

First Love 104

Chapter 104 Surgery

Time flies, and I didn't realize that Qiuyan had been missing for more than half a month. Wang Kun felt guilty towards Lizhen, so he didn't go to see Qiuyan. He rushed between the factory and home every day. The past half month was calm and peaceful.

In order to prove that she kept her word, Qiuyan did not disturb Wang Kun. She found a job as a kindergarten teacher in a private kindergarten nearby. Even though she missed Wang Kun very much, she never looked for him.

One Sunday night, after dinner, she was about to go to bed when she suddenly felt a dull pain next to her stomach. She could still bear it at first, but it gradually became a sharp pain like a knife.

Since she hadn't found a place to stay, Qiuyan had been living in a hotel. Due to severe stomach pain, Qiuyan had to call the front desk. When the front desk heard Qiuyan's cry for help, they immediately sent someone to Qiuyan's room.

When they opened the door, they were shocked by the scene in the room. Qiuyan was in so much pain that she was like a curled-up pangolin. Her head was lowered on her stomach, and she was rolling on the bed with her hands holding her stomach.

"Sister Qiuyan, what's wrong with you?" Since Qiuyan has lived here for a long time, the waiters here all know her.

Seeing Qiuyan like this, the waiter Xiao Chen immediately ran up and picked up Qiuyan. Beads of sweat the size of beans rolled down her face, and her wet hair almost covered her face.

"My stomach hurts so much!" Qiuyan was moaning and crying in pain, which scared the waiter Xiao Chen.

"Xiao Wang, quickly call 110 and call an ambulance." Xiao Chen helped Qiuyan sit on the edge of the bed while asking his colleague who came up with her to make the call.

"Sister Qiuyan, please hold on for a while, the ambulance will be here soon." Xiao Chen wiped the sweat off Qiuyan's face with paper while comforting her.

"Woo woo" After a while, the ambulance arrived at the door of the hotel, and soon the doctor came to the room and immediately examined Qiuyan.

"It might be appendicitis. Give her an injection to relieve the pain first to stop the pain first." The doctor examined Qiuyan and immediately diagnosed her with appendicitis.

The nurse who came with her immediately gave Qiuyan an injection of painkiller. Qiuyan calmed down for a while, but less than a moment later she began to feel pain again. Her face turned pale, without a trace of blood. She clenched her teeth, but the beads of sweat on her forehead rolled down her cheeks like pearls.

"Ouch!" Qiuyan curled up her body, screaming and rolling on the bed.

"Go to the hospital quickly," the attending doctor immediately ordered Qiuyan to be carried into the ambulance.

"Who are the patient's family members?" The doctor immediately asked the patient's family members to go to the hospital together.

"She is our customer and she has no family members here," Xiao Chen immediately responded to the doctor.

"There are no relatives. She is staying in your hotel. Please send someone from your hotel to go to the hospital with us."

"Okay, I'll go." Hotel manager Chen hesitated for a moment, then immediately agreed and the ambulance drove to the hospital as fast as it could.

After a series of examinations at the hospital, Qiuyan was diagnosed with acute appendicitis.

"You need surgery," the doctor said decisively after looking at Qiuyan who was in unbearable pain.

"Do I need to sign for the surgery?" When Xiao Chen heard that she needed to have surgery, she was scared. She immediately became anxious. She wanted to sign for the surgery, but I didn't dare to take such a risk.

"Yes," the doctor answered her immediately.

"What should I do? Surgery is risky and human life is at stake. I can't make the decision." Xiao Chen suddenly became nervous.

"Sister Qiuyan, can you find your own relatives to come to the hospital to sign? Signing means taking legal responsibility, and I dare not take this responsibility."

"The signature must be from a relative, no one else can sign on your behalf," the nurse standing by immediately told Xiao Chen.

"For this, we have to ask her herself." Xiao Chen just thought of this question because she was in a hurry. She only then remembered the seriousness of this problem.

The nurse rushed into the operating room and said, "If you want to have surgery, you must get the signature of your relatives. If your relatives are not here, you have to authorize someone else to sign. Only then will we perform the surgery on you. We cannot take this responsibility." Seeing Qiuyan suffering from the pain, the doctors were very anxious.

At this time, Qiuyan was lying on the operating table, her lower abdomen felt like it was being cut by a knife. Because of the pain, beads of sweat as big as beans soaked her hair like the water she had just fished out. Although the doctor gave her medicine and an injection to stop the pain, it could not stop the waves of unbearable pain. She was tortured by the pain and couldn't help but cry out "Ouch, ouch"

"What should we do? Seeing you in so much pain, we feel bad too."

"Can you please call this number for me?" After hearing the doctor's words, Qiuyan thought that she didn't know anyone here, so she had to tell the doctor Wang Kun's phone number.

Wang Kun had just returned home from discussing a business deal. He parked his car in the parking space when Lizhen called him to go to the supermarket to get some daily necessities.

At this time, Wang Kun's phone suddenly rang. He looked and saw that it was Qiuyan calling. He hesitated for a moment before he answered the call.

"Hello, are you Mr. Wang Kun?" A strange voice came at this time.

"Who are you?" Wang Kun felt strange. He wondered why it was a stranger calling.

"Your friend Qiuyan is in the hospital now. She wants you to come over." A woman's voice came from inside.

"Hospital. What's wrong with her?" Wang Kun immediately became alert.

"She has an inflamed appendix and needs surgery"

"She is in that hospital." When Wang Kun heard that Qiuyan had appendicitis, his heart finally settled down. But when he heard that Qiuyan needed surgery, his heart suddenly tightened again.

Because he was worried about Qiuyan's condition, Wang Kun didn't even bother to go to the supermarket to buy things, but immediately drove to the hospital.

Qiuyan's appendicitis caused her to collapse in waves of pain. The pain felt like a knife cutting into her lower abdomen. Beads of sweat the size of beans rolled down her hair onto her face, like pearls falling from a broken string.

Seeing Qiuyan in so much pain, the nurse was anxiously waiting for Wang Kun's arrival. She looked back and forth at the door.

"Excuse me, is there a patient named Qiuyan performing surgery inside?" Wang Kun had just arrived at the door of the operating room. While gasping for breath, he asked the nurse anxiously.

"You're finally here, go and sign quickly. Sister Qiuyan is inside, we'll be waiting for you to sign." The nurse who was waiting at the door very anxiously was overjoyed when she heard Wang Kun's question.

"Excuse me, is surgery necessary?" Wang Kun asked carefully.

"Yes, if the patient doesn't have surgery, she won't be able to bear the pain. We're giving her medication now but it still can't stop the pain. The hospital is considering surgery. May I ask who you are to her? The signature must be from your immediate family, and ordinary people cannot sign," the nurse asked Wang Kun carefully.