

Falling For My Ex-Husband chapter 18

Time for payback

- Hello guys. I have read your comments and I felt happy after reading few of the comments regarding the vote target.

It really means a lot when my readers tell me to set a target vote for the story. Thank you so much for your kindness.

Thanks Kiara-agarwal for suggestin

Shyam teri bansi pukare radha naam.....

Log karey Mira ko yunhi badnaam.....

.....

She was sitting quietly in her room. With each passing second her heart was running a marathon. She was looking at the clock impatiently.

Suddenly she heard the sound of the car. She immediately ran towards the window. The sight made her cry and smile at the same time.

Anurag was getting down of his car with a concerned face. He was looking tensed. He almost ran inside their house.

She heard his panicked voice from here.

"Where is she??? How all these happened?? Is she fine?"

She smiled after hearing his voice. She held her chest and cried silently.

He loves her.

He loves her.

She knew this always but Anurag's rejection made her think that probably he is still stucked on his past.

Inaya cleared her tears. At this moment she felt only hate for Mira.

She is the reason behind his cold facade. She made him like this. She has crushed Anurag's heart so brutally that he is afraid of love.

Inaya took a deep breathe and took an oath then and there.

She will heal his heart with her love.

The wound Mira has given him is very deep. She will treat this wound with her love. She will bring back the old Anurag again.

If he has a cruel past like Mira, then he will have a bright future with Inaya.

He has a very harsh memory of deception, she will give him new memories of selfless love.

"Inayaaa...."

She opened her eyes after seeing Anurag.

He marched towards her and grabbed her face with so much concern.

"Thank god you are fine....i thought i have lost you"

His shaking tone is the proof that he loves her. Inaya immediately hugged him tightly and cried on his chest. She thanked her god multiple times for showing her this side of him.

While other side, he was shocked to see her state. Why she is crying that much? And why she told lie like this?

He felt angry for a second but then he suppressed his anger and decided to talk to her.

"What's the matter Inaya?"

He asked while breaking the hug.

She was still sniffing her tears. She wiped her tears and took a pause.

"Don't leave me please...."- she mumbled.

Anurag understood everything. He clattered his teeth few times. He ran his fingers frustratingly through his hair. He moved back and started to pace around the room.

"You are not trying to understand me Inaya"

His voice shook her inside. She lift her eyes to meet up his angry eyes.

"I'm not the right person for you.....are you blind to see this simple thing?"- he yelled making her flinch.

She kept on weeping silently.

"I love you....."- she mumbled.

This thing made him absolutely mad. He was so angry that for few seconds he decided to not speak anything. He would have hurt her if he spoke something this time. This is the last thing he wants right now. So, he started to take deep breathes to calm down himself a bit.

Then he walked closer to her and very gently make her sit to a nearby chair. He himself bend on his knees.

He stared into her eyes for few seconds. Then he grabbed her hand on his large palms gently.

"You are very special to me, you know that right?"

He asked her. Though his tone was calm but still it's holding something raw.

Inaya nodded her head slightly.

"I don't want to hurt you in anyway.....you want to bind yourself with me....But you will be unhappy forever if you chose me, i believe that the relation of husband and wife can only stand on true love....if there is no love or only one sided love, then the relation will die soon"

His voice broke in the last part. It felt like his old wound is re opening again.

He walked near the window and stood there silently for some time.

"I'm not that old Anurag anymore....You loved that old Anurag...nothing is left inside me of that Anurag"

He said by looking outside.

Inaya slowly stood behind him. She placed her hand on his shoulder.

"Atleast give me a chance Anurag.....i promise, i won't blame you if our relationship doesn't work...i will agree on my mistakes...atleast give it a try"

She said desperately.

He stayed silent for some moments and then left the room without giving her any time to speak.

She stood motionless god knows for how long...

.....

1 week passed after that.

Anurag has returned from his office late night. He found suddenly his aunty was waiting for him in the living room.

Anurag was shocked to find Kalindi awake this late.

"From where are you coming Anu?"- she asked.

Anurag squizzed his forehead a little.

"From work"- he stated and decided to walk away.

"I need to talk to you on something...i think you have 10 minutes to sit here"

She said.

Anurag mentally growled. But still he took the position infront of Kalindi.

"I know why you come this late on a regular basis....Your lifestyle is becoming so reckless these days. I know you are mature enough to lead the life you want...but i always wanted to see you leading a family life....."

She took a pause. Anurag was getting irritated.

"I never knew that my Anurag will turn like this....sleeping with random girls....."

"STOP...."

his voice interrupted Kalindi in between. She stared at him in shock.

"This is my life, i will lead this life the way i want"- he seethed.

Kalindi stared at him angrily.

"Okay fine....ruin your life the way you want...do you know what is the truth?? Let me show you the truth....you are ruining your life for someone who is probably now enjoying her life at it's fullest...who has probably even forget your name.....Who is now enjoying her life with her husband and probably making fun of a fool like you...."

"SHUT UP...."- he screamed while standing up.

His head is bursting in pain. He just wants to crash something right now.

"Why would i huh??? You are rejecting a girl like Inaya for a bitch like Mira who regularly slept with that Atharv behind your back and made you fool day and night....."

Anurag grabbed a vase and threw it on the wall. It shattered into pieces. He kicked the large dining table angrily and moved back few meters away.

Kalindi was dumbfounded after seeing his anger.

Anurag walked upstairs without sparing a single glance to Kalindi. She heard from downstairs the crackling sound of many objects from Anurag's room.

She closed her eyes and cursed Mira thousand times for ruining his son like this.

"If any day you will appear in front of me...i will stab you to death"

She made an oath with anger and hate.

Then she decided to call Siva. Only he can put some sense into Anurag's insane brain.

.....

Anurag was working on his laptop, suddenly Siva entered with a smile.

"Hey....."

"Hi..."- Anurag replied in a hoarse voice.

He drank too much last night. Still his head is heavy.

"So, how's your work going?"

"Fine"

Anurag is not feeling like to talk right now. His mood is getting sour.

But Siva has met Kalindi in early morning. And they has planned a way to make him agree to marry Inaya. It's for his own good.

"I want to give you a news....don't react much"

Siva said while playing with the paper weight.

Anurag's hand stopped in typing.

"Which news?"- he asked.

His eyes were set on the laptop screen but his posture became stiff.

"First promise me that you won't react much...."

"Give the news or leave"- Anurag said coldly.

"My secretary informed me something last night....."

Siva took a pause and tried to frame the exact lie which Kalindi told him this morning.

"Mira and Atharv are staying in USA...They are happily married...."

He stared at Anurag after giving the news.

He was not showing anything.

"My secretary's girlfriend also stayed in their neighbourhood...so i told my secretary to make his gf to ask something to Mira about you....so, she asked her few months back about you.....Mira even failed to recognise you.....but then she said to her that her first husband was an abuser and rapist.....oh my goodddd.....Anurag, your hand is bleeding.....what the....."

Siva stood up after seeing Anurag crashing his laptop with his hand.

"LEAVE...."

His voice is deadly. Siva immediately left his office.

He felt bad for saying all these. The truth is they doesn't know anything about Mira or Atharv. But it's sure that they are leading a happy life somewhere. May be after hearing Anurag's success story, they are hiding somewhere in fear.

So, he didn't do anything wrong by making up a false story. Afterall he wants to see Anurag happy with Inaya.

He again mentally cursed Mira.

"If you again come into my way,,,i swear i will make you shed blood tears...."

.....

Anurag threw his head back. His hand is bleeding but his heart is more paining right now.

He laughed like a maniac. He grabbed his mobile phone and dialled Inaya's number.

"Hello Anurag..."

"Will you marry me?"

He asked her directly.

Inaya was stunned. She was not believing her own ears. She pinched herself few times to make herself satisfied that it's not a dream.

"Huh??"

"Will you marry me?"- he asked again.

His voice is blank.

"Ye..yes..yes..."- she cried.

Anurag disconnected the call immediately.

Then he again dialled someone's number.

"Am i talking to Ritwik Viswas?"

"Yes, who is this?"

"Anurag Chatterjee..."

Ritwik looked at his phone in shock. He was not believing that Anurag Chatterjee is calling him.

"I have a work for you....I'm ready to give you the interview which you wanted for a long time,,,but first you have to find out two people and search every single details about them..."

"Yes, sir...sure....just give me the names"- Ritwik said excitedly.

He can't say no to such opportunity when Anurag Chatterjee is directly approaching him from front.

"Atharv Kundra and Mira Dhanraj"- he uttered with extreme hate.

He disconnected the call and again threw his head back. This time he has a smirk on his lips.

"Time for payback....."

.Good afternoon

Rainaloveforever