Chapter 331 A Sweet Kiss

Leana, who was walking in front, suddenly found that Paige didn't follow her. She looked back and found that the legendary cold and ruthless Martin was cupping Paige's face in his hands and acting like a spoiled child.

Oh, what a sweet scene...

Leana was jealous.

Leana did not expect that the arrogant Martin would spoil a girl like this....

This was love that could only be found in fairy tales, right?

Leana thought of what she had experienced, and her eyes suddenly became dull...

Martin touched Paige's tender and delicate face for a long time before letting it go. He held her hand as they walked in the direction of the dormitory.

It was said that Cason specially built a new dormitory to let Paige live more comfortably...

Paige raised her eyes and asked, "You haven't told me why you came today."

Martin looked at Paige. "Didn't your dad say that he wanted to buy the land near the university and build a shopping mall for you?"

"Yes, but I refused," Paige remembered this.

"Well, I bought the land and came to have a look today."

Paige did not expect that she would still lose money on the land. It was not her dad but her fiancé that bought the land...

"The engineering team I hired is very efficient. The mall can be built in less than a year. By then, you can eat, buy, and play whatever you like in it."

Paige smiled. "Aren't you afraid that there will be a lot of things that attract me and I will forget you?"

"Then I will appear in front of you as I did today until you think of me." Martin's eyes were full of love.

"Childish." Paige thought it was funny.

"Do you like me to be childish or mature?"

"Have you ever been mature in front of me?" asked Paige.

"It's easy to make my boyfriend happy." Paige suddenly corrected herself.

Anna laughed out loud. Paige was defending Martin.

"Obviously, it's easier to make the housemother happy. Gifts make her smile. She never refuses any gifts. But your boyfriend is different. He must kick out those trying to bribe him."

Anna said confidently, "Only you can make him happy. Weeds you pull around our dorm could make him smile like a child!"

"Weeds can make my boyfriend happy. Can they make the housemother happy? Thus, my boyfriend is easier to handle."

Anna was lost for words. She was confused for a moment. Why was Paige on Martin's side?

She changed!

She had changed a lot!

Paige valued Martin more than Anna.

Paige went back to her dorm to change her clothes and left.

"Did you notice that Paige and Martin are dressed like a couple?" Leana suddenly asked.

"I didn't notice... Really? Matching outfit? Let me see..." Bess rushed out of the door.

"Wait for me."

Their dormitory balcony fac*d the sea, so they ran to the balcony of the corridor. When they looked down, their guess was confirmed.

Martin and Paige were wearing matching outfits. They seemed to be a perfect match...

It seemed that boys at University of Illinois at Chicago were going to break up because the most popular girl was taken.

After getting in the car, Martin suddenly put Paige on his lap and kept kissing her.

Rhys, who was sitting in the driver's seat, was suffering. He thought, Mr. Stowe, just get a room! I'm a man with feelings.

Do I have to witness PDA? It's torture!

Do you need a driver in this situation? Please don't let me drive next time.

Chapter 333 At Least an Hour

Rhys, who was driving the car, could hear the sounds of their kissing. He didn't bear any moral suffering.
On the contrary, he felt delighted.

Martin finally heard Paige saying that.

Rhys almost burst into tears.

“Alright, let go of me.”

Martin kissed Paige for a long time before he stopped and looked at her lovingly. “I love you too. I deeply love you.”

He loved her so much that he could give anything to her to make her happy.

He loved her so much that he wanted to be with her for 24 hours.

He loved her so much that her expressions and words had been imprinted in his mind.

He loved her so much that he wouldn't allow her to praise anyone else.

He loved her so much that he couldn't control himself as if he had been different.

“Well, Mr. Stowe, since Ms. Paige has said she loves you, can you arrange for someone else to go to Africa?” Rhys said that at an inappropriate moment.

Martin turned cold. "Be attentive when you are driving."

Martin hadn't ordered Rhys to stop the car. He was kind enough. What else could Rhys expect?

Rhys drove silently and thought Paige had her means. She could influence Martin's mood with her words.

Martin's enemies had to be envious. Their methods were less effective than Paige's words.

Rhys decided to talk to Paige about the issue of going to Africa later. He didn't want to go there to be suntanned.

Martin touched Paige's face and said, "How about the physical training? Has anyone bullied you? If you are wronged, tell me immediately."

Not long after, Martin's phone rang.

Paige knocked on the bathroom door. "Your phone has been ringing for a long time. Do you want me to give it to you?"

There must be something urgent at the company, otherwise, it would not keep ringing.

"Just help me pick it up," Martin replied from the bathroom.

"Me?"

Paige thought it was not suitable.

"If it's about work, let them go to Rhys. If it's a private matter, it's up to you."

Paige picked up Martin's phone and saw that it was Killian.

"Hello, Killian, it's me." Paige looked in the direction of the bathroom and was about to explain that Martin was taking a bath, but she was afraid that Killian would misunderstand...

Unexpectedly, Killian interrupted excitedly, "Are you with Martin? My goodness. How's the physical training? Is it tiring? Has Cason taken good care of you? Is there anyone bullying you there?"

Paige smiled. "Everything is fine."

"If someone bullies you, you must tell me. I will teach them a lesson. Is the environment okay? Are you used to the food there? If you need anything, I will send it to you."

"No need. It's all good." Paige did not expect that Killian would be so concerned about her, and she felt warm.

"Great. It's good that you're happy there." Killian was relieved. "Oh, by the way, what is Martin doing? I called so many times, but he did not answer."

"He..." Paige looked in the direction of the bathroom again. "He went to the bathroom."

"Oh, so he went to the bathroom. I knew it..."

"Killian, is there something urgent?"

"Great news! It's about Rosa." Killian sounded thrilled. "She woke up a few times before, but not very long.

Chapter 335 Take the Necklace Down

"You are the best greeting gift." Martin touched Paige's face and comforted her. "Grandma will be very happy to see you."

"We can't go empty-handed." Paige asked, "What does Rosa like the most?"

She had to prepare something, right?

Rhys said, "Ms. Paige, Mrs. Stowe likes to admire flowers, paintings, play chess... Oh right, she also heard your music."

Paige obviously did not believe it.

"It's true! Ask Mr. Stowe if you don't believe me."

"Yes." Martin looked at Paige gently. "Grandma did listen to your music before and expressed her appreciation."

So, maybe Paige could play a few songs later.

If Rosa liked to play chess, Paige had a top-grade chess set that was made of expensive jade. Even the chessboard was clear and priceless.

But now, it would be too late for Paige's subordinates to send it over.

"Didn't you give Grandma a bracelet before?" Martin reminded Paige.

Paige remembered it. Last time, she bought a piece of good platinum and personally designed two bracelets. One was for Cassie as a birthday present, and the other was given to Killian. She said that it was a gift for Rosa.

Martin said, "Grandma still wears it now. You don't need to prepare anything else. You visiting her is enough."

In the end, under Martin's persuasion, Paige planned to bring that set of chess set over next time.

Not long after, their car stopped at the gate of Riverside Villa.

Martin held Paige's hand and walked into the gate. Neil was already leading the way in front of them.

He helped Rosa hold the necklace.

"Paige, are you tired from squatting?" There was a trace of guilt in Rosa's tone. It was all her fault.

She had just recovered from a serious illness and was clumsy, causing her precious granddaughter-in-law to suffer.

"I'm not tired. Thank you, grandma," Paige always smiled faintly.

Today, she was finally able to personally thank Rosa for this necklace.

"It is a blessing for the Stowe family that you marry into our family..."

Rosa looked at Paige with satisfaction. In terms of appearance or temperament, Paige was not inferior to Martin at all. They were a perfect match

The more Rosa looked at Paige, the more satisfied Rosa was. Rosa grew more and more fond of Paige. Besides, Paige had so many identities...

Martin simply brought a treasure home!

Neil brought a plate of soup over. "Mrs. Stowe, your soup is cold. I bring another plate for you."

"Let me feed you." Paige stepped forward.

Rosa hurriedly stopped her. "No need. Leave it to Killian..."

How could Rosa bear to trouble Paige?

But Paige did not feel that it was troublesome at all. She spooned a mouthful of soup and gently handed it to Rosa's lips.

Rosa was a little embarrassed. She took a sip and said smilingly, "The soup that you fed is sweet."

The light in Martin's eyes softened. Looking at those who were getting along well, he asked gently, have you been recently? Are you feeling unwell?"

In front of the signature, Paige also added a sentence, "Love you forever, Paige (Vallorie)."

When Rosa saw this, she couldn't stop smiling. She immediately asked Neil to find a photo frame and personally frame this piece of paper.

"Well, Rosa, it's about time. The children are also hungry. Let them have lunch first..."

Killian did not receive a response from Rosa.

After Rosa finished framing Paige's signature, Rosa placed the photo frame on the bedside table. and asked Martin to help her take a photo with Paige.

Killian hurried, "I want it too. I want to take a photo with you too..."

"Get out of the way first." Rosa wanted to take a few photos with Paige alone.

Killian pursed his lips and stood to the side. When he saw Rosa holding Paige and smiling happily at the camera, he immediately felt a little envious of Paige.

Ever since Rosa had woken up, she had never been so intimate with Killian!

After taking the photo, Martin looked at his grandfather, who had mixed feelings, and finally said,

"Grandpa, it's your turn."

Killian was suddenly called, and he was immediately as happy as a child.

However, the next second, Martin handed Killian his phone. "Take a few pictures of us."

Killian was stunned.

Without him again?

"Actually, Neil can also help take pictures." Killian wanted to join them..

However, Rosa did not agree. "There will be an extra place here."

“My granddaughter-in-law is very powerful. Let me tell you, I can’t even finish her merits for three days and three nights.”

When Killian said this, he saw that Neil had brought over coffee and said, “Have a sip of coffee first. The coffee beans are from Panama. The taste is very mellow!”

When Killian said this, he looked at Paige with a smile, “Paige, try the taste. If you like it, take more to school.”

When Adrianna heard this, she knew that this kind of good coffee beans would cost about 50 thousand dollars per ounce at the auction a few months ago. Killian actually asked this girl to take it to school.

Wasn’t this a waste of treasure?

Such expensive coffee beans naturally had to be drunk together with the upper class on a high-class occasion. Only then would it be meaningful and valuable.

Let this girl bring it to school to drink.

It seemed that in Killian’s heart, this girl had a very high status.

When Paige saw this coffee, she remembered the scene when she first returned to Larsen Villa. At that time, Danica had asked a servant to serve her this kind of coffee. In the past, only the king had the right to enjoy such a rare coffee type.

Paige took a sip. The coffee was fragrant and mellow, curling around her lips and teeth. It was a good coffee.

After taking a sip, Adrianna looked at Paige and guessed that Paige had never drunk such expensive coffee in her life, right?

Adrianna wondered, I don't know what tricks she used to stay by Martin's side, and Mr. Stowe also likes her so much.

I thought everything would be fine if I beat Patricia, but I didn't expect this girl to appear again.

After taking a sip of coffee, Scott was curious about Paige's identity. He couldn't help but ask Killian, "Is your granddaughter-in-law still in school?"

"Yes, the University of Illinois at Chicago begged her to go! Originally, with her intelligence, she didn't need to go to college. She went there both to show her respect to Cason and also to play," Killian's tone was quite proud, and there was a trace of showing off.

They brought a lot of gifts. As soon as they sat down, they found that Martin and the Hart family were also there.

"Adrianna, you haven't taken out the gift you want to give Mrs. Stowe," Scott reminded Adrianna with a smile.

Adrianna took out an exquisite gift box from her bag and handed it with both her hands. "Mrs. Stowe, I'm very happy that you can wake up. This is a birthday gift I wanted to give you a long time ago. I didn't expect that something would happen to you at that time. Today, I finally have a chance to bring the gift to you. You must accept it!"

"How can I accept a gift from you? Moreover, today is not my birthday." Rosa waved her hand and smiled, not accepting it.

However, Adrianna maintained her posture of sending it out, "Mrs. Stowe, open it and take a look.

You will definitely like it."

Ashlyn was somehow curious. "Mrs. Stowe, since Adrianna is so considerate, why don't you open it and take a look?"

"That's right. Let us see what kind of good thing it is!" Diana had always been on good terms with the Hart family, so she deliberately spoke up for Adrianna.

Rosa thought that since Adrianna had brought it here, she would open it and take a look. After that, she would return it. This would be more polite.

With Killian's help, the chess pieces and a crystal-clear chessboard were displayed inside!

"It's jade chess!"

"This is the best of the best!"

Ashlyn and Diana exclaimed. They didn't expect Adrianna to be so generous.

They also didn't expect Adrianna, at such a young age, to have a way to buy it.

Judging from the light and appearance of the jade, it must be of high quality. Jades with gaps, uneven colors, cracks, and even those small jade, couldn't be selected to be polished.

It was said that these chess pieces had been selected for three years.

Next, it took three years to make 361 pieces. They were all made purely by hand.

Each piece was worth 30 thousand dollars!

"The chess set looks exquisite and glossy, especially the chess board... There is no way counterfeit ones could look like this..." Ashlyn obviously did not buy Paige's story.

Diana sided with the Hart family as well. "Paige must have seen information about the chess set somewhere on the Internet before, right? But just because Adrianna's chess set doesn't look exactly like the one Paige saw on the Internet doesn't mean Adrianna's stuff is counterfeit. After all, screens can't always present things the way they exactly are..."

Only by seeing things with his or her own eyes could one believe these things were genuine.

Martin held Paige's waist and defended Paige, "My fiancée only made a comment on it because.

Mrs. Higgins asked her to. Paige didn't mean to offend anyone. And she is right about the chess set. It does look rather ordinary. I wonder why is it that hard for people to speak the truth these days. Should we all say flattering remarks?"

Martin's words embarrassed not only the Hart family but also Ashlyn and Diana.

"Martin, even you think so?" Adrianna bit her lower lip, thinking, obviously, Martin is protecting Paige. He even called her his fiancée. That means he cares about Paige a lot.

What did the girl do to make this happen?

"Please call me in a less affectionate way," Martin looked into Adrianna's eyes and said. indifferently. "We have only met a few times. Technically, we're just strangers. You calling me that. affectionately might make people mistaken about our relationship."

Martin defending Paige again and again had embarrassed Adrianna greatly. That made Scott want to interfere.

"Adrianna knows that Mrs. Stowe loves to play chess. Therefore, she spent a lot of effort asking around to buy it. All she wants is to show her kindness to Mrs. Stowe. But now the gift she prepared is regarded as a fake one. That's why she feels upset... But do you think the Hart family. would actually bring something fake here?"
