Farmhouse 35

Chapter 35 You Pinched Me Hard

But…

who exactly is Jin Zijin?

Why does he seem to know exactly what sickness he has?

Well, if she asked him directly who he was, he certainly wouldn't tell her.

The meaning behind his words just now was also quite clear, "I thought you were a sensible person."

Ha, sensible person!

He has secrets, she has her own secrets, so he doesn't ask her, and she shouldn't ask him either, right?

For now, Jin Zijin doesn't seem like he's going to hurt her, and he even allowed her time to recover from her illness.

Alright, everything will be discussed after she recovers.

With the way she's walking being a problem, even if Gu Youyou learned all the truths right now, she could only stare helplessly.

With this ghastly appearance, she can scare children or simple village women, but relying on this face to scare off an enemy is out of the question.

Jin Zijin isn't scared at all!

When Jin Zijin returned, Gu Youyou was sitting quietly in the chair.

She watched as Jin Zijin hung the cleaned wild chicken and rabbit together, then went to close the only door.

After he finished his work, Gu Youyou asked, “According to tradition, tomorrow is the day I return to my parent’s home.

Should I…

return?”

Since he said that she couldn’t leave the courtyard, the matter of returning was uncertain, so it was better to ask.

Jin Zijin said, “You should.

I’ll carry you back!”

Gu Youyou: “…”

After thinking about it, she said, “Wouldn’t it be simpler to just skip it?

It seems so tiring!”

“It can’t be skipped!”

“Why not?”

“It’s bad luck!”

Gu Youyou couldn’t help but laugh and cry.

Didn’t you think it was bad luck when we blew out the wedding candles?

At night, Jin Zijin still squeezed into the same blanket with her.

Now Gu Youyou was puzzled again.

Jin Zijin couldn’t just be a simple hunter, and at the same time, Gu Youyou felt that he didn’t come to Lotus Village just for her; it could also be a coincidence that he meddled in her affairs.

Girls here could marry at fifteen, so those like her who married at seventeen or eighteen were rare.

Jin Zijin had already been here for five years.

If he had come for her, he could have taken her out of the darkroom a long time ago using this reason.

What was he now trying to imply?

If it’s an act, there was no need to sleep for real, let alone what happened on the wedding night…

Wearing only underclothes, Gu Youyou felt Jin Zijin’s body heat, which was not normal for a healthy person.

He seemed to be in discomfort, holding her very tight.

The cold air on Gu Youyou’s body seeped out from her bones, and touching his hot body felt very comfortable, so she didn’t push him away.

Her health was improving; she had slept a lot during the day, so Gu Youyou wasn't particularly sleepy at night.

But with Jin Zijin holding her like this, she didn't dare to move at all.

Luckily, after lying down for half a year, she had become skilled at staying still, so staying awake all night didn't feel too uncomfortable for her.

The breathing of the person next to her became more and more even; he was asleep.

Gu Youyou gently withdrew her right hand, trying to take Jin Zijin's pulse!

Jin Zijin's body temperature was abnormal.

Last night she thought he just had a slight fever, strong as he was, it would pass without medication.

But tonight, it was the same, just as hot as last night, which was somewhat abnormal.

Even if it was a slight fever, it's been going on for too long, and can't be ignored!

Moving slowly to Jin Zijin's wrist, she closed her eyes and laid her hand on it, but just as she touched the spot, Jin Zijin woke up abruptly.

He grabbed Gu Youyou's wrist in return, using a lot of strength, causing Gu Youyou to cry out in pain.

"You…

ah, it hurts, you're hurting me!"