

First Love 184

Chapter 184: The First Dispute

When Qiuyan saw Wang Kun's horrifying face, she was shocked and wondered what happened to her husband today.

Since Qiuyan divorced and returned to Wang Kun, Wang Kun has always responded to her requests. He not only loves her but also spoils her. No matter how her mother-in-law finds fault with her, Wang Kun chooses to stand by her side and slowly persuades her mother-in-law. But today he said: What did I do wrong?

Especially when Wang Kun pushed her away angrily, her heart tightened and she looked at Wang Kun in horror.

"You spend most of your time buying things. What else can you do besides spending money?"

When Qiuyan heard this, tears instantly flowed down her face.

"What's wrong with me spending money? I spent the money I earned myself!" Qiuyan cried aggrievedly.

Wang Kun disagreed, "You earn money? How much do you earn a month? I am the one who pays for all the expenses at home!"

Qiuyan was even more angry after hearing this, "You said you would support me!"

"I did say that, but you can't be so extravagant!..." Wang Kun became more and more excited as he spoke.

Qiuyan interrupted him, "Do you dislike me now? Do you think I don't know how to live?"

Wang Kun realized that he had gone too far and quickly explained: "That's not what I meant. I just hope we can save a little. It's not easy for your husband to make money."

"Hubby, actually I'm not spending money recklessly. I saw how respected Lizhen was at the banquet that day, and I'm also trying to bring honor to you. I want to grow up, and if I dress up, you'll have face in front of others." Qiuyan had to tell her purpose.

"How can you compare with Lizhen? You know that Lizhen is now the leader in our industry. She is so capable that even I feel inferior to her." Wang Kun looked at Qiuyan in surprise. This woman was jealous of Lizhen.

"Really, husband? I thought our family was already very wealthy. Being wealthy means we should live a good life. We should have what others have. Isn't the purpose of life to fight for this? I am also trying to win honor for you." Qiuyan thought, when I saw you buying clothes for me, you didn't seem to be stingy with money. You were so generous. So were you pretending?

"So this is what you think." Wang Kun looked at Qiuyan in surprise. I will pay attention to this woman next time.

"But I have to tell you that business is very difficult now, not as easy as before. Our business is not as good as before, especially with the global financial crisis, many companies can no longer survive."

Wang Kun said, looking up, his eyes looking into the distance, his face full of deep sorrow. He frowned slightly, as if recalling the past glory and the current predicament.

The distant sky seemed to carry the worries and helplessness in his heart, making him fall into deep thought.

"Business is not doing well, so we can think of other ways," Qiuyan suggested.

"Any other options?" Wang Kun smiled bitterly. "With the fierce market competition, it's not easy to find new opportunities."

"We can try to expand our business scope or find new partners." Qiuyan thought positively.

Wang Kun was silent for a moment. "All of these require money and time, and the risks are not small."

"We can't just sit there and wait for death." Qiuyan said anxiously, "We have to find a way to change the current situation."

Wang Kun looked at Qiuyan, a touch of emotion flashed in his eyes, "Okay, let's work hard together. But we still have to save money in the future."

Qiuyan nodded, "I understand, husband. I will support you. As long as we work together, we will be able to overcome the difficulties."

The two hugged each other tightly and faced the challenges of the future together.

Qiuyan wiped away her tears, leaned against Wang Kun and said calmly: "Okay, I understand. I will pay attention to saving money. But you also have to respect my spending habits. We can discuss it."

Qiuyan snuggled up to Wang Kun's chest. Wang Kun put his hands together and hugged Qiuyan tighter. Wang Kun thought that maybe God was fair. People would not have smooth sailing all the time. He would not let you have everything good for yourself. He would distribute it evenly.

But God is very fair to me. He let me meet Li Zhen, who helped me get my first pot of gold in life. Now he has brought my favorite person back to me. People should be content. I want to thank God. He has given me Wang Kun, which is already a lot. I am already self-sufficient.

"Wang Kun patted Qiuyan on the back and comforted her: "Don't worry, everything will be fine. We still have each other and this family."

Qiuyan looked up at Wang Kun and said firmly, "Well, let's work hard together! But can you tell me about you and Lizhen? I'm curious about how you met."

Wang Kun smiled and recalled his meeting with Li Zhen; "I met her when I was the most depressed. To be more specific, I met her when you dumped me. My mood had reached the lowest point at that time. I wanted to die when you said that." Wang Kun looked at Qiuyan, and the scene of Qiuyan hugging his ex-husband that day appeared in his mind. He suddenly felt disgusted with Qiuyan.

"I'm sorry, husband. If he hadn't saved my mother and moved me, I wouldn't have broken up with you." Qiuyan felt very guilty when she heard Wang Kun mention their breakup.

"It's not important to me anymore. It was Chairman Zhong who saved me. It was Chairman Zhong who called me when we just entered the banquet hall that day. He brought me to their factory to work and arranged accommodation for me. Do you know why I was uneasy when I saw the chairman that day?" Wang Kun's eyes were already red when he said this.

"Later, after Lizhen graduated from university, she was assigned to work with me, and we hit it off. Chairman Zhong originally liked her very much, but she liked me. She rejected the chairman and married me, a poor boy with nothing. So when I saw Chairman Zhong that day, I felt uneasy." Wang Kun said this, he felt very uneasy when he thought about what he had done.

Qiuyan listened quietly and sighed in her heart, "So that's how it is. It seems that Lizhen is not only excellent, but also has a moral character that makes people admire her. I think I am no longer qualified to compare with her, but I will work hard. I believe I can become a person like Lizhen."

Wang Kun felt Qiuyan's determination and encouraged her: "Of course, I believe you can do it. Everyone has their own shining points. As long as you work hard to bring them out, you can realize your own value."

The two smiled at each other, their hearts filled with anticipation and longing for the future, as if they saw endless possibilities and hope.

They know that the road ahead may be bumpy and challenging, but their firm belief in each other makes them firmly believe that they can work together to overcome difficulties and face all unknown risks and tests. They are determined to work together, support each other, and use their wisdom and courage to create a better life.

Whether they are facing financial pressure or family chores, they are willing to work together, shoulder responsibilities and solve problems together. Every difficulty is an opportunity for growth, and they will rely on love and trust to constantly break through themselves and realize their dreams.
