Chapter 931 You are the first beauty

A white light is flashing above the sky in front of her.

It was a white circle of light.

Inside the circle of light there is a white figure that looms.

She subconsciously rubbed her eyes before continuing to look at the original place once again.

This time there was nothing to see.

She was pretty sure that she had definitely not just misread.

So what was that just now, if it wasn't a misreading?

Is it God?

Or is it the Lena Fox?

Or maybe it was something else?

Jocelyn's mind, once again, was filled with questions.

Now she is in doubt about her overall state of being.

But all the riddles, however, are not answered at all.

It was just not time for everything, she thought.

When the time does come, all the mysteries will naturally come to light.

Now, because of the knowledge that there is a God, who is secretly helping her.

Inside, Jocelyn is no longer as flustered as she originally was.

Especially, she really felt good to have such a well-behaved and highly magical little sister like Sophie with her.

She thought that by the time the crisis hit, she and Noah would probably not be, utterly, at a loss for words.

"Master, what are you looking at?" Sophie's eyes were full of inquiry, and there was a pure glint in them.

"Did you just see anything?" Jocelyn asked.

"I want to tell you, I feel at home because of you." Sophie said with a serious look on her face.

"Be good. If I do anything wrong, you can always point it out."

"No, there is nothing you have done wrong, my master is the best."

Because of Sophie's countless nice words, Jocelyn was in a good mood at the moment.

She felt that Sophie was her own delight.

Things like feelings are mutual.

Sophie was very fond of her.

And she, too, was fond of Sophie.

Because Sophie was there, Jocelyn had a lot more to smile about along the way.

Sophie has been telling all sorts of jokes from her own time to cheer up Jocelyn.

Jocelyn could barely keep her smile off her face along the way.

Soon, Jocelyn arrived at the entrance of Murphy Group with Sophie, and a convoy of luxury cars.

The bodyguards were the first to get out of the car.

Immediately afterwards, the bodyguards stood in two neat rows in front of Murphy Group.

The queue spread all the way to the interior of the company.

The two bodyguards who approached the Maserati respectfully opened the door for the two of them.

Jocelyn and Sophie, one on the left and one on the right, gracefully get out of the car.

Sophie got out of the car and once again took a look at her revealing outfit.

Jocelyn's eyes were full of inquiry, "What is it?"

Robert casually pointed his finger at Sophie who was next to him, alone and giggling at her ipad, and asked, "Can I have that chick?"

When Jocelyn heard this, she immediately frowned, "You still can't change that philandering problem after all, can you? How many days has this lasted?"

She originally thought that Robert had really changed for the better.

But she didn't think it would be easy to change one's nature after all?

As a woman, she felt unworthy for Zoe.

When Robert heard that, he became serious and denied it, "No, what I mean is, can you give me that girl as my contracted artist. I think, that girl, if she debuts, will definitely have a big future."

A beauty of this temperament would be very desirable in the modern world of entertainment.

Robert can already see that she has a bright future ahead of her.

Jocelyn was relieved to hear that, "Well, I thought, you had a change of heart."

Robert, "How is that possible? I am absolutely sincere to Zoe, and will never change my mind."

Robert's face, along with his tone, was as serious and solemn as ever.

Jocelyn then said, "I believe you, but, I can't give Sophie to you."

Robert, "You're going to train her yourself? If you were going to train her, why did you make her your bodyguard?"

Jocelyn, "I'm not going to train her, I'm just going to make her my bodyguard."

Robert, "Jocelyn, you're wasting. Do you know how much financial benefit this chick can bring you?"

"If she were to enter the entertainment industry, I don't know how many fans I could get just by this face. No, you can't waste it. If you don't want to cultivate her, then give her to me."

Robert now, inwardly, feels very puzzled by the idea of Jocelyn.

Chapter 934 If it was your lover in a previous life

The inexplicable feeling of affection, and sadness, made Noah couldn't help but have red eyes.

All sorts of strange feelings piled up in his heart, and Noah felt very strange.

Why did he feel the girl in front of him, as soon as he laid eyes on her, was so familiar.

Even, there will be heartache for her.

It was as if, before, something different had crossed his path with this girl.

Noah took a deep breath, looked at Sophie and asked, "Have we seen each other before?"

Sophie looked at Noah's strange reaction and shook her head, her eyes full of confusion, "No, what's wrong?"

Noah frowned deeply and continued to look at Sophie's face, "There's nothing."

Sophie, on the other hand, nodded half-heartedly.

Noah's reaction aroused Jocelyn's inner curiosity.

Jocelyn immediately gently held Noah's hand and asked, "What's wrong?"

Noah shook his head, "Later."

Jocelyn nodded, and then affectionately pulled Sophie over and looked at Noah and said, "You haven't been formally introduced yet. this is Sophie."

Sophie enthusiastically and actively extended her hand towards Noah, "Hello, I'm Sophie."

The next second, Sophie was smiling.

Looking at Sophie's smile, Noah's heart, once again, throbbed hard for a second.

This strange and familiar feeling made him feel extra curious about the person in front of him.

It was really strange that his heart, why, hurt so much.

Noah nodded slightly, "Hello, I am Noah."

He then gently shook her hand before saying, "I think Jocelyn has talked about all the rules at home, right?"

Sophie, "Yes."

Noah, "That's no problem."

Sophie nodded obediently, "Although I am in charge of protecting my master, I will protect you as well, for you are the one whom my master loves dearly."

Noah held Jocelyn's face, seriously looked at her shining eyes and said, "Jocelyn, I won't abandon you for, anyone."

"In my life, I've decided that you are the only." Noah added, "No matter how much I loved her in my previous life, I will not abandon you for her."

"The relationship from a previous life, since it has ended in a big way, end it."

"If she was my family in a previous life, then I would treat her well and take care of her."

"But if it were a lover I would treat her well, but I would not love her again."

Noah said again.

At these words, Jocelyn's heart was warmed.

Then she smiled and said, "Idiot, I was joking with you, why are you serious?"

Noah, "Jocelyn, because I care about you."

"Since you love deeply, you can't be given any chance to think wildly." Noah said again.

In a moment, Jocelyn once again felt warm and fuzzy in her heart.

"Thank you for loving me so much. Thank you, for letting me, in this life, meet you."

"I thank you, for appearing in my life. Loving you is my faith, I will always be your devotee." Noah said again.

Noah spoke with great tenderness and affection.

The tenderness under his eyes seems to melt all.

Jocelyn at this time almost completely, in the man's gentle sea, sinking.

Noah really gave her all the tenderness of his life.

As if, nothing in the world is as good as her.

Jocelyn's heart was full of happiness.

"Jocelyn, I want to be with you, for life." Noah added.

"Yes, me too. I will love you well and be a good wife to you."

"You don't need to do much better, just love me." said Noah again.

This one sentence, once again, easily, melted Jocelyn.

Chapter 937 The Big Scene

She saw a version of herself in all silver battle armour, fleeing for her life in the desert with Sophie in tow, with countless pursuers behind her.

Sophie, in traditional dress, sat in front of her, nervous as if she were a scared bird.

The whole picture was dusty.

The pursuers, each with a sharp bow and arrow in hand.

They shouted towards them as they ordered them to stop.

All the while, they kept firing arrows towards them.

In a life-and-death situation, she fought for her life and ran with Sophie.

Soon her neck was pierced by a bow and arrow.

Blood spurted, but she was still running, deadly protective of Sophie.

At this point, the memory comes to an abrupt end.

The unfamiliar and uncanny image once again aggravated the questions that Jocelyn had about her past.

She believed that it must be a memory of her past life.

It is quite certain that her past life is not only related to that of the Lena Fox, but even to Sophie as well.

Looking at herself in that dress, it seems that she was not an ordinary woman, but a female general.

And it seems to be for Sophie that she died.

Is this why, then, the gods must choose Sophie?

Because, Sophie owes her a life?

In the game, Alex sent an invitation to team up.

Seeing this, she then snapped back and clicked her agreement.

And then she went straight into the line.

The team, with the exception of Alex, is someone else.

All were teammates who had just teamed up together.

When they saw Jocelyn enter, those few teammates started, again, flattered frantically towards Jocelyn.

Chapter 938 Perfect positioning

In the game, Jocelyn and Alex took their teammates and pushed the opposite base.

Even the big dragon wasn't even played.

The sound and exciting action made the crowd of pros, and the commentators, sink right into the theory.

Everyone's gifts, too, were swiped.

After it's over, Alex invited Jocelyn to team up again.

Jocelyn got hooked and then clicked her agreement.

Because the last one, it worked perfectly with the teammates.

This time, Alex still invited those original teammates.

Once the group was complete, a few of them chose the heroes they were good at.

Jocelyn still chooses Skate Shoes.

Alex, on the other hand, switched to Tam.

Top lane vampire, middle demon girl, wild leopard girl.

All are strong line-ups for this edition.

Once in the game, they once again gave everyone a, thrilling, visual feast.

The opposing team opened the game with a straightforward five vs 2 in the low lane, and once again, with their positioning, Jocelyn and Alex resisted the pressure.

At the critical moment, Alex used his own body to block the opposite attack for Jocelyn.

Successfully he worked with Jocelyn to take five heads from the opposite side and gave them all up to Jocelyn.

After the opposite side fell, while Alex fell.

In the game, he is guarding Jocelyn with his life.

2 vs 5 was successful.

Such a perfect movement once again drew shrieks of surprise from the pop-ups.

Many people, moreover, have flattered Jocelyn and Alex.

Jocelyn remained oblivious to all this.

She calmly went back, and then to her teammate's said, "Big dragon pit, go."

The action just now not only made the audience hearty.

The same goes for Jocelyn.

At this moment, Jocelyn felt, inwardly, soothed.

She feels as if she has improved her operation, again, quite a bit from before.

It's even progressing by leaps and bounds.

She is very happy with this state of affairs.

Everyone is shocked at this.

Jocelyn continued to look at Sophie's face with a serious face and asked, "Was there ever a female general that died for you?"

At that, Sophie immediately shook her head. "No, what's wrong?"

Sophie's words confused the hell out of Jocelyn.

"No?"

How could there be none?

She clearly saw it all.

Sophie reminisced about her past with a serious look on her face.

And then she nodded quite definitely, "Well, I'm pretty sure that there really wasn't."

Jocelyn frowned slightly.

No?

And what was that memory just now exactly?

Is Sophie forgetting something?

Or is that story just really not there?

If it doesn't exist, why could she see that memory?

She had a brain that couldn't possibly make up stories for no reason, could it?

Sophie's eyes were full of questions, with a few searching glances under her eyes, "What's wrong?"

"In my head, a memory has come up of me being a female general who has been leading you on the run." said Jocelyn.

Once again, Sophie tried to remember her past.

And then, with certainty, she said, "I really don't have such a story in my memory, are you hallucinating?"
