

First Love 159

Chapter 159: Come Back, Child

As soon as Wang Kun was discharged from the hospital, he went to see his mother. Jin Lan had broken several ribs in her chest due to a fall at that time.

As the saying goes, it takes a hundred days to heal a broken bone. However, since Jinlan was already over 60 years old, she had her bones reconnected several times. The first operation did not work properly, so she had a second operation and it was only after the third operation that her sternum was reconnected properly.

After more than a year of treatment, I have basically recovered and am preparing to be discharged from the hospital.

Jinlan was extremely worried during her hospitalization. She thought about her son and Lizhen who were getting divorced. She thought that as soon as I was discharged from the hospital, I would go talk to Lizhen and find my good wife back.

"Mom, how are you feeling today? Are you feeling better?" Wang Kun came to his mother's ward. Wang Kun forced a smile and was very happy to see that his mother looked in good spirits.

"My child, you were on a business trip again a few days ago. You can see you have lost weight. It was really hard for you during this period. Anyone would be sad when encountering such a thing. Now I am well. I will go and persuade Lizhen to come back." Jinlan was so happy that she did not notice the changes in her son.

When he heard his mother talk about finding Lizhen, he was shocked at first. Then Wang Kun kept the pain in his heart and waited to tell his mother the truth after she was discharged from the hospital.

After Jinlan was discharged from the hospital, she went directly to Lizhen's home to find Lizhen.

As it turned out, Jinlan found that Lizhen no longer lived there.

Someone told her that Lizhen had bought a house and moved in.

"Why did you buy a house?" Jinlan's heart skipped a beat and she had a bad feeling. When the Tea King found out where Lizhen lived,

She rang the doorbell, feeling excited.

The door opened and Lizhen saw Jinlan with a look of surprise on her face.

"Mom, why are you here?" Lizhen asked.

"Mom, come in." Lizhen asked Jinlan to sit down, and then asked Wang Ma to pour a glass of water for Jinlan.

"Please have some water, old lady." Aunt Wang politely called Jinlan old lady, and the simple rural person Jinlan immediately felt flattered.

"Hey, where's baby Lizhen? I miss her so much. Let grandma see her." As Jinlan entered the house, her eyes turned around and she looked around but didn't see her.

"Mom, it's really unfortunate today. The baby has been sent to the nursery. I have time to take the baby to see you that day," Lizhen told Jinlan with a smile.

Jinlan looked at Lizhen carefully. At this time, she felt that Lizhen was different. Her temperament, expression, and conversation were all different. However, Lizhen couldn't put it into words. She always felt that Lizhen had changed a lot.

After reading it, Jinlan held Lizhen's hand and said sincerely: "Lizhen, I know you are getting a divorce, but I hope you can give Wang Kun another chance. For the sake of our two lovely children and for the sake of my old face, Wang Kun has realized his mistakes, and our family cannot be separated like this."

A hint of hesitation flashed across Lizhen's eyes. She recalled the happy times she had with her mother-in-law. Thinking of how her mother-in-law had always treated her as her own daughter, she immediately felt a sense of indebtedness. Now that she was divorced, the person she felt particularly sorry for was her mother-in-law.

Jinlan didn't see what Lizhen was thinking and continued, "The children need a complete family, and we also hope you can come back."

Lizhen was feeling very embarrassed at this time. From Jinlan's tone, she knew she didn't know that she and Wang Kun were divorced. She thought Wang Kun must be afraid that his mother-in-law would not be able to bear it if she knew, so he hadn't told her the truth yet.

Lizhen also considered these, so she had to agree to Jinlan, and then she nodded, "Mom, I will consider it."

Jinlan breathed a sigh of relief, she knew that things were finally taking a turn for the better.

"What are you still thinking about, child? Life is short. We only have a few decades. The child will grow up in a blink of an eye. You have been thinking about it for more than a year." Jinlan was still persuading Lizhen earnestly.

Jin Lan stood up at this time and looked around. The furniture and furnishings here were all noble. She could tell that the things here must be very expensive. But no matter what words she used to describe them, she always had an indescribable feeling in her heart.

Wang Kun had never mentioned to Lizhen about buying this house. Besides, their family was well off now, so there was no need to buy a house now. Besides, houses in the city were so expensive, and their family was already big enough to live in, so there was no need to buy one.

Do they want to split up and live separately from us? That's not right. If they want to separate, they have to wait until the children grow up. Who will take care of the children? Or we can ask Lizhen's parents to come and help take care of them. It's not convenient for them to come while we are at home. Besides, Lizhen's parents are in poor health and they can't take care of them.

Jinlan was thinking as she watched. Lizhen saw that her mother-in-law remained silent, and she wondered if her mother-in-law had discovered something.

The sound of the phone breaking the temporary silence.

Lizhen's phone rang. Someone from the company came to look for Lizhen. Lizhen was about to go to work when her mother-in-law came. Lizhen couldn't leave immediately because something happened at the company.

"Mom, I have something to do at the company right now. You don't have to go back today. You can play at home. I'll ask Aunt Wang to buy some more vegetables for you to have lunch here. Don't you want to see the baby? I'll ask my driver to pick up the baby in the afternoon and you can see her. I've wanted to see you for so long, but there were too many things to do at the company. Now that you're discharged from the hospital, you can play here for a few days." After Lizhen finished speaking, she picked up her bag and was about to go out.

Jinlan was confused at this time. She heard Lizhen talking about the company. Our family has a factory, not a company. I also haven't heard that our family has set up a company. What's going on?

Lizhen asked her to come here and play, but I don't have the time to play as I have a lot of things to do at home. But I can't bear to leave her because she wants to see the baby. Besides, my task today is to do some ideological work on Lizhen so that she can reunite with her son and his family as soon as possible.

Okay, Lizhen asked me to come here to play, so I decided to come here to play. I can continue chatting when Lizhen comes back in the evening. We haven't had a good chat for a long time. Besides, I can see my lovely baby in the afternoon. Thinking of this, Jinlan happily agreed.

"Okay, you young people, go and do your work. I'll stay at home and help you with some housework."

"Don't worry about what Mom does. You just got out of the hospital so you must get enough rest." Lizhen immediately stopped Jinlan.

"Good mom, you have a good rest, I'm leaving. My mother-in-law is here, you can buy some more vegetables and make some delicious food for my mother-in-law. Okay, I'm going to work," Lizhen said and left.

"Okay, kid, be careful on the road." Jin Lan was very happy to see Lizhen leave happily.

"Old lady, you are so lucky. How did you do it? Your daughter-in-law treats you better than your own daughter. Even after your divorce, she is still so nice to you. People who don't know you would think you are mother and daughter." Seeing Lizhen and her ex-mother-in-law calling her "Mom" one by one, Aunt Wang was very envious.

"What did you say, Aunt Wang? Say it again. Who is divorced?" Jinlan felt very happy when Aunt Wang praised her and her daughter-in-law for getting along so well. She thought to herself, who am I? My daughter-in-law is obedient and filial to her mother-in-law. My daughter-in-law and I get along like mother and daughter.

"Auntie Wang, what are you talking about? Who got divorced?" Jinlan was just happy when she heard Auntie Wang praising her and her wife for getting along so well. But when she heard Auntie Wang mention the word divorce, her heart skipped a beat and she immediately blamed Auntie Wang...
