

First Love 151

Chapter 151 We are all Tianya snubbed

Qiuyan hadn't been to work for a long time since Jinlan was injured. She thought that the money she brought with her was running out, so she wanted to find a job to increase her income, but jobs are not something you can find just because you want to. Qiuyan was walking aimlessly on the street, and when she saw a company recruiting employees, she went in with the mentality of giving it a try.

The interviewer looked at her resume, asked a few questions, and then told her to go back and wait for notification.

Qiuyan walked out of the company without much hope, and continued to look for other job opportunities on the street.

Just when she was feeling a little frustrated, her cell phone suddenly rang. It was the company that she had just called, telling her that she had passed the interview and could start work tomorrow.

After hearing this, Qiuyan almost jumped for joy. She finally found a job and had new hope in life.

This made Qiuyan very happy. She thought she had forgotten to eat today because she was looking for a job. Then she saw a restaurant next to her. It seemed to be doing very well and all the seats were occupied. Then she saw a woman sitting in the corner of the windowsill. She seemed to be worried and was looking out the window casually. Qiuyan thought she was alone, so she found a seat and sat opposite the woman.

When Xiaomai saw Qiuyan, she showed a surprised expression.

"Hello? Li is alone," Xiaomai asked.

"Yes," Qiuyan smiled.

"Me too, that's just right." Xiaomai showed a little smile on her face, but she didn't look happy in her heart.

Qiuyan smiled and explained, "I just found a job and I'm going to celebrate. What about you? Have you found a job?"

Xiaomai shook her head and sighed: "Not yet. I have submitted many resumes, but there has been no response."

Qiuyan comforted her: "Don't be discouraged, take your time, and you will find a suitable job."

The two chatted for a while and found that they both had encountered setbacks in the workplace.

"Why don't we encourage and support each other," Qiuyan suggested.

Xiaomai readily agreed, and the two exchanged contact information and agreed to meet often in the future.

Just then, the waiter brought over two steaming meals. Qiuyan and Xiaomai smiled at each other and began to enjoy this rare gourmet moment.

During this period, Xiaomai sent out her resume and tried wherever she saw job openings, but when she was exhausted, she still had no luck. She searched for a whole day and was still hungry. At this time, she accidentally met someone who was also looking for a job. No one expected that this person was none other than Qiuyan.

Today, the two people who share the same suffering hit it off immediately and had a lot of topics to talk about. While eating, Xiaomai shared her job search experience with Qiuyan. Qiuyan listened quietly, occasionally interjecting a few words to express her own views.

After finishing their meal, the two left the restaurant together. Qiuyan invited Xiaomai to her home to sit down and talk more about finding a job.

Arriving at Qiuyan's house, they continued to discuss various possibilities. Suddenly, Qiuyan had an idea and mentioned an area that had been overlooked before.

"Maybe we can try some emerging industries, or start our own business?" Qiuyan's eyes sparkled with excitement.

Xiaomai nodded, thinking it was a good idea. They began to discuss the specific plan, becoming more and more excited.

At this moment, Qiuyan's cell phone rang. It turned out to be the company she had just applied for a job, notifying her to start work early.

Qiuyan cheered happily, and Xiaomai was happy for her. Although she had not found a job yet, Xiaomai gained confidence and courage from Qiuyan.

At this time, Xiaomai took out her mobile phone from her pocket, and suddenly a photo fell out of her bag. She was concentrating on looking at her mobile phone, but she didn't see the photo that fell. Qiuyan immediately helped Xiaomai pick up the photo that fell on the ground. When Qiuyan picked up the photo and looked at it, she was immediately shocked. She immediately asked Xiaomai; "Where did you get this photo?"

It turned out that the photo was of Hongliang leaning on Lizhen, and Lizhen hugging Hongliang. When Xiaomai heard Qiuyan talking about the photo, she immediately became alert. She looked at the photo in Qiuyan's hand, snatched it away, and stuffed it into her bag.

"Where did you get this photo?" Qiuyan looked at Xiaomai seriously.

"This is a photo of my friend," Xiaomai answered Qiuyan while zipping up her bag. She zipped up the bag tightly as if she was afraid Qiuyan would snatch it away.

"Friend, what's your friend's name?" Qiuyan looked at Xiaomai warily.

"Her name is Huizhen." Xiaomai wanted to say a random name to get away with it and leave immediately. She thought it was this photo that made me lose my job, and I don't want to cause any more trouble.

"No, you are lying to me, aren't you?" Qiuyan pointed out Xiaomai's weakness incisively.

"How do you know I'm lying to you? Do you know her?" Seeing Qiuyan's sure tone, she thought Qiuyan must know the owner of the photo. "Not only do I know her, she's also my rival in love." Qiuyan's eyes flashed with anger.

Xiaomai was stunned. She didn't expect it to be such a coincidence.

"What is going on?" Xiaomai asked.

Qiuyan told Xiaomai everything that happened between her and Lizhen, but she was not stupid. She did not tell the truth and lied to Xiaomai. She thought Xiaomai did not know their true feelings.

It turns out that Lizhen is Qiuyan's colleague and also her competitor. They both fell in love with the same man, and the man finally chose Lizhen.

Qiuyan believed that Lizhen had used improper means, so she always held a grudge against her.

After listening to Qiuyan's story, Xiaomai felt mixed emotions.

She decided to help Qiuyan find out the truth...

"How can I help you?" Xiaomai felt ecstatic. Lizhen was our common enemy. It was because of Lizhen that she lost her job. I must help her kill this woman, and at the same time, I would feel relieved.

"I don't need your help now. I just want you to give me the photos. I want to give the photos to you personally. I want him to see what kind of person he likes." Qiuyan was secretly happy. Wang Kun and Li

Zhen were getting a divorce, and I just happened to help them add fuel to the fire. When Wang Kun saw the photos, he said, "I don't believe you can't bear to part with her."

When Qiuyan thought of this, she laughed unconsciously. It must be God's help that my goal can be achieved.

"Okay, I'll give it to you." At this time, Xia Mai picked up a glass of water on the table.

"Come on, let's drink to the fact that we have found a common rival in love and can defeat them together." They each poured a glass of water and drank it all.

They whispered to each other and left. I don't know what conspiracy they are hiding...