

Ex Convict 4221

Chapter 4221

"I'm sorry, Tina!" These were the first words Kit said when he saw her.

He had thought that maybe he would never see her again, that maybe when he watched her being wheeled from the operating room to the hospital room, it would be the last time he saw her.

But he didn't expect the Stephenson family to suddenly come and tell him that Tina wanted to see him.

Tina actually wanted to see him?!

And the Stephenson family told him that

Tina already knew the whole truth.

This made him feel instantly guilty.

Instinctively, he didn't want to face her, but Tina wanted to see him, and he still wanted to see her one more time.

Even if he didn't know how to approach her, he still wanted to see her!

So he agreed to the Stephenson family and came here.

But when he saw her, he suddenly didn't know what to say. The words that came out instinctively were only "I'm sorry."

"What are you sorry for?" Tina's voice suddenly rang out.

Kit choked and said, "I lied to you, Tina.
I'm sorry, I'm a liar! I shouldn't have lied to you! I should have contacted your parents when I found you and handed you over to them, instead of weaving one lie after another."

To the point where the lies grew bigger and bigger, even reaching a point where they couldn't be contained.

Tina's heart sank, "Did you really lie to me? Were all the things you said to me after finding me lies?"

Kit remained silent.

"You said you were the person I loved, the father of the baby in my belly, were those lies too?" she continued to ask.
"Yes."

With Kit's heavy "yes," Tina's heart sank like it was plunging into an endless abyss.

"Why?" she asked softly.

Before seeing him, she had thought that if he gave a negative answer, she might struggle, hesitate, and maybe choose to believe him again.

But now, he admitted it so directly!

"Because I love you," he said, "I didn't expect that I would love you so much. When you went missing, I felt like the sky was falling, so I quit the entertainment

industry and started searching for you alone. I also didn't expect that I would find you earlier than the Hunter family and the Stephenson family!"
It was like a pie falling from the sky, hitting him all at once!
"Tina, do you know? Originally, I just wanted to spend a few more days with you, so I made up this lie. I knew very well that this lie wouldn't last forever, that it would eventually be exposed, but I was too greedy." Kit said in a low voice.

After acquiring some, he greedily wanted more.

So much so that in the end, his greed hurt her, and her precious child that she cherished so much!

His mistake was unforgivable, and he knew it all too well!

That's why he never begged for her forgiveness, he just wanted to see her, even if it was just for one more glance,
he was willing.

Tina suddenly gave a bitter smile, "You loved me, so you were greedy, so you deceived me! Did you ever think about what would happen if one day I found out the truth? What would it mean to me if the lies were exposed?"

"I'm sorry, truly sorry!" Apart from that, he didn't know what else he could say!

“Then let me ask you, is Chandler really my husband? Is he the father of my child in my womb?” Tina asked again.

Kit’s eyelashes trembled as he met Tina’s gaze.

He knew that some answers, once spoken, would truly be the end.

But this truth should have been told by “Yes, he is your husband, you love him very much. Originally, you two were already married, but on the day of the wedding, an accident happened and you went missing in the water!” Kit painfully revealed the truth.

Tina’s emotions became even more complicated after hearing this.

Chapter 4222

So it turns out...

“Then what about you? What exactly is the relationship between you and me?” she asked again.

“As I said before, you are my fan. You like me, but you made it clear what your liking for me meant.” Kit said, “And then, unintentionally, we started to have more contact. Despite knowing that you already had a fiancé like Chandler, we could not be together, but I couldn’t stop myself from falling for you.”

Falling for her seemed to be the easiest thing in the world.

Her sunshine, honesty, and kindness all made him more and more attracted to her.

"Is that all?" Tina asked.

2/11

Kit's eyes showed some hesitation, but he didn't want to lie to her anymore.

Today, when he saw her, he promised himself that he would tell her the truth if she asked.

"Later, because I was jealous of your relationship with Chandler, I did something that made you dislike me, so you stopped liking me the way you did before," he said.

She furrowed her brows, "What did you do that made me dislike you?"

"I kissed you against your will," he confessed.

A suffocating silence filled the air.

"Tina, I know I'm terrible and don't deserve your forgiveness, but I don't know what to do to make up for the hurt you've experienced. I'm sorry, I'm so sorry..."

Today, the words he said the most were "I'm sorry"!

“Kit, you saved me in the village, and during the car accident, you did everything to protect me and the baby.

So, the fact that you lied to me is enough to make amends. But I think we shouldn’t see each other again in the future because I don’t know how to face you.” Tina said.

Despair filled Kit’s eyes.

Was this the consequence of his actions?

The consequence of telling so many lies!

“I understand,” Kit closed his eyes in pain.

Now that he has obtained such a result, greed.

So no matter how she treats him, he will accept it!

Just as Tina was about to leave the ward, Kit suddenly asked, “How is the child now?”

He, at this moment, is unable to understand the condition of the child.

“She is still in the incubator, but her condition is improving,” Tina said.

After saying these words, Tina left the

ward.

Kit was left alone in the ward, his face filled with pain.

After Tina came out, instead of immediately returning to the ward, she had the nurse push her toward the neonatal ward.

Through the transparent gla*s window, she watched the small baby in the incubator.

The baby looked even smaller than regular infants and had tubes inserted, appearing so fragile.

But this fragile little life had been with her all along.

From when she disappeared in the water, to the small village, and then the car accident!

This little life had never given up,
struggling to survive!

Since her child was so strong, what reason did she, as a mother, have not to be strong as well?!

"Baby, you must be healthy," Tina whispered to the incubator.

She would also work hard to recover, to welcome her child back into her arms in a good state!

When Tina was almost at the ward, she heard the sound of an argument coming from inside.

"Now that the placenta is gone, what about your illness?" It was the voice of a middle-aged woman.

"This is my own business!" Chandler's voice came through.

"How can this be just your own business? Don't you know how worried your father and grandfather are about your health? But luckily, Tina has already been found, so once she recovers a bit, you should hurry up and let her get pregnant again."

"Mom, please stop saying such things!"

Chandler scolded.

"Why can't I say it? Your illness..."

Before the woman could finish speaking, Chandler seemed to realize something and turned around abruptly, opening the partially closed door of the ward.

Suddenly, Tina and the nurse pushing her wheelchair outside the ward came into view of the two inside.

Chandler's expression suddenly changed. "Tina, just now we..."

He moved his lips as if wanting to say something, but he didn't know what to say.

In the end, it was Tina who spoke first, addressing the nurse beside her, "I have arrived at the ward, you can leave now.""

"Okay," the nurse replied.

Only then did Tina turn her gaze back to Chandler and the woman in the room.

"Tina, I am Chandler's mother. I heard that you have amnesia, but regardless, I hope you understand that you are Chandler's wife, and this fact will not change," Adele said.

Tina met the other person's gaze and said, "Just because I'm his wife doesn't mean I must have another child."

Adele stared at Tina and said, "If you have another child, it means Chandler can be cured and no longer suffer. Don't you want that?"

"If I have a child just to cure someone, wouldn't that be very sad?" Tina said.

Adele observed Tina's expression at that moment and suddenly asked, "Tina, do you really not love Chandler at all anymore?"

As Adele's words were spoken, a suffocating awkwardness filled the air!

Chapter 4223

Tina looked at the middle-aged woman in front of her.

"I suppose you also know that I lost my memory, so for me now, Mr. Hunter is only my legal husband,” she spoke.

Chandler’s eyes flashed with a barely perceptible sense of disappointment.

It wasn’t surprising that Tina would say this, as to her, he was practically a stranger now.

But when he heard her say it, his heart couldn’t help but ache.

child?” Adele asked.

“I would only have a child out of love for this man, not because I want to cure an illness and have another child,” Tina replied directly, without any other tactful words.

Adele’s gaze turned to her son, “I’ve said it before, why did you keep thinking about her and keep postponing the marriage? If you had married her when she reached the legal age, there wouldn’t be so many problems now!”

“Mom, please stop talking about this.
This is a matter between Tina and me!”
Chandler shouted.

“How can it be just a matter between the Adele’s words were interrupted by her son, “I will live, and I will live well, so please stop saying anything more!”

Adele looked at her son’s pleading eyes.
It seemed that Chandler didn’t care about anything else as long as he could protect Tina.

She had never seen her son look at her like that before.

Even though her son was tormented by the curse, he never showed such a look.

She had always known that her son loved Tina very much, but since Tina went missing, his behavior repeatedly her previous understanding of him.

She only realized that her son's love for Tina was far deeper than she had imagined.

Adele finally just looked deeply at Tina and said, "Tina, even if you have lost your memory, I hope you can learn about your past with Chandler from others. In this way, you can let him live on, in consideration of the fact that he has loved and protected you all these years."

After saying these words, Adele left the ward alone.

Only Tina and Chandler were left in the
ward.

Tina looked at Chandler and said, "It seems like your family really wants to cure your illness."

“You don’t have to pay attention to what my mother said just now,” Chandler said.

“Is it really only possible to treat your illness with a baby’s placenta?” she asked after a moment of silence.

“There are other ways of treatment, and I have had this illness for many years, ever since I was born,” Chandler briefly
mentioned, not wanting Tina to bear any responsibility because of it.

Tina hesitated for a moment and asked,

“So, do you also want me to have another child?”

“No, I just hope that you can be happy, joyful, healthy, and safe!” Chandler said. He had always wished for this, not wanting to burden her, fearing that he would constrain her.

Tina, he had watched her grow up since she was born.

He had accompanied her all the way, from initially approaching her with a purpose, to later not wanting to confine her with that purpose, wanting her to live freely as she desired.

And in the end, the one who became confined was himself!

Chapter 4224

“Oh, by the way,” Tina suddenly said, “I heard that you haven’t seen the child yet?”

“Do you want me to go see her?”

Chandler asked.

“Since you claim to be my husband, the child's father, then isn't it only natural for you to go see her? Or is it because the placenta was lost during childbirth, and you can no longer be treated, so this child is no longer important to you?" she said.

Chandler tightly pursed his thin lips.

He always wondered if she wouldn't have suffered so much if there wasn't this child, if she wouldn't have gone through so much danger again this time?

The existence of that child had almost caused him to lose Tina.

Fortunately, Tina survived.

If Tina really lost her life in this accident because of the existence of this child, perhaps he would have killed the child himself!

And when this thought crossed his mind, he was horrified.

"No, it's not what you think," Chandler denied after a long pause.

"Then what is the reason that you don't want to see the child now?" she asked.

He didn't answer.

Tina didn't seem to intend to wait for his answer either, she just said, "I'm tired, I want to rest."

"Okay," Chandler said.

"I hope you can leave, I want to rest quietly alone," she said again.

"But you're still a patient now, you need someone by your side," he said.

"Then you can let the nurse come in."

His face looked a bit unpleasant, the color draining slowly from his face, "Do you hate me?"

Tina said, "It's not hate, right now you're like a stranger to me, there's nothing to hate."

After hearing what Tina said, Chandler became even more upset.

Is there nothing to dislike, and likewise, nothing to like either, is that how it is?

Chandler walked out of Tina's hospital room feeling a bit lost.

Unconsciously, he found himself in the neonatal ward, looking at his and Tina's daughter through the transparent floor-to-ceiling gla*s.

The little body lay there, much smaller than normal babies due to being premature.

There were tubes attached to her body, but her hands and feet would occasionally move, as if telling everyone that she was already a life!

Chandler looked at the tiny body, and his eyes involuntarily became moist.
Suddenly, a complex emotion surged in his heart.

If he had resentment towards this child before seeing her, now there was a strange affection.

Is it the bond between father and daughter?

That indissoluble connection through blood?

If Tina hadn't had an accident, how would he and Tina have welcomed this child with joy?

"I'm sorry..." Chandler said softly.

Actually, the person he resents the most is himself!

It was him who failed to protect Tina,
it was him who allowed the child to be born prematurely.

If back then, when Tina fell into the

he had held onto her, or if he had found Tina before Kit, maybe things wouldn't have escalated to this point.

The one who was wrong is him, so what right does he have to blame this child!

This is the child that Tina fought so hard to bring into the world!

Chapter 4225

Chandler stood outside the neonatal ward, looking at the tiny life inside.

He looked for a long, long time...

After Tina was discharged from the hospital, she didn't return to her and Chandler's newlywed home, but went back to the Stephenson family.

Although the elders in the Hunter family opposed her decision, Chandler agreed.

Simply because this is what Tina wanted.

"What are you thinking? Are you really that desperate to throw your life away?"

his own grandson.

When Tina went missing, his grandson was on the verge of losing his mind.

Tina has been found, but her grandson doesn't want her to get pregnant and have another child. Instead, he wants Tina to return to the Stephenson family!

"Tina has lost her memory, and for her, returning to live with the Stephenson family is the best option," Chandler said.

After all, the Stephenson family is where Tina has always lived, and now she clearly has a better attitude towards her parents than towards him. In comparison, she is more likely to accept her parents.

“She is now your wife. Even if the wedding didn’t go as planned, you have already obtained a marriage certificate and are legally married. Isn’t it natural for you to live together? How can others gossip about you if Tina goes back to the Stephenson family?” Grandpa said angrily.

“What others say is their business. I don’t care,” Chandler replied.

Grandpa’s face became increasingly unpleasant.

Adele, who is Chandler’s daughter-in-law, quickly went forward to help Grandpa sit down. She asked her son, “What are you going to do now? Tina’s attitude towards you is completely

You are spending less and less time together. How are you going to build a relationship with her? What will you do in the future if you can’t develop feelings between you two?”

“That’s my business,” Chandler said calmly.

“But it is also the Hunter family’s business!” Grandpa said angrily.

Adele looked at her son with concern and said, “Mom knows you love Tina, but you also have to think about yourself. If there is no possibility of having a child, what will you do? Are you not going to let her have a child even if she wants to? Are you going to let yourself suffer and die in pain?”

at his mother. "Mom, I won't die. As long as Tina is still alive, I will live well too."

Even if the days ahead may be difficult and extremely challenging for him at times, he will do everything possible to keep on living.

Because he wants to stay by Tina's side!

Because he wants to grow old with Tina!

Colin sighed and patted his wife's shoulder. Then he said, "Since Chandler has made his decision, let's respect it for now. Maybe when Tina goes to live with the Stephenson family, she can remember more about the past, which will help her recover her memory. Once her memory is restored, all the problems

Adele felt helpless, but she knew that at this point, they could only do this.

Grandpa just stared at Chandler and said, "You have grown up, and there are many things that you won't listen to our advice anymore. But you have to think everything through on your own! Whatever consequences your decision may have in the future, you'll have to bear them yourself."

understand," Chandler said with a faint smile.

He already knew the consequences. When he made this decision, he knew what kind of results his future might face.

But he still did it without hesitation.

Because to him, nothing is more important than Tina!

Chapter 4226

Tina was surprised to see the woman crying in front of her.

But amidst the shock, she didn't feel repulsed. Instead, she felt a sense of familiarity towards the woman.

"Tina, I'm glad you're still alive. If something had really happened to you, I wouldn't be able to go on," Eugenia said while crying. For the past half year, she had been having nightmares, dreaming of the scene where Tina let go of her hand to let her survive, only to be swept away by the water.

"Who are you?" Tina asked.

Eugenia paused for a moment and realized that she hadn't introduced herself to her friend yet, considering that Tina was currently suffering from amnesia.

"I'm Eugenia Ma*sy. You used to call me Eugenia. I was your best friend in college. You disappeared this time to save me! You have no idea how worried I was about you! Tina, my parents said you gave me a second life! Whatever you want to do in the future, I will unconditionally support you. I'm willing to do anything for you!" Eugenia said, tears and snot streaming down her face.

Tears and mucus flowed from Eugenia's eyes as she spoke these words.

Tina couldn't help but think that Eugenia looked incredibly adorable at that moment.

"I don't need you to do anything for me," Tina said, taking a tissue to wipe

Eugenia's tears. "You said we were best friends in college?"

"Yes," Eugenia nodded.

"Can you tell me about our college days? I don't remember anything," Tina said.

"Of course!" Eugenia immediately agreed. "I will tell you everything I

After that, Eugenia did indeed come to the Stephenson family to visit Tina frequently, telling her all about their college days.

She even brought many photos of the two of them together, as well as cosplay pictures of Tina taken during her college days.

"These are all your photos stored in this memory card. There are also some photos that haven't been printed yet," Eugenia said, bringing a memory card

with her.

Just when Tina inserted the memory card into the computer and opened it, she saw Kit in those photos.

Tina remained silent, not knowing what to say.

Seeing Kit stirred up a complex mix of emotions in her heart.

She felt grateful to Kit for saving her back then, for being so good to her,

and even for protecting her during the accident at the risk of his own life.

But at the same time, she resented him for deceiving her, for weaving a web of lies.

It has left her feeling confused even now.

Back then, she truly believed that Kit was the person she loved, the father of her child...

And in those moments of vulnerability, she developed some kind of special feelings for Kit.

Was it love? Or just a dependency akin to family?

She couldn't even explain it herself!

"Back then, did I like Kit?" Tina suddenly asked.

"Yes, you did." Eugenia replied. She was unaware of Kit's deception towards Tina.

All she knew was that Kit saved Tina and then she was found by the Stephenson family and the Hunter family.

"Is that so?" Tina whispered.

"At that time, you and I really liked Kit.

You were even more enthusiastic than

When it came to Kit's concert, you always made sure not to miss it. You bought a lot of his merchandise and even got your dad's company to provide Kit with film and television resources," Eugenia said. "Just like you, a wealthy heiress, being able to provide resources

Chapter 4227 She Used to Love Him So Much

"So, I really did love him that much," Tina lowered her head.

"But your feelings for Kit were just idolatry," Eugenia quickly added, "the person you love is Chandler. You've always kept these two feelings separate.""

Tina paused for a moment, "Then how much do I love Chandler?"

Eugenia thought for a moment, "You said you wanted to get pregnant and have Chandler's child as soon as possible. And you also said that if the person you married wasn't Chandler, you probably wouldn't want to get married at all."

Tina couldn't help but start thinking. Did she really say those things?

So, is this child she's carrying now the one she hopes to have with Chandler?

Eugenia continued talking, recalling all the ways Tina showed her love for Chandler.

But as Tina listened, she couldn't shake off the feeling that it all seemed unreal, as if she was listening to someone else's story.

"By the way, you wanted to marry Chandler early on and even thought about how you two would make love," Eugenia said.

Tina choked on her saliva and finally caught her breath. "Did I really do that?"

"Yes, you did. So now you know how much you love Chandler," Eugenia said. "Speaking of which, Chandler has been really good to you. He always thought you were eight years younger, so he didn't want to rush into having S with you. He's really honest. If you hadn't made the first move, you probably wouldn't have a child together now!"

Tina bit her lip lightly, "He's really good to me?"

"He's so good that all the girls in school envy you!" Eugenia said. "You know, he's a big CEO, rich, handsome, and in great shape. He could have any girl he wants, but he's only focused on you. He has no scandals. I heard that there were women who tried to seduce him in the past, but his bodyguards threw them out of the room!"

Eugenia continued telling Tina everything she knew about Chandler.

Tina listened quietly as if learning about a different Chandler from the one she knew.

The Chandler Eugenia described was gentle, mature, and completely devoted to her.

He would do whatever it takes to fulfill her wishes.

So when Chandler said he loved her at the hospital, it must have been true.

“By the way, after you went missing, Chandler seemed like he was going crazy. I’ve never seen him like that before. He was like a madman. No one dared to say anything bad about you in front of him. I even felt like if you couldn’t be found, he would die too!”

Eugenia really felt that way. If Tina died, Chandler would die with her!

Tina was stunned and suddenly raised her hand to cover her chest.

After hearing Eugenia’s words, her heart suddenly ached.

“Tina, what’s wrong with you?” Eugenia worriedly asked.

“I’m fine,” Tina sighed in relief. “Did Chandler really go crazy when I was missing?”

“No doubt about it. I was trembling just being around him at that time,” Eugenia said. “Anyway, now that you’ve lost your memory, Chandler is probably the one suffering the most. Tina, Chandler is really a good man. You two were truly in love before. I hope you can recover your memories soon.”

Chapter 4228 Getting to Know Him Again

“What if I never regain my memory, if I can’t remember anything about Chandler and me?” Tina whispered.

But as she spoke those words, an indescribable sadness welled up inside her.

“Then fall in love with Chandler again,” Eugenia suggested.

Tina was taken aback, “Fall in love again?”

“Yeah!” Eugenia shrugged, “A man like Chandler, it shouldn’t be difficult to fall in love with him. You have no idea how many girls at our school have a crush on him. If it weren’t for Chandler being devoted to you, everyone knows they wouldn’t stand a chance. He would have been surrounded by a bunch of women!”

Tina couldn’t help but fall into deep thought.

Even after Eugenia left, she couldn’t stop thinking about it.

Listening to Eugenia talk about Chandler like that, made her truly believe that Chandler is a good man.

Getting to Know Him Again

If she had some resistance towards Chandler while at the hospital, not wanting to accept that he was the man she once loved and the father of her child, that resistance seemed to fade away unconsciously.

During dinner, Tina suddenly said, "Do we have any old photos or videos of me and Chandler at home? I want to take a look."

Hadwin and Lina were very surprised. After realizing this, Lina quickly said, "Yes, after we finish dinner, I'll get them for you."

After dinner, Lina indeed brought several photo albums and a memory card to Tina.

"These are just some of the photos of you and Chandler from childhood to now. If you finish looking at them and want to see more, I'll give you the others," Lina said.

Tina looked somewhat dazed at the pile of photo albums in front of her. When she inserted the memory card into the computer, she saw that it had a capacity of 1000G.

The memories she had with Chandler, were they really so many...

Tina opened the album and began to look through it.

The first ones she flipped to were from when she was just

Getting to Know Him Again

born. At that time, Chandler was already a 7-year-old boy.

Chandler held her as a baby, his face expressionless. Looking into his eyes, it seemed to carry a sense of curiosity.

And in the following photos, she grew day by day, and Chandler's expression seemed to gradually become more varied, his gaze towards her becoming increasingly gentle.

He would feed her with a bottle, hold her hand, and occasionally pick her up.

Even though carrying her was a bit of a burden for him at that age.

Looking at these photos, Tina's lips unconsciously curved into a smile, but her eyes began to well up with tears.

It wasn't until the tears began to fall that she suddenly realized she was crying!

It was as if she was deeply missing those moments captured in the photos.

For the next few days, Tina continued to look at those photos, as well as the old family videos.

On the third day, Tina called Chandler, "I want to meet you in person."

Getting to Know Him Again

"Okay." The voice on the other end of the phone seemed to carry a slight tremor but quickly responded with determination.

In the afternoon, at the agreed time, Tina met Chandler at the Stephenson family.

Tina looked at Chandler standing in front of her. He appeared much thinner than she remembered from the photos before her disappearance. His tall figure was wrapped in a suit, giving off a somewhat empty feeling.

Chapter 4229 What if I don't love you?

"Mom, I want to go out for a walk with Chandler," Tina said to her mother.

"But what about your health..." Lina expressed her concern.

"My health has almost recovered, and the doctor also said that I need to be more active," Tina replied. She then took the initiative to walk up and hold Chandler's arm. "And with Chandler by my side, if anything unexpected happens, he will protect me."

After saying these words, she looked up at him. "Right?"

Chandler's face showed surprise, followed by a sense of joy.

"Yes, I will protect you."

Lina and Hadwin exchanged a glance, and finally, Hadwin spoke. "Well then, you two can go out for a walk."

Tina and Chandler left the Stephenson family.

Lina looked at her husband and said, "Tina actually took the

What if I don't love you? initiative to hold Chandler's arm. Could it be that Tina remembered something?"

"If she really remembered something, she would tell us," Hadwin said. "I think it's because these days, she has been looking at a lot of photos and videos of her and Chandler from before. Maybe she had some thoughts."

"Will Tina accept Chandler?" Lina couldn't help but ask.

She really didn't want to see two children who once loved each other end up as strangers, especially considering Chandler's feelings for Tina, which she had always known about.

If the two children really separated, then one day, if Tina regained her memory, it would be endless regret.

"She will, after all, Tina used to love Chandler very much, didn't she?" Hadwin understood his wife's worries and said, "Moreover, Chandler won't easily leave Tina."

Because Chandler loves Tina, even more, a love that even Hadwin finds incredible!

Tina held Chandler's arm and walked to a park outside the house.

The park was very clean, but there weren't many people inside because this area was the wealthy district of Emerald City, and most of the people living here didn't have the habit of visiting parks.

But for Tina, this was just right.

"I heard that we used to love each other very much," Tina initiated the conversation.

"Yes," Chandler replied.

"These past few days, I have looked at many of our old photos and videos, but I can't remember anything about the past. It's like watching someone else's story," Tina said.

Chandler's eyes revealed a hint of disappointment, then he said, "It's okay, I can patiently wait for you to regain your memory."

"What if I never regain my memory in my entire life?" she asked.

"That's okay too. You are still Tina, and that has never changed." Regardless of whether she has her memory or not, she will always be the Tina he loves.

"But a Tina without past memories doesn't love you. Is that okay?" she asked, looking at him.

His eyes flickered slightly. "The longer you live, the more you realize that in this world, everything involves both gaining and losing. Although you have lost your memory, you are still alive, and our child is also alive. That's already lucky amidst the misfortune. For me, it's God's blessing. So even if you don't love me, it's okay."

His voice seemed calm, but it carried an indescribable heaviness.

He knew very well that if she didn't love him if there wouldn't be a second child between them, what kind of fate would await him.

Chapter 4230 Shouldn't Be Difficult

"Don't you feel uncomfortable? Don't you want to fight for it?"

Why did you accept it so easily?" Tina suddenly spoke up.

Chandler stared motionlessly at the person in front of him.

Little did she know that if he truly fought for it, he might not be able to conceal the monster of desire in his heart.

What would she do when that time comes?

He couldn't predict the consequences, nor could he be certain that he would be able to control his actions rationally in the future.

His fight was something she couldn't bear.

But at this moment, he held onto a glimmer of hope: "If I fight for it, what would you do? Would you fall in love with me again? If you still don't love me, then my fight would only bring you pain!"

"That's okay!" Tina said without hesitation.

Both she and Chandler were stunned after she said those words.

Tina pursed her lips. "Chandler, I don't like how you are now, always seeming to consider me but at the same time acting as if it doesn't matter whether I love you or not. It's like your life can go on as usual even if I don't love you, and even if I fall in love with someone else, you remain unruffled.""

Chandler forced a bitter smile. Did he really not care? Could life really continue like this?

For him, it was impossible!

But precisely because she said those words, it only further proved that she had truly forgotten everything between them.

"Tina, I am not unruffled, and it does matter to me whether you love me or not. If you fall for someone else, I would be jealous! Especially when you wake up and care about Kit, I feel jealous too. This jealousy wraps around my heart like a venomous snake, making me feel like if this continues, I will no longer be myself!"

Maybe he would do something extreme to her, lock her up somewhere secluded, make her only focus on him, continuously possess her...

He didn't actually want any of this to happen.

He just wanted her to be able to be happy!

"Then let me fall in love with you again!" Tina met Chandler's gaze head-on.

"What?" Chandler exclaimed in surprise.

"Let me fall in love with you again. Even if I can't recover my memory, if I can fall in love with you again, then we can restore our lives to how they were before, right?" Tina said.

Looking at the various records from the past, she knew that he truly loved her.

And the past version of herself had also loved him very much. That's why she ended up pregnant with his child. That's why when she lost her memories and everything, she instinctively wanted to protect the baby inside her, regardless of the consequences.

Perhaps it was because deep down in her subconscious, she still loved him.

"You say you want to fall in love with me again?" Chandler's voice sounded hoarse.

"Well, that also depends on whether you can make me fall in love with you again," Tina said, raising her hand to stroke Chandler's cheek.

Chandler's body suddenly trembled, but he didn't dodge.

Shouldn't Be Difficult Instead, he allowed Tina to continue caressing his face.

Tina stared at the person in front of her, feeling that at this moment, her actions were so natural as if she had done them countless times before.

Just like she had done in the past.

"Eugenia said you were so handsome, with such a great figure. When I was in college, many girls liked you. If it wasn't for your single-minded devotion to me, I'm afraid many girls would have made a move on you long ago!" Tina said, suddenly smiling. "And when I think about how good you are to me, and how you're the father of our child, it shouldn't be too difficult for me to fall in love with you again."