Chapter 491 Soul Devouring Water

She tried Gloria's birthday first.

It was found to be completely useless.

Finally, she tried Sara's, Allen's and Joseph's birthdays respectively.

The first two could not be opened.

Joseph's birthday number, on the other hand, managed to open the box.

Inside the box was a large pile, containing clear liquid, glass bottles.

The bottles were shaped like small test tubes used for experiments and were only half the length of a small test tube.

On the bottles, too, were some very strange characters that she had just seen.

She really did not know what it was.

So then she put the stuff to the side, and then continued to check Gloria's cloakroom.

She didn't find anything suspicious.

She then went back into Gloria's room and continued to check around for suspicious targets.

Again, nothing was found.

She then made a quick trip into Sara's room to check.

She first opened Sara's dresser.

In the top drawer of the dresser, she also saw the same Victorian style case that Gloria had.

She instantly sat down on the chair while trying to unlock it by entering the birthdays of Sara, Allen and Gloria.

In the end all were unsuccessful.

So, she entered, again, Sara and Allen's wedding anniversary.

This time, it finally opened.

Her box contained exactly the same things as the one of Gloria's.

Chapter 492 Poison King Philip

Jocelyn first subconsciously glanced at the visual doorbell.

The one standing outside the door was indeed Regan, who was wearing a white taiji suit and holding a walking stick in his hand.

The handle part of the walking stick was a huge white jade ball, which was luxurious in its understatement.

Jocelyn opened the door, and then handed him slippers, "Grandpa, please put on your shoes."

"Thank you, Jocelyn." Regan said in a soft voice, before giving Jocelyn a benevolent look and entering the door to change his shoes.

Once Regan had changed his shoes, he closed the door and resumed his serious face, "Where is that suspected soul-devouring water you mentioned?"

"It's here." Jocelyn naturally took Regan's arm and led him to the front of the living room coffee table and sat down.

As soon as she sat down, she couldn't wait and handed Regan the bottle.

Noah did not say anything, but only looked at Regan with a serious face, waiting for an answer.

Regan unscrewed the cap, and then carefully brought the bottle to the tip of his nose and gently smelled it.

As soon as he smelled it, Regan's face became even more serious, and his eyebrows knitted up deeply.

Looking at her master's expression, Jocelyn knew that this was not a simple thing.

"It is indeed soul-devouring water, I never thought I would see it again in my lifetime, it came from a destroyed laboratory, it was researched by a man I knew, his name was Philip.

Ten years ago Philip died, and with his death, this stuff also became nearly extinct." Regan said truthfully.

With those words, he screwed on the lid, and then put the item back on the coffee table.

Jocelyn and Noah heard this, they then

"Tonight, we can take their bodies to somewhere else while no one is around, then put two other people's bodies in, and cremate and bury them in their place tomorrow morning."

"And then, we'll secretly conduct an autopsy on the bodies of the two to investigate the real cause of their deaths." Jocelyn added.

She believed that as long as something had been done, there were bound to be traces left behind.

"Okay." Noah said.

"By the way, I found these things in Gloria's room, take a look, they are all strange characters, do you recognize this?" Jocelyn said, then from the suitcase beside her, she took out a sticky note with strange characters partially written on it and handed it to Regan.

Seeing the contents on the sticky note, Regan and Noah were at a loss.

Neither of them knew what it was.

Regan, "I don't know. This looks like it should be some kind of writing, it looks quite like oracle bone writing, but it's not oracle bone writing."

Jocelyn, "Gloria's walls are covered with these things, I feel like there should be clues on this one too. It would be nice if we could decipher it." Jocelyn added.

"I'm afraid we'll have to get some professional help on this." Regan added.

"Also, the body of the maid who died because of the poisoned needle is still stored at home, Master, I still need to trouble you to go with me to see what kind of poison that maid was poisoned with, I really haven't seen it before." Jocelyn added.

"Okay." Regan said.

"It's possible that, on that maid, there will be clues as well." After saying that, Jocelyn stood up.

Regan and Noah stood up in unison.

Afterwards, Jocelyn led the two and reached the small house in the backyard of her house.

The small house had only one floor and only one room.

"A normal person living in a home that actually hides mechanism and concealed weapons, who could have thought of this?" Regan added.

But in Jocelyn's heart, it was still hard.

Moreover, to her, servants were not just servants, they were also family.

Jocelyn nodded lightly, and then looked at Noah and Regan and said, "I heard that her family's condition is quite difficult, her family has been renting a house to live in, so I am going to arrange a place for their family to live in Flento City, and then give her family five million."

In this way, her family will be able to live without worries.

Although, these things can't make up for their pain of losing her, but still, she wanted to do her best.

"Okay, we have many houses in Flento City, you can one to them." Regan added.

For Jocelyn's approach, Regan was very agreeable.

In his heart, his fondness for Jocelyn had also increased a lot once again.

Because, she was kind enough and responsible enough.

"I also have many properties under my name, I will transfer one to her family when the time comes."
After saying that, Jocelyn then took a few steps back, bowed deeply towards the corpse, and apologized,
"I'm sorry."

Seeing this, Noah and Regan also walked over to Jocelyn and bowed towards the corpse.

Only then did the three leave the small house together.

Locking the door of the room, Jocelyn looked at Noah and Regan and said, "Let's split up now, Grandpa, I'll send you back to rest first. Hubby, you go find a private detective, I'll go to the funeral home and find my father to discuss the matter."

"Noah will take me there, you just go straight to the funeral home, bring more bodyguards, and from now on, wherever you go, don't be alone, especially at night, and don't..." Regan cautiously admonished.

"I know." Jocelyn said.

"Then let's go." Noah said, and took the lead in taking Jocelyn's hand and moving forward with her all the way.

His intuition told him that the one hiding behind, the 'master' should be a big shot.

The truth may be late, but it will definitely come.

Allen had the same determined face, "I also believe."

The suddenness of everything made him more and more afraid to accept it.

Originally he thought that Sara and Gloria, one died of a cerebral hemorrhage and the other committed suicide.

He never thought that there might actually be another hidden agenda.

Who was this master?

It also became a mystery that Allen could not solve in his heart.

Thinking about what Jocelyn had gone through before, Allen felt terrified.

He was so close to losing his beloved and most talented daughter.

"Jocelyn, thank you for being alive and well, and thank God for taking care of you, I really feel scared."
Allen gently patted the back of Jocelyn's hand, with mixed feelings inside.

At these words, Jocelyn's heart was suddenly warmed.

She held Allen's hand back and said with a bitter smile, "Actually, when I think about it, I also feel very scared that I was once so close to death."

Even in her dreams, she had never thought that behind Sara and Gloria, there was actually a big BOSS hiding.

And how long this big BOSS had been hiding, she had no idea at all.

She had thought that after the two of them died, her life would return to peace.

Only now did she realize that everything might have just begun.

"Thank God for that, thank God for that." Allen wiped his tears as he said, "Do you think that Sara and Gloria could have been controlled a long time ago? For example, like that person controlling Sara, from the time Sara first entered this family, and controlling Gloria, from the time Gloria was young."

"And all the investigation this time will be conducted in top secret, no word will leak out, whether it's Matteo, or Tom, and those bodyguards involved in it before, you can all rest assured."

"They will definitely not leak any information, all I have taken care of it." Noah added.

Noah's words once again gave Jocelyn as well as Allen a piece of mind.

Allen lightly patted Noah's shoulder and complimented, "Well, I'm confident about you, Noah, you're really my good son-in-law."

This time, once again, Allen had seen the superb sense of responsibility of Noah, as well as his ability to get things done.

He had been satisfied with his son-in-law

"Dad, it's all as it should be." Noah said again.

At those words, the corners of Jocelyn's mouth involuntarily curled up into a satisfied smile.

It was as if, as long as this man was around, she didn't have to worry about anything, she just needed to be the one to sit back and enjoy it.

Because, no matter what it was, he could accomplish it well and meticulously.

"Alright, you two go back, I want to be alone." Allen closed his eyes again and said.

"You can go up and rest, the two of us stay downstairs." Jocelyn said again.

Allen's heart was suddenly warmed, "What? Afraid that I won't be able to think straight?"

"No, just want to keep you company." She knew that her father was not that fragile.

It was just that even so, she wanted to be with him.

With so many things happening at once, after all, she was worried about him.

Allen stretched his hands, and then got up, "Fine, then you guys can play by yourselves, I'm going up."

The next day, the Murphy family, together with the maid's family, buried the maid in secret.
After the funeral, Jocelyn and Noah returned to their home together.
It was the first time since Gloria's death that the two of them had entered their own home.
The warm afternoon sun shone throughout the living room, warming it all up.
The world of Baroque, with all its objects and ornaments, was shining.
Dragging her tired body, Jocelyn sat down on the sofa, leaning lightly against the backrest and pinching her brow.
Noah changed into his shoes and walked to her, .turned her around and massaged for her.
His movements were extremely professional.
Each stroke was just right, pressing on the point that would make her feel comfortable.
At this moment, this man, even in his hair, was gentle.
The afternoon sun, although warm, was not a millionth as warm as his.
"Comfortable?" He asked.
Jocelyn closed her eyes with a look of enjoyment, "Yeah."

"Now that everything is over, it's time for you and I to return to our normal lives, starting tomorrow, let's work hard and stop thinking too much." Noah said.

"Okay." Jocelyn responded without thinking.

"Leave the rest to Matteo." Noah added.

"Since you are their relatives, then come and teach them how to take their numbers. It is so simple, you don't even know how to do it, isn't this to add to our workload?" The beautiful woman's attitude, again, became colder.

Looking at the person in front of her, who was gentle and soft, the beautiful woman deduced that she was also a soft person.

"If, everyone knew everything, then what would be the need for you?" Jocelyn responded.

"Go ahead or leave, you are really troublesome." The beautiful woman coldly snorted again. The woman's attitude made Jocelyn feel unsatisfied.

Since she was a child, she had been to the bank so many times, but it was the first time she met such a staff with cold attitude.

She was instantly furious.

Noticing that Jocelyn's face was not looking good anymore, the maid's mother took Jocelyn's hand carefully, "Forget it, let's do it ourselves."

The most annoying thing in her life is this kind of people, who have no respect for the elderly and look down on people.

Today, she did not want to let this person off easily.

"Apologise." Jocelyn's face didn't have much ripple, but her tone was strong.

Just at this time, a young man and a woman dressed in LV walked in.

Seeing them, the beautiful woman changed her face, ignoring Jocelyn and the others and greeted them with a smile, saying with a curt grin, "What business are you two here to conduct?"

The contrast between before and after was huge, as if she were not the same person at all.

This scene made Jocelyn feel sarcastic.

"Oh, we've come to buy financial products." The female customer said.

"In that case, come with me." the beautiful woman said, and then made a gesture towards them to invite them.

And then she led them towards the VIP room next to them.

When she passed by them, the beautiful woman gave Jocelyn and the others a vicious glare.

As soon as she heard that, the beautiful woman's face became even paler.

She raised her head and looked at Jocelyn with trepidation and added, "I'm really sorry, I'm really really sorry, I beg you to forgive me, please forgive me."

Hearing her apology, the anger in Jocelyn's heart subsided in an instant.

Since she had apologised, she didn't want to drive her to extinction.

After all, it was not easy for everyone to make money.

Her purpose today, in doing so, was also just to make her learn her lesson, not to make her lose her job.

Jocelyn indifferently looked at the beautiful woman and said, "And them..."

After saying that, Jocelyn looked at the maid's parents by her side.

The beautiful woman walked to the maid's parents and kept bowing and admitting her mistake, "I was wrong, please let me go, I won't dare to do it again, I really won't dare to do it again."

She really didn't want to lose such a decent and easy job!

In the future, she really would never dare to look down on people again.

When the maid's parents saw this scene, they were instantly at a loss for words.

After a while, the maid's mother looked at Jocelyn and pleaded, "Forget it, we all come out to make a living, it's not easy."

"All right, since you know you are wrong, then I will spare you this time for the sake of Ethan." Jocelyn said.

With a single word, the beautiful woman was grateful.

Her first thought was that what had just happened to her at the bank had been posted to Weibo.

Jocelyn then clicked in to find out more.

It was all posted by some big Vloggers and marketing numbers about her scolding the female lobby manager at the bank.

All the scenes were recreated by everyone.

It was a huge reaction.

Many people were praising her.

About half an hour later, Noah's dinner was arranged.

After arranging all the things that were prepared for the hot pot, Noah walked straight to Jocelyn's side, picking her up horizontally, full of doting eyes, "Let's go, go eat."

Jocelyn's heart was suddenly beating hard, her face carried a slight flush.

The smallest expression was caught in the eyes of Noah.
