Chapter 341 Looking for Zoe

She only hoped that with this kiss, she could appease his heart, all the anger and uneasiness.

The moment her lips touched together, he gave an instant response.

The kiss grew deeper and deeper.

Eventually everything went out of control.

While holding her in his arms and continuing to wrap her in kisses, he breezed over to the switch by the door and switched on the light directly with his back.

The room suddenly went from dark to light.

The way he moved, in one fluid motion, was proactive and tantalizing.

Lost Bar, in the Sky Garden private room, Robert was lazily hugging a woman and listening to her sing.

The face that he wanted to forget but could not, once again, came to his mind.

Her voice and smile, the various images of them together, were like old movies replayed over and over again.

Every frame was warm and beautiful.

How good the memories are, how much his heart aches.

He really missed Zoe, a lot.

The woman in his arms continued to sing, and with each word, it seemed to pierce his heart.

He thought he was heartless, even for Zoe, it was not love.

But it was only now that he saw himself completely.

"Got it, go and check." Noah added.

"Well, by the way, Mr. Mason, the other thing you asked me to do, I have also done it. This morning, as soon as Mrs. Mason goes out, she will definitely be shocked."

"Okay."

Hanging up the phone, the corners of Noah's lips curled up slightly.

Putting down the phone, he quickly washed up and went back to the bedroom.

At this time, Jocelyn had just opened her eyes.

The sunlight hit in from the floor-to-ceiling window next to her, illuminating her as languid as a kitten.

Her sexy figure made Noah's lower half of his body tighten violently.

Seeing that Noah had already finished washing up, Jocelyn rubbed her eyes and naturally stretched a bit before reaching for her bedside wristwatch and looking at the time.

"It's eight o'clock. I've got to get up and wash up for work." Today, she has a bunch of things to do, besides the two company jobs, she has to go to the XS team base and play a training game with everyone to properly bond.

Although she had played a good training game yesterday, she still needed to bond properly.

With that, she sat up and straightened her dark hair.

Noah took a step forward and couldn't help but reach out and caress her delicate chin, "What do you want to eat in the morning?"

"Whatever, as long as you make it, I like to eat it."

"Okay, by the way, Ada and the waitress killed themselves." Noah said.

Jocelyn did not expect that.

She thought Ada and the waitress, probably because they were afraid of going to jail, would do so.

"And..." Noah then told Jocelyn all about Lorenzo's affairs.

After listening carefully, Jocelyn then fell into thought, "It seems that Phoebe was lying that day. The one who had been asking people to investigate me was Gloria..."

"But after Gloria got the results, she said she was going to call it quits, if we just look at it from that aspect, it should be that she really doesn't want to continue fighting with me all the time."

With those words, he carefully kissed away the tears on her face.

Jocelyn was deeply touched, her hands naturally hooked around Noah's neck and imprinted a deep kiss on his lips, "Thank you for being so kind to me, Noah."

"It's only right for a man to be good to his wife."

"How much manpower and effort would it take to complete such a big project overnight?"

"You just have to enjoy it, you don't need to mind these things." He added, "Drive around somewhere else and get a feel for it,"

Jocelyn nodded heavily at once, started the car again and flew forward.

On the way, all that came into view was a sea of roses.

"As you can see, the roses are all in pots now, and I will arrange for someone to move them all to the soil, so that every flowering season from now on, you can see the flowers blooming all over the city." He added.

Jocelyn was still in a state of deep emotion and shock, unable to come back to her senses.

The further she drove on, the more this happened to her.

She even felt that what was happening in front of her was like a dream.

Jocelyn knew that the favour she received from Noah was absolutely unique.

Because he loved her, he was actually willing to, for her, blossom all over the city.

This was Flento City!!!

One of the top metropolises in the country.

Along the way, she saw many people, taking pictures of the sea of flowers, and there was excitement under everyone's eyes.

"Noah, why are you so nice to me?"

"Because you're worth it."

Said, he then took the initiative to hold her hand ten fingers tightly clasped.

Chapter 344 Something's wrong

Seeing that it was Paige calling, Jocelyn instantly pressed answer.

"Did you see the hot search? Someone actually made red roses bloom all over the whole Flento City for his wife."

The tone of Paige's voice was tinged with a bit of shock.

Jocelyn smiled, "Well, I saw it."

Paige, "This person is really rich, I've really seen a lot."

Jocelyn responded calmly, "Yeah."

Paige, "Why are you so calm? Aren't you even curious?"

Jocelyn's smile grew at the corners of her mouth, "Well, I'm not curious."

Paige's tone was a bit inquisitive, "You don't know who it is, do you?"

Jocelyn, "Well, I know."

Paige, "Who?"

Jocelyn, "Noah."

When Paige heard that, she was instantly shocked, "What? It's him?"

Jocelyn did not say anything.

Paige added, "It must be a special deep love to be willing to go this far for you, Miss Murphy, cherish him."

Jocelyn, "Okay."

After chatting with Paige for a while, she hung up the phone.

After continuing to browse through the hot searches for a while, she put all her energy into her work.

The heat about Blossoming City was still going high and became a hot spot for everyone.

The more information about the lead actor and actress of the incident is not found out, the more curious everyone is.

At noon, after finishing all the work, Jocelyn picked up her phone and intended to go to the restaurant downstairs to have a meal.

At this time, she saw that there were many more news items on her phone screen.

After saying that, Paige frowned unhappily and added, "It's all the fault of that group of stalking fans. When Ryan and I came out of the airport, they followed us all the way.

In order to get rid of them, Ryan was forced to go on the highway, but they followed him all the way to the highway and even went so far as to race after him.

He accidentally crashed his car directly into the fence and hit his head on the steering wheel, and directly passed out."

After hearing this, Jocelyn immediately cautiously sized up Paige, "What about you? Are you okay?"

Paige shook her head, "I'm fine."

After saying that, she then turned her wrist, "It's just that I accidentally bumped my wrist at that time, but the doctor just checked it and it's fine."

Only then did Jocelyn's heart relax.

While the two of them were talking, the door of the emergency room slowly opened.

A doctor came out.

When she saw him, Jocelyn immediately took Paige's hand and stood up, and they spoke in unison, "How is it? Doctor? Is he alright?"

"A mild concussion has caused a transient coma, there is nothing wrong with the rest of his body, he will be able to come out after observation in a while, and then he will rest in the hospital for a week before he discharges." The doctor said.

Hearing this, Jocelyn and Paige's hearts were relieved.

At this time, countless people in black rushed outside the crowd.

Immediately afterwards, the men in black opened the way.

Noah walked quickly to Jocelyn's side, looked at the doctor and asked, "How is it? Is he alright?"

"Slight concussion, no problems elsewhere, rest in the hospital for a while, then he can be discharged." Jocelyn said.

"Give him the best medicine and do the best treatment." Noah looked at the doctor and said.

It was not even clear what was going on in the minds of these people.

Noah coldly glanced at Jocelyn's phone screen and pulled Jocelyn to sit on the sofa next to him.

He folded his long and slender legs and looked at Ryan and said, "Mom and Dad will definitely know about it."

Ryan helplessly held his forehead, "Well, I know, when the time comes, dad will probably nag me ."

"Okay."

"I still have things to do, I'll leave first." After saying that, Noah got up.

"I'll sit here for a while, you go first." Jocelyn said.

Not long after he left, Allie and Allen both arrived.

As they expected, the two of them only asked about the injuries but didn't chatter too much about anything else, only that their faces didn't look good.

The two men sat in the ward for a while and then left together.

After escorting them away, Paige directly began to take interviews from the reporters, giving a detailed account of Ryan's situation.

In order not to disturb Ryan and the other patients resting, Paige directly led the reporters, and the fans, downstairs to the lobby together.

In the end, only Jocelyn and Ryan were left in the large ward.

Jocelyn closed the door tightly, after which she sat back in the chair next to the bed and asked, "Apart from your head, there's nothing else uncomfortable, right?"

Ryan smiled warmly and his eyes did the same, "No, thank you for your concern."

"No worries." Jocelyn said.

"I'm really sorry for making you worry." Ryan added.

"It's good that you're okay." Jocelyn added, "Don't say that again, don't be capricious in the future."

Ryan nodded, "Okay."

"Have you eaten lunch?" Jocelyn asked seriously.

Chapter 347 Don't Abuse Like that

A beautiful woman wearing a black knitted navel-length dress and heavy make-up stood outside the door.

This woman was no other than the one King Entertainment had just signed, a trainee called Grace Reid.

As he was the one who had signed her at that time, he had an impression of this person.

At the moment, she was propping herself up on the door frame with one hand, posing in an S-shaped pose.

The look was as flirtatious as it could be.

In the past, he would have been attracted to her.

Now, however, he was not interested at all.

"If you need it too much, I suggest you, go to the hospital and get a Valium shot, or go to a social networking app and ask a random guy out." Robert said coldly, "Go out."

Grace, however, had no intention of leaving at all, twisting her waist and pretty hips, charmingly closing the door, coming to his heels.

The strong and cheap perfume smell spread on the tip of his nose, making him uncomfortable all over.

He had no half-hearted thoughts about this woman other than that he felt disgusted.

Robert frowned, "You don't understand what I've said, do you?"

Grace lightly licked the corners of her lips in a suggestive gesture, then she sat directly on his lap and hooked her arms tightly around his neck, "Boss, don't be so cold, I really like you."

"Get out!" Robert ordered in a cold voice.

But Grace was stuck to him, not moving a muscle, and even kept pouting, "Boss, don't be like this."

In King Entertainment, Robert was the biggest.

As long as the big boss could promote her, then her future would be unlimited.

Today, she had to take Robert down!

Even if she didn't want her pride, she had to take him down!

Robert had seen this kind of scene many times before, he didn't feel anything before, but now his stomach turned upside down.

Robert frowned coldly, pushed the woman away, stood up in disgust, drew a few disinfectant wipes, quickly wiped his own hands, and ordered, "Get out!"

Grace was startled.

Also, their Mr. Mason was really getting better and better with Jocelyn.

Before Jocelyn, he really had never seen their Mr. Mason treat any woman like this.

Everyone in the company knew that this Mr. Mason didn't get close to women, and even in the past, everyone had discussed privately whether there was something wrong with his orientation.

Many people were curious whether there would be a woman in this world who would caught in his eyes, and most said there wouldn't be.

He was an unattainable highbrow flower in the eyes of many.

If someone had told him in the past that their Mr. Mason could one day be considerate to a female, he wouldn't have believed it and would have even thought that person was insane!

"Tom, go on. and let Jocelyn listen too." Noah continued to surround Jocelyn from behind and looked at Tom indifferently.

The attitude towards Tom was like that of Jocelyn.

Such a world of difference in treatment made Tom greatly uncomfortable, but he did not dare to say anything more and continued to report earnestly.

"Mr. Mason, Miss Murphy, Gloria, Phoebe, and Lorenzo were caught together today."

"And they were interrogated separately, the three of them explained everything."

"At the very beginning, it was Lorenzo who was contacted by Gloria to investigate that all, later Lorenzo investigated it, but Gloria wanted to call it quits."

Tom gave a serious account word by word, his face gradually becoming serious.

"And then what?" Jocelyn asked.

"Gloria's mobile phone of Mr. Mason's fake household registration information map was accidentally seen by Phoebe. Phoebe then chased after all this, under no choice, Gloria then explained all."

"Then again, Phoebe said that she at that time hated you, so she secretly investigated the call records of Gloria by herself, and then found out the person Lorenzo, and then went to contact Lorenzo by herself."

"Okay, I'll hang up first then."

He then hung up the phone and continued to select the meat balls she wanted.

The entire process was clearly visible to the people around him, whether it was Tom or the bodyguards around him, all had an expression of having seen magic on earth.

The women who were secretly following him, on the other hand, were jealous of the whole thing in their hearts.

Everyone then started talking again.

"He's on the phone with his girlfriend, right? Really gentle."

"Good looking, and rich, cold to everyone else, only good to his own girlfriend, what kind of leading man persona is this?"

"I don't know about anything else, I just know that this man is just perfect, he's my ideal type, I admit I'm jealous."

After buying the meat balls he wanted, Noah took the large group and walked to the self-service checkout area.

Tom was in charge of the checkout, while Noah, surrounded by a group of bodyguards, went ahead.

All the way until he left, the topic of conversation on the lips of the women in the supermarket who had seen him was still about him.

As he got home, he went straight to the kitchen and make a pot of soup, and then wash all the dishes clean.

After finally setting everything in the dining room, he made Jocelyn's favorite dipping sauce by hand.

After putting the dip in place, he turned on the power to the hot pot and started heating the bottom.

And then he walked out of the kitchen with modest steps and looked at Jocelyn who was sitting on the sofa watching TV and said, "Honey, time for dinner."

At this time, the bottom of the pot in the kitchen was already boiling, and the special aroma spread throughout the living room.

Smelling the smell, Jocelyn's appetite was whetted.

She instantly got up and went to wash her hands before entering the kitchen with Noah.

In the kitchen, the hot red pot was rolling with heat.

Jocelyn took the lead and sat down, putting a few slices of beef into the pot, "It seems to be that brand of hot pot base I like, right? It's so good."

Noah sat down and began to help her add ingredients to the pot, "Yes."

"All my favorites, thank you, hubby." Jocelyn had a happy face.

"Stalking fans chasing Ryan's have now been sentenced to one month of detention!"

Jocelyn quickly clicked in.

In addition to stating what happened to the group of stalking fans, the page also sentenced the driver who was carrying the stalking fans.

The driver, too, was sentenced to one month's detention.

Jocelyn was quite relieved to see this.

Once this news appeared, in a short period of time, the stalking fans would be more or less quiet.

The comment section was already abuzz with Ryan's fans, celebrating like crazy.

[X Entertainment is powerful and domineering, that's what it's all about, a thousand kudos to the boss!

After reading through the comments, Jocelyn called Paige directly and asked her to forward the message on the company's official account, and to warn the stalking fans once again.

After Paige agreed, Jocelyn hung up the phone.

At this time Allen's phone call came in.

Jocelyn promptly pressed answer.

"Jocelyn, come back for lunch tomorrow, tomorrow is the 25th anniversary of Murphy's establishment, I plan to have a family meal together." Allen said.

"Okay." Jocelyn answered.

She had been so busy these past two days that she had forgotten about such a meaningful day.

If it wasn't for her father reminding her, she really wouldn't have remembered.

After a brief exchange of pleasantries with Allen, Jocelyn simply hung up the phone.
