

182: It's Time to Unveil the Truth

The Lewis Family

After Megan was brought back, Jonathan was too furious to even look at her. She knelt before her husband, crying and trying to explain.

"Jonathan! I never intended to... Believe me, I never thought of betraying you! It's Caitlin, she set me up!"

Jasmine and Joshua also tried to defend Megan.

"Dad, this isn't mom's fault. It's that Caitlin who is behind everything!"

Joshua chimed in, "That's right, it's that bitch Caitlin trying to ruin mom!"

"Stop it! Stop blaming everything on Caitlin! Do you think I'm blind?!"

Jonathan only believed what his own eyes had seen. His wife had indeed been with Anthony, and for a successful man, such a humiliation was a huge blow—practically a disaster!

No matter how they explained, Jonathan didn't believe them. Megan, unable to do anything but cry, didn't know what else to do.

Just then, scattered applause could be heard from outside.

"Clap... clap..."

Everyone turned their heads, curious about the noise, only to see the woman standing at the door.

"Caitlin??"

Joshua, seeing her come to their door, was seething with anger.

"What are you doing here?"

Jasmine angrily questioned.

"What a wonderful show! Of course, I'm here to give my warm applause! Megan's performance deserves a full score! Treating another man like your husband—this is the spirit of an actress," Caitlin said, her words like a knife to Megan's heart.

Megan had once dreamed of becoming an actress when she was young, but lacked the talent and opportunity.

"It's you! You! You're the one who ruined me! You bitch!"

Megan scrambled to get up from the floor, pointing at Caitlin, about to charge toward her.

But Jasmine stopped her—her mother would never be a match for Caitlin.

"Joshua, go..."

Jasmine wanted Joshua to deal with Caitlin, but when Joshua saw Caitlin, he hesitated, too scared to act.

"Calm down! Let's talk! You rushed out earlier and forgot something. I've brought it to you!"

Caitlin clapped twice, and her subordinates quickly dragged a bloodied Anthony into the room, throwing him onto the floor in the living room. ①

"Caitlin, you see this? This is the adulterer I've delivered to you!"

Caitlin's words nearly made Megan faint, and Jonathan's face turned as dark as a pot bottom.

Now he believed that Caitlin was behind everything. Furiously, he demanded, "Caitlin, you little brat, haven't you caused enough trouble for The Lewis Family? Are you trying to go unpunished?"

To punish Caitlin, Jonathan ordered, "Someone, arrest this girl!"

The bodyguards of The Lewis Family rushed in, but before they could get close, Quincy and his men knocked them down.

Quincy and another subordinate protected Caitlin, making sure no one dared to touch her.

The people of The Lewis Family looked on in fear. Caitlin had come to their home to cause trouble, and they were wondering if it was too late to call the police.

"Caitlin, I advise you to think carefully. If you call the police, and they arrive, I'll have a nice conversation with them about how my brother disappeared all those years ago."

Upon hearing this, Jonathan dared not make the call. He pretended to remain calm and questioned Caitlin, "Caitlin, stop making trouble! I'll ask you this one thing: after all this, what exactly do you want?"

Caitlin's gaze grew cold as she stared directly at Jonathan. "I came here today to find out why you sent my brother away all those years ago."

Jonathan fell silent for a moment, then spoke, "If you really want to know, then come to the study."

There were things that were too embarrassing to say in front of others.

After speaking, Jonathan frowned and turned, heading upstairs with his hands behind his back.

"You all stay outside and wait for me!"

Caitlin's eyes narrowed. She gave an order and marched into the living room.

Quincy and his companion exchanged a look, then left The Lewis Family. They knew Caitlin wanted to handle his family matters privately and didn't need their intervention.

Jasmine and Megan, still confused, looked at Caitlin heading upstairs, wondering what Jonathan was going to discuss with her in private.

What could be so important that they couldn't say it in front of them?

In the study, Jonathan entered, and Caitlin followed, closing the door behind her.

"Now, tell me, what could make a father like you send your own son to human traffickers? I'd really like to hear this!"

Caitlin sat down on the sofa, her presence commanding attention.

Jonathan probably guessed that Caitlin had investigated this matter and had learned from Anthony and Megan that it was he who ordered Harrison's disappearance.

Now, the time had come to reveal the truth!

Jonathan wiped his face and asked, "Do you really want to know the reason?"

"You tell me."

Caitlin barely managed to contain the urge to punch him, her voice icy.

"Fine, since you asked, I'll tell you directly. Harrison isn't my biological son. How could I leave him in The Lewis Family?"

"What? Say that again!"

Caitlin stood up from the sofa, her eyes wide with disbelief.

She thought she must have misheard. Did Jonathan really come up with such an excuse?

At the same time, Jasmine and Megan quietly approached the door of the study, eager to hear what they were discussing.

Jonathan explained again, "Caitlin, neither you nor Harrison are my biological children. Your mother had you both, but she tricked me into taking you on. I didn't find out the truth until you were five. Do you think I could just accept raising someone else's child?"

"You better be sure that every word you say is the truth. If I find out you're lying, you know what the consequences will be."

Caitlin stood up, raising her foot and smashing the coffee table.

The sound made everyone outside the study jump in shock.

The twist was too thrilling!

Jasmine couldn't believe it. She had thought that she was the legitimate daughter of The Lewis Family, but it turned out Caitlin wasn't even related to them by blood!

Ha! Now she would finally get what she deserved!

Megan was equally stunned. She had shared a bed with Jonathan for so many years, but he never told her this secret. He had kept it well hidden.

But she was also curious—before Kelly married Jonathan, who was her biological father? Why had no one in The Jonathan Family ever whispered about this?

"I swear to God that every word I've said is the truth! If even one word is a lie, may I be struck by lightning!"

Jonathan revealed the truth and even swore an oath.

At this moment, Caitlin was shaken. She had never imagined that the truth about her and Harrison's parentage was hidden so deeply.

None of them were actually the children of The Lewis Family?

This was the only explanation for why Jonathan had sent her brother away—to get rid of a child who wasn't his and couldn't inherit his wealth.

In that instant, Caitlin felt the weight of the truth crushing her. Why had her mother married Jonathan when she was carrying them?

And as one truth came to light, a huge mystery emerged.

So, who was their real biological father?

"Fine! Even if you're not our biological father, then who is?" Caitlin pressed.
