

First Love 154

Chapter 154 Women Must Be Strong

Wang Kun wanted Li Zhen to change her mind, but Li Zhen thought that she had to be strong. Only if she was strong, no matter how the man changed his mind, Li Zhen made up her mind to make herself stronger. She devoted herself to work and constantly worked hard to improve her abilities. At the same time, she also actively participated in various social activities to expand her network of contacts.

As time went by, Lizhen gradually walked out of the haze of love and became more confident and independent. Her career flourished and her life became more and more wonderful.

At work that day, Lizhen told Hongliang, "I want to start my own business. It's more stable for me to work in your company, but I don't want to rely on you. I will only cause you a lot of trouble."

"As long as you are doing well, happy and cheerful, I am not afraid of trouble," Hongliang comforted Lizhen.

"But I don't want to. From this photo incident, I feel that if you treat me well, others will envy you. Fortunately, Tingting is sensible, otherwise this will bring a lot of trouble to your family."

Wang Kun felt a little disappointed and regretful when he saw the changes in Li Zhen. He realized that he had lost such an excellent woman.

However, Lizhen no longer lingers on the past, she understands that only by relying on herself can she truly control her own destiny. She moves forward firmly towards her goal and welcomes a better future.

Lizhen began to plan her future. She drew up a detailed career development plan, including goals such as learning new skills, expanding business areas, and building her own team. She also actively sought opportunities for cooperation and communicated with seniors in the industry to continuously absorb experience and knowledge.

During this process, Lizhen encountered some difficulties and challenges, but she always remained optimistic and determined. She believed that as long as she worked hard, she would be able to realize her dream.

At the same time, Lizhen also re-examined her love life. She realized that love is not everything in life, and her happiness should be created by herself. So she learned to take better care of herself, cultivate her interests and hobbies, and enrich her spiritual world.

"Okay, I support you. As long as you are happy, I will not only be your spiritual support, but also your strong financial backing." Hongliang was very happy to see Lizhen who was shocked.

"Thank you, Hongliang. It is my blessing to have a friend like you in my life. I firmly believe that with your strong support, my dream will come true." Lizhen said her heartfelt words with great gratitude. Lizhen looked at Hongliang with gratitude, and her eyes were shining with determination.

"I hope to own my own design company in the future, focusing on environmental protection and launching a series of green products."

Hongliang smiled and nodded to show his support.

"Your idea is very good. Environmental protection is a major trend now, and you have a talent for design."

Li Zhen said confidently: "I have been collecting relevant information and preparing to participate in some design competitions to accumulate experience and connections."

Hongliang encouraged: "Just go for it. If you need any help, just ask."

With Hongliang's support, Lizhen worked harder towards her goal.

A few months later, Lizhen won excellent results in a design competition and her work was highly praised by industry experts.

Through this opportunity, she met some like-minded people, including some powerful investors.

They were very interested in Lizhen's environmentally friendly design concept and decided to start a company together.

Lizhen's dream is finally coming true and she feels extremely excited.

During the process of preparing for the company, Lizhen discovered a talent named Li Yu, a young and promising designer.

Li Zhen invited him to join her team, and Li Yu readily agreed.

The two of them worked well together, appreciated each other, and gradually developed feelings for each other.

Hongliang gave her great support in the field of gold medicine. Lizhen was like a duck in water, and the company quickly grew.

At the celebration party for the company's establishment, Lizhen and Li Yu expressed their feelings, but Lizhen declined Li Yu's kindness because she is a little afraid of relationships now.

Soon after, the company's first product was launched on the market and was warmly welcomed by consumers. Lizhen's design talent was widely recognized and her name gradually became famous in the industry.

On the other hand, Wang Kun watched Li Zhen become more and more successful, and he felt regretful. He began to reflect on what he had done in the past and realized that he had missed such a good woman.

However, behind the success there is also a crisis. Competitors appeared in the market, they imitated Lizhen's design and launched similar products. Lizhen was under great pressure, she had to keep innovating to stay ahead.

In the face of adversity, Lizhen showed her perseverance. She led her team to study day and night to find a way to break through. After hard work, they finally developed a unique environmentally friendly product, which once again won the favor of the market.

At the same time, Li Yu also silently supports Li Zhen. He uses his professional knowledge to make suggestions for the development of the company. The relationship between the two becomes deeper and deeper in their common struggle.

In the end, Lizhen's company achieved great success and became a leader in the industry. Lizhen realized her dream and gained true love. She knew that all this was inseparable from her own efforts and persistence, as well as the support of Hongliang and Li Yu.

She decided to repay them with her success and help more people realize their dreams. Lizhen began to devote herself to charity, focusing on environmental protection and vulnerable groups. She held design lectures to share her experience and insights, inspiring more young people to pursue their dreams. In addition, she also established scholarships to support potential designers to further their studies and cultivate more outstanding talents for the industry.

During a charity event, Lizhen unexpectedly met Wang Kun, who has now turned over a new leaf and started his own business again.

Wang Kun sincerely apologized to Li Zhen and expressed his admiration and blessing for her. Li Zhen felt Wang Kun's growth, she chose to forgive him and wished him all the best in the future.

Lizhen was filled with emotion. She understood that the road of life is always full of twists and turns, but as long as you hold on to your dreams and work hard for them, you will definitely be able to create your own glory. Lizhen's story spread throughout the city, and she became a role model for many people to strive for. Her design company is no longer limited to the field of environmental protection, but has begun to engage in more diversified design projects.

At an international design exhibition, Lizhen presented the company's latest design achievements, which attracted the attention of peers around the world. Her design style is unique, integrating environmental protection concepts with fashion elements, and leading a new trend in the design industry.

As her fame grew, Lizhen received invitations from major brands to work with her. She carefully selected projects that were consistent with the company's philosophy and further expanded the company's influence.

At the same time, Lizhen has not forgotten her original intention. She continues to participate in public welfare activities and uses part of the proceeds for environmental protection and charity, making greater contributions to society.

Wang Kun's career was in a mess. The company's performance was getting worse and worse, which made him very distressed.