Noah then had a serious face and pressed the answer, "Professor Chan."

Professor Chan, "Sorry to call you so late, when your special assistant, Tom, delivered something to me today, I forgot about it because I had other things on hand."

"About half an hour ago, I just remembered, so I hurriedly got up in the night and helped you with the identification, and after the results came out, I called Tom."

"Tom told me that you are still awake and have just returned from a business trip and asked me to contact you."

Professor Chan carefully added, "At that time, when Tom sent the stuff to me, I had a very important national task at hand, and had thought of giving you the appraisal once it was done."

"As a result, well after the other national tasks came, one after the other."

The tone there was full of self-recrimination.

Noah lightly pinched his brow in exhaustion, then glanced deeply at Jocelyn who was listening to him, and directly turned on the speakerphone.

He then doted and lightly stroked Jocelyn's hair again, looked at the position of the telephone microphone and asked, "So, the identification result is?"

Professor Chan, "It's the fox's fur."

Hearing this, Jocelyn instantly felt creeped out.

It's really Lena Fox.

Was that, then, the Lena fox from her dream?

The frequent appearance of animals like the Lena fox in her life during this time can never be a coincidence.

If it's not a coincidence.

All this, then, was just as she had suspected before.

The fragment between her and the Lena fox that appeared in the dream could be a past life memory.

And it may be this same Lena fox that she owes in her previous life.

Now, Lena Fox, the debt collector has come.

However, if it was a debt collector, then why wasn't it directed at her?

Instead, it was directed at her maid?

Noah then pressed answer.

"Mr. Mason, you're still awake, aren't you?"

"What's wrong?"

"Nothing, I just wanted to ask you for a leave of absence, I want to go back to my home."

"My mum just called and said that my dad is dying."

There were a few tears in Tom's voice there.

Hearing these words, Noah's face immediately turned serious.

He then handed over what he had in his hand to Jocelyn.

And then he took a step forward and said, "Okay. Take my private helicopter back, all the resources under my command are at your disposal."

On the other side of the phone, in the luxurious bedroom, Tom heard this and suddenly his eyes became even redder.

He sucked in his nose and tried to maintain the composure a man should have and said, "Okay, thank you, Mr. Mason."

He then hung up the phone.

Recalling Noah's words just now, he felt warm and fuzzy inside.

He silently vowed in his heart that as long as Mr. Mason did not kick him away, he would always be at his beck and call.

When Jocelyn heard the phone call, her heart panicked and her eyes were filled with consternation.

Taking a deep breath, Jocelyn softly admonished, "Should we send an expert to follow Tom to his hometown? What if his father is still saved?"

Noah frowned deeply, "No need. His father's cancer is advanced, metastasized to the whole body, I gave to find a lot of experts to see, in the end, all to no avail."

Jocelyn, "So it's just a matter of waiting to die?"

Noah, "Yeah."

At the words, Jocelyn suddenly felt hard inside.

Although, she and Tom's father were strangers who had never met before.

Yet she could not be indifferent to the matter of death.

She had spent a lot of time with Tom, and not for a short time.

Tom was only one of the couple's subordinates, she had long regarded Tom as her own family

It was Noah's mobile phone that rang.
Noah took the phone at once and took a look at it.
It's a message friend add request.
The other party uses a flirty anime female avatar.
The screen name is Miss Sexy.

Noah frowned slightly and locked the phone's screen, dropping it to the side.

Throughout, he did not show any expression of reluctance.

Naturally, Jocelyn wrapped her arms around his neck and asked in a soft whisper, "Who is it?"

Noah, "I don't know, a friend add request, I didn't care."

Jocelyn, "Why not care, just in case it's someone important?"

Noah, "Look at that screen name, it doesn't look like a decent person."

Jocelyn, "Well, it's probably some pretty girl who has a crush on you."

As soon as the words left her mouth, Jocelyn laughed lightly, joking with Noah.

She wasn't curious as to how immodest the other woman's screen name really was.

There are so many people who think about Noah every day.

"So to continue where we left off, tell me, why on earth did you not buy anything for our kids?" Jocelyn asked.

Noah laughed lightly, "Really forgot it."

"I was full of you alone at the time." The man added.

A statement that instantly made Jocelyn not know whether she should be angry or laugh.

"Please, can you divide your attention for your children too?" Jocelyn's tone was tinged with a bit of helplessness.

"Well, I'll try to."

"What do you mean try to? Are you the father?"

"They say the most important thing to a man is a child, how come when it comes to you, it's the other way?"

Jocelyn's tone became even more helpless.

Chapter 884 The Blessing of Mankind

She saw a Lena fox wandering around her house.

A cold breeze blew through and it opened its mouth.

Inside the mouth, with fangs that look sharp as hell.

With the average fox, it is completely different.

It's creepy to look at.

The fox spun around for a while before turning into a golden light.

In the next second, it moved instantly inside the Murphy family's garden.

And just at that moment, the maid, who had been injured earlier, walked over.

The fox lunged directly towards the maid.

After scratching the maid's eyeball, it disappeared in a straightforward golden light.

The moment it disappeared, several hairs fell off its body.

Those brown hairs, with the north wind, spread out in all directions.

The maid was left alone, screaming and falling to the ground in pain.

She continued to insist on perspective.

Yet there was nothing left to see.

The scene, as the maid falls to the ground, came to an abrupt halt.

Here it is, the Lena fox.

She wants to know more, what the fox has been through before.

However, it does not work.

Immediately afterwards, she tried several more times.

But none of it works.

Each time, the image she sees is the same.

And each time, the scene comes to a screeching halt right up to where the servant falls to the ground.

So she could only let out a long, helpless sigh.

And then she leaned wearily on Noah's shoulder.

"I'll tell you exactly when we get off the plane." Jocelyn whispered softly.

Jocelyn smiled, "You're the kindest."

Ghost Face, "Let's not compliment each other. By the way, you called this morning and said you had something else you wanted to discuss with me, what was it?"

Jocelyn then told him the dreams she had during this time, and what happened to the maid in her house.

As well as everything she saw with her own penetrating eyes.

When Ghost Face heard this, his eyes became serious.

He was silent, in a state of deep thought.

"Divine Doctor. I am now certain that the one who injured my maid is the Lena fox spirit from my dream."

"I feel now that it is the one I owe my former life to. I know the time is not yet right, and talking too much about it will disqualify you from cultivating as a god."

"But now I just want to know how I'm going to respond, do I really have to just wait for him to collect his debt, like you said before?"

Jocelyn asked.

"When he, indeed, comes to the door, you and Noah will naturally have a way to deal with it."

"You two, owe a lot of debt to the defaulter, and it's going to have to be very costly to do that."

"In all things, there is a destiny, a reincarnation of heaven, a karma that cannot be avoided."

"There is nothing even a god can do to help you avoid it."

Ghost Face said again, "That's all I can say. Stop asking."

When Jocelyn heard this, her mood dropped to the bottom.

This means that there is really nothing that can be done about it.

Ghost Face did not deny that the Lena fox was the one she owed in her past life.

That means, it really is.

"Now, it's all just beginning. There's a lot more to come from here on out, so go for it guys." Ghost Face added.

Chapter 886 Heavy Snow

Right now, the situation is quite clear.
The two of them are destined to walk a very difficult path.
Jocelyn's eyebrows knitted slightly, gently leaning on Noah's shoulder, silently praying in her heart.
Pray that this storm will pass sooner rather than later.
Pray that they both, soon, will be able to pay off the debt they owe.
Outside the cabin, the snow continues to fall.

Looking down from the sky, the world is in all its chaos.

Just as she was feeling at the moment.

How she wished that what came next, like the snow, would have stopped, no matter how heavy it was.

The debt collector is not a human being.

Instead, it's Lena fox.

Moreover, it seems to be a Lena fox with very high magical power.

If it is only human, even if it is more powerful than her, Jocelyn is not afraid.

But as it happens, it is not human at all.

She is an ordinary person.

How does she go about fighting a Lena fox?

Not to mention is high magical power, even if it only had bit of power, it was not something that ordinary people could deal with.

Noah naturally tightened his arms around Jocelyn and kissed her hair gently.

And then he said firmly in her ear, "Don't worry too much, there will be a way. I don't believe that there is anything in this world that we can't deal with."

"I will protect you."

"Promise me, no matter what happens, you will give me a hundred percent of your trust."

"And I do the same for you."

Noah continued, speaking softly.

The aroma of the large kitchen is overwhelming.

At this moment, Noah has less of the domineering spirit that he usually has in the mall.

In the master bedroom, Jocelyn opened her eyes.

After a deep sleep, she felt much more relaxed throughout.

The mind, too, is surprisingly clear.

After a subconscious glance around her, she realised that she was in her room at home.

She instantly reached out and turned on the light, before glancing at the multi-million diamond watch in her hand.

The time is already 8pm.

Outside, it's pitch black.

Jocelyn stretched, straightening her slightly dishevelled hair.

And then she got up and went downstairs.

Just as she reached the living room, she could smell the rich aroma of the meal.

She is not much of an appetite herself.

But smelling the smell, she was suddenly hungry at the moment.

She followed the smell at once and went into the kitchen.

Seeing Jocelyn standing there, the man's originally cold face immediately took on a warmth.

Even the eyes have become softer, "Wash your hands and eat."

Jocelyn nodded gently but just leaned lazily against the door frame, not bothering to move, "Wait, I'll take a breather."

Noah hooked his lips shallowly, "Lazybones."

He then brought his things into the dining room.

Jocelyn then took a quick step towards the door and glanced at the visual doorbell.

Standing outside the door was Allie.

Jocelyn opened the door at once.

A slight surprise flashed across Jocelyn's eyes when she saw the image of the doorway.

In her hands, Allie is carrying two large bags.

One of the large bags was full of luxury ice cream.

The other bag, on the other hand, was full of all kinds of snacks.

She had just been chanting that she wanted ice cream, and her delivered it to her door.

The sight of the ice cream perked up Jocelyn.

She instantly reached out, ready to pick up what Allie was holding.

But Allie turned slightly sideways and refused Jocelyn.

She then took a quick stride into the house, carrying her things and changing into slippers.

Once she had changed her shoes, she trotted all the way to the living room and placed her things on the coffee table.

The moment Allie takes off her coat, it's glorious.

"You're a pregnant woman, can't you love yourself?" Allie gave Jocelyn a helpless look.

And then she pointed to the food on the coffee table and said, "These are for you. Remember to eat."

Just at this time, Noah walked out.

"Thanks, mum. I I wanted ice cream." said Jocelyn.

Noah frowned before walking over to Jocelyn and glancing at what was on the coffee table, "Pregnant women can't eat ice cream. Why did you

As soon as the man raised his eyes, he saw that Jocelyn was looking at him.

He then smiled slightly and took a break from the seriousness of the video conference to lift his hand, lightly cupping her chin and asking dotingly, "What are you looking at?"

Footage of the meeting captures the great transformation he underwent at this time.

Inside the ipad, the numerous blonde executives in the large conference room were all frozen for a moment by the man's sudden transformation.

Soon everyone was subconsciously smiling at each other.

The Chairman of the Board is a doting wife, and that is something that the whole group knows these days.

So people have basically taken it for granted.

Jocelyn subconsciously glanced at him.

She found herself just in time to get into the shot.

The camera captures her beautifully.

Although without make-up, she is stunningly beautiful.

She and Noah, sitting together like this, made a perfect pair.

Seeing that many people were looking at her, Jocelyn then graciously reached out and said hello towards everyone, "Hello."

And the people in the camera immediately raised their hands and said hello towards Jocelyn.

Each one realised respectfully and joyfully.

After greeting, Jocelyn reached out and pushed the ipad in Noah's hand, shifting himself out of shot.

She then looked at Noah and said, "You're in a meeting. be serious."

The woman lifted her hand and gently stroked her large, flirty burgundy curls.

Raising her hand, hidden under his coat, the diamond watch worth tens of millions was then presented in front of the crowd.

Yet Paige doesn't care.

She had a cold face from the beginning to the end.

The woman looked askance at her and asked indifferently, "Who are you?"

Paige, "I am your father."

Instantly, the woman turned red with anger, "What did you say? Who brought you here? How dare you be so uncultured?"

"How much more uncultured I am, I'm better than you. At least I know that I need to apologize for bumping into someone." Paige inwardly recoiled at the woman in front of her.

"You deserved it. You stand in the doorway." The woman continued to shout, and when the words fell, she gave Paige a direct blank stare.

"I just walked in the door, I wasn't at the door, where was I?" Paige retorted.

"Wherever you like, in any case, if I say you're wrong, you're wrong, and you'll have to apologize to me." said the woman once again.

Paige did not say anything, just silently walked to the front of the long coffee table, faintly glanced at those people.

And the woman was puzzled, "Hey, I'm talking to you, are you deaf?"

Paige still did not respond, only silently leaned down, naturally took in the hands of Romeo the glass of red wine.

The next second, Paige stood up straight before returning to the woman and gently shaking the red wine glass in her hand.

The moment the glass swayed, the purple-red liquid in the glass began to sway slightly.

It looks like a flirtatious woman with a brimming sheen in the light.

"What are you planning to do? If you're trying to, well, drink to make amends, that's no need."
