

First Love 187

Chapter 187 You Are Still My Daughter

When the mother-in-law Jinlan met Lizhen, she was amazed by what she had done and her great talent and strategy. But when she saw that Lizhen seemed to have become a different person, with extraordinary noble demeanor, a figure that even men could not accomplish such a grand cause, Jinlan was shocked. She regretted not educating her son well and lost such a capable and good daughter-in-law.

"Mom, have some tea." When she saw that Lizhen didn't have any airs of being rich, and was still as warm and considerate to her as before, she burst into tears. She thought of Qiuyan's attitude towards her now, and she couldn't help choking up, with tears welling up in her eyes.

When Lizhen called out "Mom" softly, her emotions were instantly ignited, and she was so excited that she could not control herself. Tears rolled down her cheeks, she cried softly, and hugged Lizhen tightly, as if she wanted to pour out all her grievances and thoughts.

This hug is full of warmth and touching, and makes people feel compassion.

"Mom, don't cry." Lizhen was moved when she saw her mother-in-law crying. She couldn't help but cry too.

"How touching! How could such a thing happen in the world? Mother-in-law and daughter-in-law have always been sworn enemies. I never thought that we could see the former mother-in-law hugging the former daughter-in-law and crying. It's incredible." Lizhen's assistants and secretaries who were present were amazed by the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law relationship between Lizhen and Jinlan.

This sentence reminds me of an ancient story: A long time ago, there was a man named Shun. He was very filial to his parents and did not resent his stepmother and younger brother even when he was abused by them.

Later, Emperor Yao heard about Shun's deeds and thought he was a man of high moral character, so he married his two daughters to him and abdicated the throne to him. This story tells us that a person's moral character and filial piety can affect his destiny and achievements.

Therefore, we should learn from the chairman and be a caring and responsible person. Only in this way can we win the respect and trust of others and realize our own life value.

"Yes, otherwise our chairman's business would be so successful. This is what we call good people being rewarded." After they said this, they quietly closed the office door so that the chairman could have a good conversation with the mother-in-law.

"My child, mom is so happy and relieved to see you like this. It's really hard for a woman to run such a big company." Jin Lan held Lizhen's hand and looked at her with a motherly gaze.

"Mom, I'm fine now. The pain and hardship are long gone and I've survived it all." Li Zhen then thought of the time when she first found out that Wang Kun had cheated on her and she felt extremely painful. Thinking of that, tears came out of her eyes uncontrollably.

Seeing Lizhen crying, Jin Lanxin couldn't help but sigh in her heart: "It is so difficult for a man to make a career, let alone a woman like Lizhen?" She knew very well the difficulties and pressures faced by Lizhen, and only she could truly understand these hardships.

"Child, let the past be the past." Jinlan patted Lizhen's hand gently, "You did a great job, really great. If you need any help in the future, just tell me."

"Mom can't help you much in your career. If you want to eat something you like, I'll make it for you. Go home to see your son. My precious grandson often asks for his mom."

Lizhen nodded gratefully and said, "Thank you, Mom. I will. Xiaohui, you have to work hard. Xiaohui has such a good grandmother, otherwise I would not be at ease." Lizhen was grateful to her mother-in-law Jinlan for raising her son so well.

"My child, we can't be mother-in-law and daughter-in-law in this life, so you can be my daughter. But I don't know if you will dislike me as your poor mother." Jin Lan is a very smart person. In fact, she is still calculating her own little plans in her heart. Although Qiuyan and Wang Kun live together, they have not yet obtained a marriage certificate. Humph, I'll see if I can find a way to drive this vixen away and find my good wife Lizhen back, hehehe.

The two chatted for a long time, with topics ranging from family to work and every little bit of life. Jinlan shared some of her experiences and stories, and Lizhen listened and expressed her own opinions from time to time.

"Beibei, go and see who's here." At this time, Lizhen's assistant Xiaoping brought in Lizhen's daughter Beibei.

At this moment, Jinlan suddenly saw a little figure walking in. She was wearing a bright pink princess dress, which was dotted with sparkling stars and flower patterns, and looked very cute. There were two big bows on the little girl's head, which swayed gently with her steps, adding a bit of playfulness.

Jinlan looked at the little girl curiously, wondering whose child she was. The little girl was holding a doll in her hand, with an innocent look in her eyes. Her skin was as white as snow, and her eyes were like two bright gems, sparkling with a clear and pure light.

The little girl seemed to be somewhat unfamiliar with the surrounding environment, but she was not afraid at all. She walked carefully, stopping from time to time to look around, as if she was exploring a whole new world.

Her actions attracted the attention of the people present, and everyone cast friendly glances at her.

"Mom," the little girl called Lizhen "Mom" cutely when she saw Lizhen.

"Baby, so you are grandma's little baby." Jinlan's heart melted when she saw that this cute little thing was her granddaughter.

Jinlan immediately went forward to hold the little girl's hand. When the little girl saw a strange old person coming to hold her, she immediately hid behind Lizhen, slowly poked her head out, and secretly looked at Jinlan with her big eyes.

"Beibei, this is grandma." Lizhen told the little girl that this was grandma.

"Baby didn't recognize grandma when she saw her for the first time." Seeing that her little granddaughter didn't dare to recognize her, Jinlan felt sour in her heart. Who caused this? At this time, Jinlan hated Qiuyan again. If it weren't for her, my little granddaughter would definitely be acting coquettishly in grandma's arms at this time.

At this time, a bold idea was forming in Jinlan's mind. She had to do it when she returned, otherwise it would be too late.

"Mom, I'm going to take you out for dinner tonight." Lizhen saw that Beibei didn't dare to look at Jinlan and hid behind Lizhen's assistant. In order to resolve this awkward situation, she suggested taking Jinlan out for dinner.

"No, kid, I see you are very busy at work, and I still have to go back to cook."

"Mom, it's rare for you to come to my place, it's only right that I treat you to a meal"

Finally, Jinlan stood up and said, "Okay, Mom won't disturb you from working anymore. I should go back too."

"Mom, I'll take you there." Lizhen accompanied Jinlan out of the office. Along the way, their relationship seemed to become even closer.

"Okay, go back. You have so many people to take care of, you are busy enough, go back to work."

"Master Liu sent my mother home"

After seeing Jinlan off and getting into the car, Lizhen returned to the office in a particularly good mood. She understood that no matter how many difficulties and setbacks she experienced, family affection was always the most solid backing. She thought of how her mother-in-law treated her like a daughter at Wang Kun's home, and when she saw the car leaving, she immediately felt a wave of sadness in her heart.