Even if there are any meetings to discuss, they are all video conferences.

“Who were you on the phone with just now?” Brian walked over to Valda and asked.

“Talking about the Abbott family with Grace,” Valda said. “It feels like life is so unpredictable. People who were lively and energetic before suddenly disappear.”

Brian’s eyes darkened slightly, “Yes, life is unpredictable.” When she fell into the river while trying to save Grace’s child, he couldn’t help but feel the same way.

Before, everything was fine. Before, she was still smiling at him.

But in the blink of an eye, she disappeared from his sight, leaving nothing behind.

Fortunately, God returned her to him! Otherwise...

Thinking of this, Brian leaned down, opened his arms, and hugged Valda.

Just because Valda was pregnant, he hugged her cautiously, being careful not to hold her too tightly for fear of pressing on her belly.

“What’s wrong?” Valda asked curiously.

Although they were discussing the Abbott family, he suddenly hugged her. This embrace, for some reason, made her feel both sweet and fragile.

“I won’t let anything happen to you, even if everything else is unpredictable,” said Brian.

Valda suddenly understood what was going on. He was probably thinking about the incident when she fell into the water years ago.

Valda lifted her hands and hugged Brian, saying “Mmm, I know you won’t let anything happen to me, and I won’t let anything happen to myself either. Brian, we and our child will be just fine.”

And his response was to gently kiss her lips.

At night, Valda lay in bed while Brian held a children’s book and read stories from it, claiming it was for prenatal education.

According to Hadwin, reading more fairy tales during pregnancy can help cultivate a child’s cultural literacy, and in the future, the child may be more interested in knowledge and culture.

However, when Brian looked at Hadwin and Lina’s daughter, he didn’t think that the little one was interested in knowledge or culture. As for cultural refinement, he couldn’t see any signs of it at the moment.

It is said that in kindergarten, Shengsheng was a little bully.

The child named Chandler seems to enjoy reading and is said to have skipped a grade in school. Despite being young, he has a strong knowledge base.

Lina often sighs and says, "That's someone else's child."

Chapter 3326

Fortunately, someone else's child will also be her son-in-law in the future. It is said that Lina is hoping to transform her own daughter's stubborn genes with Chandler's good learning genes.

However, although prenatal education by reading fairy tales may seem useless to Brian, given the existence of a negative example like Tina.

But he still reads a few stories to the unborn child every day, and can't help but imagine the scene of holding a soft little one and telling stories after the child is born.

He has imagined this scene many times since Valda became pregnant.

Just then, Valda, who was listening to the fairy tale, suddenly changed her expression and let out a sharp scream.

G

"What's wrong?" Brian immediately became nervous. "Are you uncomfortable somewhere? Or is your leg cramping again?" He said, trying to lift the blanket covering her legs.

Valda's face turned pale and she said, "No... it's not cramping. I think, maybe, my water broke."

Upon hearing this, Brian quickly told Valda to lie down and placed a pillow under her to prevent more amniotic fluid from flowing out.

Then he immediately made a phone call.

Before this, Brian had prepared various emergency plans, so Valda quickly got into a professional ambulance and headed to the designated hospital.

Valda couldn't help but sigh again as she looked at the car.

In her previous understanding, if her water broke or there was an emergency, she would call 120 and an ambulance would be dispatched.

As a result, he went ahead and bought an ambulance with all the necessary equipment on board. He even hired qualified medical personnel who are available 24/7 to provide emergency assistance.

So at this moment, even though Valda's water has broken, she is feeling quite calm now, except for the initial panic.

After all, her beloved husband has already made complete preparations for her sake.

Brian is actually feeling nervous, in contrast to her relaxed demeanor.

Even though the doctor next to him had already told Brian that Valda was doing fine, Grace's face remained pale and her hands were trembling slightly.

Even so, he tried to calm Valda down by saying, "It's okay, don't worry. You will be able to give birth to the baby smoothly."

To take a step back, even if there is a real issue and a choice needs to be made, all he wants is for her to be okay.

He can give up everything else!

He didn't say these words in front of her.

Valda thinks that something is up right now, and it seems to be him instead.

"I will take good care of giving birth to the child. I am aware of the precautions, as well as the steps and procedures involved in childbirth," Valda said as she reached out and held Brian's hand.

His hands are very cold at the moment, and with the trembling, one can imagine his nervousness.

"It's okay, Brian. I'll be fine," Valda reassured him. As a man who was always in control, Brian had never seen him so nervous before. But Valda knew that his anxiety was all because of her.

"Yes, everything will be fine, we will be safe," Brian lowered his head and kissed Valda's hand, as if trying to calm his emotions at the moment.

Chapter 3327

The staff next to them were watching this scene with great shock.

This is the prince of the entertainment industry. With just a stomp of his foot, the entire industry trembles. Many people are so intimidated by him that they dare not even breathe in his presence. And yet, now he's become so nervous?

Think about it, when the Crown Prince got married, many people said that his wife was not a good match for him and that they would eventually divorce.

But looking at the current situation, divorce... um, it's probably unlikely. It seems that the prince is really in love with his wife!

The ambulance arrived at the hospital and Valda was taken to the delivery room. The doctor began to examine her condition.

Meanwhile, Brian was anxiously waiting outside the delivery room.

Not long after, the elderly Mr. and Mrs. Hart arrived and upon seeing their son, immediately asked, "How is Valda doing?"

"I'm still checking, but the water broke early," said Brian.

"Is she about to give birth soon?" asked Mrs. Hart, the elderly woman.

"Probably," said Brian.

"Fortunately, it's already 39 weeks, so there won't be any risks if the baby is born now," said Mrs. Hart.

After receiving a labor-inducing injection, Valda was quickly taken to the delivery room. Brian, her birthing partner, also changed into sterile clothing and entered the room.

At this moment, for Valda, her only sensation is pain, pain, and more pain!

It is often said that giving birth is extremely painful for women! Despite preparing herself mentally beforehand, she only truly understood the intensity of the pain once she experienced it herself.

Even though the pain was intense, she still had a strong determination to give birth to her child safely.

She tried hard to follow the midwife's instructions, taking deep breaths and exerting herself without wasting too much energy.

0

People kept wiping her sweat, but even so, her hand tightly held onto Brian's hand. Both of their palms were sweaty, and it was hard to tell whose sweat was whose.

Brian had previously made a point to watch some documentary films about obstetrics, which also included scenes of women

Chapter 3327 giving birth.

Mothers giving birth have to exert all their efforts and endure immense pain in order to deliver their babies.

He has also undergone psychological training, and even in movies and TV shows, many actresses have portrayed the extent of pain they experience while giving birth.

However, when he sees others doing it, he doesn't feel much. He thinks that when he accompanies his partner during childbirth, everything should be normal.

But... it didn't work before!

He was so scared when he saw how much pain Valda was in while giving birth, that his whole body went cold.

Even though the doctor said that her current condition is good, he is still afraid.

Even if he made complete preparations, there could still be mistakes. He was afraid that she would be in so much pain that she would lose her strength, afraid that she wouldn't be able to give birth smoothly, afraid that there would be unexpected complications...

He's too scared!

"Okay, okay, we can see the end now," the doctor's voice came through. "Push harder!"

And as Valda shouted with all her might, a little one covered in amniotic fluid and with a red body was finally delivered by the doctor's hands.

Next, as the doctor slapped the baby's feet, a loud cry filled the delivery room.

"The girl weighs 3517 grams," the nurse reported after weighing the baby, and then placed the little girl next to Valda's cheek.

Chapter 3328

Valda wearily opened her eyes and gazed at the small, rosy face before her. She couldn't help but find it adorable, and a strange feeling welled up from within her.

This is... their child, born from the bloodline of both her and Brian.

A little life has been born, it truly feels miraculous.

With the help of the nurse, Valda gently kissed her daughter's cheek.

Next, the nurse showed it to Brian, who had just become a father.

After glancing at Brian, he became even more nervous about Valda's situation.

The baby was carried out by the nurse, while Valda had to stay in the delivery room for about two more hours for postpartum observation to ensure everything was okay before leaving the room.

The nurses carried the children outside to show their waiting relatives and then took them for cleaning.

Valda felt like her body had fallen apart at this moment, while Brian was by her side, helping her tidy up her messy hair. "I'm sorry for causing you so much pain," he said softly.

After witnessing her go through such immense pain to give birth to their child, he realized that he had underestimated the difficulty of childbirth.

Assuming that all the indicators and data from her prenatal check-ups were good, they thought that giving birth would be smooth sailing and didn't think much of it.

But in reality, the pain is so severe.

And he, faced with her pain, feels so helpless.

Even if he wanted to take her pain away, he couldn't do it.

"What's there to apologize for? Giving birth is always painful, and it's not like I'm the only one experiencing it," Valda said. "Besides, everything is going smoothly now, right? There are no complications or need for a C-section."

It can be said that compared to Grace and Lina, Kyla had a much smoother childbirth.

"You..." Valda looked at Brian's pale face and said, "You must have been very worried and scared all this time. It must have been very hard for you. Do you know how pale your face is right now?"

She spoke and made an effort to lift her hand, reaching towards his cheek.

For her now, even lifting her hand has become very difficult, her arms are very sore!

But even so, she still wanted to... touch him.

Her hand touched his face and she felt the coldness of his cheek.

"Brian, I worried you," she murmured.

He lifted his hand and held hers, saying, "As long as you're safe, that's all that matters."

Her gaze fell on his hand, which had obvious bruises and scratches. "Your hand..." she exclaimed involuntarily.

He hesitated for a moment, then quickly said, "It's nothing."

Valda guessed, "I scratched you during childbirth?" recalling the scene of giving birth.

At that time, she only remembered holding his hand and using all her strength to give birth to the child. She didn't know how much strength she had used.

Looking at the marks on his hand now, she could imagine how much strength she had used.

While she was in pain giving birth, he was also in pain.

Not only mentally, but physically too!

Valda gently took Brian's hand and said, "You must be in pain too."

"Compared to your pain, this pain is nothing," he replied.

"So, we went through the pain together and gave birth to the child," she said.

He was slightly taken aback by her words, feeling that they sounded a bit strange, but he replied, "Whatever you say."

The couple smiled at each other, and with the addition of their daughter, they knew they would become even happier in the future.

Chapter 3329

Valda gave birth to a daughter, which made the old Mr. and Mrs.

Hart very happy. They stood around the baby's crib, admiring the little one in front of them.

After all, their son had married late and there was even a possibility that he might not get married at all, which had made the elderly couple worried for a long time.

After eagerly anticipating for so long, they finally had a third generation in the family, which made the old couple feel a sense of relief.

Previously, whenever they saw their friends and acquaintances having grandchildren, they could only envy them. Although they pretended not to care about having grandchildren during gatherings, they actually did care.

Especially the old Mrs. Hart, who had avoided some of her friends' gatherings for a while.

Nowadays, when a little one is born, these two lovebirds can't wait to bring all their treasures to the little one's side.

Old Mrs. Hart said she wants to give her dowry jewelry to her granddaughter, while Old Mr. Hart wants to give a villa worth billions directly. Additionally, he also said he wants to give Valda a red envelope worth 1 billion.

One billion?!

Valda thought she had misheard and stared in shock at the old Mr. Hart and the old Mrs. Hart. "Um... Dad, did you say one billion?" Valda hesitated and asked.

"If you feel it's not enough, then add another 10 billion," said the old Mr. Hart.

"Yes, yes, your father and I will each give 1 billion, and we'll give two red envelopes." Mrs. Hart quickly said.

Valda feels like she's about to faint.

Before, she didn't faint when giving birth, but now she has an impulse to faint.

Does she know that the Hart family is so wealthy that they measure their wealth in billions?

"No, it's not too little, it's too much. You don't have to give me such a big red envelope. How about you give me a few..." Valda originally wanted to say tens of thousands, but considering the Hart family's wealth, it seemed a bit inappropriate to say that. So she said, "How about a million? It's just a token of appreciation."

One million, in her opinion, is already a lot.

But the old Mr. Hart and the old Mrs. Hart immediately rejected it, saying "One million, that's not enough!"

"Yes, Valda, don't feel sorry for our money. After all, our money will eventually belong to you and Brian."

"Yeah, you are a great contributor to our Hart family. That's settled then, 2 billion!"

Valda looked at her in-laws and then turned to Brian lying on the hospital bed. 2 billion... This is too exaggerated!

Brian said, "Since it's something your parents want to give you, you should accept it. That way, your parents will also be happier."

"Well..."

"If you still refuse to accept, there's a chance that my parents will increase the price," said Brian.

Valda's head started to ache at the thought of this, so she turned to the old Mr. Hart and the old Mrs. Hart and said, "In that case...I'll just thank my parents."

"Just take it." said Mr. and Mrs. Hart with a smile, as they turned their attention back to their well-behaved granddaughter, unable to take their eyes off her.

Lisa rushed to the hospital after finding out that Valdis had gone into labor and was admitted in the middle of the night.

Chapter 3330

As a gift for the newborn, she used her own savings to buy a small gold charm to bless the child with safety and longevity.

Although the item Lisa presented was not worth much money, Valda still cherished it greatly. To her, it was a strong expression of Lisa's emotions.

Lisa also gave Valda a big red envelope for good luck.

The money inside was all saved up by Lisa, and Valda felt grateful in her heart. "Godmother, thank you!"

“You, just being able to safely give birth to the child is good enough. I’ll go back to the church later to say a prayer and thank God for his blessings,” said Lisa.

“Okay, let’s go worship together,” said Mrs. Hart, the elderly woman.

Old Mr. Hart also agreed, “Yes, let’s go together to pay our respects and fulfill our wishes!”

Next, the relatives of the Hart family, including their friends Mr. and Mrs. Hart, as well as Brian and Valda’s own friends, gradually learned about the birth of their daughter. They came to the hospital to congratulate the Hart family on their new little princess.

Valda’s hospital room is quite lively.

Fortunately, the VIP ward is spacious and divided into two rooms.

The inner room is where Valda rests, while the outer room is for visitors.

Therefore, although many people come to visit, it is not too noisy for Valda.

However, because the child needs to drink milk every 2-3 hours, Valda’s sleep is not good. Sometimes she is extremely tired, but still has to feed the child.

Fortunately, there are specialized caregivers and nannies, so Valda feels much more relaxed compared to ordinary mothers.

Brian has become a 24-hour personal caregiver, rarely leaving Valda’s side unless necessary. Even at night, he sleeps on a cot next to Valda’s hospital bed.

And every time Valda feeds the baby, Brian also wakes up to keep her company.

Valda felt sorry for Brian as she looked at his clearly exhausted face. “Actually, once you fall asleep, you don’t need to wake up specifically to keep me company. When I feed the baby, there are caregivers and nannies around, so there won't be any problems."

She just wants him to be able to sleep a little longer.

"I'm worried, if I can keep an eye on things, I'll feel more at ease," said Brian. "Besides, you just had a baby and you're going through so much, how can I sleep soundly?"

While speaking, Brian took Valda's hand and said, "When you were giving birth, I watched you in pain, but I couldn't take that pain away from you. I felt so powerless at that time. I couldn't feel your pain, but at least I hope I can share your hardship and experience it together with you."

Valda stared at the man in front of her, who always managed to break down her defenses without even trying.

Although her godmother and mother-in-law repeatedly reminded her not to cry during her postpartum confinement, she couldn't help but feel her eyes welling up with tears at this moment. She felt as though the tears were about to spill out.

He saw her red eyes and the watery layer in her eyes, and quickly said, "Don't cry. I didn't say these things to make you cry."

"Then why did you still make me feel so touched?" she complained.

"Okay, it's my fault," he said, gently kissing her fingertips.