

First Love 17

Chapter 17 I Miss You So Much

"Why didn't you tell me you were leaving? Why did you turn off your phone when I called you?" Li Zhen cried and tapped Wang Kun's back with her hands.

"I know, I know, don't cry. Let's go outside and tell it. It will affect the business of this store if you cry here."

Slowly, Lizhen finally stopped crying. They walked out of the restaurant hand in hand and sat down on a bench by the flower bed.

"Your departure has something to do with the director, right?" After Wang Kun sat down, Li Zhen looked into his eyes. There was a stern edge in her eyes, as if she wanted to see through Wang Kun's heart. She was afraid that he would not tell her the truth.

"It is related to him, but he has his reasons for doing this." Wang Kun was afraid that Lizhen would go back and have a falling out with the chairman and others. He was afraid that Lizhen would lose her job because of this incident.

"You, on the other hand, are always thinking about others." Li Zhen looked at this young man with deep affection. He was considerate of others and had a sense of loyalty and righteousness. She admired Wang Kun even more. She thought, I will definitely be with such a man, and I will definitely be happy in the future.

"The director also works for the chairman. The chairman is my benefactor, and I can't repay him enough," Wang Kun counselled Li Zhen.

"Are they making things difficult for you?" Li Zhen asked Wang Kun anxiously.

"They just moved a new place for me. Don't worry, I'm fine." Wang Kun hurriedly comforted Li Zhen.

"But why didn't you tell me my address? Why didn't you contact me? Where did they arrange you to be?" Li Zhen kept asking Wang Kun to tell him where he was.

"This..." At this time, Wang Kun remembered the director's instructions. He hesitated and did not dare to say it, because he did not know where the director would arrange him to go.

The next day, Wang Kun followed the director into the car with his only so-called luggage. After passing several streets, the car drove on a country road, passed through a deep forest, and after a bumpy journey, they finally arrived at a place that looked like a warehouse.

While driving, Wang Kun thought, he wouldn't send me to an uninhabited place and put me under house arrest, would he?

After walking for a while, Wang Kun asked the director tentatively, "Director, where are you taking me?"

The director turned his triangular eyes and looked at Wang Kun; "Don't worry, the place you are going to is very quiet and comfortable. Don't you like reading books very much? This place is especially suitable for you."

"What exactly am I going to do there?" Wang Kun still wanted to know why he was sent there.

"Why are you asking so many questions? You'll know once you get there. You're lucky that the chairman saved you, but you're still not satisfied and are trying to snatch his girlfriend away from him. The chairman is kind and has repeatedly told you not to embarrass you. If it were someone else, he would have told you to get out long ago."

He looked at Wang Kun and continued, "You have to behave yourself when you are here. Don't have any contact with Secretary Li Zhen anymore. Remember that the chairman is your benefactor. Don't let him down. If you don't listen to him, you will suffer the consequences."

The car stopped at a flat area at the foot of a mountain in the suburbs of the city. The mountain was covered with green trees, and the towering trees reached the sky. From time to time, the sound of birds could be heard.

A warehouse surrounded by wooden houses is several hundred square meters in size. There are many big trees next to it that block out the sunlight from the warehouse. It seems a bit eerie here, and the sounds of various birds in the trees make people feel creepy.

It doesn't look big from the outside or from above, but when the car arrives at the door of the warehouse, a huge prefabricated warehouse appears before their eyes.

There was a steel fence at the entrance. When they saw their car coming, a gatekeeper, a man in his 50s, opened the gate for them.

"Director, how come you have time to come here today?" The old man had a kind face and a smile on his face, and he looked like a very harmonious old man.

"I'm sending a young man to keep you company today." The director started chatting with the old man as soon as they got off the car.

"Okay, I'm very bored here. If it's good, I won't be so bored anymore. Hehe." The old man smiled happily.

"But young people can't get along with us old people. He will be very bored here."

"The person has been handed over to you. You must take good care of him for me." The director patted him on the shoulder and winked at the old man.

The old man also responded with a look, and the director patted Wang Kun on the shoulder and said, "Young man, stay here and learn from Uncle Liu. After the chairman's wedding is over, I will transfer you back to the company. By then, you will both have forgotten each other."

After the director finished speaking, he immediately got into the car and left with his driver. Wang Kun stood there blankly watching them drive away.

"Don't look anymore, come in. I'll show you where you're going to live." The old man immediately led Wang Kun in, and Wang Kun followed him in, carrying his very simple luggage.

There are three red brick bungalows side by side on the left side of the gate. Wang Kun lives in the same row as the old man's room, and there is a kitchen next to it.

The old man opened the door of the room next to his own. As no one had lived there for a long time, a musty smell filled Wang Kun's nose. He felt like he was almost suffocating. There was a simple bed with a pillow and a quilt, and above it was a dirty white mosquito net that had turned very dirty and yellow.

"I'll live here." Wang Kun looked at the dirt inside and tried to hold back the urge to vomit.

"Yes, you live next door to me."

A semi-new desk with an old computer, a chair and a newspaper rack on it.

"This used to be a warehouse office. There was a warehouse custodian who worked here, but he left some time ago. Now that you're here, you can stay here for a while." After saying that, he took Wang Kun to the kitchen next door to take a look.

"This is the kitchen. There are several workers working here during the day. They will bring some dishes and have lunch here. In the evening, it's just the two of us eating here." After saying that, he looked at Wang Kun.

"My last name is Liu, so you can call me Lao Liu. You don't have much to do every day. You just count the goods they send in and the goods they send out, and report to the company using the computer and tell them what things to bring in. The young man left some time ago, and I don't know computers, and I couldn't explain clearly what the company wanted, so the director almost got scolded. Well, now you're here and you know computers, so I can have some peace and quiet, hahaha." Lao Liu seemed very happy after he finished speaking. He seemed particularly relaxed with Wang Kun's arrival.

Wang Kun was still in a daze at this time, looking at the huge forest with worry and fear. What was waiting for Wang Kun next would be such a test...