

Fall for You 1061

Chapter 1061

The Yoder Group, Maxim's office.

Maxim was reading the document, an icy aura enveloping him that sent chills down one's spine.

Suddenly, the phone on the table rang.

Upon seeing it was Cosmo, a glint of coldness flashed in Maxim's eyes as he immediately hung up and blocked him.

After a while, Cosmo sent a text message from another number.

"You didn't want the antidote anymore?!"

Maxim's hand, clutching the document, tightened fiercely, glint of malice flashing in his eyes. Not until the document was distorted by his action did he abruptly let go.

He picked up his phone and removed Cosmo's number from the blacklist, then he dialed back directly.

"Don't forget our deal, if you refuse to give the antidote, I call off the engagement with Aurora."

Maxim's voice was icy cold, devoid of any warmth, making one feel as if they were in a frozen tundra.

Cosmo's face turned livid with anger, he roared, "Bastard! I arranged your engagement with Aurora in the hope that you two would get married. Don't tell me you thought that just by getting engaged, I would provide you with the antidote every month! There's no such good thing!"

No sooner had the words fallen than Maxim gave a cold laugh.

"It's best not to let me know what connection Briana Cameron's poison has with the Vanderberg family, otherwise I definitely won't let you and the Vanderberg family off the hook!"

If Briana Cameron hadn't been poisoned, a poison that required an antidote every month, and if the antidote hadn't been in Cosmo's possession, Maxim wouldn't have been forced by Cosmo to get engaged to Aurora.

Cosmo gritted his teeth, "In your eyes, am I the kind of person who will stop at nothing to achieve my goals?!"

"Otherwise? Taking advantage of someone's vulnerability to force me to get engaged to a woman I don't love, how could you be any kind of gentleman?"

"Maxim, is this how you spoke to your father?!"

A glint of coldness flashed in Maxim's eyes as he said impatiently, "Did you call just to ask such boring nonsense? Don't contact me again if it's not important."

After speaking, he promptly and decisively hung up the phone.

Cosmo slammed his phone on the table angrily, saying, "I did all this for his own good! Only by marrying Aurora can he establish himself in the Vanderberg family! If he goes to Briana Cameron, who in the Vanderberg family will respect him?!"

The butler on the side disagreed with Cosmo's approach from the beginning, frowning and saying, "Sir, I think it would be better to let the young master choose for himself. Besides, the young master is so capable, he doesn't need to rely on a woman to rise to power."

Cosmo snorted coldly, "What do you know?! If he marries Briana Cameron, his future path will definitely be tough. If he marries Aurora, no one will dare to provoke him in the future. I'm doing this for his own good, he'll understand someday!"

"But back then, the old man also arranged a woman from the Haseton family for you, didn't you also refuse? You even ended up with the young master's mother."

Cosmo fell silent for a moment, then said in a deep voice, "It's because I made mistakes in the past that I'm so opposed now."

Thinking of Blanche, Cosmo looked somewhat sad. If he hadn't been with Blanche in the first place, she wouldn't have died.

"The young master is already an adult, with his own thoughts. I think you should respect his ideas..."

Before he could finish speaking, he was abruptly interrupted by Cosmo's cold voice.

"Enough, I don't want to hear any more, you may leave now!"

After the butler left, he picked up his phone and sent a message, asking him to bring Aurora back for dinner in the evening.

This message naturally sank like a stone in the ocean, without any response whatsoever.

Maxim glanced at the text message sent by Cosmo, then deleted it as if he hadn't seen it.

Just as he was about to put down his phone and continue working, a piece of entertainment news suddenly popped up at the top of his phone screen. His fingers, which were holding the phone, tightened abruptly!

Chapter 1062

He clicked on it, and a photo of Briana Cameron and Hector walking out of the restaurant came into view. Both of them had smiles on their lips. She seemed to have no trace of sadness or haggardness, completely different from the day of his engagement party with Aurora.

She was able to walk out so quickly, he should have been happy, but there was a feeling named jealousy constantly battering his heart, making him wish he were dead.

Maxim took a deep breath and abruptly flipped his phone upside down on the table.

After a long time, his emotions finally calmed down.

“Knock, knock, knock!”

The knock on the door sounded, and before Maxim could speak, the office door was pushed open. Aurora walked in with a smile on her face.

It was just that her cheeks were red and swollen, so her laughter seemed somewhat unnatural.

Seeing her, Maxim’s expression was indifferent, “Who let you in, get out!”

The voice was cold and ruthless, devoid of any warmth.

The smile on Aurora’s face froze for a moment, and her expression became somewhat aggrieved.

“Maxim, did you know, Briana Cameron hit me today!”

Maxim’s hand, which was about to pick up the document, stiffened, and then he looked at her expressionlessly.

“It had nothing to do with me.”

“Did it not concern you that Briana Cameron went to the restaurant alone with Hector?”

“If you came to talk this kind of nonsense, you could leave right now!”

Aurora gritted her teeth, walked over and sat down across from him, staring at him as she said word by word, “Cosmo invited us to have dinner at the Vanderberg family’s old house tonight, I’ll wait for you here until you get off work.”

“I wouldn’t go.”

“Even if you disliked me so much, we were already engaged now. In the near future, we would get married. Why wouldn’t you be a little nicer to me?”

Maxim didn’t even bother to give her another glance, he coldly said to the door, “Rayan, don’t let any Tom, Dick or Harry in here in the future, the Yoder Group is not a shelter!”

“Maxim!”

Aurora, infuriated, stood up abruptly, glaring at him, “I am your fiancée, not some random person!”

“There was no difference in my eyes.”

“You!”

Aurora was so angry that her face turned ashen, and her eyes gradually became bloodshot.

Why was he so gentle with Briana Cameron, but always so cold to herself? Just because she met him later than Briana Cameron.

No! She wouldn't just give up like that!

"Wait and see, I will definitely make you regret treating me like this today!"

After speaking, Aurora turned around and quickly ran away.

After leaving the Yoder Group, a glint of hatred flashed in Aurora's eyes. Maxim had proposed to her, but he refused to treat her well, so she had no choice but to torment Briana Cameron!

She drove straight back to the company and called the sales department into her office.

"I remember we had a collaboration with Graceful Attire, didn't we? Have the design drafts been handed over?"

A flash of surprise crossed the Sales Manager's eyes, he opened his mouth and said, "Yes, we do have it, but didn't you say you wouldn't be following up on this project anymore?"

Chapter 1063

Aurora gave him a cold glance, "That was before, now I happen to have time. Bring me the design plans to look at. If there are any unsatisfactory areas, I can point them out. Otherwise, it would be too troublesome to make changes after we start construction."

"Alright, Mr. Fredrick."

Soon, Aurora began to look at the design drawings.

Upon seeing the signature in the bottom right corner, a glint of coldness flashed in her eyes. She pointed out more than a dozen unsatisfactory areas, and threw the design directly at the feet of the sales department manager. In a cold voice, she said, "Is this trash worthy of my attention?! Have Graceful Attire redo a version of the design according to my requirements just now. Hand it over within a week, or you can replace the person!"

Upon hearing this, the sales manager couldn't help but frown, "Mr. Fredrick, but this is the design that the general manager has reviewed and approved..."

Aurora sneered, "Don't forget, it's me who liaises with Graceful Attire, not the general manager. If you can't handle it, you can pack up and leave immediately!"

Upon hearing this, the manager quickly said, "I understand, I will immediately notify Graceful Attire!"

Briana Cameron had just returned to the Cameron family when she received a call from Elliot.

“Ms. Cameron, I know you’re still on vacation, and I didn’t want to disturb you, but the Fredrick Group is pressing... The interior design plans we previously submitted were rejected... They’ve put forward new requirements, when can you come back to redraw a version?”

Hearing the helplessness in Elliot’s tone, Briana Cameron furrowed her brows, “Mr. Murphy, I was only trying to help initially, and interior design isn’t my forte. You should find a professional designer to make the modifications.”

No sooner had the words left his mouth than Elliot sighed, “But the Fredrick Group specifically requested that you design it personally, I really had no choice...”

Realizing that Aurora was deliberately making things difficult. for her, a glint of coldness flashed in Briana Cameron’s eyes, “Mr. Murphy, perhaps you should handle this negotiation. If communication proves impossible, I can resign.”

Elliot was silent for a few seconds before saying, “There’s no need to go as far as resigning. I’ll try to communicate with the Fredrick Group again.”

“That would be a bother to Mr. Murphy then.”

After hanging up the phone, Briana Cameron returned to her bedroom without a trace of expression on her face.

Briana Cameron didn’t expect Aurora to use such disgusting tactics, and her dislike for her deepened.

Briana Cameron had rested at home for a few more days, and decided to go back to work.

Upon knowing her decision, Gemma frowned and said, “Briana, you’re still very weak. Why don’t you stay at home for a while and go back to work after you’ve fully recovered? Even if you don’t work, the family can still support you!”

Briana Cameron shook her head, “Mom, I’m really fine. If I stay at home any longer, I’m going to go moldy. Besides, I won’t be resuming my previous workload so quickly when I go back. I’ll pace myself!”

After persuading Gemma for a while, she reluctantly agreed to go back to work for Briana Cameron.

“Then you must rest more, stop if you feel uncomfortable, don’t push yourself too hard!”

“Um, I knew.”

Watching Briana Cameron leave with a worried look on her face, Gemma’s eyes unconsciously reddened. If it weren’t for that bastard Maxim, Briana Cameron wouldn’t have been so depressed.

The more Gemma thought about it, the angrier she became, and she couldn’t help but dial Sean’s number.

“When were you planning to deal with Maxim and the Yoder Group?!”

Sean: “.....”

After a good while, he slowly said, “Honey, dealing with the Yoder Group also needs to be done gradually. Don’t forget, there’s still the Kingly Group...”

Although he really wanted to give Maxim a good beating at

Chapter 1064

After hanging up the phone, Sean couldn't help but sigh, saying, "Continue the meeting."

He couldn't help but worry. Given Gemma's temperament, if he didn't step in to deal with Maxim, who knows what might happen. But he didn't have time to mess with the Yoder Group right now. Recently, the Kingly Group had been dealing with the Cameron Group, and he had to focus all his energy on dealing with the Kingly Group.

Sigh... It was simply a dilemma.

In the evening, as soon as Sean got home, he saw Gemma sitting on the sofa with a cold expression, not even watching her favorite TV show that she usually loved.

He hesitated for a moment, but still gritted his teeth and sat down next to Gemma.

"Honey, what's wrong? Did someone upset you?"

Gemma snorted, "It's those card-playing friends I usually hang out with. Today when I went to play cards, they were openly and secretly mocking that Briana was dumped by Maxim. I was so angry that I flipped the table on the spot. I was still upset when I came back. I should have torn their mouths at that time!"

Sean: "...

"

He knew Gemma's character all too well. When she said she would tear it up, she really meant it, without any exaggeration.

"Honey, don't bother with them. They will forget about this after a while. Besides, Briana will definitely find a better man than Maxim in the future. You keep arranging blind dates for her, we must outdo Maxim."

Gemma frowned, then fell silent, seemingly taking in Sean's words.

After a good while, she suddenly clapped her hands and said, "If you hadn't mentioned it, I would have almost forgotten. Last time when Briana was home alone and unhappy, the son from the Baldwin family came to ask her out to distract her. In my opinion, that boy is much more reliable than Maxim. I need to find a way to get them to spend more time together!"

The Baldwin Group had been doing quite well these past few years, and Hector, whom he had met, was a great guy. If Briana Cameron could marry him, she would definitely have a good life in the future.

“I thought it was possible, but it mainly depended on Briana’s thoughts. Besides, she just broke up with Maxim, so I guessed she wouldn’t accept someone else so quickly. I thought we could take it slow.”

Gemma nodded, “I feel the same way, but we can let them spend more time together first. If your company has any parties in the future, you and Thomas can bring Briana along. This could also create opportunities for them to interact!”

Sean frowned, “Isn’t this not so good?”

“What’s the problem?! If you’re not willing, then I’ll go with you to the business parties in the future, I’ll bring Briana!”

As Gemma’s words fell, scenes of past parties where Gemma had attended with him suddenly surfaced in Sean’s mind.

Back then, Gemma’s temper could be directly described as explosive. Anyone who dared to provoke her at parties would inevitably end up fleeing in disarray, causing a huge commotion.

If it hadn’t been for her poor health in recent years and the doctor’s advice to stay calm and not get angry, Gemma’s temper would definitely have been the same as before, with no one daring to provoke her.

“No...no need, I took Briana with me.”

“Fine, Briana’s wedding is in your hands now. If you mess this up, I won’t let you off the hook.”

“Don’t worry, Briana is my daughter too, I would definitely take this matter seriously.”

The two were in the middle of a conversation when Briana Cameron walked in through the door.

Gemma quickly lowered her voice in warning, “We must not let Briana know about this, otherwise she might resist.”

“I understood.”

Briana Cameron had just walked through the door when she saw Sean and Gemma whispering about something, a flicker of surprise in her eyes.

In her memory, there were few times when she could see her parents talking like this.

“Dad, Mom, what were you talking about?”

Chapter 1065

Gemma coughed lightly, “Briana is back, have you had dinner? I asked the kitchen to save some food for you.”

“Um, I had eaten.”

As she spoke, Briana Cameron walked over and sat down across from the two of them, looking at Gemma and saying, “Mom, there’s something I want to tell you.”

“What happened?”

"I planned to move out and live on my own."

The smile on Gemma's face froze, she frowned and said, "Why on earth are you moving out?! Isn't it great living at home?"

"Mom, the house is too far from the company. I plan to rent a house near the company so I can sleep a bit more in the morning and come back to stay here on Saturdays and Sundays."

Gemma was about to persuade her to stay at home when Sean nodded and said, "That's a good idea. Dad bought you a house near your company. Renting is not safe."

"No need, I also didn't know how long I would be at Graceful Attire."

"It didn't matter how long you worked, worst case scenario, if you really resigned in the future, you could just sell the house over there. That's the decision."

Briana Cameron was somewhat helpless, and after a few seconds of silence, she said, "Alright, let's buy one, but with my own money. I have money."

"Keep that money for your own expenses. If it's not enough, just tell me. I'll buy the house."

After speaking, without giving Briana Cameron any chance to refuse, Sean directly called his secretary.

"Go check if there are any good properties near Graceful Attire, buy a house, purchase it under Briana's name, and make sure it's well-furnished and ready to move in."

After hanging up the phone, he turned to Briana Cameron and said, "Briana, if you have any requests, let me know and I'll have my secretary look into it."

Briana Cameron: ".....I don't have any particular requirements, as long as it's close to the company."

"Alright, I had the secretary look for it first, and I'll send you the photos to choose from tomorrow."

"Mm-hmm."

"Alright, go upstairs and rest. Your mother and I still have things to discuss."

After Briana Cameron left, Sean quickly grabbed Gemma's hand that was pinching his waist, "Honey, if you keep pinching, my waist will be ruined!"

Gemma sneered, "It's done now, isn't it? Who told you to agree to let Briana go out and stay? Didn't you see me desperately trying to remind you with my eyes?"

"You've wronged me, I was also doing it for Briana's sake!"

"Alright then, explain how making her move out was supposedly for her own good?"

All four of her sons didn't live at home, and it was hard enough to have a daughter to accompany her. But now even that was ruined by Sean. She would have to live alone at home from now on!

“Think about it carefully, didn’t you want Briana to get along with Hector slowly? If you let Briana stay at home all day and you know every time she goes out, wouldn’t Briana feel that her life is being watched by you and not want to go out on dates anymore? After all, young people nowadays prefer freedom.”

“But if she lived on her own, it would be different. She could go out whenever she wanted, without having to tell you first. It would be easier for her, and getting along with Hector would also be easier. Don’t you think?”

Gemma always felt that something was off, but she couldn’t articulate a rebuttal.

“Even if it really is as you say, then what should I do about Briana?”

“If you missed her, why didn’t you just give her a call, or make some food to take to her? Wouldn’t that have been okay? You had nothing to do at home anyway, it would have been good for you to get out.”

Chapter 1066

The more Gemma listened, the more she felt that Sean made sense, and she ignored the slight feeling of unease in her heart.

“You were right,” I said. “Let’s do it your way.”

“Well, stop thinking about these things. It’s already late. Watch some TV shows to relax, and you can take a bath and go to sleep in a while.”

Saying so, Sean turned on the TV for her.

Gemma waved her hand, “I understand, don’t you still have work to do? Go work in the study.”

“Good.”

Back in the study, Sean finally breathed a sigh of relief, having managed to bluff his way through.

He understood that Briana Cameron’s desire to move out was not just about being closer to the company. It was more likely that she had not yet recovered from the hurt Maxim had caused her before, so she needed time to heal on her own.

Thinking of Maxim, Sean was immediately filled with anger again. He had solemnly promised in front of him that he would definitely treat Briana Cameron well, but in the blink of an eye, he was engaged to Aurora. He was simply not a man!

the Yoder Group.

Rayan was reporting work when Maxim suddenly sneezed inexplicably.

“President, are you alright? Do you have a cold? The temperature has dropped quite quickly recently, I will have winter clothes custom made for you tomorrow.”

Maxim’s expression was indifferent, “I’m fine, continue the report.”

After reporting his work, Maxim said coldly, "Keep an eye on Kingly Group. Have you found out who poisoned Briana Cameron?"

Rayan shook his head, his expression somewhat solemn, "I've checked Ms. Cameron's daily schedule, she hasn't had contact with any suspicious individuals, so we're still without a clue at the moment."

A cold glint flashed in Maxim's eyes as he said, word by word, "That means the person who poisoned her is someone close to her, someone she wouldn't suspect. Start the investigation from those around her!"

Rayan's face changed, "Are you talking about the Cameron family?"

"Don't rule out this possibility, don't let anyone slip away, I don't believe there won't be a single trace left!"

"Alright, I was on my way!"

After Rayan left, Maxim dealt with some paperwork for a while and was about to leave when Aurora came over.

She wore a smile, her face showing no trace of the previous resentment caused by Maxim's cold treatment.

"Maxim, I knew you would still be working at this hour, so I brought you some late-night snacks. Please, have some."

Maxim ignored her, instead he picked up his suit jacket from the back of the chair and turned to walk away.

When she passed by Aurora, she couldn't help but reach out to pull him, but he directly avoided her.

His icy gaze swept over her hand, causing Aurora to involuntarily shudder. She quickly hid her hand behind her back, a chill running down her spine.

The moment Maxim looked at her hand, she could clearly feel that he seemed to want to chop off her hand.

Thinking of this possibility, Aurora's face involuntarily paled.

"Maxim ....."

"I said, don't do such boring things. If it's not for official business in the future, don't come looking for me at the Yoder Group again."

Aurora bit her lower lip, tears welling up in her eyes, "Maxim, we are engaged, why are you so indifferent to me?!"

There was no change in Maxim's face at the sight of her tears.

"You should have been very clear, I was not willing to get engaged with you. I also told you, you could back out at any time."

Aurora shook her head, choking back tears as she spoke, "No, I won't regret it."

"Regardless of whether you regretted it or not, it was impossible for me to fall in love with you."

"A lifetime is so long, I had all the time in the world."

Maxim frowned, the kind of person he hated the most was the one who was persistently annoying.

He didn't say anything more, he just left quickly.

Sean acted quickly, sending many photos to Briana Cameron early the next morning.

"Briana, take a look and see which set you like. If you like several, that's fine too. We can buy them all and you can live in a different one each day."

Briana Cameron picked out a style she liked and sent it over. Sean responded quickly.

Chapter 1067

"Just this set, you didn't like the others?"

Briana Cameron couldn't help but laugh, quickly typing a response.

Gone, thank you Dad!

"Alright, I had my secretary go buy it right away!"

Around noon, Briana Cameron received a call from Sean's secretary.

"Miss, I came to deliver the keys and property deed to you. I am currently downstairs at Graceful Attire. When will you be free to come down and pick them up?"

Briana Cameron was somewhat surprised, so soon?!

"I'm coming down right away!"

After going downstairs, the secretary handed the bright red property deed and keys to Briana Cameron.

"Miss, the house is on the third floor of Building 5, Emerald Villa. Someone has already been sent to clean it, and it is ready for occupancy at any time."

Briana Cameron nodded, "Alright, thank you for your trouble, Secretary Zhang."

"You should have, if anything happened later, you could contact me at any time."

Alright."

After work in the evening, Briana Cameron first went to Emerald Villa. As soon as she walked in, her eyes lit up. She had liked the decoration style when she saw the photos before, and now she liked it even more after seeing the real thing.

She decided to move in tomorrow!

Knowing that Briana Cameron was moving the next day, Gemma felt reluctant to let her go. She said, "Briana, you don't have to pack tonight. I'll have the servants pack for you in the morning, and they'll move everything over and arrange it for you."

"Um, okay."

"After you moved, you could go out and relax when you had free time. Don't always stay at home alone, or you would get bored."

Seeing the worry in Gemma's eyes, Briana Cameron said, "Mom, don't worry, I will live well."

"Mm-hmm."

After finishing dinner and just returning to the bedroom, I received a call from Astrid.

"Briana, do you want to hang out? I happen to have the night off from work. Let's go to the bar for drinks!"

Briana Cameron checked the time and flatly refused, "No, I'm not going. I'm going to rest for a bit and then take a bath and go to bed."

"What?!"

Astrid's voice instantly rose several degrees, "What kind of elderly schedule are you on?! It's only eight o'clock! No, you have to accompany me tonight, otherwise I'll be drinking alone. What if I get drunk and get taken away by bad people?!"

After speaking, she didn't give Briana Cameron a chance to refuse and directly hung up the phone.

Briana Cameron: "....."

If there really were bad guys who encountered Astrid, shouldn't they be the ones to be afraid? If she remembered correctly, Astrid was the Judo world champion for three consecutive years.

Half an hour later, Astrid was knocking on Briana Cameron's door.

"Briana, I came, are you ready?"

Briana Cameron opened the door, looking at her helplessly and said, "Let's go."

"Let's go, let's go, let's go drink! We're not coming back until we're drunk tonight!"

When the two arrived at the bar, it was just past nine in the evening, and the bar was just starting to get lively.

Sitting down in the booth that Astrid had reserved in advance, they ordered their drinks. Astrid then laughed and said, "I'm going to dance for a bit, do you want to join me?"

Briana Cameron glanced at the writhing crowd on the dance floor and shook her head.

"No need, you go ahead."

“Then I went to play first!”

At this moment, in the transparent box on the second floor.

Aurora looked down at Briana Cameron sitting below, a cold smirk playing on her lips as she waved towards the bar at the side.

“Come here, I had something to instruct you.”

Chapter 1068

Aurora murmured something, and the bartender’s face changed instantly.

“Ms. Fredrick.....if our supervisor found out, I.....”

Before the words were even finished, they were coldly interrupted by Aurora, “Don’t worry, I’ll handle whatever happens. Just do as I say!”

After hesitating for a moment, the bartender finally nodded. After all, Aurora was his biggest customer, and if he offended her, his income would shrink a lot.

“That’s more like it, go open ten bottles of Remy Martin, put it all on my tab.”

Upon hearing this, the bartender’s face lit up with joy, and he quickly said, “I’ll go right away!”

Watching the bartender’s retreating figure, a cold smirk tugged at the corner of Aurora’s mouth.

Sitting next to Aurora, Gillian hesitated for a moment before finally speaking, “Aurora, if Maxim were to find out about this, would it...”

Before the sentence was finished, it was coldly interrupted by Aurora.

“Who else would know if you didn’t tell?”

Gillian bit her lower lip and didn’t speak anymore.

After all, she knew Aurora’s personality very well. If she couldn’t achieve her own goals, she would definitely vent her anger on herself.

Downstairs at the booth, Briana Cameron was looking down replying to messages, when suddenly a bottle of wine appeared in front of her.

She lifted her head, saw the bartender across from her smiling at her, and frowned.

“It seemed that our wine had already been served.”

The moment he saw Briana Cameron’s face, the bartender was taken aback. He hadn’t expected the person Aurora had asked him to scheme against to be so beautiful.

Thinking about how he could do whatever he wanted after she got drunk later, a sleazy smile appeared on the bartender's face.

"Miss, we had a promotion in our bar today, buy three bottles get one free. The waiter earlier didn't know about it, so I personally brought it over."

Briana Cameron said indifferently, "I understand, you can leave now."

The bartender smiled and slowly said, "I'll open the wine for you and then I'll leave."

Briana Cameron furrowed her brow, about to stop him, but the bartender had already used the bottle opener to open the wine.

After opening the wine, he made no other moves, just smiled and said, "Beautiful lady, I wish you a pleasant evening."

Immediately, he turned around and left.

Briana Cameron pursed her lips, let down her guard, feeling that she might have been overly nervous, which made everyone seem like a bad person to her.

She turned her head to glance at the dance floor, seeing Astrid wildly twisting her body in the center of it, dancing back and forth with a handsome guy nearby, she couldn't help but laugh.

Half an hour later, Astrid finally returned.

After sitting down across from Briana Cameron, she pulled out a tissue and wiped the sweat off her forehead.

"So refreshing, I haven't danced like this in a long time."

She picked up the opened bottle of wine on the table and poured two glasses, handing one to Briana Cameron: "Come on, we're not going home until we're drunk tonight!"

Briana Cameron took the wine, clinked glasses with her, and then drained it in one gulp.

The spicy liquor slid down her throat, causing her to involuntarily furrow her brows. "This is really hard to drink!"

Astrid laughed heartily, "You'll get used to it once you drink more."

She poured him a few more drinks, until Briana Cameron's face gradually flushed a rosy red, only then did Astrid let her off.

He stood up and walked over to Briana Cameron, "Let's go dance together."

Chapter 1069

Briana Cameron frowned, "You go ahead, I don't like dancing."

Moreover, she also didn't like the feeling of being almost attached to strangers.

"You've come all this way, just give it a try! You don't have any entertainment activities every day, and when you encounter something sad, you can only hold it in your heart. Holding it in for a long time is not good for your health."

“And dancing really could make one forget all troubles, let’s go!”

Briana Cameron pursed her lips, recalling the events she had experienced during this period, a feeling of wanting to vent emerged in her heart.

The two had just stepped onto the dance floor when a handsome guy came over to strike up a conversation.

Astrid quickly went off to dance with one of the handsome guys, leaving Briana Cameron alone on the spot.

Briana Cameron wanted to catch up, but she waved at Briana Cameron and said, “There are so many handsome guys! You can just find one to teach you how to dance.”

“The main reason to come here was to relax, so enjoy yourself!”

After Astrid left, several men approached Briana Cameron to strike up a conversation. Briana Cameron completely ignored them and started dancing in the dance floor as if no one else was there.

Gradually, she also found her own rhythm. She had studied dance abroad in the past, so she quickly became a unique sight on the dance floor, attracting many people’s attention.

Swinging the body with the music, the suppressed agitation in the heart seemed to gradually disappear with the movements.

On the second floor, Aurora saw Briana Cameron attracting quite a few people on the dance floor and couldn’t help but sneer.

“Hah, a lowlife is always a lowlife! Only knows how to show off and attract men’s attention!”

Suddenly, a hint of calculation flashed in her eyes. She wondered if Maxim would still like Briana Cameron if he saw her in this state.

If Maxim could have seen the scene of the bartender sleeping with Briana Cameron with his own eyes, he would probably have been very disgusted with Briana Cameron afterwards.

Thinking of this, Aurora immediately took out her phone and recorded a video, which she directly sent to a socialite group in Haseton.

Quite a few people inside knew Briana Cameron and quickly spotted her figure in the video.

“Did I see that right, is that Briana Cameron? Wasn’t she always the good girl, never setting foot in bars and such?”

“She was just a good girl on the surface, only putting on a show for the Cameron family. Now that she’s been abandoned by Maxim, her true nature is revealed!”

“The most detestable thing was this kind of woman who had one face in public and another in private. She acted so high and mighty in front of others, but was so unrestrained behind their backs.”

Several girls who had interacted with Briana Cameron and had a pretty good impression of her came out to speak for her. However, they were quickly rebuked by a group of people.

They didn’t speak either, but formed a small group separately, deciding to contact Briana Cameron to tell her about this matter.

However, after several unsuccessful calls, the thought that Briana Cameron might be dancing and couldn’t hear her phone in the bar made him quite worried.

He just hoped that she wouldn’t do anything too outrageous afterwards, otherwise, Aurora wouldn’t know what to say.

Soon, the video of Briana Cameron dancing in the bar had reached Maxim.

Caspar made no attempt to hide his schadenfreude, “Maxim, it seems that Briana Cameron was not affected at all after breaking up with you, she’s even going to nightclubs now.”

Maxim, who was reading a document, looked up at the mention of his name, his gaze cold as he stared at Caspar.

“What nightclub?”

“Oh, I almost forgot, you haven’t seen that video yet, I’ll send it to you!”

Soon, Maxim’s phone dinged, and a video popped up on Line.

He clicked on the video, and the figure he had been longing for quickly appeared in his sight.

She wore a white V-neck T-shirt today, with a pair of black leather shorts on the lower half of her body. On her feet were a pair of black high-top leather shoes. Her hair was tied up in a high ponytail, and she wore a pair of star earrings on her ears. Around her neck was a metal necklace. She looked both cool and stylish, unconsciously attracting everyone’s attention.

Seeing the wolf-like gazes of the men around her, Maxim’s grip on his phone unconsciously tightened. He asked coldly, “Which bar is this?”

Chapter 1070

Caspar raised an eyebrow, looking at Maxim with a teasing expression, “Didn’t you guys already break up? Isn’t it a bit inappropriate to keep caring about Briana Cameron?”

Maxim's expression was icy, he didn't respond to him, instead he directly picked up his phone and dialed Rayan's number: "Find out which bar Briana Cameron is in now."

After he hung up the phone, Caspar chuckled, "If you still care, why did you get engaged to Aurora?"

A glint of coldness flashed in Maxim's eyes as he said icily, "It's none of your business."

Caspar was silent for a few seconds, "Indeed, it has nothing to do with me, but since I've decided to be with Aurora, continuing to care about Briana Cameron's life would only cause her trouble."

"Indecision leads to chaos, I suggest it's better for you not to seek out Briana Cameron," I advised.

Maxim didn't speak, his hand unconsciously tightening around the document, his fingertips turning a faint blue- white.

Rayan's call came back quickly.

"Mr. Yoder, I've found it. I'll send you the location immediately."

"No need, you just had to send two people to ensure her safety."

After speaking, Maxim immediately hung up the phone.

Caspar hadn't expected Maxim to actually take his words to heart, a flicker of surprise flashed in his eyes.

"You really didn't go?"

Maxim gave him a cold glance, "Is the Ayesa Group going bankrupt? Why are you so idle?"

Caspar: "....."

Don't curse him like that, his personality is not at all adorable.

On the other side, in the bar.

Briana Cameron was dancing when she suddenly noticed something was wrong with her body. A wave of heat seemed to radiate from her marrow, making her feel extremely uncomfortable.

This feeling seemed familiar, and she quickly realized that she must have been drugged.

She bit her lower lip hard, searching for Astrid's figure in the dance floor. However, after a full scan, she still couldn't find her, and her own body was nearing its limit.

She took a deep breath and turned to walk towards the booth.

Several men on the street tried to strike up a conversation with her, but she ignored them all.

Returned to the booth, took out the phone and sent a text message to Astrid, saying that I had left first.

After sending the text message, her body had become increasingly hot, and her vision was gradually blurring.

No, I couldn't stay here any longer, otherwise it would be very dangerous!

Biting her lower lip hard, trying to clear her head, Briana Cameron got up and headed for the exit of the bar.

However, just as she was about to reach the door, a hand suddenly reached out from behind and grabbed her wrist.

"Beautiful lady, where did you want to go?"

Turning her head, she realized it was the bartender who had poured her a drink earlier. Briana Cameron's face changed color, and she abruptly shook off his hand.

"Stay away from me!"

The bartender's mouth curled into a cold smirk as he slowly approached Briana Cameron, "Don't be so cold, darling. You seem to be having a hard time. Let me help you!"

"Get out!"

She turned and quickly walked towards the door. However, after only two steps, her legs suddenly gave way and she uncontrollably fell to the ground.

The pain of her body making contact with the ground brought her to some level of consciousness, yet she didn't have the slightest strength to stand up.

The bartender slowly approached from behind and crouched down in front of her.

"Beautiful lady, this medicine of mine is the newest product with the best efficacy, you can't possibly escape it!"

After speaking, the bartender reached out to lift her up. However, as soon as his hand touched her shoulder, a sudden intense pain shot through him, and his wrist twisted in a bizarre way.

"Click!"