

Ex Convict 941

Chapter 941

'Now that I've made this decision, there's nothing to regret!

Besides, my marriage to Lily would be the best for the Stevens family!'

"Alright, let's go over there and say hello to President Wang and the rest," said Sean, trying to stop the quarrel.

However, Zoe did not want to let it go.

"Brother, what do you mean? Can stand Grace insulting the Atkinson you family? Can't you stand up for Lily?"

"Have you forgotten your lesson?" Sean snapped.

"That's because she had Jason back then, but now she has broken up with him. Speaking of which, she's just a worn wh're now," Zoe spoke loudly, wanting everyone around them to hear her.

Moments later, everyone had turned to look at the scene. There were even a few sympathetic and curious looks, but Zoe did not think much of it. She just thought the crowd was sympathizing with Grace.

Zoe became more enthusiastic as she spoke, "Jason's weird too. He was interested in a woman you dumped. Amazingly enough, he lost interest in the worn wh're. Grace, I heard you were on your knees in prison, licking and eating leftovers like a dog. Why don't you perform--"

3/6

However, before she could finish, someone slapped her in the face. Zoe fell to the ground and subconsciously covered her cheek. It took a while before she came to her senses. "Who was it? Who dares to slap me?"

Zoe shouted. Her mouth and cheeks were tingling with pain as she spoke while her face burned.

She came to this banquet with her brother and future sister-in-law, wanting to see if there was anyone suitable for her in the upper-class. After all, her dating life had suffered after she became a cripple.

4/6

She refused to compromise and marry someone ordinary. The husbands of her friends were all rich and powerful or at least had hundreds of millions of dollars worth of fortune.

Therefore, to be slapped on the ground in such a manner was nothing short of humiliating for her. How could she hope to leave a good impression on the single men at this banquet now?

“It seems that the Stevens family don’t remember their lessons.” The elegant voice, accompanied by its bleak tone, immediately made Zoe shudder. Then,
she caught sight of a tall figure.

That’s... Zoe’s pupils immediately constricted as she looked at the man in surprise. It was Jason!

However, Jason did not even bother looking at her. He just glanced at Sean and Lily before asking Grace, “Did they do anything to you?!”

His tone was completely different from what it was before. It was gentle.

“We just chatted a little,” Grace replied in a soft voice. Zoe’s vicious remarks did not affect her at all.

Seeing this, Sean and Lily knew that Grace still shared a relationship with Jason after all.
Whether or not they had broken up,
Jason was still Grace’s backup!
With Jason around, no one could lay a hand on Grace.

Chapter 942

Sean panicked and immediately said, "Master Reed, it's just a misunderstanding. Zoe is young and immature, so please forgive her." Then, he shouted at Zoe who was still on the ground looking stunned, "Apologize!"

Zoe felt so aggrieved! 'I got slapped, yet I still have to apologize!

'But I have to admit defeat because I'm facing Jason. After all, the Stevens family is nothing compared to Jason!

'I got the news that Grace has moved out of Reed Residence and is living in a small rental house, so Jason must have dumped her. Why is... Jason defending Grace?

'Was it... Jason who brought Grace to the banquet today?'

Zoe was full of doubts, but no one gave her the answers.

She got up awkwardly and was about to apologize when Grace said, "No thanks. I don't need her apology."

Zoe was stunned. 'What does that mean?

I was about to apologize, but she...

"That's true. Sis doesn't need the apology," said Jason.

'Sis?' Sean was surprised. He had heard

Jason address Grace like that a long time ago. Later on, it seemed that Jason and Grace began dating each other and he never heard Jason call her that again.

'Now... What does this mean?'

Sean was also full of doubts.

Zoe was even more embarrassed now.

At first, she just wanted to apologize and leave, but now that she could not make an apology, she could only stand there with a red and swollen face while receiving strange gazes from all around.

This made her extremely miserable.

Lily came forward and said, "Although Miss Cummins said there's no need to apologize, it was Zoe's fault after all.

How about this? Why don't the Stevens family donate money to the children in the disaster area under your name, Miss Cummins? What do you think of that, Miss Cummins?"

Lily's approach helped Zoe solve the awkward problem of apologizing and gave the Stevens family a good reputation. Both parties would benefit from it.

Zoe was eager to agree. 'It's just spending some money. It's better than keeping me here awkwardly!'

Grace turned her gaze to the tray in Jason's hand. "Is that for me?"

"Yes," answered Jason.

"What about yours?"

"I ate some earlier."

The two chatted like no one else was there, treating Lily and the Stevens siblings like they were invisible.

Lily's expression changed immediately.

No one dared to ignore her, the second daughter of the Atkinson family!

"Then eat first. Put some food into your stomach," said Jason, placing the tray of food on a nearby table as he sat down with Grace.

The other three stayed put.

“What’s the matter? How long do you plan to stand there?” Jason asked lazily.

Sean then hurriedly left with Lily and Zoe.

Fa

The three were not in the mood to stay at the banquet anymore. They had become a laughing stock. Staying around would only embarrass them further.

**

Chapter 943

However, before she left, Lily could not help turning around to look at Grace and Jason again.

‘Does Grace still have Jason as her backer? Is it true that they broke up?’

If Jason was defending Grace, it would be difficult to lay a hand on Grace.

Lily was resentful that she was forced to quit the entertainment industry because of Grace.

However, in front of Grace, she had to be nice and could not lash out. Lily’s heart was full of hatred as she thought of this.

‘If I had known... I should’ve gone hard on Grace and let her die in jail back then!’

“Brother, are we going to be alright?”

Zoe looked like she had just survived a disaster. It was good enough for her that she would not have to apologize and pay any money.

However, Sean frowned. In his opinion,

Jason was not a soft-hearted man.

He was a harsh person to those who offended him.

'Zoe insulted Grace earlier, but Jason merely slapped and criticized her... It's almost like... he was holding it up high and letting it down gently.

'Is he... letting us off the hook that easily?'

Sean was not sure, but now, he could only tell his sister, "Maybe. You should be more careful in the future. Don't mess with Grace again, or you'll drag the whole Stevens family down."

Zoe curled her lips in disdain. "That's because she has Jason. She's nothing without Jason! Hmph. Let's wait till Jason gets tired of her one day. We'll see what I'll do to her then!"

"That's enough! Haven't you had enough today? Do you want your other leg to be broken too?" Sean yelled angrily.

Zoe's face reddened immediately and she stopped talking.

Lily looked at Sean with a faint worry in her eyes. Today, she noticed that there was a trace of nostalgia in his eyes when he first saw Grace at the banquet today.

'Nostalgia... What is he nostalgic about?

Is he thinking about his past with Grace?"

She would never allow her man to keep a second woman in his heart. She had to be the only one!

Grace ate from her plate with her head
down.

The banquet seemed to have put a lot of effort into the food. All the dishes were made with premium ingredients, and the chef did a great job at preparing the meals so they all tasted good. Of course, she needed to ignore the gazes on her for her to properly enjoy the food.

She was Jason's date at the banquet, which was already impressive enough. Coupled with Zoe's antics earlier, the other guests would throw her a look every now and then.

However, none of their gazes was as strong as the gaze of the man sitting next to her.

After taking a few mouthfuls, Grace looked up and said, "The food here tastes good. Why don't you go and get something to eat?"

"I'll have a taste," he said, leaning over and biting off the steak she was holding with a fork.

Grace was stunned. Then, she realized that she had already taken a bite of the steak on her fork earlier.

"It does taste good," he said with a smile on his lips.

She immediately turned her head away uncomfortably. Out of the corner of her eye, she caught a glimpse of the entrance of the banquet hall not far away and was stunned!

A couple was now entering the banquet hall, their arrival attracting quite a few glances.

Both of them happened to be people

Grace knew-Brian and Stella.

Grace was in a daze as she watched them walk slowly into the banquet hall.

When she took the firm's documents to get Curtis Row's signature, she had seen Brian and Stella appearing in the same way.

Chapter 944

Stella would accompany Brian to crowded events, just as if she was his girlfriend. No wonder many people on the internet believed Stella was Brian's girlfriend even though Brian had never publicly announced that the two were a couple.

After all, Brian had been driving Stella around, giving her resources to work on movies and TV dramas, and taking her to various events as if they were dating.

Grace knew all this because of the advanced internet.

Every gossip news about Brian would easily be the most searched topic. Sometimes, Grace could not ignore reading his news even if she wanted to.

Stella was also criticized on the internet for being plain-looking, ordinary, uneducated, and having been divorced. She was arguably Brian's worst girlfriend of all time!

Some people even said that something must have blurred Brian's eyes to choose such a woman.

the Hart family had never publicly expressed their attitude toward Stella.

However, later on, Stella's manager publicly expressed on the internet that they would sue those who defamed Stella for legal liability.

Everyone knew the manager. He was a top manager Brian chose for Stella.

Otherwise, someone like Stella would never have caught his attention.

As a result, many people believed that Brian must have ordered the manager to make the deGracation.

Just then, as if sensing something, Brian looked past the people around him as his eyes fell on Grace.

As soon as their eyes met, a hand suddenly covered Grace's eyes. All she could see was pitch-black.

"Don't look. I don't like you looking at other men so seriously." The cold voice rang faintly in Grace's ears, making her shudder.

"Stop fooling around. Take your hand off," said Grace.

"I'm not fooling around," muttered Jason.

Those bright eyes were now staring coldly at Brian who was not far away.

Brian could not help frowning when he saw Jason with Grace.

'What's going on? Didn't they break up?

Why is Grace with Jason?'

The two men looked into each other's eyes. One pair was full of confusion while the other was full of cold jealousy.

Jason knew he was jealous. He was jealous when she looked at Brian so attentively.

Rather, he was more envious of her past with Brian. After all, the man knew her years before him and had even been looking for her all this time.

Despite all he had done... she still remembered Brian and her memories with him.

However, what surprised him was that she did not seem to have told Brian about it. Otherwise, the woman standing beside Brian today would not be Stella!

Grace shouted, "Jay! I didn't mean to look at Brian. I can't see anything if you do this."

||

His hand seemed to be just touching her but when she tried to pull it away, eyes,
she could not.

"Don't fall for Brian." His voice rang in her ears again.

She was speechless. She had no plans to fall for Brian at all. "I won't."

"Good," he muttered as he looked at 717

Brian who was coming this way, then he slowly took his hand away.

Chapter 945

Light came back into Grace's eyes. However, when her eyes got used to the light, she realized Brian and Stella had walked up to her.

"Grace, why are you here? You're... here with Mr. Reed?" Stella was also full of doubts. 'Didn't she break up with Jason? Why are they together again? What the hell is going on?'
She had been worried that Grace would suddenly come and explain everything to Brian, so she did everything she could to discredit Grace in front of Brian and reinforced the impression that she was the girl who saved his life as a child.

2/6

However, Grace never came looking for Brian. Just as she was breathing a sigh of relief, she met Grace here!

“What’s the matter? Can’t she be here with me?” Instead of Grace, the speaker was Jason.

“Of course not.” Stella forced a smile.

Brian asked as he looked at Jason, “Why are you with her?”

He asked without even the faintest disguise!

“I told you. You... can’t touch her.” Jason gave him an irrelevant answer.

“You can’t order me around,” Brian replied coldly.

Then, Brian’s eyes fell on Grace’s face again. “I thought you said you wouldn’t love Jason anymore. What’s this?”

Grace’s expression froze. One could say that Brian held no one here in regards by saying this in front of Jason.

Jason’s expression immediately sank.

There was a tension in the air.

“Mr. Hart, this is my business. I don’t think I need to report it to you,” said Grace as she got up.

When she got up, Brian could see the full sight of her wearing the gown.

The light purple gown set with white and purple crystals was so graceful and elegant that it attracted much more attention than when she was sitting down.

Brian was stunned. 'This gown...! He once spotted it on a designer's website, but he was told that the only one was already reserved when he wanted to buy it.

However, on the principle of confidentiality, they never told him who bought it.

'Now it seems... Jason was probably the one who bought it.

Over the years, he had collected a wardrobe full of purple dresses. Every year, he would collect them according to the age of the little girl and her estimated height and weight.

In many cases, he would even buy the same style in all sizes.

However, after finding Lifang, he did not give her the dresses.

He could not tell why. Was he reluctant? However, why was he reluctant?

Now, looking at Grace who was in front of him, suddenly there was a voice inside him that said... He just wanted the woman in front of him to wear those dresses-the dresses he had used to sustain his longing for so many years!

6/6

Even he thought it was funny that although Lifang was right next to him, he wanted Grace to wear those dresses instead!

Chapter 946

Stella looked at Grace's purple gown with a flash of jealousy in her eyes.

Brian had refused to give her the purple dress she was interested in and only sent her to the store to pick another one out.

When she chose a purple dress, Brian faintly remarked that it did not suit her current complexion. In the end, she changed her pick to a beige dress.

Now, Grace was wearing a purple gown and it was almost like a slap in her face!

"Grace, Brian is just wondering why you're with Mr. Reed again. Didn't you two break up? Is there some misunderstanding? Or is it that life hasn't been great since you left Mr. Reed, so you couldn't help but to go back to him?" Stella pretended to be concerned.

Stella deliberately wanted to make others think that Grace only returned to Jason's side because she was already used to living the lifestyle of the wealthy. After leaving Jason, she was reluctant to give up the money and material comforts, so she got together with Jason again.

It did not occur to her that what she thought was a more subtle and skillful allusion was, in the eyes of the other three, a very poor one.

"It's none of your business," Grace said coldly.

"None of my business? You're my cousin.

Who should I care about if not you?"

Stella kept on pretending.

"Why don't we talk about what happened during our childhood..."

Stella's expression immediately changed when Grace said this. She knew Grace was referring to Brian's rescue from back then.

She was not sure who Brian would believe if Grace told him this!

“We didn’t get along when we were kids,

but that doesn’t mean I don’t care about

you.

We’re relatives, after all,” muttered

Stella as she stammered a little.

“Really? Relatives?” Jason’s voice rang sarcastically as he looked coldly at Stella.

Stella could not help but wince a little, feeling as if he had seen through her. Subconsciously, she could not help but hide behind Brian.

Brian frowned and said to Jason, “Lifang is only concerned about her cousin. Why do you have to frighten her?”

Jason looked coldly at Brian, “You and I both know she’s not.”

Brian was silent. ‘Yes, he has met all kinds of people. Of course, he can see that Stella doesn’t care about Grace at all.’

However... Lifang was the one he had been looking for. She was his savior, and it was natural for him to defend Lifang on such occasions.

“I won’t let you lay a hand on her,” said

Brian.

“I’ll tell you the same thing,” said Jason.

However, what they meant was different.

Brian would not allow Jason to vent his anger on Stella and hurt her, while Jason would not allow Brian to give a go at Grace and occupy her heart.

The two men looked at each other.

Stella was secretly delighted. 'Is Brian... protecting me?

'So I do occupy a place in Brian's heart after all!' Stella gave Grace a defiant look of triumph as she thought of this.

'So what if Grace is the one who actually saved Brian's life? I'm the one Brian cares about now! Me, Stella!'

Grace only found the defiant look in her cousin's eyes extremely amusing.

It turned out that sometimes a cuckoo that took over a magpie's nest would actually think it was a magpie. However, looking at the way things had already turned out, she did not want to talk about it anymore.

Chapter 947

She had made the decision not to tell him, so she did not have anything to regret now.

"I think I'd better call it a day," Grace said to Jason.

"Alright." Jason smiled gently. He had achieved his purpose today anyway.

The only reason he brought her here today was to let the others see her by his side so that the upper-class circle knows that she was still his woman. That way, no one would dare lay a finger on her!

Also... he wanted to let Brian know that she was back with him and stop him from thinking about her!

2/6

Jason prepared to walk toward the banquet's exit with Grace.

However, before they even took two steps, Brian suddenly grabbed Grace's wrist and stopped her.

"Why be with him when you don't love him anymore?" "Brian asked, staring at Grace as if he needed to get an answer from her today.

"That's my business! You don't seem to be in a position to ask, Mr. Hart," said Grace as she tried to pull her hand away.

3/6

However, Brian did not let go. His phoenix eyes continued to stare seriously at her.

Jason looked back at Brian and smiled suddenly. With everyone watching, he put his arm around Grace's waist. "Brian, do you have to embarrass everyone? Grace was with me and is still with me. Is there a problem with that?"

Brian's face paled.

Grace stiffened, but instead of resisting Jason's sudden embrace, she looked at Brian before saying, "It's my business who I want to be with, Mr. Hart."

This time, she pulled her hand smoothly out of his fingers.

Seeing Grace and Jason leaving, Brian felt an emptiness in his hand that extended to his heart. It was as if he was losing something very important...

"Brian..." Stella tugged at Brian's arm, not liking the way he looked at Grace's back.

What had been delight earlier now turned to jealousy.

'Why does Brian care so much about Grace when in his mind, I'm the girl who saved his life when he was a child?'

"Didn't you say you would introduce me to some people and help me make more connections?” grumbled Stella.

Brian then looked at Stella who was next to him. “I’m a little tired today. I’ll ask someone to take you to meet some producers and directors later.”

Stella was unwilling! It would only show how much Brian valued her if he took her to meet those people himself! Others would also think more highly of her that way.

If it were someone else, then it would belittle her status.

“But...” Stella seemed reluctant.

However, Brian had already summoned an entertainment industry veteran who was also at the banquet today and asked him to take Stella to meet some people.

No matter how reluctant Stella was, she could only leave with the veteran.

Brian took a glass of wine from a tray held by a waiter and began to drink.

‘Jason can’t get over Grace after all.

Chapter 948

Jason and Grace are back together... But why do I feel so uncomfortable at the thought of it?’

Just now when Jason was holding Grace, he even felt jealous and had the impulse to tear them apart...

“What came over you just now?” A voice rang in Brian’s ear.

Brian looked up. It was Patrick, a friend
he had known since childhood.

"You're here too," said Brian.

My Gorgeous Wife is an Ex-Convict!

'Jason and Grace are back together... But why do I feel so uncomfortable at the thought of it?'

Just now when Jason was holding Grace, he even felt jealous and had the impulse to tear them apart...

"What came over you just now?" A voice rang in Brian's ear.

Brian looked up. It was Patrick, a friend
he had known since childhood.

"You're here too," said Brian.

"Yes, I wanted to come over to say hello when I saw you and Jason together, but it didn't take long for me to realize that something wasn't right," said Patrick.

Therefore, he held back for a while, fearing that his presence would make things worse. He stood on the side, watching the situation as it unfolded.

He was about to rush forward when Brian suddenly grabbed Grace's hand, fearing that the two men might fight. Luckily, nothing happened, so only now did he approach Brian.

"You know how much Jason cares about Grace. He even looked like he was going to kill someone last time, so why would you meddle in this? Is there a woman you can't find in the entertainment industry?"

said Patrick.

Many beautiful women in the entertainment industry wanted to get into the crown prince's pants.

"She's different." Brian took another sip of wine.

"What's the difference?" asked Patrick.

Speaking of which, he did not think Grace was stunningly beautiful. She just looked pleasant at most. However, both Jason and Brian had fallen for her, making Patrick confused.

Brian said nothing and only took another apre

4/

glass of red wine from a passing waiter before downing the contents.

'Yeah, what's the difference?

'Grace isn't the little girl who saved my life and neither is she some stunning beauty, so why do I care about her?

'Is it because of that face?

'However, that's just a misunderstanding, isn't it? It's just because I always thought that the little girl would grow up to look like her.

'When in fact, the little girl grew up to be Lifang!'

Brian drank glass after glass as if he wanted to get himself drunk. Patrick could only drink with his friend.

A figure was now trembling in the corner of the banquet. He even lost interest in the new model he finally managed to hook up with. There was only fear in his heart!

Curtis Row never expected that the one who accompanied Jason to the banquet today was the paralegal called Grace!

He could hardly understand what was going on!

He thought Grace was related to Stella, the woman often seen around Brian, so

Ter

he had apologized by sending Grace

some yellow roses for the previous incident.

However, now it seemed that this woman... had more to do with Jason and

Brian.

When he saw Brian holding Grace's wrist and Jason stopping him, Curtis Row's back was immediately drenched with cold sweat as his hair stood on end.

These two men were the most powerful and wealthy men in Emerald City!

'Now... they're fighting over a woman?

'For heaven's sake, who did I offend that day?'

"Kaihao, what's the matter? You look so pale. Didn't you say you would introduce me to more e-commerce tycoons today?" the model said coquettishly.

Chapter 949

She finally managed to hook up with Curtis Row and got him to change his mind to bring her here instead of his starlet girlfriend.

She wanted to use this banquet to expand her network.

However, Curtis Row was in no mood to pay attention to the beautiful woman's coquettish behavior. All he could think about was... what he should do!

Jason sent Grace back to the rental house.

"I'm a little tired and I want to go to bed early." What Grace said was equivalent to ordering Jason to leave. However, he had no intention of leaving.

He nonchalantly lifted strands of hair from her cheek and twirled them with his fingers. "Did you really tell Brian that you wouldn't love me anymore?"

Grace pursed her lips, looking at the face close at hand before saying, "Yes."

||

Jason's expression changed immediately.

"Do you think I should continue to love you after we've broken up?" she asked with some amusement.

"Who would you love then?" Jason asked after keeping quiet for a while.

"No matter who else I choose to love after this, I wouldn't love you anymore. I'm your sister and you're my brother, right?" She suddenly smiled at him.

However, the smile seemed so glaring to him.

"Will you fall in love with Brian?" he asked, staring at her.

Grace was silent... Falling in love with Brian was something she had never imagined. Brian was her childhood

Chapter 848

A//

friend who had gone through thick and thin with her

She and Brian might have had a friendship, but love...

Grace did not answer the question and only said, "Do you think falling in love is easy? Jason, you never believed my love for you when you were dating me, did you?"

He pursed his thin lips. Then, he put his arms around her while his lips got closer to her ear. He croaked out the words,

"Don't fall in love with Brian, alright?"

All he knew was that if she fell in love with Brian, he would be mad with jealousy!

He did not want her to fall in love with anyone else, even if they were now broken up and she was only his sister!

"Is falling in love with someone else alright then?" she asked.

"Who are you going to fall in love with?

Chase Harper?" The ordinary man flashed into his mind.

"This has nothing to do with Chase Harper. I won't fall in love with Chase Harper!" she said immediately, not wanting to involve Chase Harper in their mess.

"It seems that you care a lot about

Chase Harper. You can't wait to distance yourself from him. What's the matter?

Are you afraid that I'll do something to him?" Jason said angrily.

The more anxious she was to distance herself from Chase Harper, the more she seemed to care about the man.

'What's so good about the man who seems worthless to me? Why would she defend him like that?'

"I just don't want to involve the innocent. Chase Harper's a good guy. Besides, we're just close because of the case I'm working on," explained Grace.

"A good guy?" Jason suddenly sneered.

His warm breath sprayed on Grace's ears. "You said I was a good guy too, Sis."

Chapter 950

Grace was stunned. She had just met him when she said that. He was gentle, careful, and never cared about the fact that she had been in prison. She thought he was a good man, but actually... there was a side to him that was scheming and cold-hearted. He had blood on his hands... He could never be a good man.

"Tell me, what will you do if I involve Chase Harper?" he asked, testing her.

Her almond-shaped eyes stared at him with a certain determination. "Don't lay a hand on Chase Harper. Otherwise, I won't forgive you!"

She could only threaten him with herself!

His face darkened more and more. "You overreact when it's just about Chase

Harper. Are you still going to deny that you care about him?"

'Care about him?' Grace asked herself. She did not have any special feelings for Chase Harper, or maybe there was something simple and ordinary about him that made her wish for his safety.

The more you experienced darkness, the more you would feel that being simple and ordinary was the most valuable quality!

she replied.

"What if I insist? You once said you'd protect me," he said.

Her eyelashes fluttered slightly as she lowered her eyes slowly. The corner of her lips curled as she said with self-mockery, "As you can see, can't even protect myself. Otherwise, I wouldn't be your Sis again now."

When she finished, she felt his body stiffen for a moment. Then, his arms tightened around her. His hug was so tight that she could hardly breathe.

For the next two days, Jason never appeared in front of Grace again.

However, there was one thing that caught people's attention online and became a hot topic.

It was a video of the Stevens family's daughter, Zoe.

In the video, Zoe, who was dressed in a skimpy outfit, was on all fours as she ate scraps from a plate with dogs. She even barked like a dog as she ate, making it almost impossible to imagine that she was a Emerald City socialite.

As soon as the video was posted, it immediately created an uproar in high society. Ordinary folks left all kinds of comments.

The Stevens family tried desperately to remove it, but their efforts were to no avail even after they had spent a lot of money. It remained the most searched topic.

You could say that the Stevens family was completely disgraced because of this incident.

Journalists had cornered Sean and Lily in their attempts to interview them only to be rejected.

At the Stevens family's residence, a group of paparazzi was waiting outside.

Zoe's face was full of fear and anxiety.

She had no idea why she was so unlucky.

She had only taken drugs out of curiosity.

She faintly remembered being high afterward, but she did not remember what happened exactly.

By the time she woke up the next day, the video was already trending online.

She had been staying at home these two days. She did not even dare to go out the door! Besides that, she had not answered the phone calls from any of her best friends.

Pretty much everything in the room that could be broken was broken.

As soon as Sean entered his sister's room, he saw the mess that included a broken phone on the floor.