199: The Discovery of the Three Children, Sebastian Overjoyed

"Ultraman, attack— —"

"Take this, Gurlansfia!"

Bruce and Arthur, the two brothers, aimed their water guns at Sebastian and began spraying him wildly.

Sebastian, hearing the children's shouts, felt the spray of water hitting his face and body, unable to avoid it.

Xavi, witnessing the scene, shouted, "Hey, hey, hey, little masters, you can't do this..."

But the brothers ignored Xavi's warning and sprayed him too.

"Ah, my eyes..."

Xavi got sprayed in the eyes and quickly covered his face.

"Howard! Stop being mischievous!"

Sebastian, shielding himself with his arms, called out, hoping his son Howard wouldn't join in the mischief.

No one listened to him. The kids' water guns ran out of water, and they tossed them aside, rushing at him. Some hugged his legs, others clung to his waist.

Xavi, seeing the scene, quickly stepped aside to watch. Perhaps this was the special way the two little masters greeted their father. Only biological children would do something like this — treating their father as a monster to be defeated! 1

Sebastian, overwhelmed with joy and excitement, felt the two little ones surround him. One of them was his other son!

Even if they treated him like a monster, he was more than happy to experience this moment with his sons.

"Ultraman, strongest, Aurora power!!!"

"Destroy the monster!"

The two little ones had thrown Sebastian to the ground, riding on him, pressing and squeezing him from all sides.

Sebastian had never felt the joy of being squished by both of his sons at the same time. It was an incredible feeling!

Xavi, sneaking in a video of the moment, thought that when Mr. Vanderbilt's eyes were better, he could show him the video. What an exciting sight it was to be treated this way by his own children!

However, when the third little Ultraman came running down the stairs, Xavi was in complete shock.

"War, war, war... Mr. Vanderbilt!!!"

Upon hearing Xavi's voice, Sebastian asked, "What's going on? Another little master?"

Was he imagining things?

Xavi rubbed his eyes and confirmed that it was indeed three little Ultramen.

At that moment, he froze, as though his brain had short-circuited.

The third child didn't join in fighting with "bad daddy." Instead, he climbed onto Sebastian and pressed his little body down to protect him.

Sebastian suddenly felt another weight on him and groaned, "Who? Who's pressing me? I can hardly breathe!"

"I don't know if it's a little master..."

Xavi was eager to figure out who the three children were.

"Alright, you guys, stop messing around!"

Caitlin came downstairs and stood at the railing, seeing the chaos below.

It was a sight too pitiful to watch! Sebastian was nearly torn apart by his three sons!

Bruce and Arthur, seeing Howard protecting their "bad daddy," immediately lost interest.

When they heard their mom call, both little guys climbed off and threw their masks on the floor.

Howard hurriedly helped pull his father up. The little one also removed his mask and anxiously looked at his father, only to notice something was off.

His gaze didn't seem right!

When Xavi saw three identical little faces, he couldn't help but scream in surprise, "Ah..."

"Xavi, what's with all the noise?"

Sebastian, now lying on the floor in a disheveled state, had his hair in a mess, his coat ripped off, and his shirt torn, with the sleeves hanging loose.

His sons were indeed strong fighters!

"Mr. Vanderbilt, there are three little masters!"

Xavi rushed over to help Sebastian up, and Sebastian, still unable to see, asked, "Three little masters?"

"I think Caitlin didn't give birth to twins, but triplets. There are three kids here, and they all look identical!" Xavi explained, stunned.

"Triplets?"

Sebastian was shocked, recalling that there had indeed been three little ones earlier. Could they really be his sons?

"Where's Howard? Bruce? Who's the third?"

Sebastian reached out to touch his son but saw that Bruce and Arthur had crossed their arms and coldly snorted before running upstairs.

Only Howard stayed by his side. Sebastian touched the little face in front of him and smiled, "This must be Howard!"

Caitlin came downstairs and approached Sebastian. "Are you okay?"

"I'm fine, I'm fine. The kids were just playing with me!" Sebastian excitedly asked, "Caitlin, please tell me! How many kids are there? Two or three?"

"Three sons. Howard is the eldest, Bruce is the second, and Arthur is the youngest."

"Bruce? Arthur? Three sons? I... I have three sons?"

Sebastian was so excited that he could hardly speak, unable to find the right words to express his feelings. He was probably the luckiest man in the world!

He actually had three sons with Caitlin!

Oh my god! If his grandmother knew, she would probably be overjoyed!

"Caitlin, thank you. Thank you for giving me three sons. You've worked hard."

Sebastian reached out to Caitlin and pulled her into his arms, hugging her tightly.

His excitement was overflowing.

Xavi, witnessing the scene, was so moved he almost wanted to cry.

Mr. Vanderbilt must have saved the galaxy in his past life to deserve such a great fortune. He now had three sons in this life!

Caitlin pushed Sebastian away, "Alright, look at yourself. Go take a shower."

Sebastian grabbed her arm, "You help me, I can't see anything."

"Alright, but I don't have any clothes here for you."

"That's fine. I'll have Xavi go get them for me."

Sebastian waved at Xavi, "Quick, go back and get my clothes!"

"Got it, Mr. Vanderbilt!"

Xavi happily ran out the door, eager to share the great news with Beatrice at The Vanderbilt Family.

Caitlin led Sebastian upstairs and arranged for him to take a shower in the guest bathroom.

"I've adjusted the water temperature. The towel is here. When you're done, just turn off the water, and you'll be able to feel the towel."

Caitlin held his wrist, guiding him to feel the items in the bathroom.

"Alright, don't leave. Wait for me outside!"

"Understood."

Caitlin left the room, and Sebastian began his shower.

Ten minutes later, he was done, and Sebastian grabbed the towel, wrapping it around his waist. "Caitlin, I'm done. Come get me."

Caitlin opened the bathroom door, and when she saw Sebastian, her eyes wandered away, unable to look at him directly. His well-toned chest, perfect abs, and water droplets running down his tempting bodyline into the towel around his waist made her feel a bit shy.

She quickly averted her gaze and helped him out of the bathroom.

At the same time, a luxury car pulled into the estate and stopped at the villa's entrance.

A man dressed in a silver-gray suit got out of the car, leaving his subordinates outside, and walked into the villa. Not seeing anyone, he headed straight for the second floor.

Zeke, holding a bouquet of flowers, saw Caitlin's figure as he passed the guest room.

"Caitlin!"

Caitlin turned around in surprise, "What are you doing here suddenly?"

"Who's here?" Sebastian heard the man's voice and came out from behind Caitlin.

Zeke shot a cold look at the man behind Caitlin, whose body was wrapped in a towel. His eyes narrowed immediately.
