Chapter 781 The Million Draw

Meanwhile, the number of people in the staff's live feed saying to hurry up and watch Ryan's post has been soaring.

The staff in the room were left frozen in their tracks.

So as not to interfere with the live broadcast, everyone then used their other phone and just tapped on Weibo.

Everyone was dumbfounded when they saw the number one Weibo hit.

No.1 in the hot search at this moment, #Ryan, 10 million lucky draw#

Everyone clicked in.

Once inside, the first thing that caught their eyes was Ryan's draw.

It posted one minute ago, [To celebrate my sister-in-law's team winning the S10 championship, there is a draw with a price 10 million. I will divide into a thousand, from now on, just forward and like my post, and comment a sentence XS is awesome, you will have a chance to draw ten thousand.]

Although it was posted just a minute ago, it was already exploding with heat at this point.

As people watched Weibo went down.

"This really is crazy, isn't it?"

"My goodness."

Several staff members, while constantly trying to get into Weibo, sighed.

Their words caught the attention of Jocelyn.

Jocelyn casually set her eyes on a young male staff member and asked, "What are you guys talking about?"

"Miss Murphy, check Weibo and you'll be amazed." said the male staff member.

And at the same time, their live stream pop-ups were in an uproar.

They all said Ryan is awesome.

Jocelyn, who was totally unaware of the live feed, with a heart full of curiosity and bewilderment, clicked on her Weibo.

When she saw the number one hot topic, Jocelyn's eyes were full of surprise.

Noah, however, didn't even look at the comment section and quit Weibo.

And all of this was seen by Jocelyn.

Although she was grateful for their help in expanding her team's influence, the 30 million was a real pain in the neck.

But in front of the live cameras, she didn't show too much and regained a calm face.

And at the same time, #Noah 20 million Raffle# was in the top of the search.

It crushed Ryan and reached the first place in the hot search.

The two brothers of the Mason family, with 30 million, have sensationalised the whole internet.

The whole country, in the circle of friends of all young people, is talking about it.

All users of Weibo are busy forwarding the raffle.

The two brothers' post even surpassed 200 million forwards and comments within ten minutes.

In this way, the Mason family, with the power of money, promoted the XS team, and more importantly, eSports, to many people who did not know anything about eSports.

And many people who didn't know about the XS team winning the title or the LOL competition started watching the global finals.

And the Global Finals replay video, which started with one million plays, shot straight up to 10 million.

And from one million to ten million in just ten minutes.

And the world's top hotspots have been dominated by the luxurious draw of the two brothers.

After taking a few glances, Jocelyn exited the comment section and scanned the hot search list again.

Tonight, she and the XS team were in the spotlight.

She was very happy for the XS team.

They exhausted all their skills and fought with all their might, and were finally rewarded.

What they have achieved at the moment is enough to boast.

The Tiger community, as Weibo, has been occupied by XS team wins championship, two brothers' raffle for 10 million to celebrate XS team's win.

The netizens on Tiger community were even more excited than on Weibo.

[The XS team won the championship, and it is exciting.]

Looking at everyone's praise for her team, the corners of Jocelyn's mouth couldn't help but curl up in a nice curve.

With just one game, they managed to turn around the impression that many people, in this community, did not think highly of them.

At the moment, so many of the IDs she sees giving their compliments are people who didn't think much of them before.

As far as she can remember, the guy who yelled that the entire XS team was his father had previously said that he would live-stream upside down if XS could win the title, and called them nothing more than a bunch of shit in front of GRT.

Chapter 784 Allen's Girlfriend

The message was from Allen, "Jocelyn, congratulations on winning the championship, I just came back from a trip abroad and saw this message, I'm really happy. Are you free tomorrow? I'll introduce my girlfriend to you. You know her."

It deeply stimulated Jocelyn and Noah's eyes.

Allen, now aged, is in his fifties.

They knew better than anyone what a girl, with an old man of over fifty, was up to.

There are countless people in their 50s and 60s in upper-class wealthy circles to marry a wife.

Was it all because of love?

No, it's because of the money.

Money aspects aside, a young girl, with a man in his fifties, would not have much in common either.

When the time comes, conflicts are bound to abound.

Her father did not what she liked.

And she may not like what her father likes.

Jocelyn did not object to her father finding another woman to live with.

Because, as he gets older, it's always good to have someone around to look after him.

When he is alone and lonely, it is good to have a companion to talk to.

Yet, she only wished that her father would find someone of a similar age.

At least then, between two people, there is no generation gap and life can be more comfortable.

She could never have imagined that her father would actually like a young girl.

The tone of his voice was full of doting for the girl.

His eyes are full of tenderness.

Once upon a time, when her mother was alive, she had seen such a gentle look.

After about five minutes, a slender figure came down the stairs.

From Jocelyn's angle, the first thing she saw was her tight, high-cut dress, and what was hidden underneath it, her slender legs, waist, high breasts, followed by her black curly hair.

The woman in front of her is none other than her company's newest signing, the school beauty of the film academy and a high achiever in the acting department, Connie.

She is a typical Western beauty with a promising future and a good personality.

The moment she saw Connie, Jocelyn only felt as if she had been struck by lightning.

She never thought that the girlfriend her father found would be an artist contracted by her own company.

The girl was very well behaved, but to Jocelyn's surprise, she would find an old man in his fifties.

In the entertainment industry, stars look for older and wealthy people for resources and to have someone to promote them.

Connie, she had always thought, was a down-to-earth girl.

When she saw it today, she felt shocked.

The moment she saw Jocelyn, Connie gave a smile.

She then went and sat down next to Allen.

When she sat next to Allen, she carried herself with softness.

At a glance, she looked as if she were another daughter of her father.

"Boss, and, Mr. Mason, how are you?" Without waiting for Allen to speak, Connie was the first to open her mouth.

Throughout, Connie behaved graciously.

From her father's point of view, she could understand how lonely and isolated an elderly person, after retirement, really is.

Especially when the children are not around.

Although, at the moment, what the father said was very good.

But what happens after that is anyone's guess.

Father thinks so, but Connie, not necessarily so.

"I promise that I won't squander too much of our family's money, and I promise even more that, at all times, it's you I love the most."

"Also, I know what you're worried about, don't worry, I'll make sure that I don't let her get pregnant, that she doesn't have the opportunity to have a baby to obtain our family's property."

"There is a fixed amount of how much I will give her, and I will not give it endlessly, much less, get a child out to compete with you for my property when I am dead."

Allen deliberately lowered his voice and said with a face full of determination.

Hearing this, Jocelyn responded, "What I object to is not this. I don't care that much about our family's property, what I'm worried about is that in the future, after you get deeper and deeper into it, you will be sad and upset."

"It's you I care about more than your money." added Jocelyn.

All this was all from her heart.

She really understands the feeling of loss that one feels when one person is devoted to another, wholeheartedly, and then suddenly ends up being fooled around.

Jocelyn really didn't want her father to experience, in his old age, that kind of feeling.

Allen laughed, "I, at least, have been fighting in the mall for a whole decades, do you think I am a fool?"

"Also, I get a fortune reading on Connie, she can attract wealth."

"As I spend money for her, she will, at the same time, bring me much blessing and attract more wealth to our family."

Allen said once again.

Chapter 787 You are my pride and joy

And at the same time the family's cooks, as well as the servants, came into the dining room with their prepared dishes.

A variety of exquisite dishes were served, filling the entire large circular table at once.

Ten minutes later, Jocelyn, together with Noah, and Allen, and Connie, got up to wash their hands and stepped into the kitchen separately.

Allen was sitting in the main seat, while Connie sat on Allen's left hand side, and Jocelyn sat on his right hand side.

"Jocelyn, Noah, try Connie's food." Allen smiled as he gave Jocelyn and Noah a piece of meat respectively.

Connie's cooking is really good.

It was filled with some quail eggs, each tiny one looking mouth-watering as it soaked up the soup.

"Thanks." Jocelyn smiled faintly and then put the meat in her mouth.

She gave it a thumbs up, "Mmm, yum."

Seeing this, Connie smiled contentedly and added another piece of meat to Jocelyn, "If it's good you can eat more, boss... No, Jocelyn."

"Thanks." Jocelyn responded politely.

Although she had a problem with Connie in her heart, but because her father liked her, she still had to maintain the surface decency.

At least, not to spoil the mood and upset her father.

Jocelyn and Connie did not ask about the content of their conversation.

And then in the next second, the top end of the glass crushed.

The sharp crumbs of glass, lodged deep in her flesh, were bloody.

However, she did not react at all and let the liquid flow freely.

"Jocelyn." she gritted her teeth, the eerie chill and murderous aura under her eyes.

Zoe was looking at lipsticks at the Chanel counter in Grand Treasure Plaza.

Just at this time, Zoe's mobile phone vibrated.

Zoe put back the hand that was ready to take the lipstick, and glanced at the phone screen.

The caller is her mother.

Zoe then pressed answer, "Hello, mum."

"Zoe." Zoe's mother's voice was laced with sobs and her voice was hoarse.

At the sound of the voice, Zoe was dumbfounded.

Her heart throbbed hard, "Mum, what's wrong with you?"

"Zoe, our house suffered a burglary, your last gift to your father, and my watch and the family cash were all stolen. Oh, and our family's ancestral gold and jewellery were stolen."

"It adds up to hundreds of thousands."

The more Zoe's mother spoke, the sadder she became, and the more hoarse her voice became.

Listening to her mother sobbing, Zoe's heart hurt, "Mom, take it easy, did you call the police?"

"Okay." Robert nodded helplessly.

A while back, he bought her parents a mansion here on the back of Zoe.

It's the most exclusive here, in a neighborhood of single-family, ocean-view mansions that are exceptionally beautiful.

It was meant to be a surprise for Zoe and her parents.

To their surprise, her parents refused outright, reasoning that they didn't want a change of scenery.

So now that house had been left empty.

Although he felt helpless in his heart, he could understand.

It's actually normal for elder people not want to move.

Having lived with the old neighbours in this area for a long time, there is actually a bond.

When Zoe and Robert arrived home, both Zoe's father and mother were.

Both of them looked very sad.

Zoe's mother greeted the two of them and sat down in front of the coffee table where Zoe's father was, and started to pour water for them.

Robert looked at Zoe's father and asked, "Those law enforcement officers really told you that? It's really lawless."

Zoe's father, "The man seems to be a temporary worker, anyway, he does not want to manage things. I argued with him, he said I cursed him, and said, I will be fined with 600,000. But as I am a senior citizen, he let me go first. He told me to hurry up and leave and not to interfere with their business."

Hearing this, Robert was even more furious, "Fuck, he thinks he's the president of the day, 600,000? Besides, you certainly didn't curse him, did you?"

Zoe's father nodded, "I didn't, I was just dissatisfied and argued. What he said didn't make sense, looking for evidence, it's their business, why should I look for it?"

Robert, "Probably because he thinks you are easy to bully, you don't need to worry about this, leave it to me and Zoe."

"Your family must be upset back then." Robert took Zoe in his arms, carefully caressing her back, trying to give her comfort.

"It was very stifling at the time, gee, let's not talk about it, it's over anyway."

"Okay."

To avoid evoking the sad past of Zoe, Robert chose not to continue talking.

Coming to this small county, he kind of saw the hearts of people once again.

It was really hard for Robert to imagine how on earth that woman could manage, with a cheeky face, to say that she used to take care of Zoe's family when she had treated Zoe's family like that?

The more he thought about it, the more angry Robert became.

What a vain, realistic and pretentious old woman.

Just at this time, the taxi they had called arrived and Robert took Zoe with him and got into it.

Once in the car, Robert took a few calls from leaders of the police station.

It's all apologies.

After receiving it, Robert then looked at Zoe and said, "Next, there will be professional people to help with this case, at the same time the one before will apologize to you."

"More than that, he will go to your parents to apologise." Robert said again.

"Okay." Once Zoe heard this, she felt, at once, much more relaxed.

With her heart relieved, her face looked much better.

Seeing this scene, Robert unconsciously hooked his lips, he still likes his girlfriend has a light-hearted look.
