

Ex Convict 4121

Chapter 4121

"Chandler, what are you doing here?" Tina asked in surprise.

"I came to find you, but you're with him..." Chandler's gaze passed Tina and looked at Kit getting out of the nanny car.

"Oh, I went to the film and television city today and happened to meet Kit, so he gave me a ride back." Tina explained briefly.

"Hello, Mr. Hunter. Nice to see you again." Kit took the initiative to step forward and shook hands with Chandler.

Chandler looked at Kit, then shook hands with him.

"Thanks to Kit for taking my fiancée home!" There was a sense of asserting dominance in his words.

"No need to thank me. Tina is my fan, and I'm happy to have such fans. Plus, Tina and I get along well!" Kit said.

Tina felt inexplicably uneasy on the side.

Although she was happy that Kit praised her, the atmosphere gave her a strange feeling.

Fortunately, the atmosphere didn't last long, and Kit left.

Tina turned to Chandler and said, "Chandler, how come you're here? Come on in and have a seat!"

Chandler pursed his lips and followed Tina into the Stephenson family's house.

Hadwin and Lina were not in the house. They entered the living room and Tina said, "Let me make you a cup of tea." She was about to leave.

Chandler stopped Tina suddenly and said, "Are you trying to avoid me again?"

"Huh?" She paused and turned to look at him.

"Did I say something wrong? These past few days, you've been deliberately avoiding me, haven't you?" Chandler said.

Tina was speechless. Well, he was right. She had been avoiding him a bit, but... "That's because I haven't figured out what to say to you yet!" she glared at him.

"Is there something you can't say to me if you see me?" Chandler asked in return.

"I'm afraid I'll say something that will make you angry!" Tina puffed out her cheeks.

"What would make me angry?" he was confused.

If anyone was going to be angry, it should be him! When he saw her get out of Kit's car earlier, he felt a surge of anger in his chest.

He knew she was just a fan with a crush on an idol, and she had the freedom to make friends with whoever she wanted.

She had the right to choose who she wanted to meet and who she wanted to take her home!

But why did he feel so uneasy?

It was like he was afraid that her feelings for him would waver!

"You always act like an adult and treat me like a child! You keep saying that you like and love me, but you always leave the choice to me and act like it's okay even if I abandon you! If you really love me, how can you act like it's okay to be abandoned? Or do you not love me at all?" Tina said directly.

She expressed all her feelings and discomforts towards him clearly.

Chandler was shocked. He never thought she would feel this way!

"I just don't want to hold you back," he murmured.

"If I don't love you, you can't hold me back at all! My father has told me that even if the Stephenson family has to sacrifice everything and I become a dishonest person, he won't let me marry you if I really don't want to!" Tina said angrily. "So don't always make me choose whether or not to be with you, and don't say such things again! If you really love me, you should tell me that you won't let me go even if I want to leave you!"

Chapter 4122

He looked at her angry expression. "But if you really want to leave me, do you know how painful it would be for you if I don't let go?"

If it really came to that point, if he really used extreme means to keep her by his side, she would probably collapse!

"I don't care!" Tina said. "I want you to say that! Because I will never leave you!"

Because she believed that her feelings for him would never change!

Chandler laughed, even though he didn't agree with her words.

But it seemed that she always had a strange ability to calm his unease.

The unease he felt when he saw Kit bring her back slowly dissipated because of her words.

"Are you very angry?" he asked.

“Yes, you have to say it like I want you to, then I won’t be angry. So, say it quickly!” She stood with her hands on her hips, staring at him with wide eyes, a look that made him think of a cute little hamster.

Chandler’s eyelashes trembled slightly. Anyway, he just didn’t want to make her angry. Since she didn’t like him giving her choice, he wouldn’t mention it in the future.

Anyway, no matter what choice she makes in the future, he will accept it!

“Okay, I...” Chandler was about to say what Tina wanted to hear when suddenly Tina shouted, “Wait!”

“What’s wrong?”

“I need to add something else,” Tina said. “You also need to say that if I dare to leave you, you will cry, cry hard, not be able to eat or sleep every day, hold onto my thighs, and beg me not to leave!”

Chandler was stunned. Not being able to eat or sleep was not a problem, but crying... um, how long has it been since he cried hard?

Or should he say, has he ever cried hard from childhood to adulthood?

In addition, hold onto her thighs? In his memory, even when he was very young, he never held onto an adult’s thighs!

“Okay, you can say it now!” Tina put on a waiting expression.

Chandler was sweating profusely. Well, as long as it was what she wanted, he could do it for her!

For example... saying these embarrassing words.

“Even if you want to leave me, I won’t let you go. I will... cry hard, not be able to eat or sleep every day, and hold onto your thighs, begging you not to leave me...” Chandler almost used all his strength to restrain his embarrassment and said the words Tina specified.

When he finished speaking, he secretly breathed a sigh of relief.

This should be enough!

But in the next second, the breath he had just let out was taken away again.

Lina’s voice suddenly rang out, “Oh my god, Chandler, what did you just say? Is Tina leaving you? No way, don’t cry yet, let me ask Tina!”

Chandler’s body immediately became incredibly stiff. He turned around and saw his future in-laws standing at the entrance to the living room, looking at him with surprise.

And from what he heard from his future mother-in-law, they also heard what he just said!

At this moment, Chandler finally felt so embarrassed that he wanted to dig a hole in the ground with his toes!

For the first time since birth, he was so embarrassed that he didn't even know what to say!

Chapter 4123

Even Hadwin looked at Chandler with a strange expression, as if he was looking at an alien or with a hint of sympathy and pity.

Chandler really wanted to shout out loud, it's not what they think!

But at this moment, he couldn't find the words to say.

It's as if all the voices were frozen in his throat.

"Mom, Dad, how did you eavesdrop!" Tina complained, the atmosphere was so good just now!

But now that her parents are back, the atmosphere has been completely disrupted.

"What eavesdropping? Tell us, what's going on? Why are you leaving Chandler?" Lina approached and pulled her daughter, asking.

"No, I'm not leaving Chandler, I just wanted him to... um, express himself." Tina said.

"Express?"

"Just in case I really want to leave him in the future, he must try to keep me like he said earlier!" Tina said.

"... "Lina felt speechless.

Although she is her own daughter, her daughter's way of thinking is truly unique!

And Hadwin glanced at the somewhat helpless Chandler, and asked with a half-smile, "Can you really do what you say?"

Chandler sweated a little, and after a while, he awkwardly spit out a "yes".

Hadwin nodded in satisfaction, "Okay then, don't forget the words you said today in the future!"

Chandler lowered his eyelids lightly, wondering if that day would really come.

If one day, she really decided to leave him, what would he do?

Could he restrain that twisted possessiveness and let her go peacefully?

"I heard that you met the young miss of the Stephenson family today and even took her home?"

Edmond Ingram looked at his son and said.

Kit Ingram replied lightly, "Yes, that's true."

"This young miss from the Stephenson family seems to be different towards you. She started a scandal with you, and even went to the film and television city to see you. What do you think of her?" Edmond asked again.

"She's just a fan." Kit's tone remained unchanged.

"Nowadays, fans are willing to do a lot of

Kit frowned slightly, and Edmond patted his shoulder. "You know, our family business has been declining in the past few years. If you can get Miss Stephenson to speak up for the Ingram family in front of her father, then the Ingram family can benefit from collaborating with the Stephenson family. Our future will be better."

Kit pursed his lips almost into a straight line.

"Alright, when it's time for your concert, I'll send Miss Stephenson tickets. You can get to know her more," Edmond said.

family. Having a confidante isn't a bad thing, right?" Edmond smiled and spoke in a tone that seemed to be mocking his son's innocence.

Kit lowered his eyelids halfway. A confidante... that's what his father expected, but not what he wanted.

He knew very well that, to his father, he was just a pawn.

Chapter 4124

Tina received two concert invitations. Eugenia Ma*sy, upon hearing the news, practically glued herself to Tina. "My dear Tina, take me with you. We're such kindred spirits. Taking me to the concert will allow you to experience more joy!"

"I never thought you could say such shameless things," Tina said.

"For Kit's sake, I can say anything!" Eugenia seemed determined. After all, the tickets for this concert were Naturally, the ticket prices for this concert were higher than usual.

“Well then, please continue. Let me see what other shameless things you can say,” Tina said calmly.

Eugenia wiped her sweat, but she was determined to get those concert tickets. “My goodness, in the future, whoever you want me to deal with, I will deal with. If you go east, I’ll follow you east. If you go west, I won’t go east. If one day you have an argument with Chandler, I will “Alright, alright, I’ll take you,” Tina said.

“You said it, so you can’t back out!” Eugenia said.

“Am I the kind of person who easily backs out?” Tina responded.

“But by the way, why did Kit’s dad send you concert tickets?” Eugenia asked. The relationship seemed a bit distant.

“His dad knows that I’m a fan of Kit. He was there when I wanted an autograph!”

Soon, the day of the concert arrived and Tina went to the concert venue with Eugenia.

The venue was already packed with people, and many fans who didn’t get tickets were waiting outside, hoping to catch a glimpse of Kit!

Tina stood outside the venue with

Eugenia.

Originally, Tina didn’t plan to waste time waiting outside just to catch a glimpse of Kit. After all, she had already seen Kit several times during this period, and she

My Gorgeous Wife is an Ex-Convict!

“They’re here, they’re here!” Suddenly, someone in the crowd shouted.

Tina looked closely and indeed, there were several cars approaching in formation not far away.

The security personnel at the venue were on high alert, seemingly afraid that the fans would rush forward.

Chapter 4125

Eugenia was full of excitement. "Tina, they're here! I wonder which car Kit will be in!"

People started getting out of the cars one by one, and the surrounding shouts and screams mixed together into a noisy uproar, with each wave louder than the last.

Kit was the last one to get out of the car. Tina watched him from the crowd and felt that Kit looked particularly glamorous today, as if his makeup was more enchanting than usual!

Just as if feeling her gaze, Kit suddenly paused and looked in her direction.

Tina's heart skipped a beat. Did Kit see her?

Immediately, Tina denied it because Kit lifted his feet and continued walking towards the special passage for the concert. Besides, there were so many people at the venue, the surroundings were noisy, and she even dressed up today just to disguise herself.

With wavy hair, wearing a baseball cap, and a delicate feminine makeup, she wanted to differentiate herself from her usual appearance and prevent those fans from recognizing her as the rumored leading lady!

As the whole Kit group entered the venue, the noise outside gradually subsided.

Tina and Eugenia also followed the crowd and entered the venue.

It must be said that the two tickets Kit's father gave them had great seats. They were in the third row of the front section, right in the center. They could clearly see the performances on stage, even to the point of being close to their idols.

"What great seats!" Eugenia couldn't help but exclaim. "You have to thank Edmond properly!"

"I already thanked him earlier," Tina said. When she received the tickets, she called to express her gratitude!

While the two were chatting, among the backstage makeup artists, a member of the same group asked Kit, "What happened just now when you suddenly stopped outside?"

Kit raised an eyebrow, surprised that someone noticed such a small detail.

"Nothing, I just got distracted by the noise around me," he casually made up an excuse.

"Haha, you've been surrounded by fans before, are you scared?" the other person laughed. "But there are a lot of fans today, and I guess they all know that this is our last concert."

After the concert, the group would announce their disbandment, and each member would establish their own studios.

Hearing this, the expressions of the other members in the dressing room changed slightly. After all, the most feared thing after going solo was the impact on existing popularity.

The popularity of the members in the

Those with good popularity and strong business capabilities already had their future work lined up, just like Kit.

8/10

Those with low popularity and poor business abilities still hadn't secured any work. Once the group disbanded, their future fate would truly be unknown, and even whether they could continue in the entertainment industry was uncertain.

"The one here who probably doesn't need to worry is Kit. I heard your work has already been arranged for next year!"

"I envy you. I only have an invitation for a variety show, and I haven't finalized any other work."

"I haven't received any new work yet. I still haven't found a new manager! I don't even know how long I can stay in this industry. I still owe the company a lot of money!"

"I envy Kit so much. He's from a wealthy family and now has resources!"

"Exactly, being a second-generation rich is so popular now!"

Although some people seemed to be praising Kit, there was a hint of envy and mockery between the lines.

Chapter 4126

And for such words, Kit was already used to it!

When he decided to enter the entertainment industry, he knew he would encounter all kinds of people. Even in the same group, it was not guaranteed to find true friends. Most of the time, they were bound together due to temporary mutual interests.

Someone who genuinely cared for him...

In Kit's mind, Tina's face suddenly appeared.

She liked him, appreciated him. Her eyes were so clear and honest, as if all impurities did not exist on her.

Every time he saw her, he felt himself gradually relaxing, as if the tension within him was slowly easing!

He knew that his father gave Tina two concert tickets. When he stopped at the entrance of the concert earlier, he wanted to see if she was there, if she had really

But after stopping, he realized that he couldn't quickly find her in the dense crowd of fans!

"Alright, everyone, we'll be on stage soon. Get ready." The person in charge of the concert quickly entered the dressing room and addressed everyone.

Kit composed himself. He shouldn't think about Tina now. What he needed to do was to give this concert a perfect ending!

She really came!

When Kit stood on the stage and saw Tina in the middle of the third row, a indescribable feeling surged in his heart.

It was like joy, as if he had been anticipating this for a long time!

She was looking at him, at his dance moves, at his every gesture, and then

Even though this performance was meant for the fans in the entire venue, in this moment, it felt like he was performing only for her!

It was as if there had never been a performance that allowed him to be so fully immersed, so pa*sionate!

“Tina, don’t you think Kit’s eyes are always fixed on you?” Eugenia whispered to her friend.

In this kind of setting, because of the voices of other fans around, they didn’t have to deliberately lower their voices.

Tina also felt this way. It seemed like Kit was always staring at her during his performance. Initially, she thought it might be her own imagination, but since Eugenia also felt the same way...

Then it shouldn’t be just her imagination!

Has Kit recognized her? Tina silently wondered. After all, she was wearing a hat and a wig now, and she had put on makeup. Plus, her seat was not very clearly visible due to the stage lights.

Eugenia said before that even if her parents came here, they wouldn’t recognize her in her current disguise!

“I think he might have recognized you,” Eugenia’s voice reached Tina’s ears.

Tina rolled her eyes helplessly. Eugenia, don’t you think that statement is a slap in your own face?

Chapter 4127

“Maybe.” Tina said, because she couldn’t think of any other reason why he would be looking at her like that.

But even if he recognized her, he didn’t have to keep staring at her!

The group’s performance was magnificent and glamorous, with beautiful melodies filling the venue with each song!

When the concert ended, Tina was still a little dazed. It was truly amazing.

But as the concert neared its end, the sound of fans sobbing slowly became more and more noticeable, until it formed a chorus of crying.

Many fans knew that after this concert, the group would disband.

Therefore, crying became the fans' way

expressing their reluctance!

Even Eugenia cried sadly, "Wuwuwu... After this, the brothers will go their separate ways... Why can't this group continue forever? We won't be able to see their performances together anymore! If I were the boss, I would definitely let this group continue!"

Tina, on the other hand, wasn't that reluctant. Although she thought Kit was good in the group, going solo would give him more possibilities!

Looking at it from a career development perspective, going solo would definitely have more advantages than disadvantages for Kit.

After the concert ended, fans started leaving the venue one by one. Eugenia and Tina also stood up from their seats, planning to leave.

However, as soon as they took a few steps, someone approached them and said, "Hello, I'm a staff member of the concert. Kit's father asked me to take you both to the backstage."

As soon as these words were spoken, both of them were immediately surprised.

The other person explained again, "Mr. Ingram instructed me to bring you both to the backstage, so that you can take a photo with the members of the group, it can also be considered as a commemoration!"

This is simply an unexpected joy!

Eugenia immediately became excited and grabbed Tina's hand, "Oh my god, am I dreaming? I can actually take a photo with the other members of the group today and get their autographs!"

“You’re not dreaming!” Tina smiled and said.

She was also quite surprised that Mr. Ingram would make such an arrangement.

However, although this arrangement was quite delightful, she inexplicably felt a vague unease, as if this arrangement was a bit too good to be true!

The person led them away from the crowd and headed towards the backstage area. Because there were security personnel guarding the backstage area, unrelated people were not allowed to enter.

The staff member showed their work pa*s and led the two of them in.

However, when they were about to take the elevator, there happened to be someone transporting large props inside, occupying most of the space in the elevator. It would be difficult for all three of them to fit in the elevator. So the staff member said, “Let’s do this, I’ll take Eugenia up first, and you, Tina, can wait here for the next elevator and go straight to the 5th floor!”

On the way here, the three of them had already exchanged names.

“Alright.” Tina didn’t have any objections.

The person took Eugenia up first, while Tina waited for the next elevator.

Just then, a voice suddenly sounded,

Tina turned her head and saw Kit walking towards her.

“What are you doing here?” they both said almost simultaneously.

Then, they exchanged a glance. Tina said, “Your father arranged for a staff member to take me and Eugenia to the lounge area to meet the members of your group. He said we can take a photo and get autographs.”

“Really? Seems like father really...” Kit’s voice paused, and they didn’t continue.

Seeing this, Tina quickly said, "If you think it's not appropriate, I can call Eugenia now and ask her to come down. She just went up to the 5th floor with the staff member, so she probably hasn't met the members of your group yet."

"There's nothing inappropriate, it's just taking a photo and getting autographs." Kit said, just as the next elevator arrived.

Chapter 4128

Tina entered the elevator first and looked at Kit who was still outside the elevator, "Aren't you coming in?"

Kit pursed their lips, hesitated for a moment, and then entered the elevator.

The elevator doors closed, and Tina asked Kit, "Did you recognize me when you were on stage?"

"Hmm," they responded indifferently.

"How did you recognize me?" After all, Tina has also changed her appearance!

"Is it really difficult to recognize?" he asked back directly.

"..." Well, maybe this disguise wasn't very successful.

"Your performance tonight was amazing!

Congratulations on going solo in advance. You will definitely become even better!" Tina said sincerely.

Kit looked at the person in front of him. Indeed, he felt comfortable by her side. The tension that had been present throughout the concert seemed to slowly relax at this moment...

Just then, the elevator suddenly stopped abruptly.

But it hadn't reached the fifth floor yet!

Tina felt a sense of unease. Just as the elevator shook, Tina instinctively grabbed onto the handrail next to her and looked at Kit, "Are you okay?"

But when she looked at him, Tina's heart skipped a beat.

This was definitely not okay!

Kit, at this moment, had turned pale. Not the kind of paleness from makeup, but a real paleness. His lips even seemed to have lost their color.

“What’s wrong with you?” Tina asked anxiously.

Kit didn’t answer her. He just continued to breathe heavily.

Fortunately, the elevator stopped shaking. Tina quickly walked to Kit’s side and asked, “Do you have a medical condition? Or are you scared? Although the elevator malfunctioned, someone should be coming to fix it soon!”

After all, Eugenia and the staff took the previous elevator and should still be waiting for her on the 5th floor.

Now that the elevator had a problem, Eugenia and the staff would soon find out, and someone would naturally come to repair it!

Of course, at the same time, Tina quickly pressed all the floors and the emergency button in the elevator.

But just as she finished these steps, the lights in the elevator suddenly went out.

This... Is there no power?!

There was no sound coming from the other end of the emergency communication button either!

However, perhaps because she knew her friend was waiting upstairs, Tina’s inner self remained calm.

What she was more concerned about was Kit’s increasingly rapid breathing.

Could it be an asthma attack?!

Tina thought to herself, but she asked Kit, “Do you have any medicine on you? Do you need to take medication?”

But apart from his rapid breathing, he still didn’t answer her.

Tina gritted her teeth and said, "I'm really sorry!" Then she reached out and started feeling around Kit's body.

Typically, people with sudden illnesses like asthma would carry their medication with them. Since Kit was dressed in casual clothes instead of his stage costume, if he had any medicine, it should be on him.

Although the elevator was now in complete darkness due to the power outage, fortunately, she had her phone with her!

Even though there was no signal and she couldn't make calls, the flashlight on her phone was enough to provide some light in the elevator.

Tina held her phone in one hand and felt around Kit's body with the other

"What... What are you doing?" a trembling hand was placed on Tina's hand, and Kit's strained voice came through.

"I'm looking for medicine. Do you have any with you?"

Tina asked.

"No... I don't have any... I don't need to take any medicine," he said intermittently.

Tina was speechless. His current condition definitely didn't seem like he didn't need medicine!

Due to his rapid breathing, his chest was visibly rising and falling. Through the light of her phone, she saw large beads of sweat forming on his forehead, continuously trickling down his face.

Chapter 4129

Even the hand resting on the back of her hand was trembling violently.

No, it wasn't just his hand trembling, it seemed like his whole body was shaking!

It was as if he was scared of something.

"Do you...do you really not need to take any medicine? What's going on with you?" Tina asked, puzzled. breath his voice dry, "it's Tina was stunned.

Claustrophobia?

She had only seen this symptom in movies and TV shows before. She never expected it to appear right in front of her, and that Kit would be the one suffering from it!

But in all the information she found online about

Kit, there was never any mention of him having claustrophobia!

“Then...why did you still get on the elevator?” Don’t people with claustrophobia avoid enclosed spaces?

“For a short time, as long as I’m not alone, it’s fine.” Because she was there in the elevator, he chose to get on. But he didn’t expect the elevator to suddenly break down.

The longer he stayed in the elevator, the waves of fear that used to terrify him would keep rising, almost engulfing him like waves in the sea.

“So, what can be done to relieve your symptoms?”

Tina asked.

But at that moment, it was as if Kit couldn’t hear her voice. His eyes were tightly closed, his teeth biting his lower lip, and his whole body curling up like a shrimp.

His trembling body, and the sweat that kept dripping, seemed to be telling of his fear!

Seeing this, Tina took a deep breath, thought for a moment, and then leaned against Kit, reaching out to embrace him, speaking in the gentlest tone possible, “Don’t be afraid, you’re not alone now, I’m here with you, so there’s nothing to be afraid of...”

She kept saying comforting words while slowly and rhythmically stroking Kit’s back with one hand, as if she was petting a dog.

She remembered from watching TV shows before that when someone with claustrophobia had an attack, it was important to try to comfort them as much as possible.

To make them feel at ease!

To provide some psychological guidance.

Unfortunately, she wasn't a psychology student, so she couldn't offer professional psychological guidance.

Chapter 4130

"Kit, can you still hear my voice? Adjust your breathing, take deep breaths, inhale...exhale...inhale again, exhale..." She repeated tirelessly.

She kept talking until her mouth felt dry!

She didn't know how long had passed, but his breathing finally started to calm down, no longer so rapid, and the trembling of his body gradually ceased.

Tina finally breathed a sigh of relief, at least this comforting seemed to have some effect.

Now, all they could do was wait for rescue.

Kit felt like he was trapped in an endless darkness, where there was nothing but him!

And he, doesn't know when this darkness will dissipate!

Why is it him?

Why does he have to go through all this?

Why does he have to endure this kind of pain?

If he just holds on a little longer... just a little longer...

Just like he used to endure, if he endures, everything will be okay!

He waits for that familiar deepening sense of unbearable pain, but this time, something feels different.

"Inhale... exhale... inhale again... exhale again..." A gentle voice, through layers of darkness, echoes in his ear.

Her voice keeps pouring into his ears, making the darkness seem less terrifying!

That lonely and fearful terror slowly dissipates because of her voice.

He slowly opens his eyes, and through the faint yellow light of the phone flashlight, her face appears before his eyes.

It's really her!

When he was scared and helpless, she accompanied him.

"How are you? Feeling better?" Tina asks with a worried expression.
His eyelashes tremble slightly, "Much better."

"That's good." Tina takes a breath, "You have no idea how scary you looked just now, but now you're okay!"

He looks at the hands wrapped around him, "You... have been holding me all this time?"

"Yeah, I thought maybe it would make you feel like you're not alone, I'm here with you!" Tina says, then she seems to think of something and quickly adds, "I'm not trying to take advantage of you, doing this because you said you have

"I know," he says.

"But have you sought treatment for this condition at a hospital?" she asks.

He purses his lips and doesn't answer immediately.

"I'm not trying to pry into your privacy or anything, I just want you to be well," Tina reiterates.

His gaze

falls on her, "I know you mean well, I have sought treatment at a hospital, but it hasn't improved much."

Tina also knows that this kind of claustrophobia is mostly caused by some unpleasant experiences in the past, which leads to the development of this illness.

This kind of psychological illness is not something that can be cured just by saying it's cured.

"Since you're fine now, then..." she said, releasing her hands that were holding him. But just as she was about to retract her hand, he suddenly reached out and grabbed her right hand.
