

First Love 145

Chapter 145 Anonymous Letter

The detective who was following Lizhen and Hongliang followed them for a long time, but he didn't take any valuable photos of them that were intimate and ambiguous. The detective was a little frustrated.

But when Tian Hongliang and Lizhen went on a date for dinner, he took a very valuable photo of Xiaomai that he wanted very much, which made him overjoyed. After the photo was developed, he immediately took it to Xiaomai to claim the reward.

After Xiaomai saw these photos, she was very satisfied and gave him some extra money as a reward.

Xiaomai saw these seemingly ambiguous scenes and wondered why they didn't film something more exciting so that Cheng Lizhen could die more miserably and leave faster.

When Xiaomai saw the look in Hongliang's eyes when he looked at Lizhen, his eyes were about to burst into flames, and a feeling of hatred and jealousy suddenly surged into Xiaomai's heart.

Why is it that you, Cheng Lizhen, who is not prettier or younger than me, can receive such sincere love from the chairman? I am young and beautiful and have done so much for the chairman, but he doesn't even look at me. It's so unfair. In her twisted heart, she thinks that she is working so diligently for the chairman, serving him water and coffee and taking care of him. She didn't think that this is her job as a secretary.

She sorted out the photos, asked a detective to find out Hongliang's home address, and sent it to Hongliang's home using an anonymous address and a fake name. However, she didn't know Hongliang's wife's last name, so she sent it using the name she heard the chairman call his wife, Tingting.

When the detective told her that the letter had been sent, Xiaomai happily hummed her favorite songs at home. Hehehe, Cheng Lizhen, you won't be happy for much longer. I want to see with my own eyes that the chairman's wife will beat you to the ground.

During this time, Tingting was resting at home and taking care of her pregnancy. On this day, Tingting was basking in the sun in the back garden. Since getting married, Tingting had been helping Hongliang manage some of the company's internal business, mainly responsible for some overseas orders.

Since Tingting came to the company, she has brought in many overseas orders for Hongliang, because Tingting majored in finance abroad, and her father's business abroad is very good and large.

In the past few years, with Tingting's help and Hongliang's good management, Hongliang's company has become the largest in the industry, and their company has grown to hundreds of billions.

Tingting was pregnant during this period, so she was allowed to rest at home. Originally, Tingting was at work, and Tingting and Hongliang's mother got along well. It might be that after Tingting and her mother-in-law had been together for a period of time, there were inevitably some bumps and some unpleasant things. The most important thing was that Tingting grew up abroad, and some living customs caused friction with her mother-in-law, which sometimes made Hongliang embarrassed, so Hongliang was unhappy during this period.

However, Hongliang's mother was not an unreasonable mother-in-law because Tingting was pregnant with her eldest grandson. Now she was slowly learning to give in to her daughter-in-law. Seeing that her mother-in-law was intentionally giving in to her, Tingting also slowly learned to be humble to her mother-in-law.

So their relationship gradually eased up. A harmonious family is the key to success. Seeing that the relationship between Tingting and her mother had eased and the relationship between the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law was getting more and more harmonious, Hongliang's mood also improved a lot.

Today Tingting was wearing a beige silk maternity dress. She was sitting on a rattan chair with a thin sun hat on her head. Her body looked particularly plump due to her pregnancy.

There are some spots on her originally fair and rosy face, which may be caused by the reaction of Ren Chen. Hong Liang told her not to go out in the sun, but Tingting insisted on scientific pregnancy and more sun exposure for the baby to absorb calcium. "We are educated people, we must believe in science. I want to give birth to a very healthy baby. What does the spot on my face matter?"

"Thank you, my wife, for your hard work." Hongliang was very moved by Tingting's words. He looked at his wife with spots on her face and deformed body, and couldn't help but kiss Tingting on the forehead.

"It's 8 o'clock now. You can stay in the sun for one more hour at most. You must go into the living room at o'clock. Aunt Wang, you don't have to urge your wife to go in at o'clock."

"Okay." The maid, Aunt Wang, immediately ran out of the villa.

"You should go to work quickly. Why are you so fussy now?" Tingting said with a smile while urging Hongliang to go to work.

"Madam, I'm going to work." Before leaving, Hongliang squatted down in front of Tingting and said to Tingting's belly, "Baby, you stay in your belly and sleep well. Daddy is going to work to earn money for your milk powder."

"Oh, go to work quickly, don't be late, Chairman." Tingting said and patted Hongliang's shoulder lovingly.

"Honey, I'm going to work." Hongliang stood up, waved to Tingting reluctantly and left for work. At this time, Tingting heard the sound of a car engine starting at the door and the sound of the car leaving.

"Madam, it's already nine o'clock. You should go back to your room. Breakfast is ready." Seeing that it was already nine o'clock, the maid Wang Ma urged Tingting to go in for breakfast.

"Ding Dong, Ding Dong" the sound of the doorbell came from the door.

Wang Ma immediately went out and opened the door. It was a courier.

"It's a package from my wife. Is her name Tingting? Please give it to her."

"Okay." Mother Wang quickly opened the door, took the express, closed the door, and handed the express to Tingting.

"Whose delivery is this?" Tingting asked Aunt Wang while receiving the package.

"Madam, this is your courier. The courier told me to give it to you."

"Oh." Tingting felt a little curious when she heard Aunt Wang say that she must give it to her. She immediately put down the cutlery in her hand and took it.

Tingting looked at the cover and saw the recipient "Tingting" without her surname, only her first name, but there was no address of the writer. She felt a little strange at this time. She was a little afraid to open the letter, but she still opened it. She wanted to see what was inside.

Suddenly she felt a piece of hard paper inside which turned out to be a photo. She immediately asked Aunt Wang to get a pair of scissors, cut open the bag and take out the photo.

The moment she took out the photo and saw it, she was shocked.