Chapter 351 Who exactly is the protagonist of Blossoming City

The living room was filled with people sitting around the coffee table.

The relatives of Sara all came, as well as Gloria, Joseph, Archie, and Phoebe, William were also all present.

The original seats were not enough, and several single sofas were added temporarily.

At this moment, the whole room was happy, except for the Steward family, whose smiles were forced.

The moment Jocelyn entered with Noah, she immediately became the focus of the whole room.

All eyes were gathered on the two of them.

The relatives on Sara had heard about Noah's status, and the eyes of each and every one of them were now fixing on Noah more radiantly than before.

The young girls, in particular, could not wait to grow their eyes on Noah.

However, Noah was calm and polite throughout the whole process. He walked up to the crowd and first greeted the elders one by one.

Then, together with Jocelyn, he sat next to Allen and placed the gifts on the coffee table.

In a moment, the stars were in the air.

The relatives gathered their attention completely on them.

"Jocelyn, you're really something, I didn't expect you to marry the heir of Griffin Group."

"I told you that Noah has an extraordinary aura, he's not an ordinary person, and you guys still don't believe me."

"They really are a good match."

She was originally going to give the gift to her father, but instead, there was no room to speak at all.

Because of Noah's status, everyone didn't dare to say anything excessive, all of them were smiling, as if they could get a million out of Noah by saying one more good word.

Noah was always generous and decent. Although he was cool and calm, he treated everyone with an attitude that was engraved in his bones.

Hearing this, both Jocelyn and Noah did not expect it, but neither of them said anything, they just quietly listened to Sara.

When the relatives heard this, they immediately envied Gloria.

"What? So the odds are that those roses were gotten by Joseph for Gloria? So they've gotten better in their relationship?"

"Oh my god, Gloria's really made a fortune. Whoever says Stewart's is not working now in the future, I'll be mad at them."

"The Steward family is really rich, Gloria is really married to a good man."

Hearing the words of the crowd, Sara instantly felt smug inside, "Not necessarily, anyway, I heard Gloria say before that Joseph was in touch with what rose was planted, I was guessing, I haven't asked him yet."

Allen's eyes were full of consternation, "Really?"

Sara nodded her head.

"When did the flowers planted by I become Joseph's?" Noah, who had been silent, opened his mouth.

With a single word, the whole room fell silent.

Sara instantly felt ashamed, and all the smiles instantly froze at the corners of her mouth, "What? Did you plant it, Noah? That was a misunderstanding on my part, sorry."

Originally, she had wanted to boast about, but she didn't expect that it was Noah planted the flowers.

If she had known that was the case, she wouldn't have boasted.

It was a good thing she hadn't just used an unmistakable tone of voice, or she would have been even more humiliated.

"What are you talking nonsense about since you are not sure?"

"Yeah, this is embarrassing, isn't it?"

"Jocelyn can really be spoiled into princess."

The relatives of Sara scrambled to give them a thumbs up.

At this moment, each and every person in the whole room was envious and jealous of Jocelyn.

The faces of the Steward family were darkened to the extreme.

"Which of these things are worth more than that painting, right?"

"Yes. They should all be antiques."

"That painting doesn't seem to be an antique, right?"

"No."

The relatives are talking in low voices.

As Sara listened to these words, she instantly felt ashamed again.

If she had known this, she would have stopped showing off and comparing just now!

Looking at her father's contented look, Jocelyn's heart was filled with gratitude for the Mason family.

Her eyes became more and more gentle.

"The two elders of the Mason family are generous. These things already prove Jocelyn's family status."

"My goodness, this is even more grandiose than on TV when that emperor talks about merits and rewards."

"As expected of the top gentry Mason family, it's really out of the ordinary."

The relatives' eyes were full of desire for those extremely valuable objects.

At this moment, they could not wait to take over Allen.

Allen listened to everyone's praise, and the satisfaction in his own heart could not be overstated.

"Wife, you take them to find a place to put all the things down." Allen said.

After saying that, he thought to himself that his in-laws had given him such valuable things, then he would have to return the gift with the same value when the time came.

So that Jocelyn would not be looked down at his in-laws' house.

Sara could not sit here any longer, and hearing this, she immediately got up and took the people in black to put things away.

"Jocelyn, I told earlier for you to arrange a meeting between the two parents, have you arranged it?" Allen asked as he walked over to Jocelyn and sat down.

Soon, the match began.

The moment the game started, the opposite side came out with four people, against the two on their side.

Jocelyn was killed by the opposite side because of an operation error, together with the support.

The tower of lower lane was almost destroyed by the opposite side.

This scene made all the people in the arena on tenterhooks.

[Why didn't Jocelyn just flash and run? Obviously she could have run. I thought she was a master, but she turned out to be a bronze?]

[Why didn't she run? Why? Is she playing a fake game?]

[Holy shit, the lower lane is going to lose.]

[XS will lose today, I take back what I said about Jocelyn, she's a fucking rookie.]

[What kind of level is that? Gaming is a high-level game. Go back if she can't play it well.]

Of course, at this moment, Jocelyn did not know that she had been cursed out.

Even so, she knew very well in her heart that the people who were probably watching the live stream were all cursing her.

Jocelyn looked at the grey screen with an apologetic face, "Sorry, I made a mistake, I should have just flashed and run, but I ended up dying as I missed the operation."

"It's okay, Boss."

"It's okay, it's okay, it's just the beginning, defeat them in the next round."

As a few people spoke, they completed a 1V2 and a double kill.

Seeing this image, Jocelyn couldn't help but praise, "Wow, awesome."

After resurrecting, Jocelyn then quickly joined her support Lian and went back under the lower defense tower.

On the opposite side was four to two.

Because of the amazement, this time, Jocelyn and her support got back in one piece, and even, she even killed one with her operation.

After the interview, Jocelyn bowed politely to everyone, and then prepared to leave the stage.

At this time, all of a sudden, the audience on stage screamed en masse.

"Ahhhhhhh!!! My idol!!!"

"Ahhhhhhh!!! Ryan, I love you!!!"

Jocelyn immediately looked at the sound.

Only to see that Ryan was lowly pressing the brim of his hat and quickly running out.

The spectators, on the other hand, were chasing outside like crazy.

Ryan was running fast.

It seemed that he would not be easily caught up.

But even so, Jocelyn was still worried and immediately went to the security guards on stage and said,

"You guys go out and protect Ryan."

The security guards then quickly ran out.

Noah stepped forward and took Jocelyn's hand, "Don't worry, there are bodyguards outside, they will protect him."

Only then did Jocelyn nodded reassuringly.

Noah did not speak again, but only looked deeply at the direction Ryan left, his eyes slightly narrowed.

Scott helplessly let out a long sigh, "Being a star is really tiring."

Allie said, "Fame and fortune go hand in hand with exhaustion."

Camille, on the other hand, directly bypassed the topic of Ryan and pulled Jocelyn, "Sister-in-law, you are impressive."

Jocelyn was modest, "The main reason is that my teammates work better with me."

Allie, "No, obviously your operation is good."

Scott, "Yes, Jocelyn, you are good. To celebrate, I will treat you to dinner tonight."

From the sofa in the living room, to the windowsill in the room, and the big bed.

This man seemed to have a never ending supply of energy.

Tossing and turning until midnight, he had no intention of letting her go.

It was only when she begged for mercy that he reluctantly let her go.

Sweat broke out on both of them.

At this moment, Jocelyn felt that her legs were so tired that she couldn't lift them up at all.

Her back was sore.

The bones in her whole body seemed to have been completely broken.

She looked at the man beside her, who looked as normal, with a resentful expression, "Are you a human being?"

The man reached out and held her tightly in his arms, his chin constantly rubbing against her hair, "Just now, you didn't have this expression."

Jocelyn's face instantly flushed to the base of her neck, her heart felt as if it had been electrocuted as if it was tingling.

"Don't be shameless."

"Jocelyn, be good. Next time I will be gentle."

Every time he said so.

What was the result?

One time is more excessive than another.

"If a man's words could be believed, a sow could be on a tree."

There was a soft chuckle from him overhead, "Take a shower?"

"You carry me, I have no strength. " Jocelyn hooked her arms around his neck and pouted.

He then got up and carried her and into the bathroom.

Put a bathtub of warm water, the two together sat in it.

Between the mist, his emotionless, lustless face looked cool and exquisite.

He naturally wrapped his arm around her, "Stay away from Ryan in the future."

Jocelyn was stunned, "What?"

"In short, have less contact with him, except for work."

Jocelyn was on the verge of tears. She shouldn't have said that, this man was so energetic that he couldn't get enough of doing it several times a day.

She really didn't think she could handle his sexual appetite sometimes.

After a long time, Noah finally let Jocelyn's body go.

As if she had been pardoned, she stepped into the bathroom with Noah and began to wash up.

"What do you want to eat for breakfast?" While wiping the water droplets on his face with the immaculate washcloth, Noah looked at her with a patient face.

"Is that called breakfast what we're having in a moment?" Why, she thought, that was lunch now.

"What do you want to eat for lunch?" Noah looked at her with a serious face and asked.

"Whatever, not too greasy, just woke up, I can't eat." Jocelyn said.

"Noodle?" Noah's eyes were inquisitive, and his voice was, as always, damn good.

Jocelyn thought for a moment, then nodded, "Okay."

At this moment, she really didn't want to eat anything but noodle.

"Beef noodles?" Noah remained very patient.

"Seafood noodles, I don't want to eat meat." Jocelyn said again.

"Well, then I'll go and cook, you put on your makeup."

Noah then walked out.

"Yes, I love you, Jocelyn." He didn't shy away from the fact that his gaze was intensely possessive.

Like a dangerous cheetah, he locked on to his prey.

"Once, I only had armor, no soft spot, and your presence gave me a soft spot." he said with a serious face as he naturally held her hand.

This sentence, moved Jocelyn's nostrils slightly sour.

"In the past, others wanted to deal with me but had no place to start, but not anymore, as long as they have you in their grasp, even if they want my life, I will give it." Noah added.

The words of deep love made her eyes unconsciously red.

She was more important than life to Noah.

"I love you too." Jocelyn said.

"Well, eat." He lightly cupped her face and said, his eyes with love.

Jocelyn then picked up her chopsticks and ate her noodles while wiping her tears, "You made me so touched."

Noah just smiled and picked out all the shrimps in his bowl and put them into her bowl.

The smallest detail, once again, made her heart warm.

"You eat, don't give it all to me." Jocelyn said.

"You eat."

He knew that she liked shrimp, and every time he ate noodles, he would pick out all the shrimp she liked and give them to her, without exception.

"Tonight, there is an appointment for the two parents to meet. You leave work early." Noah said.

She found that he was more concerned than her.

Jocelyn nodded.

"I'll drop you off at work, and I'll pick you up in the evening and go together." He added.

"Okay. By the way, has Robert contacted you during this time?" Jocelyn asked.

"No." he said.

"So is he okay?"

"Not too well."

The two elders of the Mason family maintained a polite courtesy to her and nodded their heads.
The few younger members of the Mason family, however, were all indifferent.
Even Ryan, who had always been warm and humble, was also so.
About the reactions of everyone else, Gloria didn't care.
But it was impossible for her to not care about her idol's reaction.
From the moment she entered the door to now, she had caught every subtle expression of Ryan through the corners of her eyes.
He resented her.
She knew that it was because of Jocelyn.
Originally, she thought that he liked Jocelyn.
Until today, she knew that he was the son of the Mason family, the younger search brother of Noah.
Only then did she realise that all the tenderness and closeness that Ryan had shown to Jocelyn was because they were family.
But even so, she was still jealous of Jocelyn.
"In a moment, can you sign my autograph? I like you a lot." Gloria asked.
"Recently, the company has a rule that they don't allow random fans to sign autographs anymore." Ryan maintained a polite smile, except that his smile also carried a bit of detachment.
Such a detached look was rarely seen here in Ryan.
She had been following the star for so long, and she had the impression that he would only show such an expression when he was treating someone he particularly hated.
Gloria really did not expect that Ryan could actually hate her to this extent because of Jocelyn.

He would even blatantly refuse her request.

"There's no one from your company present now, even if you sign one, no one will know." Gloria added.

She didn't want to give up.

It was not easy to have close contact with Ryan, a chance to eat at the dinner table, how could she give it up?

Ryan smiled, "I have my principles."

Chapter 360 She's playing with fire

However, in order to keep Stewart family from getting suspicious, she would go home early if she had an evening date, and play until eleven at most.

Then she told Stewart family that she was in a bad mood and had gone out for a walk.

They left her alone anyway, so naturally they rarely cared about this.

If it was a daytime appointment, she would tell them that she was going out shopping, or to get her medicine from the hospital, or whatever, in short, for a whole host of reasons.

If it was daytime, she could stay out longer and would even pester the male models for a whole afternoon.

Occasionally, she would even get two or three male prostitutes at once.

Tonight, she hadn't wanted to make a date, but because she had just seen Ryan, her heart was hot again.

She had to find a place to soothe it.

Gloria was with a young man, and Jocelyn started sitting in the study when she got home, playing games with her assistant in the XS team.

Noah took a shower first, then sat on his bed holding his phone, reading documents on business correspondence.

After reading the documents, it was after twelve o'clock.

Noah slowly lowered the gold-rimmed glasses on the bridge of his nose, lightly pinched his brow and looked around.

She still hadn't come back.

His wife was serious in everything she did.

That was what he liked most about her.

Everything was done to the best of her ability.

However, there was a bit of a downside to such a personality.

He felt that he had been neglected many, many times during this time, because of the game.

Sometimes, when she was approached on WeChat in the afternoon, she wouldn't reply, and only after a long time would she tell him that she was training.

Sometimes, at night, when she was done, she would hold her laptop and play games for a while.

When Noah walked into the study, Jocelyn was frantically attack the crystal of the opposite base with her assistant.
