

First Love 181

Chapter 181 Gap

After a day of preparation, Wang Kun took Qiuyan to get her hair done in the afternoon. Only when he was satisfied did he excitedly take Qiuyan to the date.

Since Wang Kun divorced and got together with Qiuyan, this was the first time he took her to such an event. Qiuyan felt both excited and nervous.

This banquet is specially held for the most powerful people in the city. Being qualified to attend such a banquet is a symbol of status in their celebrity circle, so all the rich and powerful people in the city will attend. Wang Kun got the admission circle to attend the banquet this time through a good friend.

At 8 o'clock on time, Wang Kun appeared in the banquet hall with Qiu Yan on his arm. When they entered the banquet hall, it was Qiu Yan's first time to attend such a banquet. Seeing the magnificent banquet hall, Qiu Yan couldn't believe her banquet. She stared with her eyes wide open and her mouth wide open, as if her jaw was about to drop! She stared at everything in front of her with her eyes wide open, looking at it in disbelief, her mouth wide open, as if an egg could fit in. She had never seen such a luxurious scene, and her heart was full of amazement and curiosity.

The entire palace is magnificent, with walls inlaid with countless gems and pearls that sparkle with dazzling light; the floor is covered with soft carpets, and walking on it feels like walking on clouds; hanging above the head is a gorgeous crystal chandelier, the light it emits seems to be able to illuminate the whole world, making people marvel.

Whether you observe it from a distance or up close, you can feel the dazzling light and unique charm it exudes.

This light is not just bright on the surface, but also an inner brilliance, as if it contains endless power and mystery.

Every detail is carefully designed and crafted, showing its unparalleled luxury and nobility. Whether it is the choice of materials, the exquisite craftsmanship, or the gorgeous decoration style, it is shocking. These details not only reflect the makers' pursuit of quality, but also show their understanding of art and beauty.

Soft saxophone music was playing in the banquet hall, and well-trained waiters dressed in professional attire were moving among the crowd with trays filled with wine glasses.

Pairs of ladies dressed in noble and gorgeous clothes, with elegant smiles on their faces, walked arm in arm with elegant gentlemen in suits and ties, and walked around the magnificent banquet hall, toasting each other and chatting and laughing.

These ladies wore exquisitely tailored dresses and dazzling jewelry, and their every move exuded elegance and charm. The gentlemen wore neat suits and ties, and their eyes revealed confidence and wisdom.

Looking at their attire, Qiuyan couldn't help but think of her own clothes. She slowly lowered her head and her eyes fell on the clothes she was wearing.

Although this dress was considered quite noble in her eyes, it seemed so ordinary and even a little shabby compared to those around her.

She felt an indescribable sense of inferiority, as if she didn't fit in with the world. This feeling made her feel like an ugly duckling, while everyone else was a beautiful white swan.

Compared with these people, she felt like an ugly duckling, so small and insignificant. This feeling made her feel extremely lost and depressed, and she suddenly felt that she was out of tune with them.

In this lively scene, people enjoyed this wonderful moment to the fullest. The sound of wine glasses clinking was crisp and pleasant, accompanied by laughter, making the whole scene full of vitality and energy.

"Good morning, Mr. Wang." A tall, dignified middle-aged man in a black suit, gray shirt, and red tie came to Wang Kun with a glass of wine in his hand.

"It's a pleasure to meet you, Chairman Zhong. Qiuyan, this is my savior, Chairman Zhong." The moment Wang Kun saw Chairman Zhong, a sense of guilt suddenly arose in his heart.

"This is my girlfriend Qiuyan." Wang Kun pointed at Qiuyan and introduced her to Chairman Zhong.

"Oh" Chairman Zhong had already heard in the circle that Wang Kun cheated on his first love, and after divorcing his original wife, the mistress had taken over. Chairman Zhong couldn't help but glance at Qiu Yan out of the corner of his eyes. Well, she looked okay, no wonder he lost such a good wife.

At this time, there was a commotion at the entrance. People couldn't help but look towards the entrance. They saw a lady in fashionable and noble clothes arm in arm with a tall and extraordinary man appearing in the banquet hall. The temperament and charm they exuded instantly attracted the attention of everyone present.

The lady was wearing a gorgeous evening gown inlaid with sparkling gems. The hem of her skirt fluttered gently with her steps, like a blooming flower.

Her face is filled with confidence and an elegant smile that makes people fall in love with her.

The man was wearing a well-tailored suit, which set off his tall figure and extraordinary temperament. His eyes were deep and sharp, as if he could penetrate all appearances and see the essence of things.

There is a gleam of wisdom in the depths of those eyes, which makes people fall in love with it.

His eyes were firm and steady, as if nothing could shake his inner peace. There was a kind of restrained power in his eyes, which made people feel his hidden strength and confidence.

The two walked into the banquet hall hand in hand, like a perfect match, a man and a woman made in heaven, the man was handsome and suave, the woman was naturally beautiful, and she looked like a loving couple.

When their eyes met, they were full of affection and tenderness, as if the whole world only existed for each other. Their steps were light and graceful, as if they were dancing a romantic dance, and every step was full of love.

Their faces were filled with happy smiles, a kind of joy that could not be concealed. The corners of their mouths were raised, and their eyes were shining, as if they were full of beautiful expectations for the future.

This happy atmosphere infected the people around them, making them unable to help but look at them with envy.

The distinguished guests came forward to greet him, "Hello, Mr. Cheng and Mr. He."

At this time, Chairman Lian Zhong thanked Wang Kun and others and walked towards the door.

"Who is this?" "This is Miss He Lizhen, the leader in our circle who has a very prosperous business. You know her? If you don't even know her, you've been in vain in this circle." At this time, two distinguished guests next to Wang Kun were talking while drinking red wine in their glasses.

"Who is that person next to her? Is he her husband?"

"No, Mr. He is divorced and single now. It is said that the man next to him has a very close relationship with him. Their relationship is not ordinary, but he is already married. However, Mr. Cheng's business is also doing well. Their business is equally matched."

"Looks like a good match"

"Haha, who knows what their relationship is, only they themselves know, hahaha." They were chatting among themselves but did not notice the reactions of Wang Kun and Qiu Yan beside them.

"It's Lizhen." Qiu Yan and Wang Kun said this at the same time. They looked at each other and looked over there at the same time.

When they saw clearly that it was Li Zhen, Wang Kun and Li Zhen looked at the scene surrounded by people in surprise. Seeing all this, Wang Kun and Qiu Yan were so shocked that they were speechless for a long time...