Chapter 841 Revenge (1)

"Isn't this girl, the one who is going to be reported two days ago, the one who is about to marry Ryan?"

"So, both of the tow got beaten are related to this girl?"

"This girl is the daughter of that old man, is the cousin of that woman."

"So, this scum is really finished today, right? Messing with this girl's relatives is the same as messing with the entire Mason family, and the Mason family is not something to be messed with."

The crowd of onlookers were still whispering.

Many of those who were watching the action began to venture their opinions.

And the middle-aged man, by now, had turned even whiter when he heard what everyone had said.

He's finished!

"Rosa, we're all family, let's talk, can we not be so rude?"

"Rosa, look, I'm at least your cousin's husband, hurry up and have someone release me."

The middle-aged man pinned to the ground struggled desperately while humbly looking at Rosa and begging for mercy.

In his body, all the arrogance and domineering that he had just faced Rosa's father as well as her cousin was gone.

At this point, he was like a weak chicken.

Rosa snorted coldly, "When you assaulted my father and my cousin, why didn't you think that we are family?"

"Rosa, do as you please." said Allie, who was on the side, with a cold face, looking at the middle-aged man.

In most of her life, it was the first time Allie had seen such an excessive guy.

It's simply cruel.

"Rosa, don't, please spare me, I won't dare do it again." The middle-aged man once again humbly begged for mercy.

At that moment, the fear in his heart had risen to the extreme.

The next second, he was shaking even harder.

"Hello." said Taylor, using all his strength and panting as he looked at them.

The matter between Rosa and Ryan, as well as the situation of the Mason family as a whole, had already been explained by Rosa to their two elders over the phone before.

He was very impressed with them.

He was very relieved that his daughter had married into such a family.

"Hello, please don't say anything, we can talk later when you are better." Allie's eyes were full of concern.

Taylor nodded gently before closing his eyes in pain.

"This is my cousin." Rosa added.

Rosa's cousin braced herself, placing her gaze on several members of the Mason family, "Hello."

"Hello, don't talk yet, I know you don't have the strength." Allie added.

Rosa's cousin forced out a smile before she closed her eyes and leaned against Rosa.

The helicopter, in the parking space in front of the outpatient building of the First People's Hospital of Ice County, landed steadily.

Once the plane landed, the bodyguards carried Rosa's father, and Rosa's cousin, into the hospital separately.

Rosa and the others, on the other hand, were following closely behind the bodyguards.

On arrival at the hospital, they were both admitted to the emergency surgery department for the most comprehensive examination.

Rosa, Ryan, along with Scott and Allie, accompanied them throughout.

At the same time Rosa told Paige about what Ryan had encountered with himself in Ice County.

Asking for a blackout, he had his bodyguards beat up her cousin's husband to avoid any adverse effect on Ryan.

When Paige received the news, he gave a direct order to block the news of the beating.

Rosa's cousin was moved to red eyes, "Anyway, I'm sorry."

"Well, let's not talk about that." Taylor added.

"Cousin, what do you think now?" Rosa asked, looking at her cousin.

At this moment, she was so full of anger that she just wanted the scum to die.

Rosa's cousin instantly wiped her tears, before dropping to both knees sharply.

Seeing the image in front of her, Rosa panicked.

She instantly bent down and tried to help her cousin up.

But her cousin, however, stayed on her knees, not moving a muscle, "Rosa, I have something to beg you."

Rosa looked flustered, "Cousin, just get up and say it, don't be like this, I can't afford it."

After saying that, Rosa knelt down in front of her in a smooth manner and held her hand tightly.

"Rosa, I know that the Mason family is powerful, can I beg you to find a way to make that scum never get out of prison?"

"As long as he's out there, our family can't have a good day."

"I've always wanted to divorce the scumbag, but I'm afraid the scumbag will threaten our family."

After that, she looked up at the Mason family, "Everyone, for the sake of my pity, help me, okay? I have collected a lot of evidence of this man's domestic violence, if you are sincere, he will never come out again."

"Only if this man never come out will I and my family be able to live in peace after getting rid of this scum."

Rosa's cousin added, "His family has connections. I couldn't help him before, but now that Rosa has your connections, you are far more powerful than the scum's family connections."

"So I'm begging you." Rosa's cousin finished, and then she began to frantically kowtow to Rosa and the Mason family.

On hearing this, Rosa's cousin, however, immediately shook her head, "What a joke, how can a middle-aged woman like me, who has no education, no background and no looks, get all this?"

Although, the life that Allie was talking about was the one she really aspired to.

However, she knew that in her lifetime, she would never reach it.

For her, as long as she can successfully get rid of the scum and live an uneventful life with her son, that is the greatest happiness.

She really didn't dare to hope for anything else.

Allie, however, smiled lightly, patted her shoulder and said gently, "If I help you, won't you be able to do it?"

"How are you going to help me?" Rosa's cousin asked.

"What's your degree?"

"Primary school."

"How about you come to our house and be a butler? Your monthly salary will be 30,000, with food and accommodation included. Not only that, I will also arrange for your precious son to come to Flento City with you. Let him go to the best school in Flento City, and the tuition fees will be fully covered by our family."

Hearing this, Rosa's cousin was flattered.

Although the offer was tempting, she shook her head decisively, "No need."

"Why? Not happy with the remuneration package? It's okay, we can still discuss it."

"No, I'm happy in every way, it's just that, I may not be able to do a butler." Although she had never been the Mason family, she knew that it must be big.

She doesn't have the confidence to manage in a big family like that without any stunning people like her.

"Cousin, if you don't want to be a butler, you can come to me as my assistant. I'll give you thirty thousand a month too." Ryan added.

"I am so sorry that you have come to our house for the first time and let you see these scenes." Bethany looked at the three members of the Mason family and was filled with apologies.

She had heard all about what had just happened from the old lady downstairs.

The old lady is an eyewitness.

"It's okay, you guys didn't want to, did you?" Allie understood perfectly and didn't feel anything.

Bethany immediately let out a long and helpless sigh.

"Mum. Mrs. Mason has already said that she will help my cousin get a divorce, and she will also make cousin's husband stay in jail forever, never having the chance to come out again." Rosa clutched Bethany's hand tightly and said soothingly.

When Bethany heard this, she let out a long breath.

For so many years, their entire family has been under a cloud because of Pola's marriage.

The men of their family have dreamed, in their wildest dreams, that this day would come.

Their families, all of them, hated Pola's husband.

Yet, because he has connections, there is nothing at all that can be done with him.

Bethany immediately held Allie's hand tightly and said excitedly, "In-laws, I'm really grateful to you. Thank you, you are a great benefactor to our family."

Allie shrugged indifferently and said in a soft voice, "Don't be polite, as I said, we are all family, it's only right to help."

"Bethany, take our in-laws home and treat them well." Taylor said.

Bethany immediately nodded heavily, "That's for sure."

"I think it's better not to. Who will take care of you when we are all gone?" Allie looked at Taylor and said.

Taylor smiled, "Pola and I take care of each other. You guys can rest assured, if you really don't feel at ease, just arrange for a few nurses to come and check on us."

"In-laws, it's okay, he and Pola can take care of each other." Bethany said.

Allie hesitated for a moment, then nodded, and then looked at Ryan and said, "Then go out and call some nurses to take care of them closely."

"I'll go. Ryan goes out, it will be troublesome to be recognized." Rosa said and stepped straight out of the ward.

Bethany panted and looked at the three members of the Mason family and asked, "Are you tired?"

Allie immediately shook her head, "I'm not tired."

Bethany, "That's good."

After saying that, she opened the door, "Please come in, our house is small and shabby, I hope you don't mind."

Scott, "How so?"

They were then led into the house by Rosa's mother.

After changing into slippers, Rosa led Mason family into the living room of their home.

The house is very small, only sixty square feet, so the living room is very small.

The decoration is very simple, just white walls and white floor tiles.

Because of their age, the floor tiles are already slightly yellowed.

Such a house has once again refreshed Allie's perception.

After looking around for a moment, Allie joined Scott and Ryan and sat down.

Rosa has not been back for a month because of her busy work schedule.

When she returned home, an endless sense of affection was immediately born in her heart.

Although her own home was small and run-down, it was the place where she had grown up.

She is really attached to the place.

No matter what upheavals she has experienced outside, she feels at peace and comforted when she comes here.

Her home, small as it is, has everything it needs.

There is nothing wrong with it except that it is a bit worn.

Chapter 847 Bride Price, Eleven Million One Hundred and Fourteen Thousand

It is said that poor people in the downtown area have no one to ask, while rich people in the deep mountains have distant relatives, and this time, Rosa has deeply experienced it.

When the family was poor, very few people came to visit them during the New Year holidays, except for close relatives.

Other than that, it's not often that someone will call to care about them or anything.

People even hide from them.

Because they were poor, people were afraid and they approached to borrow money.

Now that she's with Ryan, everyone thinks she's rich, so they all want to be close to their family.

At this moment, she instantly couldn't help but begin to mentally lament the reality of humanity.

To this day, she can't forget the look on his parents' faces when they went to their relatives' party earlier, and were looked down upon by them.

What's more, she can't forget the image of herself being looked down upon by her classmates when she went to a class reunion.

Overnight, everything was turned around because, for example, she had been with Ryan.

Those who despised them wanted to get closer.

Trying to get something out of her.

Thinking of this, Rosa immediately shook her head helplessly.

In order not to disturb Mason family at dinner, Rosa simply switched off her mobile phone, seeking silence.

And Bethany did the same.

The world went silent as the two men switched off together.

Allie, who has seen a lot of human feelings and the world, naturally understood what was going on, so she didn't say much.

Bethany couldn't help but complain, "They're so realistic..."

Although, those relatives and friends are quite annoying.

But, looking at those, who once treated her lovingly, now, turn around and approach herself like crazy, Bethany does feel like raising her eyebrows.

It was at this time that a knock sounded on the door.

Allie and Scott took some of their bodyguards away, leaving fifty behind to protect Ryan and Rosa.
After seeing off Allie Scott, Ryan took Rosa, and Bethany, back upstairs.
The bodyguards, on the other hand, were taking shifts to guard downstairs while Ryan and the others.
When Ryan Rosa Bethany and the three of them had just returned home, there was a sudden burst of screams from downstairs.
"Ryan, we love you."
"Ahhhhh. Ryan, it's here, isn't it?"
"Ahhhhh, Ryah."
The voice, at first glance, is that of stalking fans.
Ryan and Rosa have seen a lot of them, so they are used to it.
Despite this, the two felt speechless.
And it was the first time Bethany had experienced such a thing, and she felt speechless to death.
Bethany immediately walked to the window and followed the sound to look over.
In sight were six young and beautiful girls dressed up.
At the moment, several of them were looking up at their building.
Everyone was shouting like crazy.
"Ryan, come and see us here."
"Ryan, we love you."

Soon, the bodyguards couldn't stand to watch, so they simply removed the girls.

As they were being driven away, the girls began to swear and curse out of resentment.

"I did think of ways before, but none of them worked at all, and in our world, my cousin's husband is really bullying." Rosa added.

Many things are but a speck of dust in the eyes of those who are powerful.

But when it comes to poor people like them, it's a big mountain.

To Ryan, her cousin's husband was just a minor minion.

Yet, to the family that was once theirs, he was untouchable.

God knows how much aggravation their family had to endure before because of this cousin's husband.

"My cousin's husband had previously injured my cousin's brother, breaking one of his legs, and because of this, my cousin suffered the wrath of her parents, who no longer cared for her."

"Do you know why they took it out on my cousin? During their relationship, my cousin's parents saw his grumpy nature, they didn't want my cousin to be with him."

"But my cousin, who was overwhelmed by love, would not listen. She defied them and went with that man, and later lived unhappily married and was often beaten."

"And every time she was beaten, her parents would come to their house and go to settle the score with their son-in-law, but every time they were beaten by him."

"Then later, once my cousin was beaten up again, and my cousin's brother, angry, went to her house and tried to teach my cousin's husband a lesson, and he ended up breaking his leg."

"Right there, my cousin's parents couldn't stand it anymore and broke off the relationship with my cousin." Rosa's eyebrows knitted slightly, and she said seriously.

"It's all the fault of love." Ryan sighed.

"Yes." Rosa nodded gently.

"This man really deserves to die." Ryan's tone gradually went cold.

"More than that. Marriage is a second life for a woman, and there is no doubt that my cousin's second reincarnation was a failure." Rosa followed suit and sighed.

"Yes, it can only be said that she is unlucky, don't worry, I won't let you be reincarnated in the wrong place." Ryan doted and lightly stroked her hair, and added.

The bodyguards were around them in a tightly packed circle.

The wall of people was solid enough, plus, they were all 1.9m tall, so the boss the boss' wife and the two young girls sitting next to them could not see the two people inside the wall.

The owner fries the skewers very quickly.

In just ten minutes, all the fried skewers were already fried.

Once fried, he slathered it with his special sauce and then sprinkled it with cumin and chilli.

When the skewers were ready, the twogirls next simply paid the bill and left.

Outside the dining area, only Rosa and Ryan were left.

The bodyguards were standing around and it was really depressing.

Rosa saw that it was very late and there was no one left, so she looked at the bodyguards and said, "No need to continue like this, you guys go rest next to each other."

The bodyguards then nodded neatly and respectfully and dispersed directly, each standing in a long line behind the two of them.

As an old Ice County woman, Rosa knew very well that the place would not be occupied by this point in time.

There is nightlife in Ice County.

So, everyone goes to bed early at night.

This is the time when the whole city goes to bed for good.

She also knew that if she hadn't, today, brought Ryan over to buy fried skewers, the boss would have closed the shop and gone home by this time.

Once the steaming hot fried skewers were ready, the boss lady carefully served them to the two.

The owner's wife didn't recognise them at all because the two were heavily armed.

It was just that her instincts told her that these two, by no means, were in the pool.

She couldn't help but give them both an extra look before returning to the shop and joining the owner, sitting on top of the shop's bench to rest.
