

F.D Emperor 71

Chapter 71: [Nine Nirvana Blood Qi] (3)

The journal did not stop there and had many bold ideas and theories. For example, the author theorized that Great Emperors--as beings that have escaped the shackles or restraint of Heaven--may be able to break through to the Bodyrefining Realm 13th Layer.

However, by that time, it was too late. Or to be precise, it is meaningless. Great Emperors are at an entirely different level of existence. Even if one was willing to give up their cultivation and restart over, the benefit that they would receive is quite miniscule as their foundation has already been set.

Additionally, if an Emperor helped another person to achieve the Body Refining Realm 13th Layer, it would also be detrimental.

The author of the journal theorized that the process of breaking the barrier of the 13th Layer would most likely be a baptism of the will, soul, state of mind, and Dao Heart.

It is a process of defying Heaven, of going beyond the limits of perfection; it is the process of reaching transcendent perfection.

If someone else were to help you achieve this process, then all you would have is the power without the state of mind or will. Of course, many people would still be willing to just have the power if given the chance.

After reading the information in the library, Wang Wei was shocked. He did not expect that an idea he had on a whim would have so many implications. However, he became more determined to succeed.

Upon returning to his mountain, Wang Wei spent the next month thinking about how to break the barrier of the 13th Layer. In the past month, he barely ate or washed himself. If it was not for the fact that his cultivation prevented his body from smelling weird and musty, Heaven knows what he would look like after this month.

As for food, he mainly consumed pills to sustain himself. When his mother found him after a month, she wondered who was this beggar that had intruded into his son's cultivation room.

When Yu Yan realized that the beggar looking person was in fact her son, she was scared wondering if something had gone wrong during his cultivation; she worried that her son had gone through Qi deviation while cultivating.

In fact, nothing was wrong with him. On the contrary, he was better than alright. In the past month, he had developed a feasible idea on how to break through to the Bodyrefining Realm 13th Layer.

In fact, the answer to the problem is actually very simple: as long as blood qi is powerful enough, it can of course break that barrier. The problem to solve is how to make blood qi so powerful.

Wang Wei--as a transmigrator--never lacked imagination or crazy ideas, and he has the guts to try them.

Wang Wei's first step in solving the problem is origin qi that Divine Sea Realm cultivators have. After analyzing the [Origin Path Sutra], he realized that origin qi is essentially a highly compressed or liquified blood qi mixed with soul power.

Wang Wei believed that if he can create a method to revert origin qi back to blood qi while keeping the strength and purity of origin qi, then his blood qi will reach the quality needed to break the barrier.

However, the purity and quality is not enough to accomplish such a task. Quantity is also necessary. As for how to solve this problem, Wang Wei's idea came from the journal he read in the library: it was the idea of an Emperor re-cultivate from the Body Refining Realm.

Wang Wei believed that if he cultivated the Body Refining Realm more than once but also retained the strength of his blood qi from the previous try, his blood qi would become immensely powerful.

For example, now at the Bodyrefining Realm 12th Layer, Wang Wei has 48,000 jin (24,000kg) of force. However, with this method, when he starts cultivating the second time, he will have 48,000 jin of force at the Bodyrefining Realm 1st layer. The cycle will continue until he reaches the standard to break that barrier.

After having a clear plan, Wang Wei washed himself and took a Mind Soothing Pill to relax his nerves and sleep peacefully. The next day, Wang Wei made an application to his father to provide him with Enlightening Tea.

As the name suggests, this tea allows cultivators to enter a state of enlightenment, which would dramatically increase their comprehension. This thing is very precious, even with his status, Wang Wei has to ask to give access to it.

When Wang Tian received the request from his son, he was quite surprised. He knows that his son is a truly terrifying genius when it comes to comprehension.

When he was only three years old, he could easily understand a bunch of esoteric scriptures. In order to prepare to have his own Heavenly Physique, he studied runes for countless years with Great Elder Wang Fu, Li Jian, Qin Hua, and Yan Ji.

Not only could he easily understand basic runes, he could also modify and optimize many of them. The only reason he did not study higher level was the fact that he needed to have a certain cultivation level just to study these runes.

Additionally, his status of demonic genius was further proven when he created the [Ten Thousands Things Adapt To One Sutra]. This is a technique that can essentially change an ordinary person into a genius.

And what Sec Master Wang Tian liked most about his son are his random and crazy ideas. Now that his son asked for Enlightening Tea, it's most likely that he had another crazy idea and needed some help to achieve it.

After thinking about this, Wang Tian left Tianwei Peak and returned to the family mountain to see his son, then Wang Wei explained his idea to his father.

Wang Tian looked at his son with a dumbfounded look. He knew that his son had many crazy ideas, but he did not know that he was this crazy. And what surprised him the most was the fact that his son has a high chance of succeeding. So, he agreed to give him the tea.

With the enlightenment tea, Wang Wei spent another 6 months in seclusion. As a result, he created a technique that he called the [Nine Nirvana Blood Qi].

When he exited his cultivating chamber, Wang Wei saw both his father and grandfather waiting for him. He could see a look of excitement and expectation deep in their eyes.

'Isn't it just a cultivation method, why are they acting like this?,' thought Wang Wei. Without waiting for them to ask, he handed a paper to them that described his new method.

The two of them basically pulled the paper from Wang Wei's hand and started reading. The more they read, the more excited they became.

After finishing, Wang Chang muttered, "We have hope." And Wang Tian nodded his head in agreement. Meanwhile, Wang Wei looked at them in confusion, however, they seemed not willing to explain.

Wang Tian looked at his son and asked, "What do you need to properly cultivate this technique?"

"I need pills to strengthen my body, and access to the Calcify Milk Cave."

"No problem, here is the Sect Master Token, with it, you can go deep inside the cave."

After saying this, both Wang Tian and Wang Chang left, but Wang Wei could still see a smile on the corner of their mouth. Wang Wei guessed that there was something that his parents did not tell him and maybe his technique had bigger ramifications than he thought.

However, right now, he was not in the mood or state to think about this kind of thing. His mind was exhausted, and he needed to get some rest before doing anything else.

As such, Wang Wei took more than half a month to adjust his state before heading to the Calcify Milk Cave. This time, he decided to hide his identity to be able to blend in and see what the life of other disciples is like.

After taking a Face Changing Pill, he turned into a completely different person. Even his hair and eyes changed back from grey to black.

On the way to the cave, he listened to the conversation of the disciples.

"Senior Brother, are you going to cultivate in the Calcify Milk Cave?"

"Yes. I had to hunt more than 50 Tier 3 (Divine Altar) Demonic beasts in order to have enough contribution to spend 1 hour in the outer layer of the cave."

"Oh, you are still lucky, senior brother. As an inner disciple, you have the right to enter the Calcify Milk Cave. 1 hour cultivating in there is equal to more than 3 months outside."

"Junior brother, that is nothing. Core disciples can cultivate in the inner layer of the cave. There, 1 hour is equal to 6 months outside. Not to mention the Contemporary Sacred Son. I heard that every time they are about to break through a realm, they will receive a few drops of milk from deep into the cave."

"Senior brother, what is this milk you talk about?"

"You do not know? Oh right, it has not been long since junior brother entered the sect. The milk is actually spiritual energy that has been liquified, then compressed under ground for countless years. I heard from another senior brother that the Calcify Milk Cave was created by Emperor Qiyuan. As such, the milk has been compressing in the sect for millions upon millions of years."

"If I had such a thing, my cultivation would not be so slow."

"Work hard little junior brother. Maybe one day, you will also become a Contemporary Sacred Son."

Soon, Wang Wei arrived at his destination. He handed his father's token to the Elder guarding the entrance, and headed straight deep into the cave.
