Chapter 281 The Top of Z Country

But the thought that she was, at the moment, still pretending to be a major depressive soon bereft her face.

Soon Jocelyn and Noah arrived together at the banquet hall number eight where Murphy's charity dinner was held.

As soon as Jocelyn walked to the entrance with Noah on her arm, she immediately attracted the attention of countless people in the banquet hall.

She was bejewelled and regal in a slim-fitting lavender fishtail sheath dress with millions of diamond jewellery.

Noah is wearing a black Armani haute couture style suit, his hair is styled in a loose haircut, aristocratic and high-spirited.

The two of them, one the ideal type for men and the other for women.

Everyone could not look away from the two.

The doorway is brightly lit, illuminating the two.

There were many people on the scene and none of them looked better than they did.

"This is Jocelyn, right? She is really stunning, so beautiful, and her husband is so handsome!!!"

"The two were top in Z Country, right? I've never seen two people who look so good together."

"Jocelyn is truly my goddess, how can she be so fairy-like?"

Many people couldn't help but start talking to each other.

Joseph heard the sound of everyone's discussion, and it was hard to hear it in his heart.

Looking at the woman who shone like a diamond, now Joseph's heart was itching hard again.

Once this angel was obedient to him, but he did not cherish her.

Yet now, she had become an existence beyond his reach.

Chapter 282 Piano playing and singing

When Phoebe came over with her glass of wine, she heard Allen's words, she immediately walked behind Sara, holding the glass in one hand, holding Sara's shoulder with one hand, and looked at Allen with a smile, "What's wrong? Is it because you want Noah to sing on stage? Can Noah do it?"

Sara immediately took over and looked at Phoebe, "Of course, Jocelyn has said that Noah can sing very well."

Phoebe shook her head dismissively, "I don't believe that."

Sara, "Could Jocelyn's words be false? Jocelyn has already said that Noah sings much better than professional singers."

Phoebe, "Love is blind, what do you know? Professional singers are trained for years, ordinary people can't compare to professional singers."

Sara, "How do you know?"

Phoebe, "What's the use of us arguing here? Why don't we just let Noah sing one on stage?"

Sara, "Next time when we have the chance, we will definitely let Noah sing, it's a bit inconvenient today."

Phoebe, "Don't do it next time, today is such a good opportunity, just do it today. Doesn't Noah want to do something for charity? Or does Noah not have the guts to sing on stage? Afraid of being embarrassed if he doesn't sing well?"

Having said that, Phoebe then placed her gaze on Noah's face.

She wanted to see how much better he, an amateur, could sing than a professional singer?

Today, if he goes on stage and make a fool of himself, it's the same as Jocelyn making a fool of herself!

By then, in conjunction with other things, then Jocelyn would have to be sent to the 18th level of hell today.

Noah had long since seen through Sara and Phoebe's intentions, and he didn't say a word, just gently shaking the red wine glass in his hand as he watched the two of them singing in unison.

The same is true of Jocelyn.

Allen was upset by Phoebe's words, and immediately frowned and said, "All right, go back and watch your show."

Phoebe continued to put on a smile, "Look at you, why are you unhappy? I am curious about Noah's song?"

Jocelyn inclined her body towards Noah and whispered, "If you don't want to sing, you don't have to take care of the two of them."

Under the gaze of the crowd, Jocelyn took Noah by the arm and walked onto the stage.

The two then sat side by side at the piano.

Jocelyn tuned the microphone in front of her, and the two then sang while playing together as they had originally discussed.

The two are magically good together, despite being on stage for the first time.

Both the piano and the songs are a masterpiece.

The crowd on stage was instantly amazed by their performance.

Those who had been sceptical about the show nodded their heads.

Sara, Phoebe, Gloria, Joseph and the rest of them, on the other hand, were dumbfounded.

None of them had expected the two of them to work so well together.

They didn't expect their song to be so beautiful, and in some places even more beautiful than the original treatment.

Phoebe and Sara, at this moment, looked at everyone with that kind of excitement, and their hearts were harder than pins and needles.

Who would have known that their actions, instead of making a fool of Jocelyn and Noah, would gain them even more attention?

On stage, they were not affected at all by the people and events off stage, deeply immersed in their performance.

The song ended with thunderous applause from the stage.

"Good, Jocelyn, Noah, you guys are simply fantastic."

"That's right, you can all debut together as a group! You guys can definitely be the existence that unifies the aesthetics of the rice circle."

"No." Having said that, Noah's gaze shifted to the red wine glass in his hand.

He gave the glass a few light shakes and took a shallow sip of the red wine in it.

Walking up to the old man, Phoebe said with a smile, "Welcome, Mr. Henry, follow me in, I will now introduce the host of this charity banquet, Mr. Allen Murphy."

The old man nodded.

Phoebe then led him to Allen's side.

She lightly patted Allen's shoulder and said, "Mr. Murphy, let me introduce to you, this is the friend I was talking about, Mr. Henry, he then has been doing charity work all these years"

Henry, who Allen had read about in the newspapers before, is the owner of the largest wine estate in Y Country, and a very famous philanthropist.

Allen immediately stood up and politely extended his hand towards him, "Hello Mr Henry, I am Allen Murphy, nice to meet you."

Henry immediately shook Allen's hand and said with a smile, "Hello, Mr. Murphy, nice to meet you."

"Mr. Henry and Noah's grandfather, Dr. Mason, are good friends, and he and Dr. Mason meet for tea every now and then." Phoebe said.

With those words, Phoebe then placed her gaze on Jocelyn and Noah's faces and inwardly began to mutter to herself, "You two are dead."

At that, Noah immediately put his eyes on Henry again.

Grandpa's friend?

How did he not know his grandfather had such a friend?

"Mr. Henry, you should know Noah right? The grandson of Dr. Mason." Phoebe continued to wear a smiling face, pointing to Noah and asking.

Henry's gaze fixed on Noah's face, and after sizing him up carefully, he looked at Phoebe and said, "Are you kidding me? I've seen the grandson of Dr. Mason, and he doesn't look like this at all"

Chapter 285 Is Jocelyn a hypochondriac?

Hearing these words, Joseph was inwardly thrilled.

If Jocelyn's husband is really an ugly, that means his hopes have increased.

What does it mean when she doesn't bring that husband out to show him off, but instead gets a handsome guy here to play the loving couple?

It means that Jocelyn doesn't take Noah seriously at all.

Jocelyn's gaze suddenly went cold as she looked at Phoebe, "No."

Throughout the hall, all eyes were gathered on Jocelyn's body.

Someone turned the music off.

The whole world can hear them talking here now.

Phoebe immediately laughed, "No? If not, how do you explain it? Did Mr. Henry lie?"

The smile stopped and Phoebe looked to Henry and added, "You're not lying, are you, Mr. Henry?"

Henry looked deeply at Noah and shook his head, "No, I have seen Noah and he doesn't look like that."

"Besides, the kid wasn't that decent, he was a domestic abuser and his relationship with his own wife wasn't that good either." Henry added.

Hearing this, there was an instant uproar in the room.

Allen's face darkened and the anger inside him couldn't help but start swimming wildly.

Ugly is not enough, but often domestic violence against his daughter? What's the point of that bastard?

"My goodness, Jocelyn is tragic, right? Even if she is married to a lowly man, the key is that this man often domestic abuse her?"

All those watching around, everyone couldn't help but laugh.

Even Gloria, Sara and Joseph all couldn't help but laugh.

Allen was the only one who did not laugh, he just looked at Jocelyn quietly intending to listen to Jocelyn continue.

Touching Allen's eyes, Jocelyn smiled tenderly at him before placing her gaze on Noah and asking, "Honey, what if they become suspicious of your identity?"

Phoebe disdainfully folded her arms in front of her chest and looked at Jocelyn and Noah, "What? Are you planning to let this impostor beside you pretend to be the president of Griffin Group again?"

Noah didn't say anything, he just stood up without hurry and made a phone call, "Immediately inform Steward's that from now on, the major banks will not lend them a single dime."

When Phoebe heard this, she immediately couldn't help but roll her eyes and muttered to herself, "What the hell? What a pretender."

There was also uproar around the room.

Those who were watching all thought that Noah was now playing hard to get.

Noah had just hung up, and William's phone rang.

Seeing that it was the president of a bank, he immediately pressed answer -

"Mr. Steward, we will not be giving your company a loan after your loan with our bank expires."

"What, Mr. Grant, you can't do that, our loans from the Steward have always been repaid as promised, why not lend to us later?"

Joseph's face was darkened to the extreme.

Hearing these words, everyone in the room was stunned.

The smile that was originally on Phoebe's face has disappeared!

The person on the other side of the phone, without explaining anything to Joseph, simply hung up.

After hanging up there, one bank after another, all called, all saying the same thing.

Now Phoebe is really regretting it.

If she had known that, she wouldn't have been here to pick a fight!

"If you get it like this, our Steward's will be finished, I will never be happy for the rest of my life." Phoebe continued, anxious tears were leaving her eyes.

Noah took Jocelyn's hand and sat down, his long arm naturally wrapped her in his arms, his palm lightly rubbing her hair, "Whoever makes my wife unhappy for a moment, I will make whoever is unhappy for a lifetime."

William, Joseph, Gloria, Sara were also all scared.

This decision by Noah is likely to cause the Steward family to collapse.

Even if they don't close down, Steward Group's branches will definitely close down one by one.

The size of the group will shrink dramatically.

William immediately pushed the wheelchair and came to Noah to plead for mercy, "I am really sorry, I apologize to you on behalf of my mother, I hope you can take your back back."

"Everyone has to pay for their actions." Noah responded coldly, without a trace of warmth on his face.

At this moment, his aura was in full swing.

Everyone was emboldened by it.

Those who had scolded them both in particular were now even more frightened.

They can't wait to find a hole in the ground and go straight in.

Jocelyn was overwhelmed by his words, her heart flooding with emotion, and she knew that the reason he did this today, apart from helping her out, was also to help her establish her prestige in high society.

"Mr. Henry, how come I didn't know my grandfather had a friend like you?" Noah asked as he placed his gaze on Henry.

Henry instantly wiped sweat and said, "I've never heard of Dr. Mason saying that he has a grandson like you either, and I've even less heard of him saying that the Mason family is so powerful."

If it wasn't for this twat and her nonsense, why would they be in such a state?

If all the major banks refuse to lend to them in the future, what will happen to Shaw's?

Looking at Archie's appearance, Phoebe did not dare to say a word, or even breathe a word.

The same applies to others.

After the song and dance performance on the stage, Allen took Sara's hand and walked up to the stage, started preparing your presentation.

Those who had gathered around Jocelyn and Noah also quickly returned to their positions and looked towards the stage.

After a long list of testimonials, it was time to make a donation.

Guests began to flock to the stage with their prepared, enlarged versions of cheque signs.

After the donation was completed, Noah held Jocelyn's hand and walked up to Allen and Sara, and directly took out a gold card from his pocket and handed it over to Allen, "This contains the three hundred million I prepared with Jocelyn, it doesn't have a password."

The crowd was all shocked to hear this.

The few people on the stage, Jocelyn, Allen and Sara, were just as shocked.

No one expected that Noah and Jocelyn would come up with so much money to donate.

Jocelyn was one of the most shocked because, together, the two of them had agreed last night to contribute 5 million each and then donate 10 million.

He didn't even tell her that he was going to donate 300 million.

All the people in the audience started to applaud towards the stage at once.

The whole hall was full of praise.

"Noah and Jocelyn have good-looking features, but their hearts are better than their features, this is too impressive, right? I can't believe they donated 300 million directly."

The man's eyes were full of tenderness, very different from the way he had just treated the others in the hall.

The corners of his mouth curved in a playful manner.

Looking over from her angle, she could still faintly see the red mark on the underside of his collar.

It looks lustful and provocative.

Jocelyn felt her heart beat fast, once again.

Her face instantly flushed to the base of her neck and her hands subconsciously continued to hook around his neck before she looked around for a moment and frowned slightly, "Stop it, many people come in and out of this kind of occasion, don't be a rascal here."

The man's eyes grew ambiguous, "What's wrong with being a rascal to my wife?"

"Nasty." Jocelyn's face turned red again, "Hurry up and tell me honestly, what happened to our marriage certificate? When did you get it in your phone?"

"Just this morning, Grandpa said he got our marriage license re-pictured and photographed for me, and said he was going to mail it to us," he said.

"Oh, now Grandpa isn't afraid of us getting a divorce?" Jocelyn snickered.

"What do you say?" With that, he kissed her naturally on the lips, saying as he did so, "I told you the answer, so it's time for you to kiss me."

Joseph walked out of the banquet hall and saw the scene before him.

The image of the two of them making out with each other looked harsh to his eyes.

His hands hanging at his side were instantly clenched into fists.

Jocelyn and Noah continued to kiss without noticing the presence of Joseph.

It had been a long time before Noah reluctantly let go of Jocelyn and said with a smile, "However, I am very dissatisfied with that photo, I plan to change it."

Jocelyn said, "Well, I'm not happy with that either."

The large living room was deadly silent and the air was full of cold air.

The whole world seems to be freezing over.

Seeing such anger, Phoebe instantly drew a cold breath.

She was finished, she knew she was finished.

Looking at Phoebe in a panic, Gloria's heart was very content.

Damned wicked mother-in-law would be dealt with now.

Joseph and William, however, were very frightened in their hearts, each worrying about their mother.

"Phoebe, get your ass over here." Archie ordered in a cold voice.

Phoebe shivered violently and walked quickly to Archie with her hands covering her face.

Joseph instantly pushed William to their side.

Gloria, on the other hand, followed them closely.

When Phoebe looked at that whip, she felt her heart timid to the core.

She knelt down directly and looked at Archie with folded hands, "Honey, I'm really sorry, I won't do that again, don't hit me, okay?"

"Yes, dad, calm down, " Joseph followed suit.

"Dad, this matter can't be solved by a whip, let's talk." William spoke up.

Archie grunted coldly and looked at Joseph and the three of them, "You three sit here or get your asses upstairs."

"Don't, Daddy." Joseph opened his mouth.

"Whoever dares to say one more word, I will beat them all together." Archie scolded in a stern voice.

He then stood up straight away with the whip in his hand and sliced it hard towards Phoebe's arm.
