Chapter 181 You Want to Be Humiliated Again?

"When I went out to buy breakfast, he happened to see me and honked at me." Noah said.

"At that time, I had the drug you prepared for me last night in my pocket. Then I got in the car and followed him to the hotel."

"I put the drug into his cup. As soon as he took a sip, he had the reaction and started to solve it on his own."

"When he finished it, I called the police and said that he... um..." He couldn't say the words.

After a pause, he continued seriously, "Then the police came to collect evidence. After taking the bodily fluid samples he left behind, the police took us to the police station together."

"After that, I explained everything to the police, and also submitted the video of you and Paige being tortured by him, and then he was taken into custody. Everything went well." Noah said again.

Recalling those pictures, he felt extremely disgusting.

"Noah, although the police station has temporarily detained him, if his father and uncle come to the police station, he will still be released. There is another very important step in my plan that I didn't tell you... Now I'm telling you."

"If we want Lennox's father and uncle not to intervene in this matter, we must use the video of Lennox we have to threaten them. Between everything being made public and exposed and watching Lennox be imprisoned for life, they will definitely choose the latter. After all, if the incident spreads, he will not only be sentenced to life imprisonment, but will be directly sentenced to death." Jocelyn added.

"I did it." Noah said again.

"Really?" Jocelyn couldn't believe it.

"Well... Everything is in order. Just rest assured." Noah's eyes were calm.

"You went to Lennox's father and uncle to negotiate? How did you do it in such a short period of time? I didn't give that video to you, did I?" Jocelyn asked.

"Anyway, everything is done. You just need to wait for Lennox's verdict with peace of mind." Noah smiled.

"After I fell asleep, you copied the video from Lennox's mobile phone? Then, after finishing the plan, you took it to negotiate with his uncle and dad? Besides, the negotiation was so successful? Are you so capable?" Jocelyn thought it could only make sense in this way.

Chapter 182 Excelsior

Abel pushed the door open, walked to Paige's side, and sat down.

Glancing at the game she was playing, Abel asked, "Hero World?"

Paige's eyes slowly shifted from the game to Abel's face. She asked indifferently, "Why are you here again?"

"Come and see you!" Abel answered with a smile.

"I'm much better. I don't need anyone to visit me. By the way, remember to receive the money." Paige said, and then continued to play the game.

"Excelsior, what kind of stupid name is this?" Abel looked at her game ID with disgust and said.

Paige's game character was a strategist, which was also a mage. At this moment, she was doing the daily task of fighting monsters. When she arrived at the location, she started to hang up and fight monsters automatically.

Her game character was wearing a white off-shoulder robe at the moment, looking like a fairy.

The moment the skills were released, it had the effect of a fairy scattering the flowers. The gorgeous pink halo was extremely beautiful.

Abel took a closer look at the game district she was in. Then he found that the two of them were in the same district.

However, he had never seen Excelsior before.

Seeing the level of her account, he thought it was normal that he had never seen her. After all, the people who played the game with him every day were some veterans in the game. She was just nobody in the game.

Paige frowned in dissatisfaction, and glared at Abel coldly, "What's the matter?"

"Angry?" Abel touched his forehead helplessly, "Alright, alright. Your name is very nice, okay?"

"I'm feeling so good now. If you have nothing to do, just go to do your work. I'm very busy right now." Paige began to drive him away.

"Have you eaten breakfast?" Abel asked.

"Do you like me?" Paige looked at him and asked straightforwardly.

Abel felt a little stunned about her question, "Yeah, I like you."

The more Jocelyn looked at these remarks, the more refreshed she felt.

She suddenly felt that the air she breathed into her nose was sweet.

Jocelyn put down her phone and turned to look at the man beside her, "Thank you so much."

"Never mind." Noah said again, "I'll go up and clean up a room for Paige. You go back to your room with her to rest first."

"Okay." Jocelyn nodded obediently.

Noah immediately helped her up carefully. The three of them went upstairs together.

When they got upstairs, Noah went to clean the room, while Jocelyn took Paige back to her own bedroom.

As soon as they two walked into the room, Paige pulled Jocelyn onto her soft lavender bed.

Covering the quilt, Jocelyn took her hand and said, "Noah has really subverted my impression of people who work in the underworld. According to my observations in the past two days, I didn't think he seemed to be like those people from the gangs."

"The most important thing is that he is completely different from those of gangs. He is so meticulousness. No wonder he can become first-in-command. He is really different." Paige was full of praise for him.

"Yes, I have felt this way for a long time. He is really different, whether it is in appearance, temperament, or demeanor. He is different from the bastards. Sometimes I often feel that a person like him should be a boss, or a big star."

Speaking of Noah, Jocelyn didn't hesitate to praise him. The look in her eyes became gentler, and she smiled brightly.

Noticing her smile, Paige straightened Jocelyn in a serious manner, cupped her face with both hands, and asked earnestly, "Are you in love with him?"

Jocelyn felt so speechless. She shook her head, "No."

Paige frowned slightly and looked at Jocelyn from head to toe three times. Then she looked into her eyes and said solemnly, "You and he are different. No matter how well he behaves in front of us, we can't forget that he works for the underworld."

"No matter how elegant and noble he is on the surface, he will be just like those men from the gangs and will kill people. Maybe he will also do those illegal transactions."

"Beep..." It was Allen's phone call.

Jocelyn immediately answered, "Hello, Dad."

"Joyce, I'm going to get your sister out. Looking at your sister like that, I'm really sad. I can't sleep all night."

"No matter what, she is my daughter after all. Joyce, can you understand me?" Allen's voice on the phone was a little hoarse.

Even across the phone line, Jocelyn could still feel his pain and anxiety.

Just listening to such a voice, Jocelyn also felt sad and wanted to cry.

"Well, I can understand." She lowered her eyes and sighed.

"Ahem, ahem... Joyce, it's great that you can understand me. You can rest assured that your status in our family will not change because Gloria comes out. My company will be left to you in the future. Everything I have is yours." Allen said while coughing.

"Gloria won't target you anymore. She is crazy now. Joyce, no matter what kind of grievances you two have, just let it go. Can you forgive her for my sake?" Allen said again. After he said that, he began to cough violently.

Jocelyn was worried about her dad immediately, "Dad, are you ill?"

She should have thought of this long ago. No matter what, Gloria was also his own daughter. It was certain that he would feel so sorry and sad when he saw Gloria like that.

"I've been running around for your sister's matter these two days. I'm really tired and in a really bad mood. I'm in the hospital now." Allen sighed as he spoke.

"What? Why didn't you tell me earlier?" Jocelyn became more and more anxious.

"I'm probably overworked." Allen said again, "I have made a will and handed it over to my lawyer for notarization. If I die one day, Murphy Properties Group will be inherited by to you. Gloria and Sara will get five percent of Murphy Properties Group's shares, half of the cars and real estate in my name, and one billion."

Chapter 185 I Like to Walk with Carrying Her

Noah really knew Jocelyn very well. Besides, he really thought about her very well.

Even with such a willful decision, he was still willing to cooperate.

"Your dad is looked after by many people. You might as well wait until tomorrow." Paige was really worried.

However, Jocelyn patted her on the shoulder, "Don't worry. I won't let myself get hurt."

Then, she turned to look at Noah, "Please help me get the pink dressing case on the dresser."

In order not to let her father see that she was injured and worry about her, she must put on a good make-up and dress up in good spirits.

Seeing Jocelyn had made up her mind, Paige didn't stop her.

After Jocelyn put on makeup, Noah personally drove her to Clemency Hospital.

After getting off the car, Jocelyn walked directly to the ward building.

However, just after a few steps, Noah stepped forward and picked her up domineeringly, without even giving her a chance to react.

Jocelyn immediately tensed. She was so nervous, then she subconsciously glanced at the crowd of people coming and going around, struggling, "What... what are you doing? Let me go. So many people are watching us!"

"You need to save your energy. Otherwise, how can you pretend to be a healthy person later?" Noah said lightly.

After he finished speaking, he started to walk inside.

There were many people who passed by them. This scene caught the attention of all of them.

Being picked up by the most handsome guy all the way, at this moment, Jocelyn was envied by all the women.

As the people around them paid more and more attention to them, Jocelyn felt so embarrassed.

When she saw that there was a wheelchair at the side door, she immediately pointed over there and looked up at the man's delicate jawline, "Noah, there is a wheelchair over there. Push me with that."

"What if we accidentally meet your family outside the ward?" Noah looked down at her and asked lightly.

"Then... Then, even when we meet my family like this, it's still difficult to explain. How could a normal person be hugged in by someone like that?"

Soon Gloria opened her eyes and stared coldly at Jocelyn's face reflected in the window, clenching her fists.

When Sara heard it, her face turned gloomy for a few seconds. But then it returned to normal soon.

"Joyce, congratulations on your becoming the heir to the Murphy family." Sara forced a smile and looked at Jocelyn.

Looking at Sara's face, Jocelyn couldn't help but started to sigh that she was really good at acting.

Although Jocelyn felt disgusting, she still smiled and looked at Sara's face, maintaining her proper manners and demeanor, "Thank you."

In fact, she also had to thank Sara and Gloria. Without them, she was unable to become the heir of the Murphy family so quickly.

She knew very well that the reason why her father chose her to be the heir at this juncture was not only because of her ability, but also because he wanted to use this to appease her.

If they didn't make a lot of troubles, Gloria wouldn't have been able to go to prison or suffer from depression, and her dad wouldn't have made the will so quickly.

"Thank you." Jocelyn kept smiling. Her smile became more and more meaningful. Her voice was as soft as ever.

"Joyce, you have to work hard in the future, because the burden on your shoulders has become heavier." Sara said again.

Although Sara had a smile on her face, she actually wanted to tear Jocelyn apart.

She felt extremely unfair. She and Gloria did a lot of things, but what did they get? Nothing!

Even in the battle for being the heir of Murphy Properties Group, they were eliminated early.

Why did Allen make his will so quickly? It was all because he felt guilty about getting Gloria out directly regardless of Jocelyn's feelings.

Chapter 187 The Class Reunion

At eight o'clock.

Jocelyn took Noah to the place where the class reunion was held on time. It was private room No. 88 in Hilton Hotel.

There was a total of four large round tables in the private room. Each table was full of people.

Looking around, she knew all of them.

After years of separation, some people gained weight. Some lost weight, and some people still looked the same as before.

Some people were wearing name-brand clothes, and some people were wearing the most ordinary clothes.

This group of people had witnessed the darkest period in her life.

At that time, there was only one person in the class who laughed at her. The others never laughed at her, and even helped her out.

The time of high school was warm in her memory.

After her eyes passed over everyone one by one, she was attracted by a woman wearing a black fox fur coat and heavy makeup.

That was Sally, the only person in the class who laughed at her in the third year of high school.

Back then, relied on that her own family was better than the Murphy family, she was so arrogant in front of Jocelyn.

At this moment, Sally was leaning on the shoulder of a young man in an expensive black suit, raising her hand in a high-profile manner, showing off the large diamond rings in her hand to the classmates at the same table and enjoying the feeling of superiority.

She looked so rich that she attracted everyone's attention.

Sally coldly looked at Jocelyn, "Joyce, this is your fault. I just care about your life with your husband."

Jocelyn smiled, "It's not your business."

Sally was unhappy, "My husband is better than him anyway. I just want my husband to teach him. My husband loves me very much. As long as I ask for something, he will all agree."

With that said, Sally held Paul who was beside her, raised her chin lightly, and looked at everyone.

Everyone present was very clear why Sally did this. Everyone couldn't help but scolded her inwardly.

"Oh? Really?" Noah's eyes fell on Paul's face.

His face was calm, but his aura was as strong as ever.

Feeling Noah's glance, Paul felt an unprecedented sense of oppression.

He shuddered immediately, raised his hand, and slapped Sally's face fiercely, "Shut up! You talk too much!"

Then Sally's right face was swollen high.

Sally was completely stunned.

Having been with Paul for so long, she had never been treated by him like this.

Now he actually slapped her in front of her classmates. She felt as if her self-esteem had been trampled on the ground and repeatedly crushed by him.

Just now she showed off to Jocelyn that her husband was more capable than Noah, and he was very kind to her. Now he slapped her in the face.

She really wanted to find a hole to hide in right away.

Jocelyn never imagined that Sally's husband who she said he loved her very much would actually do such a thing in public.

Today, the class reunion was very interesting.

"Didn't she say that her husband treats her very well? It doesn't seem to be like this."

Chapter 189 The Campbell Family Were Sentenced to Life Imprisonment

"Lennox was sentenced to life imprisonment!"

"Tim and Sam were sentenced to life imprisonment!"

The good news made Jocelyn feel better.

At this time, Noah walked to her side. He glanced at the screen of her mobile phone, and then sat down, "Are you happy?"

Then his eyes swept across her face like a breeze.

Jocelyn nodded.

How could she be unhappy? The fate of the three Campbell family members really made her overjoyed.

From now on, it couldn't be said that the world was completely clean. But if there were fewer wicked people, at least the world would be cleaner.

She thought that those who were bullied by the Campbell family were all happy.

Noah didn't speak anymore. He just seriously peeled a longan and gave it to her.

This scene really made some girls jealous.

"My boyfriend has never been so considerate to me."

"Seeing that you are so good to Joyce, I suddenly want to change my boyfriend."

"Joyce, you're really lucky. I envy you. It's okay to look good, but you actually live so beautifully."

The girls spoke, expressing their true thoughts at the moment without hesitation.

Almost all of them looked at Noah.

Jocelyn looked at them embarrassedly, "What are you talking about? I'm flattered."

"We're telling the truth." Megan said while peeling a longan.

They only had him in their eyes, but he only had Jocelyn in his eyes, and everything around him was no longer important.

At this time, Noah and Jocelyn happened to pass by them.

Ryan pushed aside the crowd and stood in front of her, "It's such a coincidence that you also come here for dinner?"

After saying that, he glanced at Noah.

Noah's eyes swept across Ryan coldly, but he didn't speak.

"This is..." Ryan looked at Noah and asked on purpose.

Obviously they had very similar faces, but because of their different temperaments, the two gave others two completely different feelings.

"My husband." Jocelyn continued to hold Noah's hand. She looked up at him, and introduced.

"Oh..." After Ryan replied, he gave Noah a deep look and raised his right eyebrow slightly.

Noah had a sullen face and didn't want to pay attention to him.

"Wow... Joyce is talking to Ryan!"

"Although I don't want to admit it, I still want to say that I'm so jealous when I see the scene."

"With such a good husband and such a good friend, can I say that I'm so envious?"

Looking at Jocelyn chatting with Ryan, those female classmates were full of admiration and said.

Knowing that Jocelyn and Ryan were friends was far less shocking than watching the two of them chatting.

When they knew that Jocelyn and Ryan were friends, they were only envious, but at this moment, they started to feel more envious.
